GIFFORD PINCHOT,
Governor.

REASONS FOR PARDONS GRANTED BY THE GOVERNOR FROM JANUARY 1, 1923, TO JANUARY 1, 1925.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Governor's Office.

Harrisburg, January 6, 1925.

To the Honorable, the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen: In conformity with law I have the honor to present the reasons for pardons granted by me from January 1, 1923, to January 1, 1925.

Respectfully yours,

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Board of Pardons.

Sir: At No. 377 January Sessions, 1922, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and General Jail Delivery in and for the County of Philadelphia, John Shields was convicted of murder in the first degree and on May 26, 1922, was sentenced to be electrocuted.

The applicant is a colored man, twenty-four years of age, is unmarried and has a mother and father living at Philadelphia.

John Shields came to Philadelphia from the State of Georgia in 1917 and has since that time resided in the City of Philadelphia. Prior to the conviction in this case he had not been charged with, or convicted of, crime, and his reputation as an industrious and law-abiding citizen was fairly good. He was infatuated with a girl, upon whom it is alleged he had expended considerable sums of money. He called on her on December 11, 1921, at her home, when she repulsed him. While in the room of her home, with the door partly open, he drew a revolver and shot her in the shoulder. The bullet was deflected by the collar-bone and went downward, piercing her heart.

It is represented to the Board that John Shields, while not legally insane, has the mentality of a boy fifteen years of age.

Honorable Howard A. Davis, the Trial Judge, writes to the Board in regard to this case, inter alia, as follows:

"The defendant was twice tried on the charge of murder and upon both trials convicted of murder in the first degree. Under the evidence the jury should not have arrived at any other verdict. I was therefore obliged to impose the extreme sentence. So much for the legal side of this case.

"Upon the human side, the mother of this young man several times called upon me and pleaded with me. I have been very much touched by her petition for clemency, but I cannot see that it rests with me to commute or even to recommend the commutation to imprisonment for life which, of course, rests with the Board of Pardons; but I am free to say that I believe the ends of justice would be served if the sentence of this man were commuted to imprisonment for life."

In view of the statement of the Trial Judge that the ends of justice would be served if the sentence of this man were commuted to imprisonment for life, we have determined to give this application favorable consideration.

We, therefore, "after full hearing upon due public notice and in open sessions", recommend that the sentence of death imposed upon John Shields be commuted to life imprisonment.

Lieutenant Governor.

Sir: At No. 516 May Sessions, 1919, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Philadelphia, George Jacobs was convicted of larceny and receiving stolen goods, and on June 6, 1919, was sentenced to pay a fine of one cent, and to undergo imprisonment in the Philadelphia County Prison for nine months.

The applicant is forty-two years of age, was born in Ickesburg, Perry County, Pennsylvania, was married and is the father of two children living with his parents at Ickesburg, Pa., who are in need of his support.

On February 11, 1919, Three hundred dollars was removed from the pocket of a waist belonging to Mary Reynolds, in the City of Philadelphia, the prosecutrix in this case. The applicant was a boarder in the home of Mary Reynolds and was charged with, and convicted of, stealing the money. He had previously been sentenced to a term of twenty years imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary on the charge of entering and larceny, from which sentence he had been paroled on December 12, 1916. Upon the completion of his sentence in this case he was returned to the Eastern State Penitentiary as a violator of the Parole Act and has now served of that sentence about thirteen years.

This application is made at the suggestion of Honorable Charles Y. Audenreid, Trial Judge, so that an opportunity may be given the Parole Officers to recommend a parole from his unexpired sentence of twenty years. The District Attorney and John W. McKenty, Parole Officer of the Eastern Penitentiary, state to the Board that this application should be granted.

In view of these facts, we, therefore, "after full hearing upon due public notice and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said George H. Jacobs.

D. J. DAVIS,
Lieutenant Governor.

CLYDE L. KING,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

GEORGE W. WOODRUFF,
Attorney General.

JAS. F. WOODWARD,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Board of Pardons.

Sir: At No. 117 June Sessions, 1919, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Northampton, Joseph Smith pleaded guilty to larceny and on September 8, 1919, was sentenced to pay a fine of One hundred dollars, the costs of prosecution and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for not less than six years nor more than eight years.

The applicant is twenty-eight years of age, a citizen of the United States, by occupation a laborer and at the time of his arrest was employed in the cooperage department of The Alpha-Portland Cement Company.

On September 2, 1919, the applicant met one Zimmerman in Easton, Pa., and accepted the invitation of Zimmerman to accompany him for an automobile ride to Auburn, Pa. Zimmerman was driving a one ton Ford automobile truck, which he had stolen. On their arrival at Auburn the applicant was informed that the truck had been stolen, and he assisted Zimmerman in removing the body from the truck. After removing the body from the truck, they returned to Easton on the chassis of the truck. About two miles from Easton the applicant cut a rope that was used to secure some tires to another truck, and when the tires fell to the ground they were collected by the applicant. The applicant was seen collecting the tires and at Easton, Pa., was arrested by the County Detective.

At the time of his arrest the applicant was eighteen years of age, and at his trial, without Counsel, he entered a plea of guilty and was sentenced as above stated. Prior to this offense he had no criminal record whatever. Because of the youth of the applicant at the time of the crime, his previous good record, and the term of imprisonment already served, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished.

We, therefore, "after full hearing upon due public notice and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Joseph Smith.

D. J. DAVIS,
Lieutenant Governor.

CLYDE L. KING,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

GEORGE W. WOODRUFF,

Harrisburg, Pa., February 28, 1923.

Sir: At No. 65 September Sessions, 1916, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Indiana, Jesse Cook pleaded guilty to carrying concealed weapons and on December 4, 1916, was sentenced to pay the costs of prosecution, a fine of one hundred dollars and to undergo imprisonment in the Indiana County Jail for a period of thirty days.

The applicant is now forty-one years of age, a native of Pennsylvania, by trade a barber, and at the time of his arrest was not employed. He is unmarried and resided at Cookport, Indiana County, Pennsylvania. Previous to the sentence in this case Cook had been convicted in Indiana County of statutory rape and had been sentenced to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for not less than three years and nine months nor more than fifteen years, from which sentence he was paroled on May 10, 1909.

After his parole for several months he had failed to report to the Parole Officer. He was finally located near Cookport, Pa., and was found to be armed with a 38-caliber revolver and a shot-gun. Upon his conviction of carrying concealed weapons, he was returned to the Penitentiary to serve out his former sentence.

The purpose of the application for a pardon in this case is to afford the Parole Officers an opportunity to recommend a second parole upon his prior offense.

Mr. John M. Egan, Warden of the Western Penitentiary, writes to the Board under date of February 20, 1923, inter alia:

"Cook's conduct has been exemplary and at a meeting of the Board of Inspectors of this institution on January 15th the opinion was unanimously expressed that Cook has been sufficiently punished, that he is penitent and that if he were given an opportunity he would become a useful citizen."

The Board is also in receipt of a letter from Honorable J. N. Langham, Judge of the 40th Judicial District of Pennsylvania, in which it is said:

"It occurs to me that this man Cook has been punished sufficiently for his several crimes, and I hereby join with any application for release made upon his part or upon the part of his friends. If he becomes a law violator after his release he will be apprehended very promptly, and at that time we can dispose of his case as the exigencies require."

This application appears to the Board to be a meritorious one in view of the recommendations of the Warden of the Western Penitentiary and the Trial Judge.

Sir: At No. 19 December Sessions, 1921, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Fayette, Frank Lane alias Frank Small pleaded guilty to larceny and on October 29, 1921, was sentenced to pay a fine of six cents, the costs of prosecution and to undergo an imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for not less than two years nor more than four years.

The applicant is twenty-two years of age, a native of the State of Maine, and at the time of his arrest was an automobile mechanic out of employment. He is a married man and has no children. The applicant has no criminal record and served during the World War with the Canadian Army, from which he was honorably discharged. While sick and out of employment he stole a Ford car in Uniontown, Pa. He was arrested twelve miles from Uniontown, the car was restored to its owner, and the applicant pleaded guilty to the crime.

William A. Miller, Esq., District Attorney of Fayette County, writes to the Board in regard to this case as follows:

"In reference to the application of Frank Small for a pardon, I desire to state that I am of the opinion that his application deserves consideration.

"At the time he was sentenced it was the opinion of the Commonwealth that he was a professional thief, but subsequent inquiries have tended to prove that such was not the fact.

"Should you act favorably on this application I believe the ends of justice would be met, and further, that the petitioner would be able to get back on the right track and stay there."

Honorable E. H. Reppert, the Trial Judge, also writes to the Board, inter alia:

"I have been led to the conclusion that the ends of justice will have been satisfied if the pardon in this case be granted.

"I believe, in investigation since sentence passed, that the allegations of the petition are true.

"At the time of sentence I was under the impression that the defendant was a professional automobile thief. I now believe this was a mistake."

Because of the previous good record of the applicant, the fact that he yielded to the criminal impulse when sick and out of employment, and because of the representations of the Trial District Attorney and Trial Judge, we have concluded that the applicant has been sufficiently punished.

We, therefore, "after full hearing upon due public notice and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Frank Lane alias Frank Small.

Sir: At No. 5, May Term, 1922, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Lackawanna, Carl Phillipi, one Parker and one Maguire were convicted of entering in the night without breaking, and on May 20, 1922, sentence was suspended as to Parker, Maguire was ordered to make restitution to the amount of $100.00, and thereupon sentence was suspended, and Phillipi was sentenced to pay the costs and to undergo an imprisonment in the Pennsylvania Industrial Reformatory for not more than ten years.

The applicant is now twenty years of age, unmarried, an American by birth, and prior to his sentence he was engaged by the Glen Alden Coal Company as a motorman and worked at this occupation. On March 29, 1922, the applicant with two men entered the pool-room of Joseph Perkin, in Taylor Borough, Pennsylvania, the poolroom being open at all hours of the night. Certain goods were removed from the pool-room to the value of $351.

The applicant had never before been in trouble, his earnings had always been given to his mother, who is now in need of his support, and he has been a model prisoner at the Reformatory. It is believed that if now released he will become a useful citizen. We have determined that he has been adequately punished.

We, therefore, "after full hearing upon due public notice and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Carl Phillipi.

Sir: At Nos. 6 and 139 February Term, 1915, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and General Jail Delivery in and for the County of Westmoreland, Earnest Reaping was convicted of murder in the first degree. On May 24, 1915, he was sentenced to be electrocuted, and on September 28, 1915, his sentence was commuted to life imprisonment. John Showalter was convicted of murder in the first degree and on May 24, 1915, was sentenced to pay a fine of one dollar, the costs of prosecution and to undergo an imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for not less than fifteen years and nine months nor more than twenty years.

The applicants, together with two other boys, on November 12, 1914, had been drinking. The boys about 9:30 P. M. on the day in question were on a public road a short distance from Latrobe, and, as one of them said, they had determined "to get some easy money" and to hold up the first person who came along. Isaiah Wedge, about forty-one years of age, deficient in hearing, drove by with a team and lumber-wagon. Showalter stopped him and asked for a ride to town, and at the same time Reaping came up to the wagon and said—"Watch me scare him". Reaping then fired two shots toward Wedge, intending, it is alleged, to shoot over his head. Wedge was standing up in the wagon and after the second shot he staggered, fell and later died as a result of the wound. The boys then separated and later were found together, sleeping in a house in Latrobe, by the State Police, with three revolvers in their possession.

George E. Barron, Esq., of Greensburg, who was an Assistant District Attorney assisting at the trial, writes in regard to these cases that the four young men were all guilty in the same degree and merited the same degree of punishment; two of them have already been released from imprisonment. He further says:

"I was Second Assistant District Attorney of Westmoreland County, at the time of his trial, assisted in the trial,—and am thoroughly familiar with the facts and circumstances surrounding the Case. The facts developed at the trial of the Case warranted the finding of the verdict rendered,—but I felt at that time, and feel yet, that there was no intention upon the part of the perpetrators of the crime, to hold up, rob, and kill the victim,—but rather that it was the act of young and thoughtless boys, influenced to a very great extent through use of liquor. The punishment imposed in this Case was extremely severe,—and in my humble opinion, excessive. Mr. Showalter has already served over seven and one-half years of imprisonment for the part he took in the commission of his Crime. Under all the facts and circumstances of this Case, as I know them,—I am of the opinion that the punishment as to Mr. Showalter, has been sufficient,—and I join with others in recommending Executive Clemency."

John M. Egan, Warden of the Western Penitentiary, informs the Board that the deportment record of these men is perfectly clear, and that they have been good prisoners. The applicants did not participate in the riot which occurred at the Western Penitentiary in July, 1921, and as to this Warden Egan further says:

"For several days after the mutiny occurred there was more or less disorder in the institution. Reaping and Showalter, however, remained at their work and deported themselves properly. Both men at that time were employed as photographers in the Bertillion department. Their work has been most satisfactory."

The Board is impressed by the statement that there was no wilful intent to commit murder, but that the tragedy resulted in some extent as a result of carelessness while under the influence of liquor. In view of these circumstances, we have determined that the applicants have been sufficiently punished.

We, therefore, "after full hearing upon due public notice and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Earnest Reaping and John Showalter.

Sir: At No. 534, October Term, 1912, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, in and for Lackawanna County, James Shambrone, pleaded guilty to the charge of felonious wounding, and at No. 38, October Term, 1912, of the same Court, he was convicted of murder in the second degree. On December 7, 1912, he was sentenced on the felonious wounding charge, to pay a fine of one dollar, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for from two years and nine months to three years; and on the murder charge, he was sentenced to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for from twelve years to twenty years, to be computed from the expiration of sentence in the felonious wounding case.

The applicant is an Italian, forty-five years of age. He has filed his declaration of intention of becoming a citizen of the United States. At the time of his arrest, he conducted a small grocery store and also worked in the coal mines by night. He is married and has a wife and three children, aged sixteen, fourteen and eleven respectively, dependent on him for support.

On September 8, 1912, Antonio Valleli, an Italian, his wife and daughter, were standing on a street corner in the Borough of Archbald. The applicant with two companions, came down the street and passed the party. Valleli's wife taunted the applicant and a quarrel between Valleli and Shambrone, ensued. In the midst of the struggle, the applicant was cut on the head twice with a knife. After he had been knocked down and pushed from the sidewalk, a distance of fifty feet, he fired his revolver and killed Valleli. During the melee, a stray bullet from his revolver struck a boy who was sitting on a porch near the scene of the struggle, and this was made the basis for the charge of felonious wounding.

The applicant is a small man about five feet, two inches tall, while the deceased was a large man, weighing between two hundred thirty and two hundred fifty pounds, and was five feet, eight inches tall.

The applicant has never before been in trouble, either in Italy or America, and bears an excellent reputation as an industrious, peaceable, law-a-biding citizen.

The trial Judge has written the Board that any clemency extended will be "cheerfully acquiesced in." The trial

District Attorney advocates pardon. Former District Attorney Reedy, concurs, and Joseph O'Brien, private counsel for the prosecutor, during the trial, writes the Board that Shambrone has been sufficiently punished.

Because of his previous good record and the term of imprisonment already served, and because of the circumstances surrounding the case, and the recommendations for clemency, we conclude that he has been sufficiently punished.

Sir: At No. 320, September Sessions, 1921, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace, in and for Allegheny County, Lakin C. Taylor, was convicted of conspiracy to cheat and defraud, and, on February 10, 1922, he was sentenced to pay a fine of six and a quarter cents, costs, and imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than fourteen months, nor more than two years. The Jury, in their verdict, recommended him "to the extreme mercy of the Court".

Taylor was indicted on September 16, 1920. October 18, 1920, he entered a plea of nolo contendere, and on the same day was committed by the Court to a hospital for observation. February 16, 1921, he was adjudged insane by the Court of Common Pleas of Allegheny County, and a guardian of his estate was appointed. June 7, 1921, the said Court decreed that the applicant had recovered his mentality and discharged the guardian. June 10, 1921, the Court of Quarter Sessions vacated the order committing the applicant to the hospital, and he was released from the institution. He was then permitted to withdraw his plea of nolo contendere, and was committed to the County Jail in default of bail, was tried, and on October 5, 1921, was found guilty. The jury recommended him, "to the extreme mercy of the Court." He commenced to serve his sentence on May 4, 1922, and is now serving the same.

The applicant is sixty years of age, is an American citizen and, at the time of his arrest, was a resident of Pittsburgh, and President of the Pittsburgh Tin Plate and Steel Corporation. He is married, and his wife and a daughter eighteen years of age, are both now living, and without means of support. The wife has become a physical and mental wreck on account of family troubles.

The misrepresentations which were made the basis of criminal proceedings were contained in certain prospectuses prepared for and used by Taylor, and others, in order to get the corporation, of which he was President, before the public and more rapidly sell stock. These prospectuses were intended to show the possibilities of the company when the mills were completed and running to full capacity and, it is claimed, that these possibilities would have been fully realized had it not been for the arrest and the financial difficulties which followed. Taylor had no intention of deceiving anyone and his confidence in the enterprise is shown by the fact that he and his wife invested all they had in the proposition and in no way profited personally by the sale of the stock.

Before the present difficulty, the applicant was never charged with or convicted of any crime. During his term of imprisonment he has been a model prisoner.

The trial Judge has made no formal objection to pardon. William E. Walsh, Assistant District Attorney, who tried the case, filed a letter with the Pardon Board stating that from his own observation he believed the applicant was insane, and that his condition had probably developed during a period of years. He stated that it was shown at the trial that the applicant did not personally profit from any of the frauds which it was alleged he had practiced. His letter concludes as follows:

"The fact that Mr. Taylor was insane at the time is certainly in his favor. Under all the circumstances I do not believe it would serve any good purpose to keep him longer in prison and I, therefore, have no objection to his being pardoned."

Appended to the letter is the following: "I concur in the foregoing letter". This is signed by the present District Attorney and by the District Attorney who tried the case.

In addition to many letters filed with the Board, urging pardon, eight of the jurors who tried the case, "earnestly recommend that Mr. Taylor be pardoned and given his freedom". In the paper filed they refer to the fact that the jury had recommended the applicant to the "extreme mercy of the Court". They further state that their purpose in making this recommendation was to secure a parole for the applicant, believing that would be sufficient punishment. They add: "had we known he would be given a Penitentiary sentence of any kind, we would have returned a verdict of not guilty". Of the four jurors who did not join in this recommendation, one died after the trial, and one cannot be found. The two remaining jurors filed letters with the Board. The prosecutor now favors a pardon. No formal objection to pardon has been made.

We have determined under all the circumstances that the applicant has been adequately punished.

Sir: At No. 49, August term, 1917, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, in and for the County of Chester, Ruth M. Richardson pleaded guilty of murder in the second degree, to an indictment charging her with murder, and on August 28, 1917, she was sentenced to pay a fine of one thousand dollars, costs, and undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a period of not less than fifteen years and not more than twenty years.

The applicant is now twenty-eight years of age, unmarried, colored, an American by birth, and at the time of her arrest was engaged in housekeeping, about a mile from the borough of Kennett Square, Chester County. She had never before been charged with or convicted of any crime except the present one.

On May 16, 1917, William Kirk, an aged colored man, was seen near the house where the applicant lived. Kirk was never again seen alive but ten days later his dead body was found in a quarry-hole about a mile distant from the spot where he was last seen. He had been shot several times and had been struck with an axe. William Warren, with whom the applicant lived, was subsequently arrested together with Edward Trusty and the applicant. The latter subsequently confessed that the deceased came to her house on the date mentioned, and while she was out of the room, she heard several shots fired. When she returned to the room, she discovered that Warren had shot Kirk, struck him with an axe, and dragged the body to the cellar, where it remained several days. He threatened to kill her if she revealed the truth, and compelled her to assist him to take the body to the quarry-hole where it was subsequently found. On the trial of Warren, Trusty testified that Warren admitted that he had killed Kirk. Warren was tried, convicted and electrocuted.

The applicant had previously enjoyed a good reputation. What she did in connection with the crime was done solely at the direction of Warren, who planned and executed the murder. The applicant, while concealing the murder and assisting in the removal of the body, at the time of so doing was a frail girl of twenty-two, and stood in fear of her life at the hands of Warren. She pleaded guilty to the charge of murder in the second degree. Her testimony was essential to the conviction of the murderer.

The trial District Attorney wrote the Board of Pardons that he will be safisfied if clemency is granted, believing that applicant had been sufficiently punished.

Under all the circumstances of the case, we conclude that she has been sufficiently punished.

We, therefore, "after full hearing upon due public notice and in open sessions" recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Ruth M. Richardson.

Sir: At No. 1 December Sessions, 1919, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, in and for the County of Armstrong, Carlo Marroni, alias Charley Mack, was convicted of murder in the second degree, and on March 24, 1920, was sentenced to pay a fine of one dollar, costs of prosecution, and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than seven years nor more than nine years.

The applicant, at the time of his conviction, was 28 years of age, unmarried, and an Italian unnaturalized, having been in America about eleven years, a coal miner by occupation and, at the time of his arrest, was employed in a mine near Leechburg, Armstrong County.

On November 24, 1919, the applicant with a fellow Italian, Peter Montabelle, went together to Leechburg, and entered a restaurant for food. At this time, in this vicinity, there prevailed a strike of steel-workers. The sheriff of Armstrong County, to maintain order, had sent to Leechburg a number of deputy sheriffs, among others, two men, Joseph Coyle and Jacob Stivason. These men were acting as officers in civilian clothing and had no visible insignia of office. The testimony shows that these officers, particularly Stivason, were rough and brutal characters. The two Italians were conversing in their own tongue, when Stivason, without any reason, ordered them to talk English. They, having been warned by a bystander that Stivason was a bad man and might make trouble, walked out of the restaurant and across the street. They were followed by Stivason and Coyle who, without divulging the fact that they were officers, stopped them, questioned them, and ordered them to leave town. The two Italians then started to leave Leechburg, the two deputies named following them, and when they reached a dark mill-yard Deputy Coyle ran forward, struck Montabelle on the head, knocked him a short distance, and roughly seized Mack by the arm, whereupon Mack shot him dead. Both Italians testified that they did not know that their pursuers were officers, but believed they were robbers or persons who would injure them, and they feared they would be killed or seriously injured. Both Italians were subsequently arrested and tried, the Court directing a verdict of "not guilty" as to Montabelle.

The applicant is an ignorant, unnaturalized Italian, who was a coal-miner and not a steel-worker and not engaged in the strike. He did not know that the assailants of Montabelle and himself were officers and endeavored in every way to avoid trouble. He feared death or serious injury and only fired the fatal shot after he and his companion had been followed and assaulted. Coyle and Stivason, although officers were rough and brutal characters, according to the testimony in the case.

Honorable George S. Criswell, the trial Judge, recommends a pardon and also the prosecutor, Sheriff Dinger.

After considering all the circumstances of this case, we have concluded that the applicant has been sufficiently punished.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to Carlo Marroni, alias Charlie Mack.

Sir: At Nos. 383 and 385, June Sessions, 1921, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Philadelphia, Louis Greenberg, pleaded guilty to the charge of perjury and bigamy and, on June 21, 1921, he was sentenced to pay costs, and imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a period of not less than two years nor more than five years.

The applicant is thirty-one years of age, and American, born at Fort Worth, Texas, by occupation a machinist, and, at the time of his arrest, was employed as such in the Philadelphia plant of the Packard Motor Car Company. He is married.

On February 8, 1920, he married Ida Gubken in St. Louis, Missouri, and lived with her about seven months. On October 1920, he accepted service of notice of the intention of his wife to sue for divorce. He entered no defense to the action and was subsequently informed by her that the decree of divorce had been entered. The Jewish Rabbi, according to the rights of the Church, then annulled the marriage, after civil proceedings had been concluded, according to their information and belief. Thinking that he was free to remarry, and acting in entire good faith, on April 29, 1921, he was married a second time, in the city of Philadelphia. Shortly thereafter the second wife brought an action of divorce against him, alleging perjury and bigamy. He was arrested and, upon arraignment, being without counsel, pleaded guilty to both charges. The applicant was an industrious, law-abiding citizen and, believed there were no legal or canonical obstacles to the second marriage. He served ten years in the United States Navy and was honorably discharged in 1918 because of injuries received. He was twice wounded in action.

The Trial Judge recommends clemency and Assistant District Attorney Fox appeared before the Board and joined in the request.

Because of his previous good record and the circumstances of the case, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished.

We, therefore, "after hearing upon due public notice and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Louis Greenberg.

Sir: At Nos. 70 and 79 September Sessions 1922, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for Crawford County, Samuel A. Marvin was convicted of Larceny on two indictments, and on September 16, 1922, he was sentenced to pay costs, a fine of two hundred dollars and undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than one year nor more than one year and three months.

The applicant is forty-six years of age, a white American by birth; and, at the time of his arrest was a tenant farmer in Crawford County and there were living with him a wife and four minor children.

Prior to April 1922, the applicant was a tenant on the farm of Ross Wetzel, the prosecutor. The applicant claims that he entered into an agreement with his landlord for the purchase of a team of horses. The landlord denies that any such agreement was effected. When Marvin's lease expired he left the farm and took the horses with him. A civil action in replevin was instituted by the landlord to recover his team. Marvin's defense was that a sale had been effected. The landlord then made information against him charging Larceny by bailee. Two separate bills of indictment were found; one for each horse. Conviction was had on both indictments, which were tried together. The jury in their verdict asked the mercy of the Court.

The applicant hitherto had borne the reputation of being an honest, law-abiding citizen, and never before was charged with or convicted of crime. The applicant took the team believing that a contract for purchase and sale had been effected. There was no criminal intent. The jury recommended him to the mercy of the Court. The applicant has already served six months of the sentence. His family are dependent upon the earnings of a seventeen year old son who is a mere farm hand. One hundred and twenty-four responsible citizens of the County petitioned the Board for pardon and no formal objection thereto have been filed.

Because of his previous good record, the circumstances of the case, and the term of imprisonment already served we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished.

Sir: At Nos. 642 and 644 October Sessions, 1918, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace, in and for Lackawanna County, Thomas J. Price, Jr. pleaded guilty to Larceny on two indictments and on October 2, 1918, was sentenced in the aggregate to pay a fine of two dollars, costs of prosecution and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a period of not less than five years nor more than six years.

The applicant is now thirty-one years of age, an American by birth and, at the time of his conviction, was engaged in the business of repairing and rebuilding automobiles, and also owned and operated taxicabs. He is married and has a wife and two children, aged four and six years, respectively, who are dependent on him for support.

The applicant was in business, as before stated and in order to finance his business, secured a loan at a bank and, being unable to pay the note when due, stole two automobiles, during the day, while the cars were standing on the street. Both cars were subsequently restored to their owners. The money obtained from the sale of the stolen cars was turned over to the bank and applied as a credit on the note.

The applicant never before was charged with or convicted of any crime. He was an honest, industrious, and law-abiding citizen.

He has now been confined in the Penitentiary for fifty-three months.

The trial Judge in a letter to the Board recommended clemency.

Because of his previous good record and the term of imprisonment already served, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished.

Sir: At No. 88, March Term, 1919, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Delaware John Garris, pleaded guilty to murder in the second degree. On March 5, 1919, he was sentenced to pay costs, a fine of one hundred dollars, and imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a period of not less than seven nor more than ten years.

The applicant is sixty years of age, colored, a widower, and has six children living.

On March 8, 1918, the applicant shot and killed Mack Hollie, a colored man. Both men boarded in the same house. Money was stolen from the room of the applicant and he accused Hollie of taking it. A quarrel ensued. Hollie attacked the applicant who, after being badly beaten, drew his revolver, fired one shot and killed Hollie, who died the same day.

The applicant has never before been convicted of any crime. His reputation is excellent. He has been an exemplary prisoner.

The Trial Judges writes that he knows of no reason why pardon should not be granted.

Because of the age of the applicant, his previous good record, and term of imprisonment already served, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished.

Sir: At No. 91 October term, 1921, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for Philadelphia County, Henry Rein-schreiber was convicted of murder in the first degree and on June 6, 1922 he was sentenced to be electrocuted.

The applicant is twenty years of age, unmarried, and has a widowed mother. By occupation he is a skilled mechanic.

Early in the morning of July 15, 1921 the home of Edward Reed, aged eighty years, and his sister, Sara Parr, aged eighty-four years, in the city of Philadelphia, was entered and robbed by four men, to wit: Matthew Bonkowski, Henry Reinschreiber, David Disque, and Bernard Mott. Entrance was made through the kitchen. Reed was bound and gagged and three of the men stayed with him. Disque went up stairs and attacked Sara Parr. There was a struggle and call for aid. Reinschreiber went up but did not strike her. Disque beat her with a piece of rubber hose. She was also bound and gagged and subsequently died from her injuries. Some gold pieces were stolen and fourteen were found on Reinschreiber after his arrest. There was no evidence that he struck a blow. Disque was convicted of murder in the first degree and Bonkowski convicted of murder in the second degree.

The applicant was nineteen years of age when the crime was committed. He was industrious and had an exemplary reputation. He never participated in any crime. He was led into bad company on the night of the crime. He was the youngest. Disque, the oldest, was the "master mind." The applicant "went along" with the party. He struck no blow. No deadly weapon was used by anyone and there was no intention to take life.

The twelve jurymen who convicted Reinschreiber asked the Board for a commutation of the death sentence to life imprisonment. Former Judge John M. Patterson, who, while on the bench, presided at the trial of Disque, one of the defendants, appeared in person before the Board, and asked for commutation. Assistant District Attorney Fox, appeared and stated that he would not oppose a commutation to life imprisonment. He said that while the murder was technically in the first degree there was no premeditation.

Because of the youth of the applicant, his previous exemplary record, and, in consideration of the circumstances of the case, and the recommendation of former Judge Patterson, we have concluded that his sentence of death should be commuted to life imprisonment.

We therefore, "after full hearing upon due public notice and in open sessions", recommend that the sentence of death imposed upon the said Henry Reinschreiber be commuted to life imprisonment.

Sir: At Nos. 664, 665, 666 January Sessions, 1919, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, in and for the County of Philadelphia, Peter McCarthy was convicted on two indictments for Robbery and on January 31, 1919, was sentenced to pay costs and imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary from three to ten years.

The applicant on January 31, 1922, was released on parole by the Parole Board of the Eastern Penitentiary, after having served three years in that institution. Since his release on parole, he has resided in Newark, New Jersey, and for a greater portion of the time has been engaged in the management of the Hotel Boulevardo, in said city. Since his release, he has behaved himself as a law-abiding citizen, and has complied strictly with the rules of the said Parole Board. The applicant has never been charged with, or convicted of any offence against the laws of this or any other State.

Assistant District Attorney Fox appeared before the Board in person and stated that he would not oppose this application for pardon; that applicant has been out on parole for fifteen months, and has "behaved splendidly."

Because of the excellent record of the applicant since his discharge on parole, and believing that if clemency is extended to him, he will become a good, law-abiding citizen, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished.

We, therefore, "after full hearing upon due public notice and in open sessions," recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Peter McCarthy.

Sir: At No. 91 October Sessions, 1921, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, in and for the County of Philadelphia, David Disque was convicted of murder in the first degree, and on June 5, 1922, he was sentenced to be electrocuted.

Early in the morning of July 15, 1921, in the city of Philadelphia, the home of Edward Reed, aged 80 years, and his sister, Sarah Parr, aged 84 years, was entered and robbed by four men, to wit: Matthew Bonkowski, Bernard Mott, Henry Reinschreiber and David Disque. Entrance was effected through the kitchen. Reed was bound and gagged, and two of the men remained with him. Reinschreiber and Disque went up stairs and attacked Sarah Parr. According to the evidence in this case, Reinschreiber sat upon her, gagged her and tied her hands, and Disque tied her feet. She shortly thereafter, died from her injuries. They then searched the room, securing $330 in gold pieces, and left the house. After dividing the money, Disque went to Allentown. Upon reading in the papers that Bonkowski and Reinschreiber had been arrested, and had blamed him for Mrs. Parr's death, he voluntarily returned to Philadelphia and surrendered himself to the police authorities. Upon the trial of Disque, Bonkowski, Mott and Reinschreiber, who were under indictment for murder, upon the advice of counsel, refused to testify. Bonkowski who was convicted of murder in the second degree, was sentenced to imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a period of not less than ten nor more than twelve years. Mott pleaded guilty to the indictment for murder, and the trial Judge fixed the degree as second degree murder, and sentenced him to imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a period of not less than eight nor more than ten years. Reinschreiber was tried and convicted of murder in the first degree, sentenced to be electrocuted and on March 21st, last, this Board recommended that the sentence of death be commuted to life imprisonment.

The applicant is twenty-eight years of age, and a native of the United States. He did not instigate the robbery of the Parr house, nor was there any intention upon the part of the participants to injure either Mrs. Parr or Mr. Reed. The death of Mrs. Parr was entirely unforseen and unintentional. There is no evidence to show that the applicant committed any violence upon Mrs. Parr, excepting to tie her feet. His guilt is no greater than that of Reinschreiber, who was in the room with him when Mrs. Parr was injured and robbed, and Reinschreiber has already received a commutation of his death sentence. Mott who was married to Mrs. Parr's granddaughter, and had planned and instigated the robbery, is now serving a sentence for second degree murder, and Bonkowski, who entered the house with Reinschreiber, Disque and Mott, aided and assisted in the robbery, and participated in the proceeds thereof, was convicted of second degree murder.

The trial Judge, John M. Patterson, has filed the following letter with the Board:

"I have received notice that David Disque, convicted of murder in the first degree, is making application for commutation to life imprisonment. It was tried before a jury and myself as judge. It does seem to me that the ends of justice will be served by granting the commutation because:

"1. Disque not having taken the witness stand may have prejudiced his case in such a way as the jury would render a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree, instead of second degree.

"2. None of the other defendants, although charged with first degree murder, will undergo capital punishment, their cases having been tried on the theory that they were all engaged in an unlawful enterprise, and death resulted while the felony was being committed.

"I have given considerable thought to the matter before writing this letter, and want your Honors to understand that this is more than a mere formal letter."

Seven members of the jury, which tried and convicted the applicant, filed a letter with the Board, recommending that his sentence be commuted to life imprisonment. In it they state that while they feel that the verdict rendered was a proper one under the law and evidence, they do not think that "Disque should suffer the death penalty, especially since the other three who were involved with him, will not."

Assistant District Attorney Fox, stated to the Board that he would not oppose the application, and that there was no distinction in the cases of the four men.

In consideration of all the circumstances of the case, the statement of Assistant District Attorney Fox, that there was no distinction in the cases of the four men, the recommendation of a majority of the jury which tried and convicted him, and particularly because of the recommendation of the trial Judge, we have concluded that his sentence of death should be commuted to life imprisonment.

We, therefore, "after full hearing upon due public notice and in open sessions", recommend that the sentence of death imposed upon the said David Disque, be commuted to life imprisonment.

Sir: At Nos. 38 and 29, September Sessions, 1913, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace, in and for the County of Cumberland, Sharon Couker was convicted of Horse Stealing, Larceny and Receiving Stolen Goods, and on September 10th, 1913, he was sentenced in the aggregate to pay a fine of $150, costs and undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a period of not less than twelve years and three months nor more than thirteen years.

The applicant is now thirty-seven years of age, unmarried, and an American by birth. In the Fall of 1913, he was in company with one John Toms, in South Middleton Township, Cumberland County. They had been drinking heavily. Although knowing that Toms did not possess a horse and buggy, he went with him from Pennsylvania into the State of Maryland, in a team consisting of a horse and buggy, which Toms said he was able to obtain. The applicant took no part in obtaining the horse and buggy, and while they were on their way to Maryland, and were being pursued, he took charge of the team, owing to the fact that Toms had managed to get away, and has not since been apprehended.

The applicant has now served nine and one-half years of his term of imprisonment.

Honorable James A. Walker, of Philadelphia, filed a letter with the Board in which he states that when the applicant entered the Penitentiary he could neither read nor write. Since his entrance he has not only learned reading and writing, but has also, by correspondence, taken a course in electrical engineering, and now has charge of the powerhouse in the Penitentiary. He adds that he is assured that if applicant is pardoned he will secure a good position, and will be well looked after by the friends that he has made. Mr. Walker urges the granting of a pardon.

Albert Fry, a Social Worker in the Penitentiary, in a letter filed, states that he will see that applicant secures a position immediately on his return to civil life, in case pardon is granted, and expresses the hope that he may obtain the pardon.

Under all the circumstances of this case, in consideration of the progress he has made during his term of imprisonment, we believe that if the applicant is now released he will become a useful and industrious citizen. We have determined that he has been sufficiently punished.

We, therefore, "after full hearing upon due public notice and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Sharon Couker.

Sir: At No. 1, June Term, 1916, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, in and for the County of Indiana, Angeline Borgio was convicted of murder in the second degree, and on January 8th, 1917, was sentenced to pay costs and imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary, for not less than ten nor more than fifteen years.

The applicant is thirty years of age. She is a native of Italy, and came to America when about twelve years of age. She was married in 1912 to Frank Borgio, and there were born to her three children, aged respectively nine, eight and six, who are living with applicants' relatives in Brooklyn.

Applicant, at the time of the crime, was committed, was twenty-three years of age, and her husband was about thirty. They had two children, thirty months and fourteen months old, respectively, and the third child was born in prison several months after the commission of the crime. About July 4th, 1915, during the absence of her husband, she was, for several nights, left alone in the house with her children, and an Italian who boarded with them, Sam Russo by name. During the absence of her husband, Russo compelled her, under threats to kill her and her babies, to have sexual intercourse with him. The following day she took her children away to the house of a friend. When her husband returned she concealed the truth, fearing that he might do something desperate, and also fearing for the safety of her babes on account of Russo's threats, but she insisted that they move to a village five or six miles distant, which they did shortly thereafter, and when Russo wished to accompany them, she objected and said that she did not want him as a border any longer. Applicant saw nothing of Russo, and never told anyone about the incident until in April, 1916, when applicant's husband came home in an infuriated condition, and asked her what had happened. A former friend of Russo, to whom the latter had boasted of his relations with her, notified the husband of what had occurred, and immediately he demanded the truth from the applicant. She then confessed, and her husband declared that he was ruined, and that applicant would have to kill Russo if she were not guilty, otherwise, applicant's husband would kill her.

Applicant and her husband then went to Iselin, where Russo boarded. Applicant's husband furnished a revolver, and told her that if Russo had done anything, against her will, she should shoot him, and if not against her will, she would be afraid, and then he would shoot her. About five o'clock in the evening of May 2nd, 1916, she was walking up and down the street waiting for Russo, and applicant's husband was sitting nearby, when Russo came along and passed, and she shot him twice in the back. Applicant's husband followed him into his house and fired two more shots, and then applicant fired at Russo twice again, whereupon she was taken away by her husband.

During the entire day, while waiting for Russo's return, applicant was laboring under great excitement, aggravated by the threats of her husband, as well as the threats of Russo, both of whom she feared. Her husband was convicted of murder in the first degree, and sentenced to be electrocuted. This sentence was commuted to life imprisonment, and subsequently he was moved to State Hospital for the Criminal Insane. Applicant has been in prison since May 2nd, 1916, almost seven years, and has served six years and three months on the minimum of her present sentence.

The trial Judge, in a letter filed with the Board, states:

"I recall the circumstances surrounding this homicide very distinctly. From the beginning I was impressed that so far as her participation in the crime was concerned, it was brought about largely on account of the coercion of her husband. Of course, we did not instruct the jury that she ought to be excused from this high crime on this account, but, nevertheless, I have always felt that that was a fact in the case. It occurs to me that under all circumstances, she has been sufficiently punished, and I am willing to leave the matter to the Board of Pardons for their consideration, without recommendation."

Four of the Jury which convicted her recommend a pardon in letters filed, stating that they believe that she was under the coercion of her husband at the time, and that she has been sufficiently punished.

Because of the youth of the applicant when the crime was committed, and because of the coercion of her husband, in consideration of the term of imprisonment already served, and the statement of the trial Judge, we have concluded that she has been sufficiently punished.

We, therefore, "after full hearing upon due public notice and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Angeline Borgio.

Sir: At No. 12, December Sessions, 1921, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace, in and for the County of Northumberland, George J. Garenkouski pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with Breaking and Entering, Larceny, etc., and on November 14, 1921, he was sentenced to pay a fine of $25.00 costs and imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary, for a period of not less than two nor more than five years.

The applicant is now eighteen years of age, is native-born, of Polish extraction, unmarried, and was formerly employed in a silk mill, but at the time of his arrest was temporarily out of employment.

About midnight, on November 4th, 1921, the applicant, who was then less than seventeen years of age, and a colored man by the name of Henry Tarr, who was much older than applicant, and had a criminal record, broke into the basement of the hardware store of Unger & Son, in the Borough of Shamokin, and ultimately gained an entrance into the main store-room on the street floor, where they opened the cash drawer, and took therefrom, ninety-nine cents in small change. The following day they were both arrested and applicant pleaded guilty before the Justice of the Peace, and afterward, being brought into the court before the regular term waived the finding of a bill of indictment, and pleaded guilty to the charge.

At the time of his arrest the applicant was less than seventeen years of age, and was influenced by an evil companion who was much older. Prior thereto, the applicant was possessed of good character, and was never before charged of any crime. His prison record is excellent. The proprietor of the store which was robbed, filed a letter with the Board in which he states that Tarr admitted to him that he had planned the robbery. The Chief of Police of Shamokin, who was Chief Burgess at the time of the crime, informed the Board that Tarr was paroled last November, and that in his judgment the applicant had been sufficiently punished. The applicant has now been in prison seventeen months, and because of his extreme youth at the time of the crime, his previous good record, and the term of imprisonment already served, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished.

Sir: At No. 75, September Sessions, 1922, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, in and for the County of Northampton, George Simol was convicted of murder in the first degree, and on January 22, 1923, he was sentenced to be electrocuted.

The applicant is thirty-seven years of age, a native of Hungary, and unmarried. He came to this country when he was seventeen years of age, and has never been naturalized. He is by occupation, a laborer, and, at the time of his arrest, worked in a limestone quarry at McAfee, New Jersey, owned by the Bethlehem Steel Company.

For several years prior to the crime for which he is now suffering imprisonment, he lived with one Mary Pler, a widow. She was his common-law wife. For several days prior to the shooting he had been drinking and carousing with friends. On the morning of the day of the killing applicant went to a coal yard to see about the delivery of coal. Before returning home he stopped with friends and became so drunk that one of them took him home. Shortly after he returned home he shot Mary Pler three or four times, causing her death. He remembers having reached home, having reported to Mary Pler about the coal, inquired about dinner, after which he became so intoxicated that he remembered nothing more until he found himself in prison.

While the jury found the applicant guilty of murder in the first degree, they coupled with their verdict a recommendation of "leniency". It was submitted in his defence that the applicant was so drunk that it was impossible for him to form a wilful and deliberate intent to take life, and the verdict should have been murder in the second degree.

There was filed with the Board, the affidavit of the foreman of the jury which convicted the applicant. In it he deposed that the jury inquired of the court whether they could recommend leniency, and deponent, as foreman, asked the court for instructions by request of his fellow jurymen. After having been informed by the court that they could make a recommendation, the jurors believed that if they would recommend leniency in connection with a verdict of "guilty of murder", the court would pass sentence of life imprisonment; that the verdict of death, with the recommendation of leniency attached, was the unanimous conclusion of the jury. He adds that the verdict of murder in the first degree would not have been reached had the jury known that the recommendation for leniency would have no effect upon the sentence of the court.

Because of the mental condition of the applicant when the crime was committed, the lack of premeditation, in view of the statements of the foreman of the jury which convicted and recommended leniency, under a misapprehension of the law governing sentences for murder of the first degree, and because of the failure of the trial Judge to explain clearly to the jury the non-effect of a recommendation of leniency, coupled with the verdict which they rendered, we have concluded that his sentence of death should be commuted to life imprisonment.

We, therefore, "after full hearing upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that the sentence of death imposed upon the said George Simol be commuted to life imprisonment.

Sir: At Nos. 31 and 32, February Sessions, 1921, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace, in and for the County of Erie, James Coghlan, Jr., was convicted of breaking and entering a railway freight car, and on February 23, 1921, was sentenced to pay a fine of $200.00, costs and imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for not less than four years and six months, nor more than six years.

The applicant is twenty-seven years of age, American by birth, unmarried, and prior to his enlistment in the army, and service overseas, during the Great World War, was employed by his father on his farm, as a fireman on lake boats, and in a machine shop at Elyria, Ohio. At the time of his arrest he was temporarily out of employment, and was on his way from Buffalo, N. Y. to his home in Elyria, where his family resides.

On January 14th 1921, the applicant, in his journey to Elyria, had reached Erie, Penna., after riding on a freight train. After his arrival in Erie he went to a saloon where he indulged in the use of intoxicants, and afterwards, in the early evening, he left the saloon and walked East on 18th Street to Walnut Street, and north on Walnut Street, which is intersected by the railroad, where, he claimed, he was arrested by railway policemen. The latter, however, testified that he was arrested near a freight car that had been broken into and entered. Applicant denied that he had broken or entered any car, or taken or received any property therefrom, or from any car, and on the trial of the case it was not shown by any evidence that anything was, in fact, taken from the car, but he was convicted, apparently upon the testimony of the officers making the arrest.

Prior to his conviction in this case, applicant was a young man of high standing and reputation in the community. He was an industrious worker. His prison record is excellent. He was honorably discharged from the United States Army in May, 1919, after having served eleven months. He was in active service in France and Italy.

The applicant has now been confined in the Penitentiary more than two years, during which time his behavior has been excellent. A former employer has agreed to give applicant employment immediately upon his discharge. Arthur L. Garford, a prominent manufacturer of Elyria, Ohio, filed with the Board a copy of a letter which he addressed to Governor Pinchot, in which he strongly advocated a pardon in this case.

Because of his previous good record, his excellent military service, and the circumstances of this particular case, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished.

We, therefore, "after full hearing upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said James Coghlan, Jr.

Sir: At Nos. 17, February Sessions, 1922, and 3, May Sessions, 1922, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace, in and for the County of Crawford, Harry F. Miller pleaded guilty to two indictments charging him with embezzlement, and, on February 27, 1922, he was sentenced in the aggregate to pay a fine of $14,906.15, pay the costs, and undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than one year and four months, nor more than three years.

The applicant is forty-three years of age. He is an American citizen, of German descent, unmarried at the present time, with one daughter, aged twelve years. He learned and worked at the trade of blacksmith. He served in the National Guard of Pennsylvania almost continuously from 1898 to 1919, becoming Captain of a Company, and served with distinction during the last four wars, namely: The Spanish-American War, The Philippine War, The Mexican War, and the Great World War, attaining the rank of Major. He was severely wounded in France, and discharged from an army hospital August 1919, and pronounced incurable by the surgeons. Three months later he was elected Register and Recorder of Crawford County. He had serious domestic troubles, after which he took to drink, went on protracted sprees, embezzled State and County funds in his custody, and finally, in the Fall of 1921, abandoned his office and became a fugitive. Subsequently, he voluntarily returned from Tennessee to Crawford County, and surrendered to the police authorities.

The trial Judge, in a letter filed with the Board, states that: "If your Honorable Board saw fit to grant said pardon, it would meet with the approval of those best acquainted with Mr. Miller's career." The trial District Attorney notified the Board that: "The Commonwealth will not oppose Harry F. Miller pardon".

In view of the fact that the applicant was never before arrested or convicted of crime, in view of his unselfish and patriotic service to the Nation, because of his voluntary return to suffer trial, because of the severe wounds which he received in behalf of his country, and the recommendation of the trial Judge, we have concluded that he has been adequately punished.

Sir: At No. 3, December Sessions, 1915, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Centre, Clyde D. Carney pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with breaking and escaping from the penitentiary, and on October 28th, 1915, he was sentenced to pay a fine of $1.00 costs and imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of four years. This sentence to commence at the expiration of sentence imposed by the Indiana County Court on March 16, 1915, for a period of four years to eight years.

The applicant is now thirty-four years of age, unmarried, and American by birth, and, at the time of his arrest, was a trainman for the Pennsylvania Railroad Company.

The applicant was serving a sentence of four to eight years, imposed by the Indiana Court, when he was transferred to the prison farm at Rockview, where he escaped on October 7th, 1915, and was at large twenty-one days before he was captured and re-imprisoned. He has already served a total of twelve years' imprisonment. According to the letter of the resident physician of the Penitentiary on file, the applicant is suffering from an inactive pulmonary tuberculosis.

The trial Judge, in a letter filed, and addressed to the applicant, says: "I wish you success in your application, and trust that your resolutions made to the Board will be realized". (Reference is here made to applicant's affidavit to become an honest, law-abiding citizen, if granted a pardon.)

Dr. Ellen C. Potter, Commissioner of Public Welfare, recommends that a pardon be granted. The Warden of the Penitentiary states that if the applicant were eligble to apply for parole, he would unhesitatingly recommend his release because he believes that he would make a strenuous effort to become a law-abiding citizen.

In consideration of all the circumstances of the case, the poor health of the applicant, and the recommendations of the Warden, the Commissioner of Public Welfare, and the trial Judge; and because of the term of imprisonment already served, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished.

We, therefore, "after full hearing upon due public notice and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Clyde D. Carney.

Sir: At No. 745, September Sessions, 1919, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace, in and for the County of Allegheny, E. M. Young pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with Entering a Building, Larcency, and Receiving Stolen Goods, and on September 24th, 1919, was sentenced to pay a fine of 6¼ cents, pay the costs of prosecution, and imprisonment in the Allegheny County Work-house, for a period of six months.

The applicant is forty-three years of age; a citizen of the United States, and, at the time of his arrest, was engaged in the tallow and hide business in East Liverpool, Ohio. He is unmarried, and has no near relatives.

The applicant was convicted in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Lawrence County, of the crime of "Entering a building with intent to commit a felony", and on June 22nd, 1915, was sentenced by the Lawrence County Court to serve a term of imprisonment of not less than four years, nor more than ten years, in the Western Penitentiary of Pennsylvania. June 23rd, 1919, he was paroled from this institution, having served his minimum term of four years, and returned to his business in East Liverpool, Ohio. While on a business trip, in Pittsburgh, he was arrested for the crime charged against him, and for which he was sentenced to the Allegheny County Work-house. After his arrival in Pittsburgh, the day before the arrest, he drank intoxicating liquors and became drunk, and wandered about the streets of the City; not knowing where he was going. After he was awakened from sleep in the Police Station he was told by an officer that he was under arrest for entering a building, which offence had occurred at 11 A. M. of the day of arrest. He was unconscious of having committed any crime, and no property was found upon his person. In his dazed and weakened condition, he pleaded guilty to the charge, and, after serving his term of six months in the work-house, was brought back to the Penitentiary to serve his maximum term of ten years, expiring in 1926.

The applicant prepared and filed his own application for pardon.

J. C. Coulter, Parole Officer of the Western Penitentiary, by letter, recommends that the applicant's plea for pardon be granted.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, and the term of imprisonment already served, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished.

Sir: At No. 72, November Sessions, 1921, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Allegheny, Finley Kuskie was convicted of voluntary manslaughter, and on February 25, 1922, was sentenced to pay a fine of 6¼ cents, costs and imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than three nor more than four years.

The applicant is twenty-seven years of age, a native of Pennsylvania, unmarried, and at the time of his arrest was employed as a roller in a steel mill at Wilson, Pa. On the night of July 15th, 1921, the applicant had taken one Anna Nazarick, a reputable young woman with whom he had been keeping company, for an automobile ride. About 12:30 A. M., they pulled off the main highway onto a side road. The applicant, several weeks previously, had purchased a revolver, and carried it for protection in the right front pocket of his automobile. The girl, who was on the right side of the front seat, took the revolver from the pocket, started to play with it, was remonstrated with by the applicant, who told her to be careful, and almost immediately thereafter she accidently shot the applicant, the bullet passing entirely through his body, near the heart. When he regained consciousness, several hours later, he saw the girl sitting beside him, dead, with a bullet wound in her left temple. The applicant was bleeding freely from his wound, and proceeded, with great difficutly, to the nearest house, about one thousand feet distant, and told the occupants what had happened. The evidence in the trial showed that no assault had been made upon the girl. The revolver was found in a field on left side of the road. The applicant was removed to a hospital where he was under treatment for about six weeks, when he was taken to jail.

The applicant has never before been charged or convicted of any crime. He has been steadily employed in the steel mill since he was sixteen years of age, with the exception of sixteen months, when he served in the United States Navy, in which he enlisted at the outbreak of the War, and from which he was honorably discharged. His aged parents are dependent upon him for support.

The jury which tried him was out three days before arriving at a verdict, indicating serious doubts as to his guilt of murder. The District Attorney, in a letter on file, declares that the evidence in the case was entirely circumstantial, and that under the facts of the case the verdict should either have been guilty of murder, or not guilty. The trial Judge, in a letter, strongly recommends a pardon.

The applicant has now been in jail eighteen months. In view of the circumstances of the case, the apparent lack of motive, the previous good record of the applicant, and the recommendation of the trial Judge, we have determined that he has been adequately punished.

We, therefore, "after full hearing upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Finley Kuskie.

Sir: At Nos. 12, 13 and 14, May Sessions, 1911, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Allegheny, Harold Enfield pleaded guilty to the charge of burglary, and on May 19, 1911, he was sentenced in the aggregate to pay a fine of $300, costs of prosecution, and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than six years nor more than thirty years. At No. 21, May Sessions, 1916, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace, in and for the County of Centre, he pleaded guilty to the charge of escape from the Penitentiary, and on May 10, 1916, he was sentenced to pay a fine of $1.00, costs of prosecution, and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than four years nor more than thirty years.

The applicant is now thirty-eight years old, a British subject by allegience, and, prior to his sentence, was employed as a vaudeville actor and clerk in Keith & Proctor's Theatre, at Pittsburgh. He is unmarried, and his aged parents reside in New Zealand. After applicant had served nearly five years of his minimum sentence for burglary, he was transferred to the new Western Penitentiary in Centre County, and after being in the new institution about five days he walked out the open prison gate, without violence or intimidation, and escaped. He was subsequently captured.

The applicant has now served nearly twelve years' imprisonment. He has never before been arrested or convicted of crime, and has been a model prisoner, as appears from the letter of Warden Egan, who writes that the Board of Inspectors concur with him in the view that the applicant has been sufficiently punished. Judge Buffington, of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, filed a letter with the Board in which he states that the first time in his judicial life he has taken part in an application for pardon, and that he now joins in the present application. He states that the escape from prison was foolish and on the spur of the moment, and that his present term is really not for crime, but a vindication of administrative discipline. In his judgment he has been sufficiently punished.

Rev. J. B. Guttshall, who appeared before the Board in applicant's behalf, promises him a home until means shall be provided to send him to England, and ultimately to his parents in New Zeland. It is believed that if the applicant is released, he will become a useful citizen, and we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished.

We, therefore, "after full hearing upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Harold Enfield.

Sir: At No. 6 September Sessions, 1918, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, in and for the County of Lawrence, Nick Amato was convicted of manslaughter, and on October 7, 1918, was sentenced to pay a fine of fifty dollars, costs and undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than seven years, nor more than eight years.

The applicant, at the time of his arrest, was twenty-three years of age. He is a native of Italy, and came to America when fifteen years of age. He worked at various places and finally went to Massilon, Ohio, where he owned a store, and also worked outside. On or about March 22, 1918, he went to work in the morning, as usual, and left his wife in charge of the store. He deposited $150 in cash in the money drawer. Upon his return in the evening he found both wife and money gone, and learned that Dominic Bagnato, a customer, had taken his wife, the money and a watch, and removed to Ellwood City, Lawrence County. In June 1918, he came to Ellwood City to recover the money and the watch. On June 15th he met Bagnato, who declared that sometime he would kill him, but not then for the police officers were too near. He also pulled his coat to one side, and showed the applicant the revolver he had in his pocket. The applicant left Ellwood City, but returned several days later. On his way to the station he encountered Bagnato on the street, who, when he was near, made a motion to reach to his pocket to draw the gun, the location of which he had previously shown. The applicant, believing Bagnato was about to carry out the threats uttered to him, and was about to take his life, in self defence, pulled a gun and shot Bagnato fatally. He was immediately arrested, and gave his gun to the police, stating that he was not afraid of them, but that Bagnato, being a member of the Blackhand, was afraid he would kill him. On the person of the deceased was found a revolver with six balls, and a stiletto eight inches long.

The plea of the applicant was self defense, and he was convicted against the weight of the evidence, and, while the jury found him not guilty of murder, they convicted him of manslaughter.

The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of crime. He has now served four years and six months of his term of imprisonment.

The Trial Judge in a letter to the Board, says, inter alia, "From my recollection of the case, I have no hesitancy in saying I believe this man has been sufficiently punished, and that if his application for pardon is granted, that the ends of justice will have been met."

The Trial District Attorney in a letter filed with the Board, says, "At the time of the trial, I remember the case very well, and would not have been surprised if the jury had brought in a verdict of 'not guilty'." If your Honorable Board, after hearing the application should pardon the applicant in this case, I would be satisfied that the ends of justice would have been met."

Because of the youth of the applicant at the time the crime was committed, his previous good record, the circumstances of the case, the term of imprisonment already served, and the recommendation of the trial Judge and trial District Attorney, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Nick Amato.

Sir: At No. 78, December Sessions, 1914, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, in and for the County of Delaware, Nicola Battista, alias Nicola Pusilla pleaded guilty of murder in the second degree, to an indictment charging him with murder, and on March 23rd, 1915, he was sentenced to pay a fine of ten dollars, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a period of not less than fifteen years, nor more than twenty years.

The applicant is now thirty-two years of age, a laborer by occupation, married, and has a wife and an eleven year old son residing in Italy. At the time of his arrest he boarded with Rocco Mastrocola at Burmont, Del. Co., and worked as a laborer in Darby. On November 1st, 1914, in the evening, about seven o'clock, the applicant killed his uncle, Raffaele Tenaglia, during a quarrel, by stabbing him in the breast with a small penknife, the blade penetrating the heart about one inch. There had been bad blood between the applicant and his uncle, both in Italy and in this country. The uncle had threatened him many times to do him bodily injury. The uncle was a friend of the man with whom the applicant lodged, and had spent the afternoon there. A number of persons were present besides the uncle and the applicant. Wine was drunk. It was a noisy, convivial gathering. The uncle was abusive towards the applicant, and made insulting remarks concerning the applicant, his wife and family. When evening came the uncle in company with other visitors, left the house to return to their respective homes. After they had proceeded a short distance from the house, the uncle being in the lead, the applicant closely following, the latter caught up with his uncle and remonstrated with him about the insulting remarks and epithets which he had been hurling at the applicant, and with reference to his wife, his mother, and other members of the applicant's family, and during the altercation which then ensued, and which had continued at intervals during the entire afternoon, the applicant, believing that his uncle was about to cut him with a razor, which he was about to pull out of his pocket, accompanied by threats, "to drink his blood", "to cut his face", the applicant took a penknife or pocketknife about four inches long, from his pocket, opened it, made one thrust at his uncle's breast, and, without waiting to see the result of the blow, ran away. Later that same night, learning that his uncle had been killed by the blow, he gave himself up to the authorities. The applicant was only twenty-three years old at the time of the murder, and the uncle was thirty-seven.

The applicant has now been in prison since November, 1914, to wit; eight years and six months, since his arrest. He was never before charged with or convicted of any crime.

The facts of the case show that the uncle was the aggressor, had frequently threatened to do bodily harm to the applicant, had cursed and abused him on the day of the crime, had applied opprobrious epithets to his wife and mother, and during an altercation, attempted to draw a razor from his pocket, when the applicant struck him but a single blow, in self-defense, with a small pocket knife which penetrated the heart of the uncle and killed him.

Because of the youth of the applicant when the crime was committed, the provocation he was subjected to, and the danger to life, which he had every reason to apprehend, in consideration of the circumstances of the case, and the term of imprisonment already served, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Nicola Battista, alias Nicola Pusilla.

Sir: At No. 10, September Term, 1919, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, in and for the County of Bedford, Samuel Plummer Ritchey and Russel Walls waived indictment by the Grand Jury and pleaded guilty to Assault and Robbery, and on September 3rd, 1919, Ritchey was sentenced to pay a fine of $100.00, one-half the cost of prosecution and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than six years nor more than eight years.

The applicant is now twenty-eight years of age, unmarried, a citizen of the United States, and by occupation, a coal miner. He resides with his aged parents in Bedford County, and is their sole support.

On the evening of August 19th, 1919, the applicant with Russel Walls, while both were intoxicated, met Howard Akers and a female companion, who were taking a stroll. An altercation ensued which resulted in a scuffle between the men, and an assault and battery on Akers, during which a sum of money was taken from the latter, who had Ritchey and Walls arrested immediately, on the charge of Assault and Robbery. Both confessed their guilt, waived indictment, and pleaded guilty to the charge. Walls was sentenced on the same day with Ritchey but was pardoned about a year ago.

The applicant was never before convicted of crime, and perpetrated the present offence when intoxicated. He served in the great World War over-seas, was wounded in the battle of Verdun, and has an honorable discharge.

The applicant has now served three years and eight months of his sentence. The trial District Attorney in a letter filed, recommends a pardon.

Because of his inebriated condition at the time of the commission of the offence, his previous good record, the term of imprisonment already served, and the need of his parents for assistance and support, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished.

We, therefore, "after full hearing upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Samuel Plummer Ritchey.

Sir: At No. 30, June Term, 1919, in the court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace, in and for the County of Bucks, Arthur J. Dougherty waived indictment and pleaded guilty to the charge of Robbery, and on September 11th, 1919, was sentenced to pay a fine of $1.00, costs of prosecution, and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a period of not less than five years nor more than seven years.

The applicant is now twenty-five years of age, an American citien, married, and has a wife now living in Florida, and two small children, aged four and two years respectively. He is an automobile mechanic by trade, and was employed as chauffer by Rohm and Haas Company, chemical manufacturers at Bristol, at the time of his arrest.

While driving the paymaster of the company from the bank to the plant, he held him up with a gun and took the satchel from him, which contained the pay roll amounting to $1531.00, and fled to Florida, where he was arrested, and returned to Pennsylvania for trial. He was only twenty-two at the time.

The applicant has never been charged with or convicted of crime. He has now served three years and eight months of his sentence. No one appeared in opposition to his application.

The President of the firm which employed him, and which he robbed, filed a strong letter with the Board urging clemency, and offering to re-employ him, or obtain a new position for him. His employers during his imprisonment, have done an extraordinary thing in paying to the wife of the applicant, $50.00 per month for the support of herself and children.

Because of the youth of the applicant when the crime was committed, his previous good record, the term of imprisonment already served, and the remarkable confidence his former employers repose in him, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished.

We, therefore, "after full hearing upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Arthur J. Dougherty.

Sir: At No. 1, December term, 1918, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace, in and for the County of Centre, Paul Merino pleaded guilty to an indictment for Breaking and Escaping Penitentiary, and on September 28th, 1918, was sentenced to pay a fine of $1.00, costs, and undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than three and one-half years, nor more than four years.

The applicant is forty-one years of age, a native of the Kingdom of Italy, and subject thereto. He is by occupation, a laborer. At the time of his arrest he resided in Pittsburgh, and worked as a day laborer. He is married, and has a wife and and two children in Italy.

In February, 1918, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace, in and for the County of Allegheny, he pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with Attempted Burglary, and on February 18th, 1918, was sentenced to serve a term of imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than three and one-half years, nor more than four years. He was taken to the new Penitentiary at Rockview, and employed at outside labor. On September 21st, 1918, he deliberately walked away from the prison, and fled to Middletown, Penna., where he was arrested six days later, and taken back to Centre County for trial.

The applicant has now served the maximum term under the sentence imposed by the Allegheny County Court for Attempted Burglary, and has served almost one year and two months of the minimum sentence imposed by the Centre County Court for Breaking and Escaping Penitentiary.

The applicant is a robust man, and willing to labor for the support of his family in Italy, where he plans to go as soon as he earns sufficient money to pay for his transportation thither.

The warden of the Western Penitentiary writes the Board as follows:

"Paul Merino has deported himself satisfactorily since he was sentenced for escape from the new Western Penitentiary at Rockview, on September 28th, 1918. Had he not absconded from Rockview, Merino would have been paroled on August 12th, 1921. By reason of his escape, he has thus far served one year, nine months and six days, which I believe is sufficient punishment. I believe that if Merino were given an opportunity he would respect the laws of the Commonwealth."

Because of the circumstances of the case, the period of imprisonment already served, the good prison record of the applicant, and the recommendation of the Warden of the Penitentiary, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Paul Merino.

Sir: At No. 31, August Sessions, 1917, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, in and for the County of Chester, Rodger B. Smith pleaded guilty to the charge of Voluntary Manslaughter, and on October 2nd, 1917, was sentenced to pay a fine of $1,000, costs of prosecution and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a period of not less than seven years nor more than twelve years.

The applicant is now thirty years of age, an American citien, unmarried, colored, a laborer by occupation, and at the time of his arrest was employed as a farm hand, and lived with James Sykes, colored, in the frame shanty where the shooting occurred.

At the time of the tragedy, the family of Sykes consisted of himself and wife and a step-daughter, Olive Jackson, with her two small children, John Brown, colored, who lived and worked in the neighborhood, had been keeping company with Olive Jackson. He was about twenty-five years old, and of very powerful physique. He was of intemperate habits and when drunk, quarrelsome vicious. He had threatened the life of Olive Jackson and had also threatened to burn the house and occupants. Both Sykes and his landlord had notified Brown to stay off the premises.

On May 19th, 1917, about 10:30 P. M., applicant was in Syke's shanty when Brown was heard approaching the house (which was located in a clearing about two hundred yards back from the public road) shouting and singing. In the shanty at the time, were Sykes and wife an elderly couple, Olive Jackson and her two small children, John Johnson, a visitor, and the applicant. They knew from his actions that Brown was drunk. Mrs. Sykes got a revolver, handed it to Smith and told him to defend her and the house against Brown. Brown came to the door, was ordered off the premises by Sykes, but declared with oaths that he would come in and kill everyone in the house. He forced an entrance, pushing Sykes and wife away from the door, back into the room. Olive Jackson crouched under a bed with her children. Brown advanced into the shanty towards the applicant who stood in a doorway between the two rooms. The applicant shot Brown twice who staggered back and fell out of the door of the house onto the ground.

After the shooting, applicant helped carry Brown into the shanty, went two miles for a physician, helped carry Brown to the conveyance which took him to the hospital, and afterwards surrendered to the constable and related the circumstances of the killing.

The applicant acted in self defence and in defence of the persons in the shanty. He was far inferior to Brown in physical strength, and believed Brown was about to carry out his threat to kill all in the house. While he pleaded guilty to the charge of Voluntary Manslaughter, it was done under the advice of counsel, assigned to defend him.

John Johnson, colored, filed with the Board an affidavit in which he states that he was an eye witness to the killing. He was a visitor in the Sykes' shanty when Brown forced his way in, but immediately left fearing trouble. It was a bright moonlight night. When a short distance from the shanty, he looked back and saw Brown distinctly, saw him advance into the shanty. After he had entered, he heard two shots and saw Brown fall out of the doorway onto the ground. He further states that Brown was "pretty full" at the time, that he was ugly and quarrelsome when drunk, and "the strongest man around." He declares that Brown was shot inside the house by Smith, who acted in defence of himself and the occupants of the shanty.

Under all the circumstances of the case, the applicant clearly acted in self-defence and in defence of the persons in the shanty, believing that Brown intended to carry out his threat to kill all the persons before him.

The applicant has now served five years and seven months of his term. Because of the circumstances surrounding this case, which make out an unusually strong case of self defence, and because of the term of imprisonment already served, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished.

Sir: At No. 6, May Sessions, 1921, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace, in and for the County of Crawford, Fred Smith waived indictment and pleaded guilty to the charge of Breaking and Entering, Larceny and Receiving Stolen Goods, and on March 4th, 1921, was sentenced to pay a fine of $5.00, costs of prosecution and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than three years nor more than six years.

The applicant is twenty-four years of age, and a citiezn of the United States. He has been a farm laborer and for two years worked as a machinist. He is married and has a wife and three small children, who now reside with his parents who are old, and feeble and require care.

D. E. Orwig had certain goods and chattels stored in a summer cottage located along Oil Creek, Crawford County, which in February 1891, was entered and said goods removed. They were subsequently found in the cottage of the applicant who pleaded guilty to the charge of Breaking and Entering and Larceny.

The applicant has now served two years and two months of his sentence. His prison record is excellent. It is believed that if now released he will become a useful citizen.

Because of the fact that his family and aged parents require his assistance and support and having in consideration the term of imprisonment already served we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished.

Sir: At No. 8/113, March Sessions, 1922, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace, in and for the County of Fayette, Andrew John and Joe Koury were convicted of Receiving Stolen Goods, and on March 17th, 1922, were each sentenced to pay a fine of six cents, costs of prosecution, and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than two years nor more than three years.

John is twenty-nine years of age, a native of Syria, and came to America in 1908. In 1920 he formed a partnership with his wife's brother, Koury, in the wholesale tobacco business at Uniontown. He is married, and the father of three small children. Koury is twenty-four years of age, a native of Uniontown, but of Syrian extraction. He is married, but has no children. Both applicants are reputable and substantial citizens, and were never before charged with, or convicted of any crime.

A Burglary was committed in an adjoining County, and a quantity of cigars and cigarettes taken, which were afterwards purchased by the applicants, and were found in their possession, in a warehouse, untouched and unbroken. There was no evidence presented showing collusion or connivance, but the goods were undoubtedly stolen, and the applicants did not exercise sufficient caution in purchasing from strangers. The goods were restored to the owners.

The applicants have now served fourteen months of their terms of imprisonment.

Letters from many prominent citizens, professional men, lawyers, etc., were presented to the Board, all advocating clemency. Among others, Mayor Smart of Uniontown; Mr. Tabor of Senator Crow's old law firm; Hon. Bruce F. Sterling, former Democratic State Chairman and Congressman; and former Judge Robert R. Umbel; recommended pardon. It is believed that if applicants are now released they will become useful and law-abiding citizens.

Because of the comparative youth of the applicants, their previous good record, their excellent standing in the community, as shown by the letters filed, and in consideration of all the circumstances of the case, we have determined that they have been adequately punished.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Andrew John and Joe Koury.

Sir: At No. 591, September Sessions, 1922, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, in and for the County of Luzerne, John Cibuzash waved indictment and pleaded guilty to the charge of Larceny, and on September 16th, 1922, was sentenced to pay a fine of $100.00, costs and undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a term of from two to four years.

The applicant is now eighteen years of age, a citizen of the United States, unmarried. At the age of fourteen he went to work in the coal mines as a laborer, to assist his parents in supporting the family, which consisted of a father (who by reason of injuries received in a mine explosion, is unable to work), a mother and eleven children. He is the oldest child, and at present is the only wage-earner.

On or about June 28th, 1922, the applicant with three others, broke and entered the storeroom or garage of a service station located in Hazelton and carried away tires, tubes, sparkplugs and other property valued at $230.00. The property was afterwards found in the possession of the applicant and his associates, who, when arrested, confessed and pleaded guilty. The stolen property was restored to the owners. The applicant's associates were either paroled or sentenced.

The applicant has an excellent reputation, and was never before charged with or convicted of crime. He is sorely needed by his family, which is destitute, and whose sole support he is. He has now been in prison for eight months.

Thomas H. Kennedy, President of the mine workers, appeared before the Board in person, and pleaded for clemency.

Because of the youth of the applicant, his prior good record, and the need for his labor and assistance to support his family, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said John Cibuzash.

Sir: At No. 160, December Term, 1919, of the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace, in and for the County of Philadelphia, Frank Brown pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with Entering with intent to steal, and on December 9th, 1919, was sentenced to pay the costs of prosecution, and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a period of not less than twelve months nor more than thirteen months.

The applicant is thirty-nine years of age, a plumber by trade, and has been employed at various times as a farm-hand. He is married, but separated from his wife, has one child aged fifteen, who lives with his mother aged sixty, and he is the sole support of both. The applicant, in 1913, was arrested in Bucks County, and pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with horse-stealing, but was actually guilty of larceny by bailee. He was sentenced to imprisonment for not less than five years nor more than ten years, whereas the maximum sentence for larceny by bailee is three years. At the expiration of his minimum sentence, in 1919, he was paroled, and on December 9th, 1919, he pleaded guilty to the present offense, which constituted a violation of parole.

On November 19th, 1919, while intoxicated, he entered the open door of a house in the City of Philadelphia, for the purpose of finding a place to sleep, believing the house to be empty. When he entered, he met the occupant, who ordered him out, words ensued, and the occupant beat him severely and had him arrested for entering with intent to steal. On the trial, unrepresented by counsel, he pleaded guilty.

The applicant has served eight years and five months on the two sentences, for horse-stealing and Entering with intent to steal. The crime for which he is now suffering imprisonment was committed while he was intoxicated. His record in the Penitentiary is excellent. His mother and daughter require assistance and support from him.

Because of the circumstances of the present case, the term of imprisonment already served, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions," recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Frank Brown.

Sir: At No. 546, May Sessions, 1920, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, in and for the County of Philadelphia, John Governala and William Kimbie were convicted of Robbery, and on June 3rd, 1920, were each sentenced to pay costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Philadelphia County Prison for a term of ten years.

The applicants are both unmarried, and are twenty-two and twenty-seven years of age, respectively.

On May 23rd, 1920, they were driving in the northeastern section of Philadelphia in a Ford automobile which they borrowed. They stopped and entered a saloon where they met Joseph Comminski, a Pole, who went away in the car with them, and alleged that after riding a short distance they robbed him of fifteen dollars and provisions which he had in his possession. He had them arrested immediately. The applicants continually maintained their innocence, before and during the trial.

The prosecutor filed a letter with the Board in which he declared that while the applicants had robbed him, they used no weapons, and did not hurt him. He asks for their discharge, asserting that he believes that they have been sufficiently punished.

The Parole Officer of the Quarter Sessions Court of Philadelphia appeared before the Board and stated that he appeared and had filed the present application for pardon in behalf of the applicants, by direction of the trial Judge.

The applicants were never charged with or convicted of any other offense, and have borne excellent reputations. They have been confined in the County Prison for nearly three years.

Because of the circumstances of this case, the previous good record of the applicants, and the interest which the trial Judge manifested in their behalf, we have concluded that they have been sufficiently punished.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said John Governala and William Kimbic.

Sir: At No. 591, June Term, 1922, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace, and at No. 591 A., in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, in and for the County of Schuylkill, Ralph Houser was convicted of bastardy and statutory rape, and on May 8th, was sentenced to pay costs in both cases, and to undergo imprisonment in the Schuylkill County Prison for a period of two years.

The applicant is thirty years of age, a citizen of the United States, and was a locomotive fireman in the employ of the Philadelphia and Reading Railway Company, at the time of his arrest. He has a wife and one child. He is married to an older sister of Mary M. Applegate, the prosecutrix in this case, who, at the time of the commission of the crime, was fifteen years of age.

On or about October 10th, 1920, while a guest in his home, she alleges that the crime was committed. The applicant asserts his innocence; alleging that she was induced to prosecute him by her parents, who were unfriendly to him, and in order to shield the real culprit.

The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of crime. He has served one year of his term of imprisonment, and is in poor health.

The prosecutrix filed an affidavit with the Board asking clemency, and alleged that her parents disliked the applicant, and compelled her to charge him with the paternity of her child. She admits intimacy with other men about the time in question, and proclaims the innocence of the applicant.

The twelve jurymen who convicted the applicant petitioned the Board for a pardon, and asked for clemency, alleging their belief that he has been sufficiently punished.

The trial District Attorney appeared before the Board in person and recommended a pardon.

Because of the circumstances of this case, the previous good record of the applicant, his impaired physical condition, and the recommendation of the prosecutrix, the jury, and the trial District Attorney, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Ralph Houser.

Sir: At No. 540, September Term, 1921, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace, in and for the County of Schuylkill, Edgar Danner was convicted of Receiving Stolen Goods, and on November 7th, 1921, was sentenced to pay a fine of $1.00, costs, and imprisonment in the Schuylkill County Prison for a term of two years.

The applicant is twenty-eight years of age, a citizen of the United States, is married and has two small children. He lives on a farm of one hundred acres, situated near Tamaqua.

In May, 1921, on two different occasions, the applicant bought in good faith, and paid for, two used motor cars. The vendor was a man who claimed to be a dealer in second-hand automobiles, residing in Philadelphia, to whom he had been introduced by one Kress, proprietor of a garage in Hazleton. The applicant had known the latter for two years. He had a bill of sale for the second car, but not for the first, the vendor promising to supply the bill of sale, and to supply all formalities connected with the legal transfer of the cars, but neglected to do so. While the applicant acted in entire good faith, he became, under the automobile law, technically guilty of the offense of receiving stolen goods.

He has now served one year and six months of his term of imprisonment in the County Jail.

The applicant was never before arrested or charged with crime.

The trial District Attorney appeared before the Board in person and recommended a pardon.

Because of the circumstances of this case, the previous good record of the applicant, the term of imprisonment already served, the need of the presence of the applicant on the farm, in order to support his family, and the recommendation of the trial District Attorney, we conclude that he has been sufficiently punished.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Edgar Danner.

Sir: At Nos. 25 and 29, August Sessions, 1919, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace, in and for the County of York, William Zech pleaded guilty to two indictments charging him with Larceny, and with Larceny and Receiving Stolen Goods, respectfully, and on August 26th, 1919, he was sentenced in the aggregate to pay a fine of $1.00, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a period of not less than three years nor more than ten years.

The applicant is thirty-two years of age, an American citizen, unmarried, a varnisher by occupation, and, at the time of his arrest, was a laborer, residing with an aunt in York.

On or about May 21st, 1919, while under the influence of liquor, he took a horse and buggy, set of harness and blankets, from a resident of Windsor, York County, and was caught while driving away in an intoxicated condition. The team was returned to the owner, and the defendant pleaded guilty and was sentenced. About the same time he stole from a relative, Amos Vaughan, $10.25 cash. He pleaded guilty to the charge, and was sentenced.

Prior to the commission of these crimes the applicant was indicted, in April, 1919, on the charge of (1) Rape, (2) Statutory Rape, and April 20th, 1910, after trial and conviction, was sentenced to pay a fine of $1.00, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a period of not less than three years and nine months, nor more than fifteen years. At the time of his sentence he was not twenty years old. In 1918 he was paroled, after serving about eight years of his sentence, and shortly thereafter enlisted in the United States Army for six months, and was honorably discharged at the close of the Great World War.

The applicant has now served three years and eight months of his present sentence, imposed for Larceny, or more than the minimum sentence. The present application is made for the purpose of removing obstacles to the action of the prison commission on re-parole, under the original sentence imposed for rape in 1910. If he is not pardoned under the present sentence, he may be compelled to serve six years and four months additional, together with seven years additional on the original sentence imposed in 1910.

The applicant has been an exemplary prisoner, and the first crime committed was when he was only nineteen years old.

In consideration of all the circumstances surrounding this case, his good prison record, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished.

Sir: At No. 8, October Sessions, 1920, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, in and for the County of Elk, Steve Majcinik pleaded guilty to an indictment for murder in the second degree, and on November 2nd, 1920, was sentenced to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than six years nor more than seven years.

The applicant is about forty-five years of age, a laborer and farmer; was married, and is the father of three children.

In 1919, applicant lived with his wife and family in Illinois. One Lawrence Cajdik came into his home as a boarder, and shortly thereafter became intimate with the applicant's wife. The applicant, returning home unexpectedly, caught the boarder in a compromising position with his wife. He thereupon made complaint of disorderly conduct against Cajdik, and, upon hearing before a Justice of the Peace, the latter was found guilty of adultery, and fined $100.00 and costs. A transcript of the record of the case is on file with the Board. The Justice of the Peace ordered Cajdik to leave Illinois. Upon the promise of applicant's wife to behave herself and give up Cajdik, the applicant conveyed to her all his property, amounting to about $3500 in value, and thereupon, his wife, Cajdik, and his children, left Illinois and came to Elk County, Pa. In the fall of 1920, applicant located them, and went to see them, with the object of recovering his wife and family, and his money. When approaching the house where his wife was living with Cajdik, he saw the latter come out of the house and violently kick one of the applicant's children out of the way. The applicant at once shot Cajdik with a revolver he had with him. Prior thereto, Cajdik had frequently threatened to kill the applicant, and also threatened to kill the applicant's wife if she would not run away with him.

The trial Judge has since died. The trial District Attorney has filed with the Board the following letter:

"As District Attorney at the trial of the above named defendant, and being familiar with the evidence that would have been introduced against this defendant, I do not hesitate in joining in the petition for a pardon of this man, as I believe that, under all the circumstances in this case, he has already been sufficiently punished, and the ends of justice will be nicely met by extending clemency at this time."

The applicant was never before convicted of any crime. His prison record is exemplary. He has served two years and five months of his sentence.

Under all the circumstances of this case, the previous good record of the applicant, the term of imprisonment already served, and the recommendation of the trial District Attorney, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished.

We, therefore, "after full hearing upon due public notice, and in open sessions," recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Steve Majcinik.

Sir: At No. 930, January Sessions, 1923, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace, in and for the County of Philadelphia, Anthony Moratta upon arraignment pleaded not guilty to the unlawful possession and use of Drugs, but subsequently withdrew his said plea, by leave of Court, and entered a plea of nolo contendere, and on April 27th, 1923, was sentenced to pay a fine of $100, costs and undergo imprisonment in the Philadelphia County prison, for a term of one year.

The applicant is now twenty-four years of age, white, an Italian by descent but an American by birth, a barber by occupation, and has resided in the city of Philadelphia for practically his entire life. He has never before been arrested for, or convicted of any criminal offence.

The testimony in the case disclosed that the applicant at the time of his arrest, in January 1923, did not have any illegal drug in his possession, but a physical examination showed numerous abscess scars as well as recent needle punctures on his person. There was no denial of the fact that the applicant had been for several years addicted to the use of heroin. It further appeared that the applicant in July 1922, had voluntarily gone to the Philadelphia General Hospital to be cured of the drug habit. After his arrest he was held under observation, during which it was disclosed that he was not at that time suffering from the use of drugs, and did not require any treatment for such use, although on his person were numerous scars which indicated the prior taking of drugs. The applicant, under the usual practice in Philadelphia, should have been placed on probation, but in this case the applicant's counsel were notified to produce him in Court on April 27th, upon which date he appeared and was sentenced as before stated.

The Superintendent of the Philadelphia County prison upon being interrogated by the Board (there being a difference of opinion as to whether the use of drugs by the applicant, was or was not recent) furnished the Board with a letter from the prison physician bearing date, May 23rd, 1923, which is as follows:

"The scars on his body, thighs, legs, shoulders and arms are not suggestive of being recent. He has been here since April 27th 1923 and tells the story that for twenty-four days, while being held in Central Station, Dr. Bricker offered him daily injections, all of which he refused. He has received none while here and as I recall, showed no withdrawal symptoms upon admission."

The main purpose of the law in imprisoning defendants for the use of narcotic drugs, is to place them where it is ordinarily impossible for them to obtain drugs, and inasmuch as the applicant appears to be in excellent physical condition and therefore completely cured of the drug habit, no benefit will accrue either to him or the community by keeping him in jail.

Because of the comparative youth of the applicant, his prior good record, because of the fact that he voluntarily submitted to the cure for the drug habit, and appears to have been completely cured, we believe that if now released, he will become a useful, law-abiding citizen. We have determined that he has been adequately punished.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Anthony Moratta.

Sir: At No. 22, December Term, 1922, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, in and for the County of Northampton, Walter Moline was convicted of murder in the first degree and on March 19th, 1923, was sentenced to be electrocuted.

The applicant is 22 years of age, unmarried, and has a mother and two brothers and four sisters living. He never followed a regular occupation or trade. He resided with his mother in the city of Wilkes-Barre.

On December 17th, 1922, the applicant and a companion, John Buckley, came from Scranton to Easton, Pennsylvania, by train. They spent several days together, loafing about the city, and on December 19th, in the evening, they walked down the Delaware River Road and encountered Mr. and Mrs. John Reddy, whom they had previously seen at the hotel. Mrs. Reddy took offense at the way the applicant and Buckley looked at her, words ensued and Buckley brandished a revolver in a threatening manner. The Reddys hastened back to the city and met Rush F. Stehlin, a police officer, near the City Square, to whom they related their experience. The Reddys and the officer started back to meet the applicant and Buckley, who were afoot. The officer walked in advance. When he approached the pair, he demanded their guns. Before the officer could draw his weapon, Moline walking slowly towards him, gun in hand, fired twice, shooting Stehlin in the head, causing his death. The applicant and Buckley fled from the scene of the tragedy. Buckley subsequently surrendered to the police, while the applicant fled into New Jersey and was arrested at Belvidere, three days after the crime was committed, and was remanded to Pennsylvania for trial.

The life-story of the applicant shows that he is a moral degenerate, mentally unsound, and at times actually insane. As a child he was sub-normal; refused to attend school, was not amenable to corporal punishment; would run away and steal. At the age of 10, he was brought before Judge Fuller of Luzerne County, in the Juvenile Court, on complaint of the father that he was delinquent and unmanageable. Five months later upon complaint of his father, he again appeared before Judge Fuller who reprimanded him and allowed him to go home. In January, 1912, when ten and one-half years old, he was committed by Judge Fuller to the Glen Mills Reformatory and remained in custody there for one year and eight months. Upon his release, he was committed to Kislyn for larceny and kept there until July, 1915. In October, 1915, he was re-committed to Glen Mills and remained in custody for two years and five months. In June, 1919, he was arrested in New York State for carrying concealed deadly weapons and sentenced to the Elmira State Reformatory for a maximum period of seven years. While in the Reformatory, he was in the psychopathic ward, practically the entire time. In March, 1921, he was paroled from the Elmira Reformatory in the custody of his parents and the Chief of police of Wilkes-Barre. In May, 1922, he was arrested in Wilkes-Barre for larceny and a requisition was issued for his return to the Elmira Reformatory. In June, 1922, a commission in lunacy was issued out of the Luzerne County Common Pleas, and the report of the commission filed, adjudged him to be a lunatic. The report was confirmed by the Court and the lunatic ordered to be sent to the insane hospital at Retreat, Luzerne County. On July 20th, 1922, the applicant was paroled by Judge Fuller and placed in the custody of his counsel and family, and required to report to the Court on Monday of each week. His adjudication as a lunatic was six months before the homicide.

Dr. John R. Harding, psychiatrist of the Elmira Reformatory, an eminent alienist, had him under close observation, during the 13 months that he was confined in that institution. Doctor Harding was a star witness at the trial and has filed a letter with the Board in which he stated that the applicant was subject to epilepsy, which was followed by periods of temporary insanity; that he was passing through one of these insane episodes at the time of his trial for murder. He states that he is a mental defective and passed a ten-year intelligence test, while at the Reformatory. He avers that the applicant is a moral degenerate and unable discriminate between right and wrong. His letter concludes as follows:

"He has proved himself a dangerous menace to society and should never again be released from custody. But considering his child mentality (10 years), also the fact that he is subject to periodical attacks of insanity, during which he is wholly irresponsible, and because he is in a habitual state of moral degeneracy which incapacitates him for thinking, acting and feeling in a normal manner, a sentence to life imprisonment, instead of capital punishment, is hereby respectfully recommended."

Doctor Henry I. Klopp, Superintendent of the Homoeopathic Hospital, Allentown, was retained by the District Attorney as an expert witness on behalf of the Commonwealth. He made three examinations of the applicant and was a star witness for the Commonwealth at the trial. He has filed with the Board a letter, in which he states inter alia, that the District Attorney of Northampton County, repeatedly informed him that the applicant should be tried for murder in the first degree, and upon conviction thereof, he would not oppose a commutation to life imprisonment. The concluding paragraph of his letter is as follows:

"In view of this, (i.e. the District Attorney's demand for conviction of first degree murder, and his statement that in that event he would not oppose commutation to life imprisonment) and the said Walter Moline having been convicted by the Jury upon the basis of first degree murder; with the statement made by the District Attorney to Doctor Charles B. Mayberry, Superintendent of Retreat Hospital, Pennsylvania, and myself, that he would not oppose commutation to life imprisonment, in fact, would be willing to recommend it to the Board of Pardons; and taking into account the entire life history of the said Walter Moline and the deductions as result of the three examinations, I believe that commutation to life imprisonment is justifiable and hereby recommended."

Doctor William C. Sandy, Director, Bureau of Mental Health, State Department of Public Welfare, at the request of the Board, visited the applicant in jail and made three examinations and observations. He has filed with the Board, a report embodying the result of these examinations, in which he declares that the applicant is mentally deficient and should be kept in continual custody, as he "will always be a menace to society." Doctor Sandy recommends:

"First, that the prisoner's sentence be commuted to life imprisonment. Second, that he be committed to a hospital for criminal insane (i.e. Farview) to remain there under careful supervision. Third, should there be, in the future, such a remission of symptoms that a hospital for criminal insane would appear to be an improper place for his custody, he should then be returned to prison to serve out the remainder of his sentence."

President Judge Fuller of Luzerne County, who has known the applicant since boyhood, and has followed his career, filed the following letter with the Board:

"I first became acquainted with Walter Moline in July, 1911, when, at the age of ten, he was brought before me in the Juvenile Court by his father as delinquent and unmanageable.

"He was a boy of incorrigible dishonesty with a wicked temper, sent by me to Glen Mills, later to Kis-Lyn then back to Glen Mills, and finally committed to the Hospital for the Insane at Retreat, Luzerne County, from which he was released in July, 1922.

"I have always regarded him as an extreme degenerate, subnormal, mentally and morally, who, while legally responsible for the commission of crime and properly convicted, is of a type upon which the penalty of death should not be inflicted. I consider that in his case, commutation to life imprisonment would be perfectly justifiable and I have no hesitation in recommending that step.

We concur in the above.

WILLIAM S. McLEAN, Jr.,
Judge."

The trial District Attorney filed a letter with the Board in which he reviewed the trial of the applicant, but made no recommendation.

Because of the life-history of the applicant, his mental condition, before and after the crime was committed, the recommendation of Judge Fuller of Luzerne County, who has known him since he was ten years of age; the recommendations of Doctors Harding and Klopp, expert alienists, and the recommendation of Doctry Sandy of the State Department of Public Welfare; in view of all the circumstances of the case, we have concluded that his sentence of death should be commutated to life imprisonment.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions", recommend that the sentence of death imposed upon said Walter Moline, be commutated to life imprisonment, and further recommend that he be committed to the Hospital for the Criminal Insane at Farview, to remain there under careful supervision.

Sir: At No. 142, September Sessions, 1916, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, in and for the County of Dauphin, Vlada Yovanovic was convicted of Voluntary Manslaughter and on February 10, 1917, was sentenced to pay a fine of $1.00, costs of prosecution, and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a period of not less than ten years nor more than twelve years.

The applicant is 39 years of age, and was born in Hungaria-Servia. Although not a naturalized citizen of the United States, he has resided in Dauphin County about 18 years during which time he was employed as an iron and steel worker in the Steel Works. He has a wife and three children.

On the evening of July 4, 1916, in a drunken brawl, on the public streets of the borough of Steelton, he was charged with murdering Nickolo Skara by stabbing him in the breast. The applicant and his brother-in-law, Dushan Despotov, engaged in an altercation on the street. The deceased walked across the street and tried to separate them. It appeared that the applicant struck Skara and that Skara knocked him down, whereupon the applicant got up, reached in his pocket with his right hand, followed Skara who ran up the street, finally overtook him and struck the blow inflicting the fatal wound. This was the evidence upon the trial of the case. Since his conviction, five reputable residents of Steelton have made affidavits setting forth that Dushan Despotov, his brother-in-law, who has since died, and was an active participant in the drunken brawl referred to, in which Skara was killed, prior to his death, exonerated the applicant from the commission of the crime, and confessed that he himself had stabbed the deceased. These affidavits were attached to and made part of the petition for re-hearing.

The applicant since his arrest, has been imprisoned almost seven years. He has served six years and four months of his minimum term of imprisonment. He had always enjoyed a good reputation as a peaceable law-abiding citizen, and was never before charged with or convicted of any crime.

The assistant District Attorney who prosecuted the case, who is now one of the Additional Law Judges of the County, filed a letter with the Board in which, inter alia, he said:

"It is quite probable that under conditions other than existed at the time of his trial, the Commonwealth would not have pressed for so severe a sentence and, in view of the persistent protest of innocence by the defendant, before and at the time of trial and subsequent thereto; the affidavits of residents of Steelton, setting forth that Dushan Despotov, the brother-in-law, who was present during the quarrel admitted that he had actually committed the crime; the existing domestic relations and the good reputation of the defendant at the time of his arrest, as well as his present existing family relations, I am not inclined to protest against any clemency which your Honorable Board may see fit to grant the applicant and do believe that if he be again restored to society, he will most likely prove himself to be a good and useful citizen."

The present District Attorney filed with the Board the following letter:

"In view of the reasons set forth by his Honor, Frank B. Wickersham, now one of the Additional Law Judges of this County, who was at the time of the trial of the above named defendant, Assistant District Attorney, handling the prosecution; and for the further reason that the defendant has now served more than six years of his sentence imposed upon him, we desire to file no objections at this time to the above application for pardon of the said Vlada Yovanovic, being satisfied with whatever decision your Honorable Board makes in this matter.

"We further desire to withdraw any objections filed by me in this case, at the time of the application made several years ago."

In view of the after-discovered evidence, showing that this murder was actually committed by another person, in view of the term of imprisonment already served, because of the recommendation of the prosecuting attorney, and the statement of the present District Attorney, we have determined that he has been adequately punished.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions," recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Vlada Yovanovic.

Sir: At No. 30, March Sessions, 1920, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, in and for the County of Dauphin, Solomon Todd, alias James Williams, pleaded guilty to an indictment for Murder in the second degree, and on March 20, 1920, he was sentenced to pay a fine of $1.00, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a term of not less than eight years nor more than twelve years.

The applicant is an aged colored man, residing in the borough of Steelton, Dauphin County.

An argument arose between the applicant and a colored man named Wesley Reed concerning a colored woman with whom Reed was intimate, and of whom Reed was jealous of the applicant. This argument began in the basement of a house, and developed into a physical encounter between the two men. Reed attempted an assault on the applicant and the latter defended himself by holding a stool or chair in front of him. The quarrel raged until finally they got into the street, and Reed drew a large knife and with one slash, cut the applicant through his hat and made a deep gash in his skull. They struggled in the street, rolling about in the snow, the applicant finally escaped from Reed and under the stress of great excitement with blood streaming down over his face, ran up the steps to the second floor, secured a revolver, ran down the steps and when about half way down, fired a shot which went through the casing of the door killing Reed who was standing on the porch of the house, outside.

The applicant was not the aggressor in the quarrel and the crime was committed under the stress of great excitement, and in the defense of his person.

The applicant has now served three years and three months of his term of imprisonment. He bears a splendid reputation as a good law-abiding citizen, and was never before charged with or convicted of crime.

The present application for pardon was made by suggestion of Hon. Frank B. Wickersham, Additional Law Judge of Dauphin County, who for many years previously, was an assistant District Attorney and entirely conversant with the circumstances of the case. Judge Wickersham filed the following letter with the Board:

"I beg to advise you that I have made a very careful investigation of this case, and am convinced that if the defendant had defended instead of pleading guilty to Murder in the second degree, he would have been acquitted. For this reason I think his imprisonment is unjust, and would recommend that executive clemency be extended to him, and that he be pardoned."

The trial District Attorney filed the following letter with the Board:

"A brief statement of the facts in this case, which was a plea of guilty to second degree murder, are contained in a letter furnished by me recently to his Honor, Frank B. Wickersham, one of the Additional Law Judges of this County, which letter or copy of the same, is attached to the application in this case. From this brief statement it must appear that there was ample upon which to argue that the case arose no higher than voluntary manslaughter. There was considerable provocation because of the attack and vicious wound made by the deceased upon the defendant, without any cause therefor by the defendant, which unquestionably caused considerable heat of passion in the defendant, and the killing followed before there was time for the passion to cool.

"The defendant is an elderly colored man, who so far as our office was able to learn, had borne a very good reputation.

"We will leave the matter of this application entirely one for the discretion of your Honorable Board."

Under all the circumstances of this case, the previous good record of the applicant, the term of imprisonment already served, and the recommendation of Judge Wickersham, who was conversant with all the facts and circumstances, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions," recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Solomon Todd, alias James Williams.

Sir. At No. 17, May Sessions, 1914, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, in and for the County of Clearfield, Philip Cimo was convicted of Murder in the first degree, and on September 29, 1914, he was sentenced to be electrocuted. On November 25, 1914, the sentence of death imposed upon him was commuted to life imprisonment.

The applicant is now 36 years old, a native of Italy, and an Italian subject. He is unmarried. At the time of his arrest he was 27 years old, and was employed by his brother as an assistant and helper in the wholesale and retail fruit and produce business in Clearfield. He resided with his brother and employer, Frank Cimo.

The applicant and Marietta Burzotta, the deceased, were both born and reared on the island of Sicily within a few miles of one another. The applicant came to the United States about 1910 and engaged in the fruit business with an uncle and afterwards with his brother. Marietta Burzotta was about 19 years of age at the time of her death. The families were on friendly terms and Philip and Marietta were well acquainted in Italy. About 1913 the applicant began to correspond with Marietta and this correspondence resulted in an engagement of marriage between them, which engagement was approved by the parents of both parties. After an unsuccessful attempt to have the marriage ceremony performed by proxy, in Italy, the applicant sent to Sicily, money necessary to pay Marietta's transportation to Clearfield and to provide a wedding trousseau. He also sent Marietta's brother to New York to meet her on her arrival and purchase for her such clothing and gifts as were suitable and necessary. She came with her brother to Clearfield about February 24, 1914. The applicant met them at Tyrone and they together proceeded to Clearfield. The applicant vacated his room in his brother's house and changed his residence in order that Marietta might be properly entertained until after the wedding which was expected to take place shortly. Preparations for the wedding progressed and relatives were invited as guests. Four or five days after Marietta's arrival, she told her brother that she did not want to marry the applicant. From that time until March 8th, when the shooting occurred, a period of seven or eight days, Marietta was of two minds with regard to the marriage. At times she appeared willing to proceed with the ceremony and at other times declined to do so. In anticipation of the intended wedding, the applicant rented a house and purchased furniture and household goods in order to go to housekeeping immediately after the ceremony. These preparations for housekeeping continued until the very day of the tragedy. On March 7th there was a family conclave at Frank Cimo's house to reach a definite conclusion as to whether or not the marriage should proceed. Marietta and the applicant were both present. Marietta declared that she had made up her mind finally that she would not marry the applicant. It was determined that Marietta should leave the Cimo house the following day. On March 8th, the applicant came to his brother's house and conversed with Marietta. He asked her to write to him after she left, and also to write to her mother in Sicily and explain the reason why the marriage had not taken place. She treated his requests flippantly, and while agreeing to write to the applicant, refused to write the letter of explanation to her mother. Immediately the applicant drew a revolver and shot her and then turned the revolver upon himself, shooting himself in the head. Marietta's wound proved fatal and she died the following day. The applicant after remaining in the hospital several weeks, finally recovered.

The relations between the applicant and Marietta were friendly at all times. The applicant never made any threat of any kind against Marietta and the revolver with which he perpetrated the murder, he owned for a considerable time before the shooting, and carried it upon his person for protection in the delivery of merchandise through the surrounding country. He was not a witness during the trial and rendered no aid or assistance to his counsel. The only testimony in his behalf was as to his previous character and good reputation.

The applicant has now been in prison nearly ten years, including six months in the County jail awaiting trial. His previous record as a man and citizen was excellent.

The trial judge filed the following letter with the Board:

"This case presents a peculiar state of facts. The defendant killed a young woman to whom he had been engaged, and was very properly convicted of murder of the first degree. Application for commutation was made, which had the approval of the trial Judge owing to the extraordinary state of facts. Following the customs prevalent among their people, the girl came from Italy to this country to marry the defendant. Her brother, resident here, disapproved of this matter though a personal friend of the defendant, because he disliked the idea of these family marriages and warned the defendant that when his sister arrived she might not be satisfied. The girl reached Clearfield and met her intended husband and was entertained by the family of his brother. Beyond question the defendant became violently in love with the girl but she failed to reciprocate the affection, and at least confided to her brother that the idea of marriage to anybody was distasteful to her and he informed her that she should not be obliged to marry anybody, and he so told the defendant, who regretfully consented to the marriage being abandoned. The defendant was a young man of excellent behavior and habits and he brooded greatly over this disappointment. The time came when the girl was to shortly leave this town and the defendant came to the house of his brother where she was staying and after some time had a conversation with her, which ended by a revolver being suddenly drawn and two shots fired into the girl, who was sitting upon a chair. The defendant immediately turned the revolver upon himself and fired a shot which shattered his jaw and narrowly missed ending his life. He was taken to the Hospital and surgical assistance secured against his protest, and for sometime he had to be secured and later guarded to prevent him from tearing off the bandages or taking other steps intended to end his life. He eventually recovered and was brought to trial, at which time he refused to take any part or interest in the proceeding, declined to talk to the counsel employed in his behalf, and declined to testify. During the trial he sat apathetic and indifferent, with no apparent interest in the proceeding or in the result.

"The defendant, now the petitioner, came of reputable family and his conduct as a young man here was such as to win the commendation of people who knew him, the business in which he was employed bringing him in contact with the merchants and other business men of this and neighboring communities. Notwithstanding the character of this murder, the conduct of the defendant at the time and since has been such as to move me to feel that he has undergone the greatest punishment that can be inflicted. He then felt that death was preferable and this was genuine upon his part.

"Under the exceptional circumstances I am disposed to do what I have never heretofore done in a case of this character, to wit, to recommend that a pardon be granted."

The trial District Attorney also filed a letter with the Board as follows:

"As the prosecuting Attorney in the case of Commonwealth vs. Philip Cimo, for the killing of his sweetheart, I have at all times felt that the case was unusual and the verdict of the Jury was likewise unusual. A second degree verdict was even more than I expected. For this reason I had no hesitation in recommending commutation of the death sentence.

"While reluctant at all times to recommend a pardon in the cases tried during my term of District Attorney, in this particular case I feel that the defendant, now the petitioner, has paid the penalty and would respectfully recommend that a pardon be granted."

The assistant District Attorney who aided in the prosecution, filed with the Board the following letter:

"I was one of the counsel for the Commonwealth in the prosecution of this defendant, and wish to join with Honorable Singleton Bell, the Judge who tried the case, and Walter Welch, Esq., District Attorney who prosecuted the defendant, in requesting that the Board recommend his pardon. This was this defendant's first offense, and he had an excellent character up to the time of committing the crime.

"Hoping that his application will have your favorable consideration, etc."

Under all the circumstances of this case, because of the comparative youth of the applicant when the crime was committed, his previous good character and reputation, the absence of deliberation and premeditation in the commission of the crime, because of the term of imprisonment already served, because of the recommendation of the trial judge, trial District Attorney and assistant trial District Attorney, we believe that he has been sufficiently punished.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions," recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Philip Cimo.

Sir: At Nos. 8 and 9, April Sessions, 1922, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace, in and for the County of Cameron, Harry Currie pleaded guilty to two indictments, charging him with falsely and fraudulently obtaining money, and on April 10, 1922, he was sentenced to pay a fine of $1.00, costs of prosecution, and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a term of not less than two years nor more than three years; the two sentences to run concurrently.

The applicant is 26 years of age, a Canadian citizen, married, and has resided for several years past, in Renovo, Clinton County.

In the Fall of 1920, the applicant accepted a proposition from the Progress Tailoring Company of Chicago, Illinois, whereby he became their agent, soliciting orders, collecting an initial payment on acceptance of the order and the balance on the delivery of the goods. On or about September 9, 1921, he accepted an order from Mrs. George Hoover for a suit of clothes for her husband, and also accepted an initial payment of $13.00 on account. On the same day, he accepted an order from Samuel J. Barr for a raincoat, accepting payment in full for the same, the sum of $20.00. He was in financial difficulty at the time and temporarily used the money thus obtained for defraying family expenses, intending to order the clothing later when he was in better financial condition. His father-in-law who was hostile to him, discovering that these clothes had never been ordered, persuaded the purchasers to bring criminal proceedings against him, which they did, and the applicant being without funds to employ counsel, pleaded guilty to the charge.

The applicant served five years in the Canadian army, three years and four months overseas, and was honorably discharged in May, 1918, after being wounded at the Dardanelles. When the money was misapplied, he was out of work and in dire need of money to pay rent. This money was not taken with any intention to defraud the prosecutors or his employers, and was obtained without any false representation. He has now served 14 months of his term of imprisonment.

The trial Judge filed the following letter with the Board:

"At your June meeting an application for pardon will be made by Harry Currie, sentenced by me in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Cameron County on the 10th of April, 1922. While the local Associate Judges, to whom I have written, are not in favor of this application, I believe this man has been sufficiently punished for the crime committed and therefore recommend him to your favorable consideration."

Because of the youth of the applicant at the time of the crime, his good War record, because of the circumstances of the case and the term of imprisonment already served, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Harry Currie.

Sir: At No. 31, June Sessions, 1919, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace, in and for the County of Butler, W. W. Wise was convicted of Larceny, and on June 25, 1919, was sentenced to pay a fine of $500.00, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than one year nor more than two years.

The applicant is 35 years of age, a citizen of the United States, a journeyman carpenter by trade. At the time of his arrest, he was driving a truck for a feed and milling company at Canton, Ohio, where he resided. He was divorced from his wife.

The applicant purchased a Ford touring car from one Robert Heiser whom he had known for one year. He had no reason to believe that the car was not the property of the vendor. Three days after the purchase, he was arrested for driving without a license. The car was searched and letters found therein addressed to a person in Butler, Pennsylvania. Upon investigation, it was subsequently learned that the car had been stolen in Butler. The applicant was taken there, tried, convicted and sentenced as above stated.

The applicant was convicted of Larceny in Westmoreland County, Pennsylvania, in 1909 and was sentenced to the Western Penitentiary for a term of three years. After serving 27 months of this term, he was discharged. In 1911 he was convicted of Robbery in Clarion County, Pennsylvania, and sentenced to the Western Penitentiary for a term of two years to ten years. After serving two years and nine months of this sentence, and nine months of his former term for Larceny, he was, on December 1, 1914, paroled. After being on parole four years and six months, he was arrested for having the Ford touring car in his possession, which, it was claimed, had been stolen.

The applicant has now served four years of his present sentence and unless he obtains a pardon for the crime for which he is now under sentence during his period of parole, he will not be eligible to apply for a re-parole until December 23, 1927 when he shall have served the entire maximum of his 1911 sentence for Robbery, and the minimum of the present sentence.

Albert C. Troutman, District Attorney of Butler County, has filed the following letter with the Board:

"Your recent letter with reference to the application for a pardon in behalf of one W. W. Wise was duly received.

"In reply I would say that there is no charge pending against him in this County, and so far as the District Attorney's office is concerned, there is no reason why a pardon should not be granted to this man, and I have no objection to offer to his application for a pardon."

The trial Judge also filed with the Board the following letter addressed to the applicant:

"It will be necessary for you to obtain a pardon from sentence from this County June 23, 1919. We have no power to parole you but on application for pardon, we will be pleased to give favorable letter, etc. This is the only relief for you as the cases stand."

Under all the circumstances of the case, and the terms of imprisonment already served, because of the recommendations of the District Attorney and the Trial Judge, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions," recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said W. W. Wise.

Sir: At No. 3, December Sessions, 1921, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, in and for the County of Beaver, Frank Swain was convicted of Robbery with a recommendation by the jury "to the extreme mercy of the Court," and on January 16, 1922, was sentenced to pay a fine of $1.00, the costs of prosecution, and to serve a term of imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than four nor more than six years.

The applicant is 26 years of age, an American by birth and allegiance and has no special trade or occupation. At the time of his arrest, he was employed as a street laborer in the borough of Baden, Beaver County, where he resided with his parents. He is unmarried. He was never before charged with or convicted of any crime.

The applicant was arrested on September 14, 1921, charged with the crime of Highway Robbery committed the previous night about 1:30 A. M. by holding up at the point of a revolver, Peter Odesh, steward of a club, when he and Mike Orand and their two wives were coming out of the German Mennachor, a club house or hall in the borough of Ambridge. It was after the conclusion of a dance or social function at the hall that a man held up Odesh and his companions and took from the person of Odesh, a sum of money amounting to $503.00. The applicant was subsequently identified by Odesh and his companions as the highwayman.

The applicant set up an alibi contending that he spent the portion of the night in question from 9:30 until 2:00 o'clock in the morning, with a woman to whom he was paying attention and a male friend who accompanied him to his home in Baden, three miles distant from the scene of the crime.

The applicant was convicted on evidence of identity by the voice alone, the assailant of Odesh having his face covered with a handkerchief.

P. J. Caul, Chief of Police of Ambridge, filed a letter with the Board in which he recommends clemency for the applicant. George A. Blazier, Burgess and Justice of the Peace of the Borough of Baden, filed the following letter with the Board:

"I have known Mr. Frank Swain Jr. all of his life, and up until the time of his arrest in the trouble for which he is now serving time, I have never known him to be involved in any manner whatsoever.

"Frank Jr. is one of the younger generation of the Swain clan which is a very large clan of highly respected, law abiding and peace loving people, and great was the shock to the entire community, as well as his own family, when news of his arrest was made known.

"There always has been expressed by persons in this community a considerable doubt as to the identity of the actually guilty party in the crime for which Mr. Swain was convicted, and there has also been comment made on the intemperate habits of the prosecutors in said case, and the probable condition that they may have been in at the time said crime was committed, due to their intemperate habits."

E. H. Smith, Constable of the Borough of Baden, filed the following letter with the Board:

"I have known Mr. Frank Swain Jr. for the past six years and during that period I have not known him to be involved in any trouble.

"Mr. Swain surrendered to me on learning a warrant had been issued for his arrest, and was placed under arrest by me.

"I also know the Prosecutors in the case, and know them to be of very intemperate habits, and fully realize the fact that they could have made a mistake in identifying Mr. Swain."

Under all the circumstances of this case, the difficulty at night of making a positive identification of a robber from his voice alone, his face being concealed; because of the previous good record of the applicant and because of the recommendations of the Burgess and Constable of the Borough of Baden and the Chief of Police of the Borough of Ambridge, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions," recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Frank Swain.

Sir: At No. 24, September Sessions, 1917, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, in and for the County of Allegheny, Fred Free was convicted of Rape, and on September 28th, 1917, was sentenced to pay a fine of $100.00, costs of prosecution and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than ten years nor more than twelve years.

The applicant is about 35 years of age, a native of Italy and a subject of the kingdom of Italy. He is unmarried, a laborer by occupation and at the time of his arrest, resided in Bridgeville, Allegheny County.

On July 31st, 1917, Annie Miller, a married woman, aged about 30 years, was returning home alone about 10:00 o'clock at night. She had visited a carnival during the evening and in order to reach her home, passed through an open field where she was attacked, in a lonely spot, as she alleged, by the applicant, and after a struggle was overcome. There were no corroborating witnesses as to the crime, but there was testimony showing the woman's condition when she reached her home, evidencing the fact that she had certainly been attacked by someone. It was a very dark night, but she identified the applicant as her assailant. While she did not know him by name, she claimed that she had seen him before, and on her identification, the applicant was tried and convicted notwithstanding his protestation of innocence.

The trial Judge filed a statement with the Board in which he reviewed the case, but made no recommendation. He stated inter alia, "I considered that the evidence was sufficient to support the verdict although I realized that there was a possibility of mistake. I therefore imposed sentence."

The applicant has now served practically five years and nine months of his minimum sentence. He was never before charged with or convicted of any crime. The applicant's reputation for peace and good order has always been excellent.

Under all the circumstances of this case, the difficulty in a dark night of positively identifying her assailant whom she had seen but once before, the previous good record of the applicant, the term of imprisonment already served, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions," recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Fred Free.

Sir: At No. 112, September Sessions, 1921, in the Court of Quarter Sessions and General Jail Delivery, in and for the County of Allegheny, John O'Leary pleaded guilty to Entering a building with intent to commit a Felony, and on June 2, 1922, was sentenced to pay a fine of 6¼ cents, costs of prosecution, and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than eighteen months nor more than two years and six months.

The applicant is 31 years of age, an American by birth and citizenship, a truck driver by occupation and at the time of his arrest was engaged in driving a truck for one Benjamin Schwartz, in the city of Pittsburgh where he lived with his family of four small children.

On the night of June 22, 1921, the applicant together with Schwartz, his employer, W. H. Thompson, and three other individuals, entered a building owned by one Lottie McCrory, situated on Liberty Avenue in the city of Pittsburgh. In the cellar of said building was stored a large quantity of intoxicating liquors belonging to one Edward Hirsh. The applicant was the truck driver engaged to haul the liquors from said building and actually hauled the same to a certain wholesale liquor house in said city. The removal of the liquor having subsequently been discovered, the men engaged in the enterprise, were traced and three of them arrested. A year after the offense the applicant was placed under arrest because of his connection with the matter, but he was not arrested until after the trial of Schwartz and Thompson who were the instigators and leading figures in the affair. Schwartz has since been pardoned and Thompson has been paroled.

The applicant has now served two years of his minimum sentence. His prison record is excellent. He is the father of four small children who are in destitute circumstances. Three of them have been in an orphan asylum for four years, the wife of the applicant being dead.

The District Attorney of Allegheny County has filed the following letter with the Board:

"In the matter of your letter relative to the case of John O'Leary, which comes before the Pardon Board, beg to advise that Mr. O'Leary's guilt was the same as the others concerned in this charge of Entering a Building, and, as all of the others have been either paroled or pardoned, we feel that he should be accorded the same treatment."

Edward S. Hirsch, the prosecutor in the case filed a letter with the Board in which he states, inter alia, that applicant

"was made the goat in this case; as the prime movers and instigators of the said robbery, were since Pardoned or Paroled and deem it a great injustice to John O'Leary, by having him (the only one of the said perpetrators) to serve his full sentence. I think he has been prosecuted quite enough and implore your kind and noble body, to please pardon John O'Leary, for I feel safe in saying he, at least, has 'learned his lesson,' and will be a better man in the future."

Roy D. Schooley, Road Commissioner, filed a letter with the Board in which he states with reference to O'Leary that prior to his arrest he bore an excellent reputation in the neighborhood and was honest, steady, reliable and hard-working. His letter concludes as follows:

"He has five children that are dependent upon him for support, his wife being dead, and I believe that justice should be tempered with mercy in this case and this man granted a pardon as I feel certain that his future life would prove the wisdom of such a step."

J. B. Clancey, Commissioner of Police, Pittsburgh, filed the following letter with the Board:

"I am writing you in behalf of John O'Leary, September Session 1921, Allegheny County, who pleaded guilty to Entering a building, etc. and was sentenced to the Western Penitentiary for 18 months.

"I was one of the arresting officers in this case, and was present when the other defendants were either tried and convicted or plead to the indictment, and also present when John O'Leary plead guilty.

"In my investigation I learned that Ben Schwartz and William Thompson were the instigators and leading figures in this case, and Ben Schwartz has since been pardoned and released. William Thompson has since been paroled, and I verily believe that John O'Leary had a minor part in this case, and since clemency was shown to both the principals in the case, that John O'Leary is deserving of mercy at your hands.

"He is the father of several minor children who with his aged mother depend on him for support, the mother of the children, O'Leary's wife being dead."

Under all the circumstances of the case, because of the term of imprisonment already served, and because of the recommendations of the prosecutor, Commissioner of the police, Road Commissioner, and District Attorney, we feel that he has been sufficiently punished.

We therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said John O'Leary.

Sir: At No. 27, April Sessions, 1915, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, in and for the County of Jefferson, A. Frank alias Frank Arnone was convicted of Murder in the second degree, and on April 16, 1915, was sentenced to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than twelve years nor more than twenty years.

The applicant is now about 30 years of age, a native of Italy, and unmarried, and has an aged father dependent on him for support. At the time of his arrest he worked in a bituminous coal mine at Pardue, Jefferson County.

On the night of Labor Day, September 1914, the applicant was set upon by a gang of ruffians in a public dance hall and the applicant and his father Sam Arnone, were severely beaten. He thereupon armed himself with a revolver intending to use the same if necessary in the defense of his life. On the evening of September 21, 1914, several weeks later about 9 o'clock, the applicant went to the same dance hall in search of his brother. During the afternoon of the same day, the applicant had a verbal encounter in the mine with one Ernest Saltzgiver, and when the applicant entered the dance hall he was set upon by Saltzgiver and five or six others who were summoned by Saltzgiver for this purpose, who beat him with their fists and clubs and pulled him violently out of the dance hall into the street. They threw him to the ground and continued to beat and kick him. The applicant reached into his pocket, drew his revolver and warned his assailants to leave him alone. Believing from the number of assailants and the character of the assault, that his life was in danger, the applicant without any intention of killing anyone, fired two shots in the air with the idea of scaring them off. When, however, the applicant raised his arm to fire the shots, someone hit him on the arm with a club and the shots were deflected, one of them striking and killing Kelly Klontz, one of his assailants.

There was filed with the Board, three affidavits to the effect that the applicant had been attacked while coming out of the local dance hall and severely beaten, had been dragged across the road and knocked down by several assailants, and that the applicant had fired the shots in self-defense.

The first affidavit that of Carmine Parco, sets forth that his brother, Nick Parco, now deceased, was present when the crime was committed and that his brother told him that same night that the applicant had been attacked by several persons while coming out of a dance hall, had been severely beaten and had fired two shots in self-defense. The brother was not called as a witness for the defense during the trial because his whereabouts was unknown. Calogero Cipolla in his affidavit, deposes that Kelly Klontz, the man who had been shot, was a violent, quarrelsome man and that the applicant had acted in self-defense when he shot Klontz. The affiant heard the shots but was prevented by his wife from going out of the house in order to see what had taken place. Sam Arnone, the father of the applicant, filed an affidavit with the Board in which he deposes that he had heard his son's cries for assistance during the fatal night and also heard the shots, and when he went to the door of his home, he was told that his son (the applicant) had been attacked by five or six men and had been unmercifully beaten, had fired one or two shots and that a man by the name of Klontz had been killed. He further states that he is more than 60 years of age and unable to work, that since the crime, the house in which he was living with his wife was burned, and his wife lost her life in the fire. He further deposes that he is in destitute circumstances and needs the assistance and companionship of his son.

The applicant has now served eight years and two months of his term of imprisonment. He has learned the trade of barber and if released, will accept a position in a barber shop in Dunkirk, New York, which has been offered him by a fellow countryman. His record prior to the commission of this crime and his record in prison has been excellent.

From all the evidence in the case, it would seem that the killing of Klontz was accidental and not premeditated, and that the applicant only drew the weapon after he had been knocked down, dragged in the street and unmercifully beaten.

Under all the circumstances of this case, the previous good record of the applicant, the term of imprisonment already served, and in view of the unusually large number of petitioners in behalf of his pardon, having also in mind that the applicant, when the crime was committed was not more than 23 years old, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said A. Frank alias Frank Arnone.

Sir: At No. 410, June Term, 1921, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace, in and for the County of Luzerne, John D. Hayes pleaded guilty of Forgery, without presentation of indictment to the Grand Jury, and on August 25, 1921, he was sentenced to pay a fine of $500.00, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a period of not less than three years nor more than five years.

The applicant was 26 years of age when his crime was committed. He is unmarried, and resided with his widowed mother at Freeland, Luzerne County.

On July 19, 1921, the applicant forged the name of his mother as maker of a check drawn to his own order for the sum of $25.00 and obtained the money thereon.

The applicant was honorably discharged from the United States army on May 25, 1919, after having served from September 1917, to May 1919. During 11 months of this period, he served overseas in France and participated in the Argonne offensive.

The applicant has now served one year and ten months of his minimum term of imprisonment. His record in prison has been excellent. His career prior to his commission of the crime under consideration was beyond criticism, up to a short time before his arrest and imprisonment, when he fell into bad company and resorted to dishonest means to obtain money. He was never before convicted of crime. If released from prison, William C. MacDonald of the Metropolitan Club of New York City (who has known him since childhood) has written the Board that he will obtain a position for him in New York City with the privilege of living in his home.

The assistant District Attorney who tried the case has filed with the Board the following letter:

"John D. Hayes pleaded guilty without presentation of indictment to the Grand Jury and the plea was entered into with the consent and approval of Honorable H. A. Fuller, President Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Luzerne County. The proceedings were in its nature, friendly and informal—the main idea at that time being to have this young man, who was then about 28 years of age, taken away for a period of time from the bad associates with whom he had fallen in and to send him to some corrective institution.

"The young man prior to this time, bore an excellent reputation and was never before arrested. His family connections are of the highest.

"He has now served about two years of his three years sentence and the case it appears to me is one where a Pardon at this time will fully meet the ends of Justice and may result in much good."

The prosecutor in the case also filed a letter with the Board urging clemency.

Under all the circumstances of this case, the term of imprisonment already served, the applicant's good record before he fell into bad company, and because of the recommendation of the prosecuting attorney, and the many petitions filed in his behalf, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and if now released he will become a useful citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said John D. Hayes.

Sir: At No. 22, April Sessions, 1922, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace, in and for the County of Lancaster, Louis E. Ryder was convicted of Fraudulent Conversion under Act of May 18, 1917, P. L. 241, and on August 26, 1922, was sentenced to pay a fine of $50.00, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Lancaster County prison for the period of one year.

The applicant is 54 years of age, an American citizen, unmarried. His occupation is dealer in leaf tobacco and cigar manufacturer, and at the time of his arrest, he was engaged in business in the city of Lancaster.

The applicant was charged with the Fraudulent Conversion of two promissory notes of $600.00 each, given upon the sale of an automobile by the applicant to the prosecutor, Frank Zentz. Zentz and a woman whom he falsely alleged to be his wife, testified on the trial that the sale was not to be consummated until Zentz decided the automobile to be satisfactory, but the notes were delivered to the applicant who did not accept the same until a satisfactory endorser had first been obtained, after which the notes were discounted by a bank. Zentz contended that the notes were not to be the property of the applicant and did not become his property at the time they were discounted because of the sale, as he claimed, was not satisfactory. Zentz was corroborated in his testimony by the woman he falsely alleged to be his wife. One of the notes was paid by the payee and first endorser, and suit was brought by the bank on the second note and a verdict obtained against the payee and first endorser. Zentz had the custody and possession of the machine after the notes had been delivered to the applicant. After the trial it developed that the woman whom Zentz claimed to be his wife and who was his main witness, was not his wife, he being at the time lawfully married to another woman.

The applicant has now been in prison one year and ten months including the time in which he was held for trial. He has never before been convicted of any crime. Frank B. McClain, former Lieutenant Governor of Pennsylvania, has filed the following letter with the Board:

"I very earnestly join in the application that will be made to you at your meeting on June 20th, for a pardon for Louis E. Ryder of Lancaster, Penna., now serving sentence of one year in the Lancaster County jail for fraudulent conversion.

"Whilst I am not familiar with all the details of the trial which resulted in Mr. Ryder's conviction, yet, I do question the integrity of the testimony of Frank Zentz and his alleged wife who were the chief witnesses against Mr. Ryder.

"I have known Mr. Ryder intimately, as a citizen of this community for many years and his reputation among those with whom he has had business transactions has been that he was 'square.' I have fullest confidence in his honesty, and do not believe that he would be wittingly guilty of a criminal offence, and, that in the present instance he has simply been a victim of circumstances.

"I sincerely trust that the facts presented by his Attorney, will prompt you to restore Mr. Ryder to liberty."

The Alderman before whom the case was originally brought, has filed with the Board the following letter:

"I desire to join in the application for a pardon for Louis E. Ryder, now serving sentence in The Lancaster County Jail for fraudulent conversion.

"This case was brought before me originally and by me returned to Court.

"At that time I was not acquainted with the notorious character of Frank Zentz, and the woman, who at that time was living with him as his wife. Later I had several charges for passing worthless checks against the so-called Mrs. Zentz, and have held her in bail for trial at Court. I am informed and believe that Frank Zentz, who prosecuted Ryder, is now being held by the Baltimore authorities on charges preferred by his true wife.

"I feel that to hold Louis E. Ryder in jail on the testimony of these two people is an injustice and earnestly hope that he will be granted a full and free pardon."

The Chief of Police of Lancaster has filed with the Board the following letter:

"I am informed that a pardon is about to be asked for, for Louis E. Ryder who was convicted for Fraudulent Conversion, and now serving sentence in the Lancaster County Jail.

"The conviction of this man was obtained through a jury unacquainted with Frank Zentz and his so called wife Mrs. Zentz or their characters. Frank Zentz has been arrested several times by this department on warrant from Baltimore on a charge of desertion and non-support of wife and children.

"The woman he had been living in adultery with in Lancaster is now under indictment here issuing worthless checks. They have also defrauded a number of creditors, are absolutely unreliable and untrustworthy and their testimony cannot be believed.

"I truly believe that a great injustice is being done Mr. Ryder by detaining him in jail on testimony of these two people whose word cannot be accepted as truth and earnestly hope that the pardon for which he applies be granted."

In addition to the above, the President of the Peoples National Bank, the Vice President of the Union Trust Company, President of the Lancaster Trust Company, and the President of the Fulton National Bank, all of the city of Lancaster, recommend a pardon.

Under all the circumstances of the case, the previous good record of the applicant, the term of imprisonment already served, and the recommendation of former Lieutenant Governor, McClain, and the officials of four of the leading banks and trust companies of Lancaster, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished.

Sir: At No. 37, April Sessions, 1920, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, in and for the County of Allegheny, Edward Hill and Pearl Hill, his wife, were severally convicted of Robbery, and receiving stolen goods, and on July 1, 1920, they were each sentenced to pay a fine of 6¼ cents, costs of prosecution, and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than five years nor more than ten years.

The applicant, Edward Hill, is 26 years of age, a native of the city of Pittsburgh, and the applicant, Pearl Hill, his wife, is 38 years of age, a native of the city of St. Louis, Missouri. They were married about one year prior to their conviction and sentence and at the time of their arrest, resided in the city of Pittsburgh. The applicant, Edward Hill, at the time of his arrest was a clerk in a cigar store.

Both applicants were arrested on or about February 19, 1920 and taken to the police station in the city of Pittsburgh as suspicious persons. Mrs. Ray Jenkins who kept a rooming house in which the applicants lived, claimed to have been robbed of the sum of $20.00. She first caused the arrest of one William Pool with whom she was on terms of intimacy, charging him with assaulting her and robbing her of this money. He was afterwards released from custody at her request. She subsequently identified the applicants as being the persons who were guilty of the offense. She made an information against them, had them arrested and they were subsequently tried, convicted and sentenced for this crime.

The applicants have now served two years, eleven months and three weeks of their minimum sentence. They were never before convicted of any crime. The prosecutrix in the case first accused and identified another person as the robber, and afterwards shifted her identification to the applicants.

Homer N. Young, the first assistant District Attorney who prosecuted the case, has filed a letter with the Board in which he briefly reviewed the circumstances of the case and dwelt on the fact that the prosecutrix was the main witness for the Commonwealth, who after identifying one man as the guilty person, shifted her identification to the applicants. Mr. Young states inter alia, "Although the trial resulted in verdict and sentence, I was never fully satisfied that Mrs. Jenkins was altogether a truthful witness." He states that Pool was intimate with Mrs. Jenkins and was in the habit of receiving money from her, and that after Mrs. Jenkins changed her identification from him to the applicants, he left the city. In the conclusion of his letter, Mr. Young states: "In view of these facts, in my judgment, the case is one demanding clemency at the hands of your honorable Board."

Under all the circumstances of the case, the term of imprisonment already served, and the recommendation of the prosecuting attorney, we have concluded that the applicants have been sufficiently punished.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions," recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Edward Hill and Pearl Hill.

Sir: At No. 1091, January Sessions, 1921, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Philadelphia, Christopher Murrano was convicted of murder in the first degree and on February 2, 1923 he was sentenced to be electrocuted.

The applicant is twenty-four years of age, an Italian by birth, unmarried, a barber by occupation, and had resided in New York and Hoboken for several years prior to his arrest.

He and five other Italians were jointly indicted for the murder of Joseph McGinn, a policeman. The names of his co-defendants were as follows: Peter Maurio, Michael Falcone, Salvatore Spirelli, Salvatore Battaglia, and Vincent Laracone. At midnight October 2, 1920 about forty or fifty men were gambling in a gambling house situated on the ground floor of a store building in the Italian quarter of Philadelphia. Shortly after midnight eight or ten men including the persons already named entered from the rear entrance and many of them were masked and armed with revolvers. The leader of this band was Salvatore Battaglia. These men proceeded to rob the gamblers and while this was in progress a voice from the rear door was heard, calling "hands up" and McGinn appeared, alone, although the testimony shows that there were other policemen around the rear door. Shots were fired from all directions both inside and outside the room. McGinn was shot and killed and from the marks showing the directions of the bullet this shot was fired from the side and not from the room he was facing, in which room the applicant is placed by witnesses on the side farthest from the door. McGinn was killed with a thirty-two caliber bullet while applicant's revolver was thirty-eight caliber. Applicant was first called for trial on May 17, 1921, convicted but the verdict of murder of the first degree was set aside and a new trial granted. He was again tried and convicted as above mentioned. Falcone pleaded guilty to murder in the second degree and was sentenced to a term of not less than nineteen nor more than twenty years in the Eastern Penitentiary. Spirelli was next tried and acquitted by the Jury. Battaglia, the leader of the robber gang, was convicted of murder in the second degree and sentenced to not less than nineteen nor more than twenty years in the Eastern Penitentiary. Laracone was next tried and acquitted by the Jury. The case against Maurio was finally noll prossed.

The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of crime. He has now been in prison two years and has spent one-half of this time in the penitentiary. The District Attorney of Philadelphia has interposed no objection to the commutation of the death sentence, although he strongly opposed the application when it was before the Board the last time.

From the testimony in this case it does not appear that the applicant fired the shot which caused McGinn's death and he certainly is no more responsible than any of his companions who were either acquitted or found guilty of murder in the second degree.

Under all the circumstances of this case, because of the comparative youth of the applicant when this crime was committed, because of the uncertainty as to the real prepetrator of the offense, because of the prior good record of the applicant and the term of imprisonment already served, we have concluded that his sentence of death should be commuted to life imprisonment.

We, therefore, "after full hearing upon due public notice, and in open sessions," recommend that the sentence of death imposed upon the said Christopher Murrano, be commuted to Life Imprisonment.

Sir: At No. 26, April Sessions, 1922, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, in and for the County of Lackawanna, Byron W. Luce pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with Involuntary Manslaughter, and on October 18, 1922, he was sentenced to pay a fine of $1.00, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Lackawanna County jail for a period of two years.

The applicant is a native born American citizen, 26 years of age, married and by occupation is an automobile salesman. At the time of his arrest he was the manager of the Luce-Paige Motor Company in the City of Scranton.

On February 3, 1922, an automobile show was held in Scranton. The applicant was one of the exhibitors. After the show the applicant with some of the musicians who participated in the show—male and female, went for a drive to Elmhurst situated about nine miles East of Scranton. On their return to the city, about four o'clock A. M., (the morning being misty and cloudy) the applicant was driving his car at a reasonable rate of speed, considering the hour and the almost complete absence of traffic, when at the inter-section of Mulberry St., and Madison Ave., the car struck one Frank Caviello who died as the result of his injuries. The deceased was in the employ of the Scranton Railway Company and was in the act of greasing the tracks. Caviello had a wife and six small chilren, the oldest 11 years of age. The Mother's mind gave away as the result of this tragedy and she committed suicide.

The applicant had no knowledge that he had struck Cavi-ello and proceeded several blocks beyond the place of the accident where he stopped the car, discharged his guests and remained a short time with them. Upon his return to his home he again passed the scene of the tragedy without any knowledge of having struck the deceased. The car was not in any way damaged nor did it bear any evidences of what had occurred. The applicant was not driving at an excessive rate of speed which did not exceed twenty-five miles per hour and which was a reasonable rate considering the hour and the deserted streets. The applicant pleaded guilty in order to shield the female members of the party from publicity because they belonged to prominent families and were highly respected.

The applicant has now served eight months of his term in prison. He was never before charged with nor convicted of any crime. He has borne an excellent reputation in the community in which he has lived during his entire life. He has been a model prisoner.

The Attorney for the minor children of the deceased, filed with the Board the following letter:—

"As Attorney for and on behalf of the minor children of Frank Covello, I do hereby withdraw our objections to a pardon being granted to Byron W. Luce and do join in the petition to your Honorable Board to grant the same."

D. J. Robinson, in charge of the Scranton Marmon Agency, filed with the Board the following letter:—

"May I be permitted to add my prayer to the many others you will receive for the pardon of Byron W. Luce, of this city? I have known Mr. Luce several years and regret exceedingly the unfortunate accident that deprived him of his liberty. I am most positive he has the making of a splendid citizen and we would be happy, indeed, to have him connected with our Organization."

The Sheriff of Lackawanna County, has filed with the Board the following letter:—

"I have known Byron W. Luce since his birth and for the last twenty-five years have had ample opportunity to observe his habits and method of living. I can faithfully assure your Honorable Board that the close observation of this young man over this period of years has given me a definite conviction that there is in him none of the characteristics of criminality. I am certain that he has profited by his experience in this matter and I feel certain that the punishment which he has undergone since his commitment to the Lackawanna County Prison has made a lasting impression upon him and that a favorable consideration of the application for his pardon would not defeat the ends of justice."

The Warden of the Lackawanna County Prison has filed with the Board a letter in which he states that the applicant has been under constant supervision since October 1922. Among other things he states that—

"Byron W. Luce has been a model prisoner in every way. Not only has he gained the respect and confidence of the prison attaches but has succeeded in retaining the trust of the other inmates. We feel that the presence of Byron W. Luce in this Institution has added to the morale and increased the discipline to a large degree, because of the excellent example he has shown to the other inmates."

The Pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, of Scranton, has filed with the Board a letter in which he states that he called on the applicant in prison a number of times. He states that the applicant has taken his punishment "like a man". His letter concludes as follows:—

"It is not the purpose of this letter to suggest any disposition of this case, but I wish to bear witness to my conviction that the ends of justice appear to me to have been served, in so far as punishment is concerned, and also from Byron's own statement, I am led to believe that he has profited by this experience, which has been so full of sorrow for him and to the others who have been involved. His whole manner and spirit leads me to believe that the granting of the application would not defeat the ends of justice, but would very materially strengthen his strong resolve for a helpful and honorable career."

In consideration of the previous good record of the applicant and his excellent demeanor in prison, in consideration of the term of imprisonment already served and the recommendation of the Attorney who is looking after the material welfare of the minor children of the deceased, we have concluded that the applicant has been sufficiently punished and we believe that if he is now released he will become a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Byron W. Luce.

Sir: At No. 10, November Sessions, 1920, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Washington, Charles Dunkel, Jr., was indicted for murder, and upon being arraigned in open court pleaded guilty to voluntary manslaughter, and on November 29, 1920, was sentenced to pay a fine of one dollar, costs of prosecution and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than four years nor more than ten years.

The applicant is forty-seven years old and is a native born American citizen. He is a coal miner by occupation, but also worked on a railroad and as a stone mason. The applicant at the time of his arrest was employed as a coal miner by the Midway Coal Company, at Midway, Pennsylvania, where he resided with his parents and sister. He is unmarried.

On August 21, 1920, the applicant was at home with his parents and sister. The family had a great deal of trouble with this sister, on account of her moral delinquency. The trouble started when the sister made an obscene remark about her relations with a colored man, whereupon she and the applicant engaged in an altercation in which he slapped her. The Father, who had been drinking during the evening, was shaving. He was a hard drinker, had a quarrelsome disposition and was cruel to his wife and family. When the applicant slapped his sister the Father rushed at him with an open razor and threatened to cut his heart out. The applicant retreated to an adjoining bed room, took a revolver from under a pillow and pointed it at the old gentleman. The gun was discharged by the applicant, inflicting a wound upon the Father which caused his death a few hours later. The applicant always maintained that he did not intend to shoot, but only to use it to frighten his Father and force him to discontinue his pursuit with the razor. He was horrified after the revolver was discharged and when he found he had shot his Father. There had been no trouble between them and applicant had no motive whatsoever in firing the shot except that he was under the influence of fear and under influence of drink, although he was not intoxicated at the time. Immediately upon being shot the Father declared to those present that the applicant was not to blame, but that it was all his fault. He repeated this assertion to the physician who attended him and continually repeated it until the time of his death. The applicant refused to employ counsel or put in any defense.

The applicant has now served two years and seven months of his term of imprisonment. He was never before charged with or convicted of any crime.

The physician who attended the deceased after the shooting and up to the time of his death has filed an affidavit with the Board in which he states that the wounded man frequently told the affiant and other persons in the presence of the affiant that the shooting was all his own fault that his son was not at all to blame, and should not be held accountable for the shooting. Affiant avers that these statements were made by the wounded man at a time when he knew that he could live but a short time.

The present District Attorney has filed with the Board a letter in which he reviewed the case concludes as follows:

"We know of no reason why this application should be opposed."

The Trial District Attorney filed with the Board a letter in which among other things he states:

"It has always been the policy of our office not to recommend pardons, but to leave such matters entirely with the discretion of your Board. However, I might say that our office always considered the case of Charles Dunkel to be one in which many circumstances mitigated in favor of the defendant. While I will not break an absolute rule of our office and actually recommend that a pardon be granted Charles Dunkel, I am willing that your Board know that our office does not feel that the granting of this pardon would in any way defeat the ends of justice."

Because of the circumstances of this case, the previous good record of the applicant, the term of imprisonment already served and the favorable attitude of the District Attorney's office, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and believe that if now released he will become a useful citizen.

Sir: At No. 35, July Sessions, 1914, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, in and for the County of Luzerne, John Taylor was convicted of Manslaughter, and on October 21, 1914, was sentenced to pay a fine of $1,000, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a period not less than eleven years, eleven months and twenty days, and not more than twelve years.

The applicant is now 36 years of age, and prior to his incarceration resided in the city of Hazleton, Luzerne County, with his wife who was the victim of the tragedy for which he has suffered punishment.

On the morning of May 28, 1914, about 6:45, a neighbor of the applicant heard a shot. Later the body of Edna Taylor, wife of the applicant, was found in her home lying on the floor. She died from the effects of a shot which had been fired either by herself or by some other person. There was no direct testimony in the trial showing that the applicant had committed the crime. His conviction was based entirely upon circumstantial evidence. The applicant had been drinking heavily for several days prior to the tragedy and his wife had reprimanded him about it, but there was no evidence produced at the trial to show any altercations between them. The revolver with which the deed was committed belonged to the applicant. He claimed that when he discovered the body of his wife, the revolver was lying by her side and that he took it and put it in the drawer of a buffet. The applicant has always maintained his innocence of the killing. The evidence adduced at the trial of the case, is just as consistent with the theory of suicide as it was that of murder or manslaughter.

The applicant has now served nearly nine years of his term of imprisonment. He had never before been charged with or convicted of any crime. His record in prison has been excellent.

The trial District Attorney, who at the time of the application for pardon in 1919, strongly opposed clemency, has filed with the Board the following letter, which is concurred in by the trial Judge:

"My attention has been directed to the fact that John Taylor who was convicted of manslaughter has filed an application for pardon and I have been requested to state briefly my views with reference thereto, having prosecuted the defendant during my term of office as District Attorney of Luzerne County.

"While the crime itself was very distressing in its consequences, resulting in the death of his wife, there were circumstances of palliation properly to be considered in an application of this character.

"The only element of malice present, either express or implied, was the possession of revolver, from the use of which malice might be inferred, yet inasmuch as it was not carried by the defendant but was in the house, presumably for protection, that inference loses some of its sureness.

"The defendant, at and about the time of the commission of the crime, had been indulging very freely in the use of intoxicants. In fact his debauch of several days deprived him, no doubt, of a clearly defined comprehension of the consequences of his act. While his faculties were not impaired so as to ethrone his reason and thus render him legally incapable of crime, yet I have no doubt that his debauch had dulled his finer sensibilities and accurate perception.

"I believe that all of the purposes of punishment have been answered in this case and that the ends of justice have been fully vindicated by the imprisonment which has been in great measure already served."

The County Detective who was the prosecutor in the case, has filed with the Board the following letter:

"I, the undersigned, by virtue of my office as County Detective of Luzerne County, State of Pennsylvania, was the officer called in to make the arrest of the above entitled applicant, but always felt that the circumstantial evidence submitted at the trial did not warrant a conviction, however the applicant was sentenced to solitary confinement in the Penitentiary for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania, for a term not less than 11 years 11 months 20 days.

"I am still of the same belief and impression that the circumstances surrounding this case warrants me in asking clemency for him as he has been in Jail since October 21, 1914.

"I therefore recommend to your Honorable Board that a Pardon be granted to him."

The Chief of Police of Hazleton, when the crime was committed, has filed with the Board the following letter:

"At the time this case was tried in the Courts of Luzerne County, I was Chief of Police of Hazleton City, where this crime was alleged to have been committed. The Prosecutor in this case was James W. Holman, the County Detective at that time, and I assisted in the prosecution.

"I am of the opinion he has been sufficiently punished and that justice will be subserved if this Honorable Board will recommend a Pardon to John Taylor."

Seward E. Button, Chief of Department of Mines, who was the foreman of the jury which convicted the applicant, has filed with the Board the following letter:

"I beg to ask that a pardon be granted to John Taylor of Hazleton, convicted in October, 1914, for the murder of his wife.

"I was foreman of the jury that brought in a verdict of guilty in the case of Mr. Taylor, but I feel now that he ought to be acquitted, particularly in view of the fact that he was convicted on circumstantial evidence."

Under all the circumstances of this case, having in mind the uncertainty as to who actually killed the applicant's wife, and the absence of direct testimony connecting the applicant with the tragedy; because of the previous good record of the applicant, the term of imprisonment already served, and the recommendations of the trial District Attorney, trial Judge, the prosecutor in the case, and the Chief of Police of Hazleton, we believe that the applicant has been sufficiently punished and that if now released, he will make a good, useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions," recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said John Taylor.

Sir: At No. 4, January Sessions, 1922, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Wayne, John Chocolate was convicted of assault and battery and felonious assault and battery with intent to kill, and on February 14, 1922, was sentenced to pay a fine of one hundred dollars, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a term of not less than two years or more than seven years.

The applicant is thirty-one years of age. He is a native of and owes allegiance to Csecho-Slovakia, by occupation a wood chopper and resides near a Village called Egypt, in Wayne County, where he lived with his wife.

This crime was perpetrated on Christmas day 1921, as the result of a drinking party. One Charles Novitsky boarded with the Chocolates. About five o'clock in the evening the applicant on entering his home was hit over the head with a milk bottle by Novitsky. A fight ensued in which both parties, who were intoxicated, were badly cut and bruised. In the skirmish a table containing dishes and glassware was over turned upon the floor and the table-ware badly broken. Both men fell to the floor and the fight continued among the broken pieces of glass and china. The prosecutor Novitsky testified that he was again attacked upstairs that same evening by the applicant, and again beaten. The applicant and his wife deny the second fight upstairs, and both maintain that Novitsky received all of his injuries in the fight which occurred downstairs about five o'clock in the evening. It would appear from the evidence in the case that the prosecutor was the aggressor in this affair.

The Clerk of the Court of Quarter Sessions, who was present in Court at the time of the trial of Chocolate has filed a letter with the Board in which he states that he does not think it was the intention of the Jury to bring a verdict of guilty on the second count, to-wit: assault and battery with intent to kill. The Jury first brought a verdict of guilty of assault and battery without intent to kill, which was equivalent to a conviction for simple assault and battery only. At the suggestion of the Court the Jury retired to amend the verdict and returned with a verdict of guilty on both accounts. The Clerk states in his letter, inter alia, "I do believe that a verdict of guilty on the second count was brought in through the confusion of the Jurors and an effort on their part to play safe."

His former employer certifies to the applicant's character as a good and faithful workman, and offers to reemploy him if discharged from prison.

A. G. Rutherford, an Attorney who was present in Court during the trial has filed a letter with the Board in which he states that all the parties were drunk and that the prosecutor was the aggressor downstairs and that there was no evidence of any fight elsewhere. He adds: "The Jury had a number of women on it and as soon as the matter of drunkeness the verdict seemed to show that they brought in a verdict because of the drunkeness instead of assault. It seems to me that the prisoner has been punished sufficiently for what he did on that occasion."

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, in consideration of the fact that this crime was the result of a quarrel in which both parties were drunk and wherein the prosecutor was the aggressor, in consideration of the fact that the applicant was a faithful and industrious workman, in consideration of the fact that he had served one year and four months of his term of imprisonment, we believe that the applicant has been sufficiently punished.

Sir: At No. 39 and 40, November Term, 1918, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace, in and for Westmoreland County, Ray Anderson, alias Rad Anderson, pleaded guilty to indictments charging him with felonious assault and battery and felonious shooting, and on November —, 1918, he was sentenced to undergo imprisonment in the Westmoreland County prison for a term of six months.

The said Ray Anderson had previously been indicted under the name of Rad Anderson in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for Fayette County, at No. 5, June Term, 1903, on the charge of murder, second degree, and on June 15, 1903, was sentenced to pay the costs and undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of eighteen years. On November 28, 1913, in accordance with the acts of June 1911 and June 1913 pursuant to the recommendation of the Board of Inspectors Anderson was released on parole.

The circumstances of the crime for which the applicant now seeks pardon were as follows: The applicant was engaged in conversation with one William Fisher, a boarder in the house were applicant was boarding at the time the offense was committed, when a friend of Fisher's started an argument as to which had the better baseball team, the Allegheny Steel Company of Brackenridge, Pennsylvania, or the Aluminum Company of New Kensington, Pennsylvania. This argument developed into a fight as a result of which your petitioner was arrested, pleaded guilty and was sentenced as above stated.

Your petitioner is now forty-eight years of age, a mill worker by occupation, a native of the State of Florida, and at the time of his arrest was employed by the Carnegie Steel Company at Brackenridge, Pennsylvania. He is unmarried and resides at New Kensington, Pennsylvania.

At the time of the commission of the crime for which he now seeks pardon he was on parole for second degree murder as above stated, and has now been in confinement for a period of four years for having broken the said parole. If the application is granted the applicant will be in a position to appeal to the Board of Inspectors of the Western State Penitentiary for a release on parole, and if the application is refused the applicant will not be eligible for parole and must remain in confinement until November 30, 1926.

The Deputy Warden of the Westmoreland County Prison has filed a letter with the Board in which he certifies to the applicant's excellent conduct in that Institution, and recommends clemency.

Under all the circumstances of this case, in consideration of the term of imprisonment already served in the Westmoreland County Prison, in consideration of his excellent record in that penal Institution, in consideration of the recommendation of the Deputy Warden, we believe that the applicant has been sufficiently punished and should be placed in a position where he may successfully appeal to the authorities of the Western State Penitentiary for a release on parole, without being required to serve out the original term of eighteen years in the Western Penitentiary.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Ray Anderson, alias Rad Anderson.

D. J. DAVIS,

Sir: At No. 15, April Term, 1921, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace, in and for the County of Perry, Daniel Coder, waived the finding of a true bill by the Grand Jury and pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with house-breaking and larceny, and on June 14, 1921 was sentenced to pay a fine of ten dollars, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a term of not less than five nor more than seven years.

The applicant is twenty-four years of age, an American citizen by birth, a laborer by occupation, a resident of Steelton, Pennsylvania, and has a wife and one child nearly three years of age.

The applicant at the time when this offense was committed was visiting an uncle in Perry County, Pennsylvania, and with a party was fishing along the Sherman's Creek near a summer cottage owned by J. T. Alter, the prosecutor. He entered the cottage, after the occupant had gone away, in the day time, through an unlocked door in the loft, thence by trap-door through the ceiling to the kitchen, thence unbolting door to living room. The property stolen was restored except a ring which he threw away after his arrest.

The applicant has now served two years of his term of imprisonment. He was never before charged with or convicted of crime.

The prosecutor in the case filed with the Board the following letter:

"Believing that the sentence pronounced by the Court upon Daniel Coder was unduly severe, under all the circumstances in his case, I now join in this application to your honorable board, earnestly requesting that a pardon be granted to him. His little family very sorely need his help."

The Trial District Attorney filed with the Board the following letter:

"Permit me as District Attorney who prosecuted Daniel Coder, to now join in his application for a pardon. I think his sentence extremely severe, when it now seems certain that this was his first criminal offense."

The Trial Judge has also filed with the Board a letter in which he reviews the case and concludes as follows:

"Believing that the defendant has been sufficiently punished for what seems to have been his first offense, I beg to join in the application for his pardon."

The Employment Manager of the Elliott Fisher Company, Harrisburg, with whom the applicant was formerly employed has filed with the Board a letter in which he urges clemency, stating that he was a good workman and offering to re-employ him upon his release.

Under all these circumstances of this case, in consideration of the prior good record of the applicant, the need of his family for support, the term of imprisonment already served and the recommendations of the Trial Judge, Trial District Attorney and Prosecutor, we have concluded that the applicant has been sufficiently punished.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Daniel Coder.

Sir: At No. 2, April Term, 1912, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Perry, John R. Rodgers was convicted of perjury, and on March 4, 1913, was sentenced to pay the costs of prosecution, to pay a fine of one hundred and fifty dollars and sentence of imprisonment suspended.

The applicant is fifty-six years of age, an American citizen and employed as a freight conductor on the Pennsylvania Railroad, and was so employed at the time of his arrest. He was then a resident of the City of Altoona.

In August 1910 there was pending in the Common Pleas of Perry County an action in divorce wherein George Ickes was plaintiff and Margaret Ickes defendant. The plaintiff was a son of Dr. George Ickes of Altoona, who was the applicant's family physician. When the parties and witnesses arrived at New Bloomfield, Perry County, to participate in the trial of the divorce case, the applicant, who was to be a witness, became sick, went to bed at the hotel where Dr. Ickes attended to him. The Doctor and the applicant's wife discussed the case about to be tried in the presence of the applicant. They there planned that the applicant should become the star witness in the divorce case, and also planned what he should testify to. He was sick, took such medicines as the Doctor gave him and paid little attention to instructions. The following day he was called as a witness. He endeavored to carry out the instructions he had received, but failed to do so satisfactorily. The ground of the action was adultery, and the applicant testified as shown by the records that on a certain day he found the wife of the plaintiff, defendant in the action, in the act of committing adultery with one Edward Green. He was induced to fabricate this story by Dr. Ickes, plaintiff's father, and by applicant's wife. The applicant and his wife were afterwards arrested for the perjury committed in the case. Both were convicted and sentenced to pay fine and costs.

The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of any crime. He has been for thirty-eight years in the employ of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. He was the victim of designing persons and physical condition impaired by sickness. The present application is brought in order to remove from him the disqualification to be a witness in legal proceedings. A letter from Honorable James M. Barnett, who was counsel in the divorce case and is now President Judge of the Perry County district, was filed with the Board, inter alia, he states as follows:

"You will recall our surmise that Mrs. May Rodgers had changed her original intention of being herself the star witness for the libellant and had shifted the responsibility upon her husband, in view of the liklihood that her reputation for truthfulness would be assailed and that she was herself the inventor of the story told by John Rodgers on the witness stand. It develops that the surmise was correct. By at least three creditable witnesses of this neighborhood we can now show in case of a new trial that Mrs. Rodgers after she and her husband had testified, using language such as might be expected of her, accused her husband of breach faith and of stupidity in failing to follow her instructions and swear to the story in which she had instructed him."

Under all the circumstances of this case, in consideration of the prior good record of the applicant and the further fact that he has paid his fine imposed by the Court and the costs of prosecution, we believe that the applicant has been sufficiently punished.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said John R. Rodgers.

Sir: At No. 645, March Sessions, 1914, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Philadelphia, Henry Samuels was convicted of manslaughter, with the recommendation to the mercy of the Court, and No. 8, 1914, he was sentenced to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a term of not less than ten years nor more than twelve years.

The applicant is thirty-one years of age, colored and owes allegiance to England. At the time of his arrest he was a fireman on the Steamship "Powhatan" of the Merchants and Miners Transportation Company and resided in the City of Philadelphia. He is a widower and has no living relatives.

On March 7, 1914, the applicant inquired for work at the wharf of Henry Holt, thirtieth and Race Streets, Philadelphia. He was told there was none. He was next seen coming from the blacksmith shop, in the same yard and hurried out the gate. Shortly thereafter John Hudnell the deceased was found unconscious in the blacksmith shop, with his face and head cut and bruised. He died the same day at the hospital. The applicant went up the railroad tracks and was later arrested. There was a piece of iron eight or nine inches long in his pocket at the time of his arrest which he had picked from the railroad. The applicant's account of the affair was that at the time when the murderous assault was committed he was resisting a murderous and vicious assault upon himself by Hudnell, a man much larger and stronger than himself, and that in so doing he seized the only weapon which was at hand and inflicted the wounds which caused death.

The applicant has now served more than nine years of his term of imprisonment. He was never before charged with or convicted of any crime.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the previous good record of the applicant and the term of imprisonment already served we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Henry Samuels.

Sir: At No. 522, September Sessions, 1917, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Philadelphia, Clarence Wallace, who had been indicted for murder, was convicted of voluntary manslaughter, and on December 26, 1917, was sentenced to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a term of not less than nine years nor more than twelve years.

The applicant is now twenty-six years of age, an American born negro, unmarried, and at the time of his arrest was in the employ of the Atlantic Refining Company, Philadelphia.

On August 9, 1917, the applicant was on his way to work. He was with several other colored men, when they alighted from one street car to change to another car. While waiting to Board the second car a white man got off the car hastily and bumped into the foremost negro Walter Saunders, the decedent. The group of negroes, including the applicant then got on the car. Saunders was cursing the white man who bumped into him. His companions laughed at Saunders. The applicant an immature boy of nineteen was the youngest and smallest one of the group. Saunders turned on him, threatened to smack his face and beat him up. The others remonstrated pushing Saunders aside. When they separated Saunders called after the applicant cursing him and threatening to kill him when he got him alone. Eleven days later the applicant went to work and while waiting for a street car about six thirty A. M. Saunders who had threatened his life approached him, and beat him in the face with his fists. A fist fight then ensued. Saunders picked up a brick from the pavement and advanced two or three steps toward the applicant waving the brick and saying "I'm going to kill you". The applicant shied off to the street curb, pulled out a revolver which had been left in his possession the day before and shot Saunders who died while being taken to the hospital.

The applicant was only nineteen years old at the time of the commission of this crime. He had never previously been charged with or convicted of any crime. The decedent had threatened to take his life eleven days before, and while standing peaceably waiting for the trolley car he became the victim of an unprovoked assault. He was overmatched physically by the decedent and he only shot when he believed that his life was at stake and in order to save himself. His crime really amounted to involuntary manslaughter and having served five years and six months of his term of imprisonment he has already served almost three times the maximum punishment for that offense.

Under all the circumstances of this case, in consideration of the extreme youth of the applicant when the crime was committed, in consideration of the term of imprisonment already served we conclude that he has been sufficiently punished.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Clarence Wallace.

Sir: At No. 97, January Sessions, 1922, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Philadelphia, Walter Hanshaw was convicted of attempted larceny, and on January 9, 1922, was sentenced to pay costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a term of not less than four years and six months nor more than five years. At No. 100 of the same term the said Walter Hanshaw was convicted of carrying concealed deadly weapons. He was sentenced on No. 100 as above stated.

The applicant is twenty-two years of age and a citizen of the United States. By occupation he is an automobile mechanic. At the time of his arrest he was engaged in selling Christmas Trees and lived in the City of Philadelphia. He has a wife and two children.

On December 14, 1921, about midnight, the applicant met, while on his way home, Edward Furlong and Walter Levine, who were standing on the corner of Thirteenth Street and Girard Avenue, Philadelphia. They engaged in conversation. Mrs. Carrie Townsend accompanied by Jacob Kittle passed the corner, when they were set upon by the three men. Jacob Kittle, the prosecutor, was beaten and robbed of a watch and chain and money, altogether of the value of seventy dollars. Mrs. Townsend recognized Furlong, one of the defendants, and reported him to the Police Department. When arrested he told the officers that Levine and the applicant were implicated. Furlong pleaded guilty to all charges and was sentenced to serve eighteen months in the Huntingdon Reformatory, and was released on parole last February. Levine and the applicant are in the Eastern Penitentiary serving their sentences.

The applicant has been incarcerated since December, 1921. He was never before charged with or convicted of any crime. He served during the great World War and was wounded in action.

Under all the circumstances of this case, in consideration of the fact that Furlong the only one of those implicated who fired a revolver has been paroled, because of the prior good record both in War and Peace of the applicant, and in consideration of the term of imprisonment already served we conclude the applicant has been sufficiently punished.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Walter Hanshaw.

Sir: At No. 243, November Term, 1920, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Philadelphia, John Tally pleaded guilty to aggravated assault and battery, and on June 24, 1921, he was sentenced to pay the costs and undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for not less than one nor more than three years.

The applicant is now twenty-eight years of age, white, unmarried, an American by birth and has resided in the City of Philadelphia for practically his entire life.

The applicant became engaged to marry Mildred E. Bailey in 1917, nevertheless she received attentions from other men against his protests. On the night of August 28, 1920, the applicant met his financee accompanied by one of her admirers, Herbert Klump, on the street, near Sixty-first and Sansome Streets, Philadelphia. Applicant became enraged, drew his revolver and fired a shot at the girl, the bullet entering her right hip. He then turned the revolver on himself and the bullet pierced his right lung. Klump, the girl's companion, fled.

The applicant served in the United States Navy from 1913 until 1919, serving as a First Class Petty Officer for about three years. He never before was charged with or convicted of any crime. If pardoned he would be restored to his civil status, which prevailed before his imprisonment, and he could then reenter the naval service of the United States from which he was honorably discharged in 1919.

The applicant submitted his own papers to the Board and appeared in person. The District Attorney's office did not oppose the application although a representative was present.

The applicant has served his minimum period of imprisonment and is at liberty and the present application is made in order to relieve him from his stigma of imprisonment and to qualify him for re-enlistment in the Navy, which he desires to re-enter.

Under all the circumstances of this case, in consideration of the prior record of the applicant as a citizen, in view of his honorable service in the Navy, which he is desirous of re-entering, in consideration of the term of imprisonment already served we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said John Tally.

Sir: At No. 322, September Sessions, 1922, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Philadelphia, John Parker alias Sparrow Parker was convicted of murder in the first degree and on February 2, 1923, he was sentenced to be electrocuted.

The applicant is fifty-seven years of age, colored, citizen of the United States, a widower, a laborer by occupation and at the time of his arrest resided in the City of Philadelphia.

On July 10, 1922, the applicant, Benjamin Carpenter and several other colored men were engaged in a crap game in applicant's room in the house, 902 Lombard Street, Philadelphia. An argument arose between the applicant and Carpenter regarding the winning of ninety cents. Carpenter became very angry and when he appealed to the other men to side with him and they declined to do so Carpenter jumped up and declared with an oath that he would not give up the money, and at the same time a motion with his hand towards his hip pocket and started towards the applicant. The latter went to the bureau drawer several feet from where they had been playing and getting his revolver from the drawer shot at Carpenter and missed him. The others then fled from the room. Applicant's second shot entered Carpenter's body and caused his death.

The deceased was a young, vigorous man about twenty-seven years of age, who had on a previous occasion attacked the applicant with a knife. The applicant was greatly overmatched physically, being thirty years older and not vigorous. The Jury that convicted him was out four hours. The District Attorney of Philadelphia County does not oppose the application for commutation of the death penalty, although a representative of his office was present during the hearing.

Under all the circumstances of this case we have concluded that the applicant's sentence of death should be commuted to life imprisonment.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions," recommend that the sentence of death imposed upon said John Parker alias Sparrow Parker, be commuted to life imprisonment.

Sir: At No. 1091, January Sessions, 1921, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Philadelphia, Christopher Murrano was convicted of murder in the first degree and on February 2, 1923, he was sentenced to be electrocuted.

The applicant is twenty-four years of age, an Italian by birth, unmarried, a barber by occupation, and had resided in New York and Hoboken for several years prior to his arrest.

He and five other Italians were jointly indicted for the murder of Joseph McGinn, a policeman. The names of his co-defendants were as follows: Peter Maurio, Michael Falcone, Salvatore Spierlli, Salvatore Battaglia, and Vincent Laracone. At midnight October 2. 1920, about forty or fifty men were gambling in a gambling house situated on the ground floor of a store building in the Italian quarter of Philadelphia. Shortly after midnight eight or ten men including the persons already named entered from the rear entrance and many of them were masked and armed with revolvers. The leader of this band was Salvatore Battaglia. These men proceeded to rob the gamblers and while this was in progress a voice from the rear door was heard, calling "hands up" and McGinn appeared, alone, although the testimony shows that there were other policemen around the rear door. Shots were fired from all directions both inside and outside the room. McGinn was shot and killed and from the marks showing the directions of the bullet this shot was fired from the side and not from the room he was facing, in which room applicant is placed by the witnesses on the side fartherest from the door. McGinn was killed with a thirty-two caliber bullet while applicant's revolver was thirty-eight caliber. Applicant was first called for trial on May 17, 1921, convicted but the verdict of murder of the first degree was set aside and a new trial granted. He was again tried and convicted as above mentioned. Falcone pleaded guilty to murder in the second degree and was sentenced to a term of not less than nineteen nor more than twenty years in the Eastern Penitentiary. Spirelli was next tried and acquitted by the Jury. Battaglia, the leader of the robber gang, was convicted of murder in the second degree and sentenced to not less than nineteen nor more than twenty years in the Eastern Penitentiary. Laracone was next tried and acquitted by the Jury. The case against Maurio was finally noll prossed.

The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of crime. He has now been in prison two years and has spent one-half of this time in the penitentiary. The District Attorney of Philadelphia has interposed no objection to the commutation of the death sentence, although he strongly opposed the application when it was before the Board the last time.

From the testimony in this case it does not appear that the applicant fired the shot which caused McGinn's death and he certainly is no more responsible than any of his companions who were either acquitted or found guilty of murder in the second degree.

Under all the circumstances of this case, because of the comparative youth of the applicant when this crime was committed, because of the uncertainty as to the real perpetrator of the offense, because of the prior good record of the applicant and the term of imprisonment already served, we have concluded that his sentence of death should be commuted to life imprisonment.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions," recommend that the sentence of death imposed upon the said Christopher Murrano, be commuted to Life Imprisonment.

Sir: At Nos. 675, November Term, 1918, and Nos. 247, 248 and 250, February Term, 1919, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace, in and for the County of Philadelphia, Jack Cohen alia Jacob Cohen pleaded guilty to four in-dictments charging him with Larceny and Conspiracy, and on March 27, 1919, he was sentenced in the aggregate to pay the costs of prosecution, and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a period of not less than four years nor more than six years.

The applicant is 26 years of age, a native of Pittsburgh, an actor by occupation, is married and has a wife and two children aged four years and one year respectively.

In 1918 the applicant and his brother-in-law, Samuel Silver, were both employed by the American Railway Express Company in Philadelphia. After they had learned the methods of shipment, they left the employ of the Company and entered into a conspiracy to cheat and defraud the Company which they carried through in the following manner: They would return to the Express Company's office from time to time and loiter about, ostensibly to revisit their former companions, and when the opportunity presented itself, would paste fake labels on packages containing merchandise, over the original labels bearing the correct name of the consignee. Most of the merchandise was consigned on the fake labels to one Jack Quase, La Salle Hotel, Chicago, who was in reality the applicant who would go to the Hotel, pose as a traveling salesman, have the merchandise sent to his room in the guise of samples, and then dispose of the merchandise to professional receivers of stolen goods. Confessions on the part of these two men enabled the Company to recover the merchandise referred to in the bills of indictment upon which the pleas of guilty were entered.

The applicant has served more than four years and is out on parole, and is again employed as an actor upon the Jewish stage. Prior to his present sentence, he was never charged with or convicted of any crime.

The assistant District Attorney of Philadelphia, who on former occasions opposed the granting of a pardon to the applicant, has filed a letter with the Board in relation to the present application in which he states:

"He has now served out his full term and is out on parole. Pursuant to the policy of our office, we would not oppose application for a pardon of a man who, having served his first term in the penitentiary, shows by his actions for nine months or a year thereafter that he intends to lead a proper life.

"I understand that Cohen, who is a first offender, cannot resume his profession as an actor, until he has been readmitted to the Actors' Union, and this can only be accomplished by pardon. I have told him that if he demonstrates between now and next Fall that he intends to lead an honest life, our office would not oppose his application for pardon. It is for this reason that I am venturing to suggest that his application for a re-hearing be granted when it comes before your Board.

"I have of course no personal interest in the matter. My thought in writing at this time, is that the Board of Pardons might believe that because we so strongly opposed the pardon of this man while he was in the Penitentiary, we would be equally opposed to a re-hearing. Since he has been compelled to serve his full term, we feel that we have accomplished the purpose of his conviction."

Because of the youth of the applicant at the time of the commission of the crime, his previous good record, and the term of imprisonment already served, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished. The attitude of the District Attorney's office has aided us in reaching this conclusion.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Jack Cohen alias Jacob Cohen.

Sir: At Nos. 18 to 23 inclusive, December Term, 1920, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace, in and for the County of Berks, Perres Althouse pleaded guilty to six bills of indictment, all charging Felonious Entry, Larceny and Receiving Stolen Goods, and on the same day sentence was suspended on all the bills of indictment, except No. 20, on which bill he was on October 18, 1920, sentenced to pay a fine of $25.00, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a term of not less than three years nor more than five years.

The applicant is 23 years of age, an American citizen, unmarried, and at the time of his arrest, resided with his parents in the city of Reading. He is a mechanic by occupation.

The crimes for which he was indicted occurred in the city of Reading, and consisted of entering certain stores and shops, and taking therefrom cash and other articles. The particular crime for which he was sentenced consisted in entering the shop of Frantz and Luppold, sheet metal contractors, on October 6, 1920, and taking therefrom, $260.00 in cash. In several of these crimes, applicant had two accomplices who pleaded guilty, and on both of whom sentence was suspended.

On August 5, 1917, the applicant who was really 17, misrepresented his age so that he would be taken into the military service of the United States. He served as a private until August 5, 1919 when he was discharged honorably, and was given a certificate of injury. He served overseas in France, and participated in three major engagements. While in France he was under treatment at different hospitals, and in the course of treatment was given drugs and sedatives. Upon his discharge from the army, he formed the morphia habit, and was under the influence of drugs when these crimes were committed.

The applicant has served two years and eight months of his term of imprisonment and while eligible for parole in October 1923, desires a full pardon.

His record prior to the War was excellent.

In view of all the circumstances of this case, in consideration of the youth of the applicant when the crime was committed, his previous good record as a citizen and in the military service of the Nation, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions," recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Perres Althouse.

Sir: At Nos. 24 and 26, February Term, 1921, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace, in and for the County of Northumberland, John F. Whitmer pleaded guilty to two indictments charging Breaking and Entering and Larceny, and Felonious Assault, respectively, and on January 31, 1921, he was sentenced on the charge of Felonious Assault to pay a fine of $25.00, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a period of not less than three years nor more than ten years, and on the same day he was sentenced on the charge of Breaking and Entering and Larceny, to pay a fine of $25.00, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a period of not less than two years nor more than eight years, to be computed from the date of expiration of the former sentence.

The applicant is 46 years of age, unmarried, a mine laborer by occupation, and at the time of his arrest, resided in the city of Sunbury with his grandparents and contributed to their support.

On January 5, 1921, about 10:15 P. M. while walking to his home in an intoxicated condition, he encountered at the intersection of two streets, one John Gass whom he assaulted, but did not take anything from his person. On January 21, 1921, about two weeks later, he was drinking with a group of friends and the liquor having been consumed, he went over to the Sunbury Bottling Works about 10:00 P. M., broke into the cellar, took six bottles of Indian Cream Bitters and some extracts for soft drinks, and other articles of the total value of $10.00.

The applicant has served nearly two and one half years of his term of imprisonment. His prison record is excellent. He was never before charged with or convicted of any crime. The Constable who apprehended and swore out the information against the applicant for the crimes already mentioned, has filed a brief letter with the Board as follows: "If your Honorable Body pardons John F. Whitmer, it will meet with my approval."

Under all the circumstances of this case, in consideration of the prior good record of the applicant, the term of imprisonment already served, and the recommendation of the prosecutor, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished.

Harrisburg, Pa., June 20, 1923.

Sir: At Nos. 39, 40 and 42, April Sessions, 1921, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, in and for the County of Northampton, Harry Collins, Jr., pleaded guilty to three indictments charging him with Statutory Burglary and Larceny, and on June 14, 1921, he was sentenced in each case to pay a fine of $100.00, costs, and undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a period of not less than five years nor more than seven years.

The applicant is 23 years of age, colored, an American citizen, and his occupation at the time of his arrest, was that of laborer for C. K. Williams and Company, of the city of Easton, where he resided with his parents. He is unmarried.

In each of these cases the applicant entered and robbed three houses situated in the immediate neighborhood of his residence, after midnight, May 7, 1921. The entrance in each case was effected not by breaking, but through unlocked windows. Loose money was the only thing taken from any of the places. In one place the sum of $5.00 was taken, in another $8.00 and nothing was obtained from the third place, the applicant becoming frightened and running away. No weapons of any kind were found in the possession of the applicant excepting a screw driver which he used to get under unlocked windows and raise them.

The applicant has now been incarcerated two years. He was only 21 years of age when these crimes were committed. He fell into bad company, became addicted to gambling and on this account, required more money than he was earning, hence the crimes. He was never before charged with or convicted of any crime. The Mayor of Easton has filed the following letter with the Board:

"Mr. Henry R. Collins, of this City, is a colored gentleman who stands well in our community, is a good citizen, honest, faithful and industrious.

"He has a son, Harry R. Collins, Jr. serving a term for 'breaking and entering' as result of a conviction in the Northampton County Courts.

"I am led to believe his associations and the frequenting a place at that time in our City had much to do with his misdeeds, and as Supt. of the Police Bureau, I would offer no resistance to favorable action on his application for pardon, should the Board be influenced to so act upon such application."

The Secretary of the Easton Board of Trade has written a letter to the Board in which, inter alia, he states that "in view of his youth and character of his father, who assures me he would take care of him, I would appreciate your honorable body pardoning him at an early date."

The Superintendent of the firm which employed him, filed a letter with the Board in which he stated that the applicant had been employed by them from June 1920 to September 1921. "Our records show him to have been a faithful, sober, and conscientious worker. From my personal knowledge of Harry Collins, Jr., I feel justified in joining his petitioners to your honorable board and in the event that you decide to release him will employ him."

The Manager of the Hotel in which the applicant was employed prior to his employment by Williams and Company, has filed the following letter with the Board:

"We have known and have had in our employ for eighteen months the petitioner, Harry R. Collins, Jr., and during that time found him to be sober, faithful and honest and will gladly give him employment again should he apply for work, we gladly join with his petitioners to your Honorable Board for a Pardon for the aforesaid Harry R. Collins, Jr., believing that he has been sufficiently punished for his misdeeds."

In view of the circumstances of the case, the youth of the applicant when the crime was committed, the term of imprisonment already served, and the recommendations of the Mayor of Easton, the Secretary of the Board of Trade, and the recommendations of his former employers who both offer to reinstate him in their service, we believe that he has been sufficiently punished.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions," recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Harry Collins, Jr.

Sir: At No. 6, June Sessions, 1922, in the Court of Over and Terminer, in and for the County of Cambria, Mike Castellana was convicted of Murder in the first degree, and on November 13, 1922, he was sentenced to be electrocuted.

The applicant is 23 years of age, American born and of Italian descent. He is a coal miner by occupation, and while a resident of Old Forge, Lackawanna County, he was employed by the Ebensburg Coal Company at Colver, Cambria County, at the time of his arrest. He has a father and mother advanced in age, and three brothers and three sisters. He never married.

The applicant's oldest sister, Edith Rizzo, left her husband because of his personal abuse. Subsequently she was joined by Paola Siena and they lived together as man and wife in various parts of the United States, and at the time of the crime under consideration, they lived at Colver. The applicant was only 16 years of age when his sister went away with Siena. The latter was an inveterate gambler, a heavy drinker, and always carried on his person a loaded automatic pistol and a stiletto. Victor Castellana, an older brother, and the applicant went to live with their sister Edith at Colver where they worked in the mines. Victor Castellana objected to the dissolute habits of Siena, and his sister Edith and Paola finally agreed to separate. After dividing the effects, Siena went to West Virginia but returned in February, 1922, to Colver. He did not again live at the home of Edith Rizzo. Siena owned an automobile which he agreed to sell to the applicant at a reduced price, provided the applicant would induce his sister to take Siena back. Siena was persistent and the applicant endeavored to affect a reconciliation between them. She did not consent and Siena finally became infuriated and threatened that he would kill the whole Castellana family including the applicant, and any person who stood in his way, if he did not get back into the Rizzo household. Siena finally sold and transferred his automobile to the applicant. During this time Siena was urging the applicant to secure a reconciliation and the latter labored to this end. On March 16, 1922, Siena met the applicant near Colver for the purpose of learning the final answer of Edith Rizzo. They walked along the road discussing the domestic affairs of Siena and Edith Rizzo. While seated at a spring near the road, and when finally convinced that Edith Rizzo would not take him back, Siena pulled an automatic 32 calibre pistol from his pocket and attempted to carry into effect, his threats to kill the whole Castellana family including the applicant. The latter fled for safety to a barn several hundred feet distant from the spring and was pursued by Siena, pistol in hand. He out-ran his pursuer and reached the barn but was unable to hide from Siena who entered the barn and began to search for the applicant. The latter first struck him with a stick and then knocked Siena down, who attempted to shoot the applicant. They grappled and fought on the floor of the barn. Siena was a big man six feet tall, muscular, powerful and weighed about 220 pounds, while the applicant is short and weighs about 165 pounds. Applicant finally broke Siena's hold, grasped the pistol which was lying on the floor where Siena had dropped it. Siena continued his attack, notwithstanding applicant's warning to desist and when Siena had approached within a short distance and was about to spring upon the applicant, the latter fired the gun. Siena staggered back and applicant ran away. The body of Siena was subsequently discovered on the barn floor and a physical examination disclosed two bullet wounds, a slight fracture of the skull and a wound in the throat. The applicant was arrested together with Edith Rizzo, his brother Victor Castellana, and one Nick Langiu. Applicant first denied any knowledge of the killing, but finally confessed that he had shot Siena in self-defense. The other suspects were released for lack of evidence.

The applicant was only 21 years of age when Siena was killed. His character and reputation both at Old Forge and Colver were excellent. Prior to the commission of the crime, there was no ill will between the applicant and the deceased. On the contrary, the applicant was endeavoring to influence his sister to take Siena back into the household. There was no evidence of premeditation and the attack upon the applicant with a deadly weapon was unjustifiable. The prison record of the applicant is excellent. He was never before charged with or convicted of any crime.

Because of the circumstances of this case, the youth of the applicant at the time of the crime, his previous good record, the lack of premeditation, the unprovoked attack upon him which resulted in the death of the assailant while he was defending his person, we have concluded that his sentence of death should be commuted to Life Imprisonment.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions," recommend that the sentence of death imposed upon said Mike Castellana, be commuted to life imprisonment.

Sir: At No. 16, February Sessions, 1921, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace, in and for the County of McKean, William Moore pleaded guilty to Forgery and Uttering a Forged Instrument, and on February 28, 1921, was sentenced to pay a fine of $5.00, costs, and undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than three years nor more than five years.

The applicant is 43 years of age, an American citizen, a teamster by occupation. He is married and has two children, 11 months, and 28 months old respectively, and in addition thereto, there are four other children of his wife, all of whom are under 13 years of age, and all properly dependent on him for support. His wife and six children are now in Rochester, New York, in destitute circumstances and objects of charity.

The crime for which the applicant is now suffering imprisonment, consisted in forging a check to the amount of $15.50, the proceeds of which, purchased necessary clothing and supplies for his family.

The applicant has now served two years and nearly four months of his term of imprisonment, and his family requires his assistance and support.

The trial District Attorney has filed the following letter with the Board:

"In reply, I beg to state that the applicant, William Moore pleaded guilty to some nine or ten indictments, Charging him with these crimes in connection with as many different charges. Mr. Moore passed a number of checks in and around the city of Bradford, this County, and as soon as his victims learned that there were so many of them, they all demanded the prosecution of Moore. One of the number made information against Moore, and when Court sat he pleaded guilty to the indictment charging him in each instance. The writer knows that Moore has a wife and some children, and that they are dependent entirely upon Moore. I have no objection to William Moore's pardon."

Under all the circumstances of this case, in consideration of the term of imprisonment already served, and the destitute condition of the applicant's family, we believe that he has been sufficiently punished.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions" recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said William Moore.

Sir: At No. 1, December Sessions, 1916, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, in and for the County of McKean, Frank Pisano pleaded guilty to Murder in the second degree and on December 11, 1916, he was sentenced to imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a term of not less than 12 years nor more than 18 years.

The applicant is a native of Italy, 30 years of age, and when the crime was committed, was employed as a laborer at Lewis Run, Pennsylvania. He is unmarried and has a father 76 years old residing in Italy.

On October 8, 1916, the applicant with several of his countrymen were at the residence of an Italian situated in the borough of Lewis Run, McKean County, at a social gathering, engaged, in drinking, playing cards etc. An argument arose between the applicant and one John Guiguilo over the refusal of the applicant to engage in a card game with Guiguilo. Previously there had been no dispute or ill feeling between them. Immediately thereafter the two men left the room where the card game was in progress and a quarrel ensued outside the building in which shots were fired by different parties. Guiguilo was shot and died in the hospital nearly a month later. The applicant was also shot in the head, and the bullet remains there. He has lost the sight of one eye as a result of the wound.

There had been no bad feeling between these men prior to the quarrel, and therefore there was no premeditation on the part of the applicant. Shots were fired by different people and the applicant discharged his pistol during the excitement attendant upon a quarrel among highly excited Italians. The only testimony connecting the applicant with the killing of Guiguilo, was the dying declaration of the latter together with the statement of one Clem Crecia, a friend of Guiguilo's, who was subsequently sent to the penitentiary for his part in the quarrel. There was no evidence as to who was the aggressor, or as to what caused the shooting.

The Trial District Attorney filed the following statement with the Board:

"I was District Attorney of McKean County during the year 1916, and drew the information charging Frank Pisano with murder, attended the preliminary hearing and prosecuted the case in the courts of McKean County, finding the said Frank Pisano guilty of murder in the second degree.

"I have joined in the statement of J. F. Robinson, Sheriff of McKean County, who was County Detective of McKean County at the time of the shooting of John Guiguilo by Frank Pisano and his statement of facts covers my recollection of the matter.

"At the time this matter was before the Courts of McKean County the only evidence as to what took place at the time of this shooting which the Commonwealth had was a statement of John Guiguilo before his death and a statement of one Clem Creci who was a friend of John Guiguilo and who shot Frank Pisano at the time John Guiguilo was shot.

"I was very glad when Frank Pisano agreed to plead guilty to murder in the second degree in this matter as in view of the facts that other persons were shooting at the time John Guiguilo was shot and that Frank Pisano himself was shot at this time there was great doubt in my mind as to whether or not the Commonwealth would be able to secure a conviction at all and I did not look for a conviction of any higher offense than man-slaughter.

"Frank Pisano was shot in the head in this occurrence and has lost the sight of one eye and has been in the penitentiary for about seven years and under these circumstances, if the Pardon Board sees fit to do so, I have no objection to their granting a pardon on this application."

The applicant has now served 6 years and 6 months of his term of imprisonment. His record prior to the commission of this crime was excellent. His prison record is good.

Under all the circumstances of this case, the uncertainty as to the cause of the shooting, the doubt as to who was the aggressor, in consideration of the previous good record of the applicant, and the term of imprisonment already served; because of the statement of the trial District Attorney, we have concluded that the applicant has been sufficiently punished.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Frank Pisano.

Sir: At No. 22, October Term, 1921, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Elk, Robert Walker pleaded guilty to an indictment charging Robbery, Larceny from the person and Assault and Battery, and on October 3, 1921, was sentenced to pay a fine of $10.00, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a term of not less than five years nor more than seven years.

The applicant is now 26 years of age, an American citizen, a laborer by occupation, and at the time of his arrest was temporarily engaged as a taxi cab driver in the borough of Ridgway, Elk County. He has a wife dependent on him for support.

On June 25, 1921, B. F. Byers called at the residence of the father of Frank Ott, situated about two miles from St.

Marys. The applicant and Frank Ott were there too, at the time, and when Byers expressed a desire to be driven to the Pennsylvania Railroad Station at St. Marys, the applicant, who was a taxi cab driver and had his car with him, agreed to take Byers to the station, and set out for that apparent purpose. The applicant and Ott planned to rob Byers en route, and in pursuance of the plan, Walker feigned trouble with his car, stopped along the road, got out of the car when Ott by pre-arrangement, overtook him in his car, about half way to the station. Walker and the applicant then attacked the passenger, knocked him down and robbed him of his pocket book containing $80.00 in money.

The applicant had served in the American army overseas and was honorably discharged in February, 1919. Prior to his arrest, he enjoyed an excellent reputation and had never been charged with or convicted of any crime. He has now served two years and eight months of his minimum sentence. His prison record has been excellent. His wife requires his support.

The trial Judge filed the following letter with the Board:

"I am informed that an application is being made to your Board to obtain the recommendation for the pardon of Robert Walker, now confined in the penitentiary under sentence of the courts of Elk County.

"At the time this case was disposed of, crimes of violence were rampant throughout the country, and it was necessary for courts to impose severe sentences on those who were found guilty of their commission. This will explain, in some degree, the reason for the severe sentence imposed on Walker.

"However, I believe, from what I have learned of this young man, and his past record, and under present conditions, that the needs of justice will be met by granting him a pardon at this time."

In consideration of the previous good character of the applicant, and the term of imprisonment already served, and because of the recommendation of the trial Judge, we believe that the applicant has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released, he will become a useful citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions," recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Robert Walker.

Sir: At No. 22, October Term, 1921, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace, in and for the County of Elk, Frank Ott pleaded guilty to an indictment charging Robbery, Larceny from the person, and Assault and Battery, and on October 3, 1921, was sentenced to pay a fine of $10.00, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a term of not less than five years nor more than seven years.

The applicant is 25 years of age, a coal miner by occupation, is married, with a wife and two children, aged three years, and one and one-half years respectively, dependent upon him for support.

On June 25, 1921, B. F. Byers, who had called to see the father of the applicant, expressed a desire to be driven to the Pennsylvania Railroad Station at St. Marys, Elk County, about two miles distant. The applicant and one Robert Walker were present and Walker, who was a taxi driver and was there with his car, agreed to take him to the station, and set out for that apparent purpose. The applicant and Walker planned to rob Byers enroute, and in pursuance of the plan, Walker feigned trouble with his car, stopped along the road, got out of the car, and by arrangement Ott overtook him in his car about half a mile distant from the station, and the two men together struck the passenger, knocked him down, and took his pocketbook which contained the sum of $80.00. The applicant had served in the American army overseas for eight or nine months and had an honorable discharge. Prior to his arrest, he enjoyed an excellent reputation, and had never been charged with or convicted of any crime, except that on one occasion he was arrested for intoxication. He has now served two years and eight months of his minimum sentence. His family is partly supported by the County, and has no means of livelihood, except what the wife earns from time to time as a domestic.

The President of the Board of County Commissioners who has served in that office since 1897, has written a letter to the Board in which he states that he believes that the ends of justice have been served by the confinement of Walker and the applicant, and desires to have the County Commissioners recorded as favorable to their pardon.

In view of the previous good character of the applicant, and the term of imprisonment already served, we believe that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released, he may become a useful citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions," recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Frank Ott.

Sir: At No. 8 May Sessions, 1921, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Washington, Mike Smith pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with Attempted Robbery armed with a weapon, and on June 20, 1921, was sentenced to pay a fine of $1.00, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than three years nor more than twenty years.

The applicant is thirty-six years of age, a citizen of the United States by birth, although his parents are foreign-born. He is by occupation a millwright and was employed in a steel mill in Pittsburgh until the mills closed in 1921, after which he worked at odd jobs in order to provide for himself and family, consisting of a wife and three children under the age of ten years. He also contributed to the support of his mother who is ninety-five years of age.

On June 13, 1921, Tony Pascarelli, a huckster, was driving his wagon along the public road in Washington County, and at about three o'clock in the afternoon was held up by the applicant and one Andy Korpi, at the point of a revolver. Korpi attacked Pascarelli while the applicant held the horse's reins. Pascarelli engaged in a fight with Korpi and after a scuffle worsted his assailant, when the applicant fled from the scene without having fired the revolver which he held in his hand. Korpi also fled. Not a shot was fired and no money was taken. Both men were arrested the same afternoon. Six days after the offense they both pleaded guilty to the charge.

The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of crime. He has now served two years and three months of his minimum sentence and his prison record is excellent.

The prosecutor, Pascarelli, asks that clemency be extended to the applicant.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the prior good record of the applicant, the term of imprisonment already served, the need of his family for his support and assistance, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished.

Sir: At No. 30 September Term, 1919, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Centre, William Rynkavich pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with Breaking and Escaping from the Penitentiary, and on August 20, 1919, was sentenced to pay a fine of $1.00, costs, and undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a minimum period of four years and a maximum period of eight years; to be computed from the date of the expiration of two sentences imposed in Westmoreland County, on April 21, 1917.

The applicant was indicted in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Westmoreland County at Nos. 109 and 110 May Term, 1917, for Entering, Breaking and Larceny, and for Larceny and Receiving, respectively, and on the entry of pleas of guilty, was sentenced in the aggregate to pay a fine of $2.00, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a minimum period of four years and a maximum period of eight years.

The applicant is twenty-nine years of age, a native of Allegheny County. When sixteen years of age he was compelled to go to work to support himself. He has worked as a coal miner and on a farm.

The crime for which he is now seeking pardon consisted in walking away from the Rockview Farm connected with the Western Penitentiary.

The applicant has already served the maximum sentence, imposed in the first of the Westmoreland County cases, and has served more than three months beyond the minimum term imposed in the second case, and has now served four years and one month of the present term of imprisonment

The parents of the applicant are both about seventy years of age and require support and assistance from the applicant, who is their only son.

The Trial Judge who imposed the present sentence recommends applicant's pardon in this terse fashion:

"I have notice of above application and a copy of same and hereby accept service of the same, and recommend a pardon be granted."

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the term of imprisonment already served, and the recommendation of the Trial Judge, we have concluded that the applicant has been sufficiently punished.

Sir: At No. 5 June Term, 1920, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Beaver, Max Kost was convicted of murder in the second degree, and the exact words of the verdict were "June 17, 1920, Jury returns verdict of guilty of murder in the second degree and recommends to the extreme mercy of the Court," and on July 6, 1920, was sentenced to pay a fine of $1.00, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for not less than five years nor more than ten years.

The applicant is thirty-three years of age, his nationality is Ukranian, his allegiance is to the Republic of Austria, his occupation is that of coal miner and at the time of his arrest he was employed by the Association Coal Company at Jenners, Somerset County, where he resided. He has a wife, two children of tender years, a father and mother, the latter being fifty-four years of age.

On May 12, 1920, the applicant shot and killed one Sam Hollas, a worthless character who was a boon companion of the applicant's mother, with whom he drank intoxicating liquors and conducted himself in an indecent and outrageous manner. On one occasion Hollas was caught in the home of the parents of the applicant in a compromising position with the applicant's mother, as a result of which both were lodged in the County Jail and subsequently released on the promise of Hollas that he would keep away from Mrs. Kost and not molest or interfere with the family. After his release from jail Hollas made open threats that he would destroy the members of the Kost family. The day before the shooting the applicant visited his parents and first learned of Hollas' misconduct with his mother. He slept but little that night, and the following day purchased a revolver and amunition and went to see Hollas at his boarding house in order to induce him to cease his misconduct with his mother. The revolver was purchased and carried for his own protection, as he states, fearing violence from Hollas, having learned that the latter had threatened to kill the members of the Kost family. The applicant visited the boarding house where Hollas lived and went upstairs to Hollas' room. Shortly afterward a shot or shots were heard. The applicant came downstairs, went out on the street and remained about town until his arrest for murder. When arrested he admitted the shooting, but claimed that Hollas had made an attack on him and that he had shot the latter in self defense.

The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of any crime. He was industrious and peaceable. He has served three years and two months of his term of imprisonment. Since his imprisonment his wife has made application for divorce. His small children are destitute and a charge on his father's family and the father is an old man and unable to earn sufficient to support his own family and his son's children.

The applicant's record in the penitentiary is excellent and the trustees recommend his release. The Burgess of Ambridge, the President of the Town Council, and the Constable of Jenners, recommend Executive clemency. The Chief of Police of Ambridge has written a letter to the Board recommending clemency in which he states that he is officially cognizant of all the facts surrounding the case and adds that "Sam Hollas, the deceased, offered great provacation to the members of the family of Max Kost covering a long period of time prior to the shooting." The Trial Judge writes the Board that he has no recommendation to offer, but "has no objection to the granting of the petition."

The Trial District Attorney filed a letter with the Board in which he states, "that the father of the applicant is broken in health and is unable to work; that the wife has practically abandoned the two children aged five and three and one-half years respectively, and has begun an action for divorce; that the care and maintenance of the two children has fallen upon a sister of Max Kost and that she is unable to care for them without financial assistance.

"That while we do not subscribe to all the grounds or reasons on which the application is based, yet believing that the applicant has been sufficiently punished and that the larger needs of mercy are now most urgent we are not opposed to the granting of the pardon, and if in the wisdom of your Honorable Board this should seem fit we will gladly accept your decision."

In consideration of the circumstances of the case, the great provocation and nervous excitement to which the applicant was subjected prior to the commission of the crime which appears to have been perpetrated in self defense, in consideration of the previous good record of the applicant, the term of imprisonment alread served and the need of his services to support and maintain his deserted children, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Max Kost.

Sir: At Nos. 22, 23, 24 and 25 May Sessions, 1911, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Allegheny, Charles Kratz pleaded guilty to four indictments charging him with burglary and receiving stolen goods, and on May 11, 1917, was sentenced in the aggregate to pay a fine of .25 cents, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than eight years nor more than twelve years.

The applicant is now 26 years of age, a native born American citizen, and at the time of his arrest was employed as a machinist by the London Raincoat Company, Pittsburgh, in which City he resided. He is unmarried.

In 1917, at the age of 20 years, the applicant came to Pittsburgh, and being out of work burglarized three residences in that City, and after he received employment burglarized another residence. After his arrest, while trying to sell silverware which he had taken from one of the houses, he confessed what he had done and took the officers to the houses which he had burglarized.

The applicant has now served six years and four months of his term of imprisonment. He has already served three years of the minimum sentence imposed by the Court and now asks for pardon so that he may rehabilitate himself on parole.

The applicant has never before been convicted of crime, although charged with burglary in the City of Philadelphia in 1916. He was without counsel but was acquitted by a Jury without leaving the box.

The trial Judge recommends clemency in the following words:

"I think the prisoner has served long enough and I recommend his release either by pardon or parole, according to the Judgment of the Board."

Two of the four persons whose residences were burglarized have joined in the petition for clemency.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, and of the term of imprisonment already served, as well as the recommendation of the Trial Judge, we have concluded that the applicant has been sufficiently punished.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Charles Kratz.

Sir: At No. 2 October Sessions, 1916, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Allegheny, John Burns alias William F. Kielt pleaded nolo contendere to an indictment charging him with entering a building, larcency and receiving stolen goods, and also entered the same plea to twenty-two other indictments to subsequent numbers of the same term of Court, all charging the same offenses, and some of them charging the additional crime of burglary, and on October 12, 1916, he was sentenced on six of said indictments in the aggregate to pay a fine of .37 cents, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a minimum period of fifteen years and maximum period of twenty-one years.

The applicant is 51 years of age, a native of Ireland, a subject of Great Britain. He served over-seas in the World War in 1916, as a British soldier and returned to America in August 1916. He is a bookkeeper and office clerk by profession but was not employed at the time of his arrest. He resided in Pittsburgh and is a widower with two daughters.

The applicant was arrested on the streets of Pittsburgh while under the influence of liquor and was charged with having committed a number of burglaries during the year 1916. In his application for pardon which he prepared himself, he admits that he may have committed some of these offenses but declares that it was physically impossible for him to have committed other offenses which were perpetrated before his return to America. He made no defense to the charges because he had no legal advice and was unable to employ same and believed that if he saved the County the expense of trials he would receive a lighter sentence. A more important reason was the critical illness of his mother who died one month after his return to Pittsburgh, without knowledge of his disgrace.

The applicant has served nearly seven years of his term of imprisonment. His prison record is excellent. He has been in charge of the library for nearly seven years.

In consideration of what we know concerning the applicant's imprisonment, in view of the fact that he has never before been charged with or convicted of crime, in consideration of the term of imprisonment already served, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and that if now released he will prove himself, a useful law abiding citizen.

Sir: At No. 14, December Sessions, 1921, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Clarion, Miles C. Thompson was convicted of Aggravated Assault and Battery and on Jan. 17, 1922, he was sentenced to pay a fine, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than two years and six months nor more than three years.

The applicant is 45 years old, a native born American citizen, by occupation a farmer. At the time of his arrest he was employed by Whitehill Bros., in charge of their farm and oil and gas wells and lines in Elk Township, Clarion

County, residing in the same county with his family consisting of a wife and five children.

On August 18, 1921, the applicant, by direction of his employers was engaged in taking up and removing a gas line from the property of Fred B. Kiser, who had been a gas customer of the Whitehills, but had been cut off for nonpayment of his gas bill. While he was thus engaged on the highway in front of Kiser's barn, Kiser came out and began to talk with him. He first spoke of the cutting off of the gas and then a wordy encounter ensued during which Kiser called the applicant vile names and drew back as if to strike him. The applicant had been using a mattock which he held in his right hand. He swung it and struck Kiser on the head knocking him down. He remained in bed about two weeks as a result of the blow but there were no serious results or permanent injury.

The applicant has been incarcerated since August 1922, a period of 13 months. He has never before been charged with or convicted of crime. He has been an industrious law-abiding citizen.

The trial Judge filed a letter with the Board in which he strongly urged pardon. Among other things he said that "Thompson is a good citizen, although very passionate and quick tempered". He got into a controversy over a gas line and they got quite angry with each other. Thompson struck him with a mattock. At the time the wound was supposed to be very serious but the man recovered and is in his usual health and experienced no trouble from the wound" * * * * I shared a little in the feeling in the neighborhood and my judgment was warped a little against him. Since that time I have worried over the case. One year would have been sufficient and even then I might have sent him to the workhouse. Since that time the sentiment has changed all the other way. When I received notice of the presentation of the application I was glad of the opportunity to correct a mistake * * * * This is one case where I feel I sentenced too heavily and which I would like to see corrected".

In consideration of the circumstances of the case, the previous good record of the applicant, the term of imprisonment already served and the strong appeal of the trial Judge for clemency, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished.

Sir: At No. 29, December Sessions, 1919, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Centre, Tony Popello pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with Felonious Assault and on Dec. 13, 1921, was sentenced to pay a fine of $1.00, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than three years nor more than five years.

The applicant was 23 years of age when the crime was committed. He was a native of Italy and came to the United States about ten years ago. He resides at Shamokin and at the time of the commission of the offense was employed as a laborer on the Pennsylvania Railroad at Milesburg, Centre County. He is unmarried.

The applicant served in the United States Army for more than ten months during the World War, seven of which were spent in France. Upon returning to the United States, in the year 1919, the applicant was naturalized at Camp Dix and was honorably discharged from the army. Prior to his enlistment in the army he became enamoured with a young lady, bought her a diamond ring, lavished presents upon her, gave her money and Liberty Bonds. After his return from the army he attempted to renew his attentions to the young lady but was repulsed. On October 4, 1919 the applicant called upon her and invited her to accompany him to a moving picture show in Bellefonte, about three miles distant, but the invitation was emphatically declined. That same evening after her refusal she accompanied Willis Sowers, a married man who was separated from his wife, to Bellefonte, where they attended a moving picture show. After their return to Milesburg, while they were passing along a public highway near the young lady's home, about 11:30 o'clock, the applicant encountered them, became so enraged at seeing her with Sowers, after having lavished gifts and money upon her, that he suddenly drew a revolver and fired several shots in the direction of the pair, two of the bullets slightly wounding Sowers in the arm and leg. The applicant then fled from Milesburg to Wilkes-Barre where he was arrested more than one year later.

The applicant has now served one year and nine months of his term of imprisonment. He was never before charged with nor convicted of any crime. He bore an excellent reputation and was an industrious, law-abiding citizen.

The trial Judge filed with the Board the following letter:

"I have been formally notified of the application of Tony Popello for a pardon before your Board on the 19th of December. I believe this man has been punished sufficiently and recommend his pardon at this time."

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the youth of the applicant at the time of the crime, his previous good record, the term of imprisonment already served, and the recommendation of the trial Judge, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and believe that if now released he will prove himself a useful law abiding citizen.

Sir: At Nos. 93, 94, 95, 96, 97 and 106 June Term, 1921, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Lehigh, Ralph Mensinger pleaded guilty to six indictments charging him with breaking and entering, larceny and receiving stolen goods, and on June 27, 1921, he was sentenced in the aggregate to pay a fine of $950, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a period of not less than six years nor more than twenty-two years.

The applicant is twenty-seven years of age, an American born citizen, a steampipe fitter by occupation, but at the time of his arrest he was unemployed for the reason that work was scarce. He is unmarried and at the time of his arrest was residing with his mother in Allentown.

In or about May 1921 the applicant with several other young men participated in a number of breaking and entering and larceny cases in the City of Allentown, which are included in the indictments to which he pleaded guilty. Restitution in full has been made for all articles taken. The others implicated in these charges have been shown clemency. The applicant served two years and three months of his termn of imprisonment and has never before been involved in any serious crimes. His prison record has been excellent. He is the sole support of his mother.

The trial Judge has filed with the Board the following letter:

"My attention has been called to the application of Ralph R. Mensinger for a pardon. I personally know the petitioner from boyhood. His environment has been against him. I am inclined to think since he has reached the age of twenty-seven years, that possibly another chance to redeem himself ought to be given him and if the right to parole him were within my power, I would feel it my duty to exercise that power in his case."

Because of the comparative youth of the applicant when the crimes were committed, the term of imprisonment already served, the need of his mother for support and assistance, and the recommendation of the Trial Judge, we have concluded that he has been adequately punished and that if now released he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Ralph Mensinger.

Sir: At Nos. 5 and 7 September Sessions, 1921, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Lawrence, Alonzo Murphy pleaded yuilty to indictments for breaking and entering a building with intent to commit a felony, larceny and receiving stolen goods, and on June 24, 1921, was sentenced to pay a fine of $25.00, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period not less than four years nor more than four years and six months.

The applicant is twenty-four years of age, a native born citizen of the United States, a resident of New Castle, Pennsylvania, and by occupation a railroad fireman. He has a wife but no children.

On June 18, 1921, the applicant broke and entered the wholesale grocery store of McFate and Lockhart in the City of New Castle, and was apprehended by the police officers while in the act of removing goods from the premises. Upon his arrest he confessed to having broken and entered six other stores during the four preceding months. He was indicted for breaking and entering two stores and no prosecutions were brought for the other offenses. The only excuse he gave for these robberies was that he was out of work at the time and wanted to get things for his wife to whom he had been recently married.

The applicant was only twenty-two years old when these crimes were committed and he had never before been charged with or convicted of any crime. He has already served one-half of his maximum sentence. His prison record has been excellent.

The Trial Judge filed a letter with the Board in which among other things he states:

"I desire to state that recently I have learned certain matters in connection with this young man which convince me that he has been sufficiently punished by his confinement in the penitentiary for the crimes he has committed. I therefore recommend for your consideration favorable action on his application believing that if a pardon is recommended that the ends of justice will have been met."

The Trial District Attorney filed with the Board a letter in which he states:

"I am of the opinion, from what I have learned of the young man, taking into consideration his youth, that he has been sufficiently punished and that the ends of justice have been met; and if the Board in its judgment should see fit to recommend his pardon, would be satisfied that the same would be just."

The Chief of Police of New Castle and the prosecutors in the two cases, which were before the Court, join in an appeal for clemency.

Because of the youth of the applicant at the time of the crimes, his previous good record, the term of imprisonment already served, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and if now released will prove himself a useful, law-abiding citizen. The recommendations of the Trial Judge, the District Attorney, the Chief of Police and the prosecutors have had great weight in determining this action.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Alonzo Murphy.

Sir: At Nos. 15 and 16, June Term, 1920, in the Courts of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Dauphin Frank J. Books was convicted of Burglary, Entering in the night without breaking with intent to commit a felony, and Receiving stolen goods, and also with Robbery, Assault with intent to Rob and in commission thereof, beating, striking and ill-using; and on June 15, 1920, was sentenced in the aggregate to pay a fine of $2.00, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a period of not less than four years nor more than six years.

The applicant is thirty-seven years of age, an American by birth, a laborer by occupation, unmarried, and resides in Harrisburg.

The applicant was charged with entering the residence of James McIlvain, situated on Hickory Avenue, in the City of Harrisburg, during the nighttime, and was identified by McIlvain as the guilty person. On the night in question he was at the home of a friend until the following morning when he arose and went to work. On learning that he was wanted by the Police he went to Police Headquarters and surrendered himself. Subsequently, James Bentley, a convict in the Eastern Penitentiary, made a confession that he, and not the applicant, committed the crime.

The applicant has now served thirty-eight months of the term of imprisonment imposed by the Court for a crime of which he appears to be innocent. The Trial Assistant District Attorney filed a letter with the Board in which he reviewed this case and concluded as follows:

"In view of the length of time which the Defendant had served upon these charges, when we consider the fact that doubt exists as to whether or not the said Frank J. Books really committed the crimes, it behooves us that we cannot offer any objections to the granting of a pardon in this case."

The Chief of Police of Harrisburg filed with the Board a letter in which he states:

"At the time of the arrest of Books I did not think that he was guilty of this crime and believed that it was a case of mistaken identity on the part of McIlvain. Since then James Bentley, alias Broncho, who is now serving a term in the Eastern Penitentiary, has admitted that he had committed the crime * * * knowing Books as I do I was almost sure that he would not make a voluntary visit to Police Headquarters had he committed a crime for on previous occasions we were always compelled to go and get him. As Books and Bentley resemble each other very much, I was almost positive at the time that McIlvain, who is an elderly man was mistaken in his identification."

Under all the circumstances of this case, in view of the mistaken identification on the part of the prosecutor of the case, we have concluded that the applicant is entitled to an immediate release from prison and to full vindication from a charge of which he appears to be guiltless.

Sir: At No. 321 April Sessions, 1919, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Luzerne, Clarence Koch alias Earl Norman pleaded guilty to the charge of highway robbery, and on June 2, 1919, was sentenced to pay a fine of $500.00, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a period of not less than seven years nor more than ten years.

The applicant at the time of his arrest was twenty-one years of age, an American citizen and a mechanic by trade. For sometime previous to his arrest he was enlisted in the United States Navy on duty on a training ship stationed at Newport, Rhode Island, from which service he was discharged on February 12, 1919, after which, and up to the time of his arrest, he was not steadily employed at his trade or any other occupation. He is unmarried and resided with his parents at Bethlehem, Pa.

On or about May 15, 1919, while the applicant was in company with three women, they met one John Berger in a side room of a hotel in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., where they spent the evening indulging freely in intoxicating liquor, at the expense of said Berger, to such an extent that all the members of the party became intoxicated. Berger appeared to have considerable money on his person, and the women made frequent attempts to secure it, but without success. Thereupon the women persuaded the applicant to assist them in securing it from him by force. A plan was agreed upon as the result of which the applicant struck Berger over the head and shoulders with a broom handle and with the assistane of the three women took from his person the sum of $20.00, for which offense the applicant and the three women were arrested on May 17, 1919, and the applicant pleaded guilty and was sentenced as above stated.

The applicant states, that prior to and at the time he commited the crime as aforesaid, he was subject to epileptic attacks and nervous spells which resulted from a fall from a motorcycle in which he suffered injury on his head followed by a period of unconsciousness for two hours. This occurred when he was about eleven years of age. This affliction continued until he entered the United States Service where he suffered a severe attack of influenza which aggravated his physical condition, and which, together with the facts that he was intoxicated at the time he participated in this crime made him a person of feeble mind, easily led, and irresponsible for his actions. The applicant was not represented by counsel when he pleaded guilty to the crime, and these facts were not brought to the attention of the Court when sentence was imposed upon him. After he had served one year of his sentence, Warden McKenty of the Eastern Penitentiary petioned the Luzerne County Court, setting forth that the applicant had become insane and was unfit for penal discipline, whereupon a Commission in Lunacy issued, and the Commission reported that the applicant was a lunatic and in need of medical treatment and further directed that he be removed from the penitentiary to the State Hospital for the Criminal Insane at Farview. In accordance with the findings of the Commission and the order of Court, the applicant was removed to said hospital where he received medical treatment and remained for a period of two years, at the end of which time he was pronounced cured and on petition of Dr. W. M. Lynch, Superintendent of said hospital, the applicant was by order of the Luzerne County Court returned to the Eastern State Penitentiary February 1922, whence he came.

One year and seven months have elapsed since the applicant was returned to the penitentiary, and during this period of time he has given every evidence that a permanent cure has been effected. His present condition is set forth in particularity in the statements of Dr. Lynch, Dr. Frank Woodbury, a Noted Specialist, and Dr. Harry Ungerleider, Resident Physician of the Eastern Penitentiary, which statements are made part of the application in this case.

The conduct of the applicant in the hospital and in the penitentiary has been exemplary. He has also made progress along vocational training lines, which would seem to substantiate the findings of the medical authorities.

The trial District Attorney in a letter filed with the Board states, "I was District Attorney of Luzerne County at the time the petitioner entered his plea of guilty. I had examined your petition very carefully. If the facts therein stated are true and I have no reason to doubt their accuracy, I would say that this is a case for clemency."

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the enfeebled, nervous and mental condition of the applicant before and after the crime was committed, and in consideration of his exemplary conduct in the hospital and penitentiary, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and should have the opportunity of rehabilitating himself. We believe that if now discharged he will become a useful and law-abiding citizen. The fact that he is a young man with apparently a long life before him, makes it all the more desirable that he should have his chance.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Clarence Koch alias Earl Norman.

Sir: At No. 143 March Sessions, 1922, in Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Philadelphia, Thomas Russell was convicted of murder in the second degree. and on July 10, 1922, was sentenced to imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for not less than seven nor more than ten years.

The applicant is twenty-six years of age, an American citizen, colored, unmarried, a policeman by occupation and has lived in Philadelphia for practically his entire life.

The applicant was a police officer in the City of Philadelphia and had served honestly and faithfully for several years. The house and cigar store conducted by Mary Roma, an Italian women, at 1351 Passyunk Avenue, Philadelphia, was under police surveillance because it was believed that the cigar store was in reality a cloak for a house of ill-repute. On February 19, 1922, Officer Russell, the applicant, was placed on special duty in front of the store. The house was occupied by Mrs. Roma, and his duty in front of the store, and presence there (he being a colored man), was very distasteful to her. She endeavored to drive the officer away by splashing water on him while she was washing the windows. An altercation followed. He placed her under arrest and started with her in custody for the nearest patrol box. The woman thereupon called for help, and John Israel, a young Armenian, about twenty-three years old, who was employed by Mary Roma, ran out of the store and demanded that the officer release the woman. Russell, the applicant, refused to do so, and in the scuffle his coat was torn. Israel defied the officer, and while it does not appear that he had any weapon he made a motion towards his hip pocket as if to draw a revolver, and the applicant, holding the woman with his right hand, drew his own revolver with his left hand and fired several shots causing the death of Israel. All the witnesses to the occurrence were Italians, who were friends and neighbors of Mrs. Roma, and naturally sympathetic with her and hostile to the colored officer, and even though it does not appear that the deceased had a weapon, threats had been made against the officer, which were communicated to him, and when the Armenian made a motion as if to draw a revolver from his hip pocket the applicant believing his life to be in danger, shot the deceased in self defense.

The applicant has never before been charged with or convicted of any crime, and as a police officer he had made an enviable record. He has now served one year and two months of his term of imprisonment. A number of prominent citizens of Philadelphia have interested themselves in behalf of the applicant's pardon, and The Law Enforcement League of Philadelphia, having its officers in the Land Title Building, has been particularly active. Mrs. Joseph M. Gazzam, Chairman of the Woman's Committee, and William R. Nicholson, Jr., Secretary of the League, Dr. Floyd W. Tomkins, Rector of Holy Trinity Church, Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, Robert J. McKenty, Robert J. Sterrett and other prominent citizens filed a petition with the Board, the preamble of which is as follows:

"We the undersigned citizens of Philadelphia hereby represent to your Honorable Board that we are familiar with the circumstances of the case in which Officer Thomas Russell was convicted of Murder of the Second Degree and sentenced to not less than seven nor more than ten years in the Eastern State Penitentiary; that we feel convinced that the said Thomas Russell was acting within his rights as a police officer when he made the arrest of the woman which preceded the shooting, and that he felt his life to be in danger when he drew his own revolver and killed his assailant. We feel that the maintenance of law and order requires the protection of the officers sent to enforce the law, and we firmly believe that the ends of Justice have been amply satisfied by the period of imprisonment already served by the said Thomas Russell.

"Therefore, we pray that Your Honorable Board will recommend that a pardon be granted to the said Thomas Russell and in witnesses whereof we have hereunto attached our hands and seals."

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the prior good record of the applicant, the term of imprisonment already served, the recommendations of many prominent citizens of Philadelphia, who believe that a police officer should be upheld in the performance of his duty; because of the fact that the applicant while in the discharge of his duty in a hostile environment, after threats had been made against him, believing from the attitude and posture of the deceased that he was about to draw a deadly weapon, then in defense of his own person, killed Israel; we have concluded that the applicant has been sufficiently punished and that if now released he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Thomas Russell.

Sir: At Nos. 663, 664, 665 and 666, May Sessions, 1921, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Philadelphia, William S. Leib was convicted of fraudulently making a written instrument, and on April 28, 1921, was sentenced to pay a fine of $800, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a period of not less than three years nor more than five years.

The applicant is fifty-three years of age, an American citizen, and at the time of his arrest was conducting an insurance business in the City of Pottsville, Pennsylvania, and in addition thereto was serving the County of Schuylkill in the capacity of County Commissioner. The applicant is married and has a wife and three daughters living, one of whom is married.

Merchant and Evans Company, a corporation doing business in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, were indebted to the Commonwealth for taxes for the years 1914 to 1917, inclusive. In September, 1918, James D. Evans discussed the matter of these taxes with the applicant. Afterward he suggested that it was customary for the Auditor General to adjust these matters on a seventy-five per cent. basis. On October 8, 1918, Mr. Evans sent a check for $5,197.71, the total tax claimed by the State, to the applicant, with authority to pay these taxes upon settlement thereof by the Auditor General. On October 16, 1918, Mr. Evans wrote the applicant, asking for the tax receipts, and on December 13, 1918, sent a telegram to the applicant demanding the receipts. The applicant replied he would turn over the receipts in a few days. Mr. Evans claims the applicant turned over the receipts early in January, 1919. At that time the applicant handed Mr. Evans four receipts purporting to be signed by Earl T. DeWald for H. M. Kephart, State Treasurer and purporting to be registered and countersigned by D. H. Matthews for Charles A. Snyder, Auditor General. Mr. Evans further claimed at the trial that the applicant had not paid the amounts due for taxes at the time the alleged receipts were handed over, nor until February 7, 1919, and that the duplicate receipts turned over to the Company were forgeries.

The applicant was arrested, indicted and convicted, as described above. He appealed his case to the Superior Court, and it was admitted that the applicant paid into the State Treasury all the taxes involved on February 7, 1919.

On April 16, 1920, applicant was sentenced as described above. The applicant began to serve his prison sentence June 1, 1921, in the Eastern Penitentiary where he has been confined continuously ever since.

On December 20, 1922, the petition of Mrs. Adele Higgins, daughter of the applicant, for pardon, was heard by the Board of Pardons and refused. On May 16, 1923, upon an application for a rehearing, the application was granted and the rehearing allowed forthwith, owing to certificates presented from Doctors Ross V. Patterson, Edward J. G. Beardsley, J. B. Rogers, and Harry B. Ungerleider, Resident Physician of the Penitentiary, which stated that the applicant was in such a serious physical condition on account of diabetes that further incarceration would, in the near future, probably prove fatal. The Board of Pardons investigated the physical condition of the applicant and found that if he followed the accustomed rules concerning diet, (which was entirely possible at the Eastern Penitentiary), his life was not materially in greater danger than if he were allowed to go free, and the sequel has seemed to bear out this conclusion.

In view of the circumstances of this case,—the fact that the applicant was never before charged with or convicted of crime,—the term of imprisonment of over two years and three months already served,—the fact that he had made complete restitution even before his trial,—his excellent prison record,—his serious physical condition, which, unless other reasons should demand to the contrary, indicate that he should be allowed full opportunity for medical treatment,—and the fact that a petition signed by twenty thousand citizens of Schuylkill County asking for his release shows that he still commands the sympathy, trust and confidence of his fellow citizens,—we have determined that he has been sufficiently punished, and believe that if now released he will prove himself a useful, law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At No. 1, November Term, 1922, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, in and for the County of Erie, Alex Miller was convicted of Murder in the Second Degree and on Nov. 25, 1922, was sentenced to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than eight years and six months nor more than fifteen years.

The applicant is 36 years of age, of Russian nationality and allegiance although he has taken out his first naturalization papers. At the time of his arrest he was employed at the Hammermill Paper Company Docks as Foreman, and resided in the City of Erie, where he was employed. His family consists of a wife and three small children.

The wife of the applicant is a dissolute woman and notorious in the police circles of Erie. Since 1921, Fred Markoff has been the source of domestic trouble in the home of the applicant. On October 19, 1921, while the applicant and his wife were walking along the street, Markoff jumped out from behind a pole and slashed the applicant with a knife or razor, following which the applicant had Markoff arrested for Aggravated Assault and Battery, but subsequently withdrew the charges when Markoff offered to pay the costs and promised to stay away from the applicant's wife. Shortly thereafter the wife of the applicant and Markoff renewed their illicit relations. On September 18, 1922, the applicant returned home from work and found his wife absent and the children running about the streets, having had nothing to eat all day. Upon inquiry he ascertained that his wife was at the residence of one Ignatur. He went there and found a drunken debauch in progress and was refused information concerning his wife's whereabouts. He finally discovered her in the house in a compromising position with Markoff. When he reprimanded them his wife ran out of the house and Markoff attempted to assault him whereupon he struck him with a cuspidor. He tried to find his wife and finally came to the kitchen. Markoff came into the kitchen cursing and threatening the applicant and made a lunge towards him as if he were going to stab him. The applicant in order to defend himself snatched a knife from the kitchen table, a scuffle ensued and Markoff received what was apparently a superficial cut on his temple. When Markoff desisted on his attack upon the applicant the latter left the house in search of his wife. Markoff's wound was of a serious nature and he bled to death from lack of medical attention.

The applicant was never before charged with nor convicted of any crime. He was a peaceable, industrious citizen, devoted to his wife and children and for two years had endeavored, in every way possible, to reform his wife. The wound which he inflicted upon Markoff was in self defense and the killing was unpremeditated and due, to a large extent, to the lack of prompt medical attention on the part of the occupants of the house where the drunken debauch was in progress.

The trial Judge in accepting service of the notice of the application for a pardon in this case adds the following:—

"And suggest that an exercise of clemency would not interfere with the ends of justice."

The trial District Attorney filed a letter with the Board in which among other things he states:—

"During my whole term of office this defendant was the only man who was convicted of murder that I feel was entitled to leniency, and I feel that this action was wholly on the spur of the moment and was the culmination of a long period of most disturbing domestic trouble caused to a great extent by the decedent.

"In conclusion, I might add that it is the opinion of our office that the ends of justice had been met by the imprisonment of the defendant for approximately a year, taking into consideration also the mental strain which he suffered in attempting to break up the relations between the decedent and his wife."

The Mayor of Erie has filed a letter with the Board in which he states that the applicant has an excellent record and is a sober and industrious citizen, but that the wife is probably the most notorious female police character in the city.

"He was always endeavoring to break up the relations between his wife and the deceased, but only by lawful means."

He expresses the belief that "any recommendation for clemency which may seem fitting to your Honorable Board will not be an interference with justice".

The officers of the Hammermill Paper Company filed with the Board strong letters in behalf of this application. The Company has assisted in the care of the applicant's children during his imprisonment and will reemploy him if released.

Under all the circumstances of this case, in view of the previous good record of the applicant, and the testimonials to his character and the pleas for clemency by the trial Judge, trial District Attorney, Mayor of the City, and the Officers of the Company which employed him, pleas which are unusual in their character and strength, we have concluded that the applicant has been sufficiently punished and that if now released he would prove himself a useful, law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Alex Miller.

Sir: At No. 10 April Term, 1921, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Cameron, Joe Banas pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with Breaking and Entering and Larceny, and on February 23, 1921, was sentenced to pay a fine of $5.00, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than five years nor more than six years.

The applicant is now 19 years of age, a native of New York, an American citizen, a laborer by occupation. He is unmarried. At the time of his arrest he was unemployed.

During the night of February 7, 1921, the applicant burglarized the general store of Quigley & Blumle, in the Borough of Emporium, Cameron County, and took therefrom a quantity of merchandise, of inconsiderable value. Shortly after his arrest he pleaded guilty to an indictment covering the above offense, and the President Judge being seriously ill, the two Associate Judges of Cameron County, imposed the sentence above referred to.

The applicant has now served two years and seven months of his term of imprisonment. He now desires release claiming that the ends of justice had been satisfied, that the sentence imposed was excessive, and that he is needed to help support his mother and sisters.

Honorable R. B. McCormick, President Judge of the district, who was critically ill during the trial of the applicant, and unable to preside, and who has since died, wrote a letter to John M. Egan, Parole Officer, of Pittsburgh, concerning the excessive sentence imposed upon the applicant. This letter was filed with the Board in connection with the application for pardon and reads as follows:—

"Last February while I was sick and during my necessary absence from the county, the Associate Judges of Cameron County imposed sentences upon Raymond Barrett, No. 8 April Sessions, 1921, and John Rydzek and Joe Banas, No. 10 April Sessions, 1921, which in my judgment were excessive and entirely unjustified by the circumstances.

"This is the first time since I have been on the bench that Associate Judges have attempted to impose sentences upon prisoners. Unfortunately by the provisions of the Constitution they have authority to impose sentence, but seldom exercise it. Neither of these prisoners should have been sentenced to a longer period than from 12 to 15 months, but I did not recover in time to be able to lawfully change the sentences.

"I shall be glad if you will take notice yourself and will inform these prisoners that I will recommend to the Board of Pardons, their discharge at any time after they have served twelve months."

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the term of imprisonemnt already served, the excessive sentence imposed upon him, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions," recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Joe Banas.

Sir: At No. 8 April Term 1921, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Cameron, Raymond Barrett pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with Breaking and Entering, Felonious Burglary and larceny, and on February 23, 1921, wes sentenced to pay a fine of $5.00, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than 8 years nor more than 10 years.

The applicant is now 28 years of age, a native of New York, an American citizen, a coal miner by occupation, is married and has two children living. At the time of his arrest in Du Bois, Pennsylvania, he was unemployed. During the night of August 23, 1920, the applicant broke into the General Store of Council Brothers at Sinnemahoning, Cameron County, and took therefrom a quantity of merchandise, valued at $300.00. Shortly after his arrest he pleaded guilty to an indictment covering the above offense, and the President Judge being seriously ill the two Associate Judges of Cameron County imposed the sentence above referred to.

The applicant has never before been charged with or convicted with crime. He has now served two years and seven months of his term of imprisonment. His prison record is good, but he is in poor health as shown by a letter of the Resident Physician of the Penitentiary filed with the Board which reads as follows:

"In re—Raymond Barrett, No. A-11167.
"The above named inmate was admitted to the hospital August 6, 1922, suffering from a carbuncle. Through the general septic condition of the carbuncle he developed a lung abscess. He is in a very serious condition."

Honorable R. B. McCormick, President Judge of the district who was seriously ill during the trial of the applicant, and not able to preside, and who has since died, wrote a letter to John M. Eggan, Parole Officer, of Pittsburgh, concerning the applicant's sentence. This letter was filed with the Board in connection with the application for pardon and reads as follows:—

"Last February while I was sick and during my necessary absence from the county, the Associate Judges of Cameron County imposed sentences upon Raymond Barrett, No. 8 April Sessions, 1921, and John Rydzck and Joe Banas, No. 10 April Sessions, 1921, which in my judgment were excessive and entirely unjustified by the circumstances.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the critical condition of health of the applicant, the term of imprisonment already served, the excessive sentence imposed upon him we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished.

Sir: At No. 5 September Sessions, 1922, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Bradford, Anthony Spardute alias Tony Spardute was convicted of murder in the first degree and on February 22, 1923, was sentenced to be electrocuted.

The applicant is thirty-four years of age, and owes allegiance to the Kingdom of Italy. He is by occupation a car repairer and machinist, and at the time of his arrest was operating the Hospital Laundry connected with the Peoples Hospital of Sayre, Pennsylvania, in which borough he resided with a wife and five small children.

In August 1922, at the time when the crime was committed, a strike prevailed in the Lehigh Valley Railroad Shops at Sayre. The applicant was not a striker but was alleged to be a strike sympathizer, who, with four other persons, who were strikers, made an assault upon and stabbed Norman H. Carmel who was a strike-breaker, a stranger working in the car shops at Sayre. On August 15th the applicant after his days labor returned to his home. Later in the afternoon his brother who owned an automobile and was a striker, together with four other strikers, called at his home and invited him to go riding with them in the automobile. They drove about two miles to a railroad station in order to intercept strike-breakers for the purpose of dissuading them from working if possible, and if not, to beat them up. They did not meet the men they were looking for and returned to Sayre. The applicant claimed that he had no knowledge of their mission and simply went for a ride. After their return to Sayre the party separated. The applicant sat on a bench in the public park opposite to a restuarant in which Carmel, the deceased, was eating. It was about nine o'clock in the evening. The word was passed among the crowd which gathered that a strike-breaker or scab was in the restaurant. Two of the party which went on the automobile ride entered the restaurant and tried to persuade Carmel, the deceased, to quit working for the railroad company, which he refused to do, and afterwards left the restaurant proceeding down the street followed by a crowd including the two men referred to and the applicant. At a street corner he was attacked by several men and a fight ensued, which was dispersed when someone cried out that the State Troopers were coming. With others the applicant ran away leaving two or three still fighting with Carmel, who was finally left lying on the sidewalk in a wounded condition opposite the house where he boarded. He died that same night as a result of his injuries, and the following day the applicant was arrested and accused of killing Carmel. He was subjected to a rigid examination by the State Police. He made conflicting statements concerning his share in the crime. At the trial he denied that he had at any time participated in the attack on Carmel or had stabbed him and contended that his former admissions were extorted from him by the rigid manner in which he was treated by the State Troopers. The weapon with which Carmel was stabbed was never found.

The applicant's trial occurred twenty days after the murder. Public sentiment was antagonistic to strikers and labor unions and one hundred and six Jurors were called before twelve were finally obtained. A few minutes after the Jury retired to deliberate upon the verdict, they returned to the Court room for further instructions and inquired of the Court if they had the power to convict any other persons in addition to the defendant. One other man was tried for participation in this murder and he was acquitted.

There was no evidence to warrant the conviction of the applicant, except certain alleged admissions or confessions made to the State Police before the trial, and as a result of rigid examination.

Since the trial evidence has been adduced showing that before the attack on Carmel several men were standing at the street corner talking about him and that one said, pointing to the house where Carmel lived, "he will be down the street in a few minutes and we will get him". Another bit of after-discovered evidence is that a man without a hat was seen hurrying away from the prostrate form of the deceased and when asked by the deponents if the trouble was over, declared with an oath "you are———right it is over, we got him right". In connection with the fact that two felt hats, neither of which belonged to the applicant, were found on the scene of the crime and their ownership has never been ascertained; this is significant in connection with the after-discovered evidence just referred to.

A petition signed by 2475 persons was filed with the Board asking clemency. The Sheriff and Prothonotary of Bradford County and official Court stenographer also recommend clemency. Honorable C. M. Driggs, a Member of the House of Representatives, who resides less than three hundred feet from the scene of the crime, and is conversant with the facts, has filed a letter with the Board in which he states that it is uncertain as to who really committed the crime, and that while many were present in the crowd, only two were arrested, and that the applicant was made "the goat" for the crowd being of foreign extraction and unable to properly defend himself. He states that the case was tried within twenty days after the murder when excitement ran high. W. T. Carey, an Attorney, United States Commissioner and Justice of the Peace, also recommends clemency. Among others who advocate commutation are the Postmaster, Chief of Police and leading business men.

The applicant has always borne a reputation of being a peaceable, quiet and industrious citizen, and was never before charged with or convicted of crime, except on one occasion when he plead guilty and paid a nominal fine before a Justice of the Peace.

Because of the circumstances of this case, his previous good record, the lack of premeditation and the doubt concerning his guilt, we have determined that his sentence of death should be commuted to life imprisonment.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions," recommend that the sentence of death imposed upon the said Anthony Spardute alias Tony Spardute be commuted to life imprisonment.

Sir: At No. 250 January Term, 1920, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Philadelphia, Clarence Rose pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with larceny, and on January 14, 1920, he was sentenced to pay costs and to undergo an imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a term of not less than twelve months nor more than thirteen months, which full term of imprisonment, to wit, thirteen months, have been served by the applicant and upon the termination thereof the applicant was discharged.

The applicant is forty-five years of age, a native of Philadelphia, and resident therein, and a steam fitter by occupation. He is unmarried.

At the time the applicant was sentenced, as above stated, he was on parole from the Eastern Penitentiary under a sentence of larceny by the Montgomery County Court imposed September 30, 1910 for a period of from two and one-half years to ten years. Of the latter sentence he had served five years and six months, at the time of his arrest. Since the expiration of the first mentioned sentence the applicant has served on the unexpired portion of his parole time two years and seven months, making a total of eight years and one month.

The applicant in applying for pardon of the offense for which he was sentenced in Philadelphia on January 14, 1920, does so in order that he may be eligible for parole, and in order that the Trustees of the Eastern Penitentiary may consider his eligibility for parole, which they cannot now do under the law because he has been sentenced for an offense while on parole.

The circumstances surrounding the commission of the offense for which pardon is asked in this case are as follows: On December 27, 1919, the applicant was boarding at a house on North Eleventh Street in the City of Philadelphia. Mrs. Ryan (the prosecutrix) came to the house to have a dress made. She took off her coat and hung it up. The applicant took the coat and a camera and one-half dozen spoons that were in the house and pawned the coat and camera for $15.00. When arrested the spoons were in his pocket. He was intoxicated when he committed this offense.

The applicant has now been in confinement for both offenses of larceny nine years and two months. He has a good prison record. Since his incarceration he claims to have been effectually cured of the drink habit and desires the opportunity to rehabilitate himself under the guidance and observation of the Trustees of the Eastern Penitentiary.

In consideration of the facts above narrated, we have concluded that a pardon for the last offense should be granted to the applicant.

Sir: At No. 1, February Sessions, 1923, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Columbia, William Levan was convicted of Felonious Assault, Aggravated Assault, and Assault and Battery, and on Feb. 12, 1923, was sentenced to pay a fine of $100.00, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a period of not less than one and one-half years nor more than two years.

The applicant is 40 years of age, an American citizen by birth, a coal miner by occupation, and at the time of his arrest lived on a small farm in Locust Township, Columbia County. He has a wife, a step-son, and six children ranging from seven months to eleven years of age.

On the afternoon of Nov. 20, 1922, Michael Stine stopped his team on the public road near the residence of the applicant and the latter, who was in the house, went out to talk to him. Stine charged the applicant with having shot his dog. An argument ensued and a fight followed. No weapons of any kind were used by either party, although both were badly beaten up. Stine was so seriously injured that he remained in the hospital for several weeks. Stine was the aggressor. The applicant was never before convicted of crime. He is an industrious, peaceable citizen.

He has served seven months of his term of imprisonment. His wife and family of small children require his support and assistance.

The trial Judge filed a letter with the Board which was addressed to the Attorney for the applicant and in which he said among other things:—

"I would be very glad if the Board of Pardons would pardon him. * * *

"I would be very well pleased if the pardon is granted but I cannot see my way clear to ask the Board of Pardons to grant it."

The trial Judge authorized the attorney to use the letter in connection with the application for pardon.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the previous good record of the applicant, the term of imprisonment already served and the favorable expressions of the trial Judge, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and if now released will be a peaceable law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said William Levan.

Sir: At No. 479 May Sessions, 1916, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Philadelphia, James R. Parker alias Frederick A. McGuire pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with robbery, and on May 26, 1916, he was sentenced to pay the costs of prosecution and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a period of not less than nine years nor more than ten years.

The applicant is forty-five years of age, and while a native of Canada is a naturalized citizen of the United States. He is a locomotive engineer by occupation, but was not employed at the time of his arrest. He regards California as his home. He is married but does not know the present whereabouts of his wife. He has no children.

On May 22, 1916 the applicant robbed the office of the Germania Loan Company situated at the Corner of Germantown and Erie Avenues, in the City of Philadelphia, and took therefrom the sum of $165.00 in cash, which was recovered upon his arrest a few minutes after the robbery.

The applicant has spent practically one-half of his life in prison for crimes against property. The maximum sentences imposed upon him aggredate thirty-eight years and eight months, and he has served terms aggregating nineteen years and eight months. He has served seven years and four months of the minimum sentence imposed by the Philadelphia Court in 1916.

The applicant asks clemency because he claims to have undergone a complete change of heart and is imbued with the determination never again to offend against the law. Even if pardon is granted it will merely transfer him to the Federal Penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kansas, where he has served but sixty days of a five year sentence. When taken from there to Portland, Oregon, to be tried for robbing the post office he escaped. He also has unexpired terms of imprisonment awaiting him in Clinton Prison, New York, and in Folsom Prison, California. His prison record during the present sentence has been excellent.

A number of letters urging clemency were filed with the Board from persons who know the applicant and are interested in his behalf.

In consideration of the circumstances of the present case, his excellent behavior in prison and the term of imprisonment already served, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished.

Sir: At No. 93 November Term 1908, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Washington, Alex Watson pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with carrying concealed deadly weapons, and was convicted in indictments to Nos. 98, 105 and 127 of the same term in the same Court charging him with robbery, larceny, and receiving stolen goods, and on November 9, 1908, was sentenced in the aggregate to pay a fine of $3.00, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of twelve years covering charges contained in the indictments Nos. 93, 105 and 127, respectively, and on October 15, 1917, on the charge of larceny and receiving stolen goods, was sentenced to pay a fine of $1.00, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the County Jail for a period of two days.

The applicant is thirty-eight years of age, an American citizen, unmarried, and a teamster by trade. At the time of his arrest, for the crime for which he now seeks pardon, he was employed by the Hallam Construction Company, Washington, Pa., where he then resided.

After having served five years and seventeen days of the sentence for robbery and larceny imposed November 9, 1908, the applicant was released on parole, and was on parole three years and ten months when he was arrested for robbing the chicken house of one Trenel, and was sentenced to serve two days in the County Jail. After the latter conviction he was brought back to the Western Penitentiary to serve the balance of the twelve year sentence imposed in 1908, and up to the present time has served ten years and ten months of said term of imprisonment.

The applicant attributes his misfortunes to evil associates and intoxicating liquors, and desires an opportunity to rehabilitate himself, and if released promises to return to his aged mother in Massachusetts and comfort her declining years.

The Trustees of the Western Penitentiary are favorable to pardon.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the period of imprisonment already served, because of the applicant's realization of the cause of his downfall and desire to rehabilitate himself and return to his aged mother, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and if now released will prove himself a useful law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Alex Watson.

Sir: At No. 22 July Term, 1922, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for Clinton County, John Baird was convicted of assault and battery, aggravated assault and battery, and assault and battery with intent to maim, and on January 30, 1923, was sentenced to pay a fine of $100, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than fifteen months nor more than eighteen months.

The applicant is thirty years of age, an American citizen, by occupation an iron worker. At the time of his arrest he resided in Lock Haven, but was employed in the New York Central Railroad Shops at Corning, New York. He is married.

On April 19, 1922, he was in Lock Haven and during the course of the day became somewhat intoxicated. He finally boarded a street car to go to his home when he became involved in a controversy with the motorman, and the motorman ordered him to leave the car, which he did. After the car proceeded on its way he discovered that his cap had been left on the car. He waited and upon the return trip of the car asked for his cap, which was refused by the motorman and entrance to the car was denied him. He then endeavored to enter the car forcibly, and the motorman seizing and pulling off the brass controller bar attacked him, striking him upon the head and inflicting a deep cut and several scalp contusions. The applicant repelled the attack with his bare fists, but was finally knocked senseless by the use of the bar. He was arrested the following day.

The applicant made no assault upon the motorman, who is the prosecutor in the case, except such as was made in defense of himself after he had been attacked with the controller bar and seriously beaten and wounded. There was certainly no evidence of aggravated assault and battery and assault and battery with intent to maim.

The applicant has now been confined in the County Jail and Penitentiary since December 26, 1922, almost nine months. His prison record is excellent. He was never before charged with or convicted of crime. His wife is a woman of frail health, and at the present time is in a hospital having recently undergone an operation for abdominal trouble.

The Trial Judge filed the following letter with the Board:

"I would respectfully recommend that a pardon be granted to John J. Baird who was sentenced from Clinton County in January last to serve a term in the Western Penitentiary of not less than fifteen months or more than eighteen months, for aggravated assault and battery.

"I believe he has been sufficiently punished and that his own good and the best interest of the State will be promoted by his pardon.

"My associate, Judge Mussina of Lock Haven, recently visited Rockview, where Baird is confined, and he informs me after having made inquiry there, that this prisoner is one of the best behaved and most useful men at the institution.

"Although this man's name is Baird he is not in any way related to me."

The Trial District Attorney filed a letter with the Board in which he states, among other things, that the applicant's downfall was due to intoxication. He adds:

"I don't think there was any question of his being in the wrong, and that he was rightly convicted, but he has promised both Judge Baird and I that he will be a better man in the future and so I am very glad to be able under such circumstances to join in his application for a Pardon.

"He is no hardened criminal at all, but merely got in wrong, and I feel that the ends of Justice have been met, and he has served sufficiently long enough."

The Trustees of the Western Penitentiary also recommend pardon.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the prior good record of the applicant, the need which his wife has of his support and assistance, and the recommendations of the Trial Judge, Trial District Attorney and the Penitentiary Trustees, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released he will prove himself a useful law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said John Baird.

Sir: At No. 48 September Term, 1916, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Centre, Fred Harrling pleaded guilty to the charge of breaking and escaping penitentiary, and on September 12, 1916, was sentenced to pay a fine of $1.00, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than four years nor more than ten years. Sentence to compute from expiration of former sentence.

The applicant is thirty-four years of age, an American citizen by birth and allegiance, and unmarried. He is a baker by occupation. He has an aged mother living and a brother and sister.

The applicant on May 15, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Erie County was convicted of burglary and robbery, and was sentenced to pay a fine of $100.00, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than five years nor more than ten years. After being in the penitentiary a short time he was transferred to the new penitentiary at Rockview, from which he escaped on September 6, 1916, was recaptured and returned to Centre County where he pleaded guilty to the charge of breaking and escaping penitentiary, and was sentenced as above stated.

The applicant has served three years and four months more than his minimum sentence imposed by the Erie County Court, and has served more than eight years in the penitentiary, where his prison record has been excellent. Applicant's mother is nearly seventy years of age and owns a farm in Bedford County, Ohio, on which he can work if released from prison.

The Trial District Attorney filed a letter with the Board in which he states, "I would have no objections, officially, to this man's release upon the expiration of his minimum sentence on the charge of escaping from the Rockview Penitentiary."

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the good prison record of the applicant, the statement of the Trial District Attorney and the recommendation of the Trustees of the Penitentiary, and because the aged mother of the applicant requires his assistance in the operation of her farm, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Fred Herrling.

Sir: At No. 7 May Term, 1920, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Centre, Henry Miller pleaded guilty to the charge of breaking and escaping penitentiary, and on March 31, 1920, was sentenced to pay a fine of $1.00, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than two years nor more than four years. Sentence to compute from expiration of former sentence.

The applicant is now sixty-three years of age, a native of Switzerland, but an American citizen and unmarried. He is a stone mason and farmer by trade.

The applicant on April 7, 1919, pleaded guilty to the charge of robbing a store, and was sentenced to the Western Penitentiary for a minimum term of two years and a maximum term of four years. The maximum period of said sentence expired in April of the present year. This sentence was imposed by the Somerset County Court.

While serving the sentence, just referred to at Rockview, one day, not being under guard, he walked away and was arrested two days later and returned to Centre County where he pleaded guilty to the charge of breaking and escaping penitentiary, and was sentenced as above stated.

The Trial Judge in accepting notice of the application for pardon added, "I recommend the pardon of said petitioner." The Trial District Attorney in accordance with his custom in similar cases also recommends pardon. The Trusteest of the Penitentiary recommend clemency.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the advanced age of the petitioner, the term of imprisonment already served and the recommendations of the Trial Judge, District Attorney and Trustees, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Henry Miller.

Sir: At No. 10 September Term, 1919, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Centre, Irvin Voorbees pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with breaking and escaping penitentiary, and on September 29, 1919, was sentenced to pay a fine of $1.00, costs and undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than two years and nine months nor more than three years. Sentence to compute from expiration of former sentence.

The applicant is now twenty-five years of age and is an American citizen by birth and allegiance. His occupation is that of mechanic, and at the time of his recapture was employed by the United States Government at Camp Custer, Battle Creek, Michigan. His home is with his widowed mother in the City of Detroit.

The applicant on August 1, 1918, pleaded guilty to the charge of larceny of an automobile at Erie, and was sentenced to the Western Penitentiary for a minimum term of two years and nine months and a maximum period of three years. The maximum term of imprisonment on said charge of larceny was completed on November 17, 1921, and the applicant then began serving his present sentence.

On June 12, 1919, the applicant, after having been transferred to the prison farm at Rockview, escaped, and was absent therefrom a period of three months and eighteen days when he was recaptured at Battle Creek, Michigan, where he was employed. He voluntarily waived extradition proceedings and was returned to the jurisdiction of the Courts of Centre County, Pennsylvania, where he appeared, pleaded guilty to the charge of breaking and escaping penitentiary and was sentenced as above stated.

The applicant has served the full period of the sentence for larceny, and in addition thereto, has served two years imprisonment under the present sentence or more than one-half of his sentence, making a total term of imprisonment of five years as of the date of November 18, 1923.

The prison record of the applicant has been excellent. He used no physical force in making his escape and simply walked away from the farm. He did not return to a life of crime, but was honestly and usefully employed when arrested at Battle Creek.

The Trial Judge in a letter addressed to the applicant states:

"I am of opinion that you have been sufficiently punished and hereby recommend your pardon. You have the privilege of forwarding this letter to the Board of Pardons with your other papers, and if this is not sufficient I shall be pleased to write a personal letter to said Board."

The Trial District Attorney in a letter filed with the Board states among other things—

"If this man's record is entirely clean, with the exception of his escape from Rockview, I would file no objection to the granting of the pardon as prayed for."

In consideraion of the circumstances surrounding the escape, and the subsequent good conduct of the applicant, in consideration of the period of imprisonment already served and the recommendations of the Trial Judge and Trial District Attorney, and because of the need which the applicant's aged mother has for his support and assistance, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions," recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Irvin Voorhees.

Sir: At No. 166 March Sessions, 1921, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Schuylkill, Joseph Muslusky was convicted of manslaughter, and on April 18, 1921, was sentenced to pay a fine of $200.00, and to undergo imprisonment in the Schuylkill County Prison for a period of seven years.

The applicant is twenty-six years of age, unmarried, and while of Polish extraction, is a native of Pennsylvania. His occupation at the time of his arrest was that of coal miner employed by the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Company. His residence is Frackville, Pennsylvania, where he resided with his aged father who is in poor health and requires applicant's assistance.

During the early part of 1920, the applicant became engaged to be married to a young lady in Frackville, and the date of the wedding was set for June 15, 1920. Household articles were purchased by the applicant for the use of his prospective wife and himself. Shortly before the marriage, the applicant asked his intended bride to join with him in obtaining the marriage license, which she refused to do, and the wedding did not take place. He subsequently went to Detroit, Michigan, to obtain work. While there he received a letter from his former sweetheart as a result of which he returned to Frackville and attempted to renew his friendship with his former finance, but she treated him coldly and did not seem to care enough for him to renew the marriage engagement. The applicant was deeply in love with her and her treatment preyed on his mind. He finally determined that he could not live without her. On December 9, 1920, he went to the home of his former sweetheart, informed her that he intended taking his life and that he could not live without her. He reached for the pistol with which he had armed himself, and when he did so his former sweetheart screamed and her brother-in-law, John Batdorf, rushed into the room, and as the applicant reached for his revolver Batdorf grabbed him, remonstrated with him for his foolishness, and pushed him out of the room. While so doing the weapon was accidently discharged, the bullet entering the body of Batdorf, who died as the result of the wound. The applicant immediately turned the pistol upon himself and shot himself near the heart. He was taken unconscious to the Ashland Hospital where he remained thirty-four days, and upon his discharge was committed to prison. There had never been any trouble or ill-feeling between Batdorf and the applicant, and the shooting of the former was an accident and the result of the struggle which ensued when Batdorf learned that the applicant was about to do away with himself.

The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of crime. He was an overseas veteran, served in France from March, 1917, to May, 1919, and was honorably discharged.

The trial District Attorney has filed with the Board the following letter:

"In the matter of the application for pardon of Joseph L. Muslusky, permit me to say to your Honorable Board that, under all the circumstances of the case, I do not think any good purpose can be served by further imprisonment of this young man and that he has suffered sufficiently for his misdeed. I, therefore, believe his case one worthy of the extension of Executive clemency at this time."

J. G. McGinnis, President of the First National Bank, Frackville, under date of March 25, 1921, wrote a letter to the trial Judge, concerning this case, which letter has been filed with the Board, and reads as follows:

"In view of the statement made to me by the late John Batdorf, in the Miners Hospital, shortly before his death, in regards to the shooting that caused his death, I feel I ought, in justice to Joseph Muslusky, convicted of Manslaughter for this shooting, say a word for him. Mr. Batdorf declared to me "The boy never intended to shoot me, Squire", and he was very frank in making this statement. While this conversation with me was not admissible as evidence on the trial of the case, I do feel that in justice to this boy, I ought to bring it to your notice before sentence is imposed on him. In view of this and in view of his fine reputation I commend him to you for leniency."

The Chief Burgess of Frackville, the Chief of Police, (who was the prosecutor in the case) the Recorder of Deeds and a number of citizens, including Borough Officials and business men, ask the Board for clemency.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the comparative youth of the applicant, his despondency over the unfortunate outcome of his love affair, the absence of ill-will towards the deceased, the lack of motive; because of the prior good record of the applicant, the period of imprisonment already served, the recommendation of the Trial District Attorney, and the Borough Officials of Frackville (including the prosecutor in the case), we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released from prison he will prove himself, as in the past, a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Joseph Muslusky.

Sir: At Nos. 31, 32 and 53 December Sessions, 1921, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Bucks, Nick Di Bello alias Nick De Bell, pleaded guilty to Pandering and keeping a disorderly house and on Dec. 14, 1921, was sentenced on the charge of Pandering to pay a fine of $100.00, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a period of not less than five years nor more than seven years.

The applicant is 27 years of age, an Italian by birth, but a naturalized American citizen. At the time of his arrest he was employed as a day laborer in the City of Trenton, N. J., where he resided with his wife and four children aged 8, 7, 5, and 3 years respectively.

The applicant worked as a laborer in a pottery in Trenton and when it closed down two men asked him to come to a house near Morrisville, Bucks Co., Pa., across the river from Trenton and work on the place and do errands during the day time and return to his home at night. The applicant avers that he was at this house but one week and received $15.00 for his labor. He was not the owner nor lessee of the house but merely an employe. On October 29, 1921, while he was in charge of this house (which was a road house where girls stayed and to which parties from Trenton came in taxis) a taxi drove up to the door with a man and a girl who asked to remain there and when permitted to enter, the man (a State policeman) arrested the applicant. At the time of the arrest there were in the house several girls and men.

The applicant has never been in trouble for violation of the law. He has always borne an excellent reputation. He has been an industrious citizen. He was not the owner nor proprietor of the road house, did not share in any of the proceeds, did not live in the house, and only worked there for a weekly wage. His prison record is excellent.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, his previous good record, the term of imprisonment already served, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and that the sentence imposed by the Court was disproportionate to his offense.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Nick Di Bello, alia Nick De Bell.

Sir: At No. 50 November Sessions, 1921, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Philadelphia, Adelbert Hay was convicted of aggravated assault and battery, and on December 22, 1921, was sentenced to pay costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a period of not less than two years nor more than two years and six months.

The applicant is now twenty-two years of age. He is a native born American citizen and at the time of his arrest was employed by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company as a freight brakeman. He is married and resided with his wife in the City of Philadelphia.

On May 7, 1921, at about 4:45 P. M. at the Corner of Tenth and Arch Streets in the City of Philadelphia, he shot his wife and then placed the revolver against his own head and shot himself, the bullet passing through his right ear and lodged in close proximity to his brain. The revolver with which he committed the crime had been purchased by him several months before this occurrence to protect himself while at work in the freight yards. During the day of the commission of the crime he had indulged in bootleg whiskey and was in an intoxicated condition when he committed the crime. He and his wife indulged in frequent quarrels and the assault above described was the culmination of events which had occurred during the preceding week. After the shooting the applicant and his wife were both taken to the Jefferson Hospital in a serious condition. Operations were performed on each and the bullets removed. The wife was injured in the spine and does not have the complete and normal use of one limb, while the applicant still has a severe wound in the right ear and head and has lost the hearing in said ear.

The mother of the applicant appeared before the Board in his behalf and asked that he be released from prison in order that he might complete his education in a medical college.

Senators Patton, Stites, Buckman and Salus, Register of Wills Campbell, City Treasurer Watson, Representative Ludlow and others interested in the applicant's future welfare have filed letters with the Board in which they strongly urge Executive clemency.

The applicant has now served one year and eight months of his term of imprisonment. His record in prison has been excellent. He was never before charged with or convicted of any crime.

In consideration of the youth of the applicant, his prior good record, the lack of motive for the commission of the crime which was brought about on account of his intoxicated condition, the recommendations of prominent citizens of Philadelphia who are interested in his behalf, and because of his desire to complete his education in order to qualify him to practice medicine, having in mind the term of imprisonment already served, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Adelbert Hay.

Sir: At No. 536 April Sessions 1922, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Philadelphia, Paul Jones was convicted of murder of the first degree, and on April 27, 1923, was sentenced to be electrocuted.

The applicant is a native born American citizen, colored, twenty-three (23) years of age, a laborer by occupation, was unemployed at the time of his arrest and conviction and resided in the City of Philadelphia. He is unmarried.

The applicant was arrested and charged with suspicion of robbery and while at the Police Station is alleged to have made the confession that he and Charles Lewis on February 18, 1922, went to a certain saloon at the Corner of Fifteenth and Federal Streets, Philadelphia, and attempted to rob the saloon. In so doing Angelo Bomento, the bartender who was in charge of the saloon at the time, was shot and killed. Lewis fired the fatal shot. Upon this alleged confession both Jones and Lewis were arrested and jointly charged with the murder of Bomento. They were tried separately, the applicant was twice tried and both times convicted of murder in the first degree. Lewis was subsequently tried and acquitted, the only evidence against him being that of the applicant. No one else was present when the murder was committed.

The applicant was never before convicted of any crime and had nothing to do with the actual commission of murder in the present case. Lewis who fired the fatal shot was acquitted. There was no evidence to fasten the murder upon either of these men except the alleged confession of the applicant, which was only used in part. The entire confession would have shown that the applicant did not fire the fatal shot nor was he armed at the time of the attempted robbery.

In consideration of the circumstances surrounding this case the prior good record of the applicant, his comparative youth, when the crime was committed, and the absence of direct testimony, showing that he actually killed the deceased, we have concluded that his sentence of death should be commuted to life imprisonment.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions," recommend that the sentence of death imposed upon the said Paul Jones, be commuted to life imprisonment.

Sir: At Nos. 139 and 140 June Term, 1922, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Allegheny, Tony Greco was convicted of larceny and receiving stolen goods and on June 27, 1922, he was sentenced in the aggregate to pay a fine of twelve and one-half cents, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than two years nor more than three years, the terms of imprisonment to run concurrently.

The applicant is now twenty years of age. He is an American citizen of Italian parentage and unmarried and at the time of the commission of these crimes resided with his parents in the City of Pittsburgh. Prior to his arrest he was a laborer and painter and helped his father maintain his mother and seven children.

The applicant was convicted of stealing a lady's purse containing ten dollars belonging to Agnes Baney and a gold watch valued at $30.00 and $11.00 in cash, the property of Olive Larimer, on March 6, 1922. The applicant has always denied all knowledge of the taking and carrying away of the articles mentioned, and he was convicted on circumstantial evidence. Both crimes were committed in the daytime, and the articles were taken from offices wherein the owners of the stolen goods were employed. The informations in both cases were made a month or more after the commission of the offenses.

The applicant was only eighteen years of age when he was convicted and was never before convicted of any crime. He has served approximately one year and four months of term of imprisonment.

The prosecutrix in both cases filed letters with the Board in which they recommend a pardon. Agnes Baney writes as follows:

"Being a prosecutrix in the case of the Commonwealth vs. Tony Greco at No. 139, June Sessions 1922, Quarter Sessions Court of Allegheny County, wherein the said Tony Greco was sentenced for larceny of my purse containing ten dollars ($10.00) I respectfully request that you will grant a pardon to this boy as he was convicted on circumstantial evidence and has paid part of the penalty already, as I understand that with his freedom he will be an assistance to his family, which is badly needed."

Olive Van Horn (formerly Larimer) filed the following letter:

"Several years ago while I stepped out of the office where I am employed as stenographer, a watch was taken in my absence. Later the watch was returned to me from a pawn shop and I was called as a witness against Tony Greco, who was accused of the theft.

"I had never before seen Tony Greco and had no reason to believe that he was the thief. I therefore join in asking for his pardon."

Esther Israel Katten, an Attorney, in whose office Olive Larimer Van Horn was employed, has also filed a letter with the Board in which she states that she accompanied her stenographer to Court when the applicant had his initial hearing. She expresses the opinion that the girl who had pawned the stolen watch was the thief and not Greco, who had never been seen around her office. She adds:

"I would recommend a pardon for Tony Greco by reason of the lack of evidence against him in this regard, and further on account of his extreme youth, and believe that he should be given at least a fair chance."

The Assistant Trial District Attorney writes:

"I do not think this office should go on record against pardoning this young man. I do not believe that aside from these cases he has ever been tried or convicted of any other crime."

The prison record of the applicant has been excellent.

Because of the youth of the applicant at the time of the commission of the crime, his previous good record, the term of imprisonment already served and the recommendations of the owners of the stolen articles, we believe that he has been sufficiently punished and that if now released he will become a useful citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Tony Greco.

Sir: At No. 47 December Term, 1916, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Allegheny, William J. Pill was convicted of assault and battery and assault and battery with intent to commit rape and on December 15, 1916, was sentenced to pay a fine of six and one-quarter cents, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than three years nor more than three and one-half years.

Under the name of James Wilcox the applicant was convicted of felonious rape in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County at No. 57 March Sessions 1907, and on April 19, 1907, he was sentenced to pay a fine of six and one-quarter cents, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of fifteen years. After serving six years and seven months of the last mentioned sentence he was, on November 28, 1913, released on parole, and after being on parole for three years he was convicted and sentenced on the first mentioned charge and returned to the Penitentiary in December, 1916, to serve out the balance of the first sentence, to wit, eight years and five months, and is now serving the balance of the said sentence. After he shall have served his first sentence there will still remain a period of not less than three years to serve on the second sentence, unless he should now be pardoned on the second charge.

The applicant is forty-two years of age, a machinist by trade, a citizen of Great Britain and unmarried. Prior to his imprisonment he was a stationary engineer and resided in Pittsburgh. His prison record is excellent.

The applicant was convicted on conflicting testimony, and the principal evidence against him was given by a young girl and by a police officer of the City of Pittsburgh, who had threatened vengence against the applicant. The applicant has steadfastly denied his guilt and claims that his conviction was the result of what is commonly known as a "frame-up".

In consideration of the circumstances of the case, his excellent prison record and the term of imprisonment already served, we believe that he has been adequately punished for the second offense, and that after he shall have served his entire term of imprisonment under the first sentence his debt to society will be paid.

Sir: At No. 28 March Sessions, 1901, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Allegheny, R. D. Wilcox, alias Walter Dorman, pleaded guilty of murder in the first degree, and on May 10, 1902, he was sentenced to be hanged. In June, 1902, his sentence of death was commuted to life imprisonment.

The applicant is forty-four years of age, a citizen of the United States, and unmarried. He was a resident of Pittsburgh at the time of his conviction. Prior thereto he was a resident of Ohio, where he had been employed as a laborer. The applicant was jointly indicted with John Biddle and Edward Biddle, brothers, for the murder of Thomas E. Kahney, a grocer, of Mount Washington, Pittsburgh, which occurred April 12, 1901. Immediaetly after his arrest the applicant confessed to the crime and at the trial pleaded guilty and took the stand in behalf of the Commonwealth in the trials of the Biddle brothers, which said trials resulted in verdicts of murder in the first degree. The Biddle brothers, after their conviction and sentence, escaped from the Allegheny County Jail and were later shot to death by pursuing officers near Butler, Pennsylvania. The applicant's share in the murder consisted in an attempt to administer chloroform to the wife of the deceased, who awoke, made outcry, and when her husband came to the rescue he was shot and instantly killed by John Biddle, and the three men immediately fled from the store and returned to the City.

The applicant has been continuously confined in prison since April 12, 1901, and has been an inmate of the Western Penitentiary since June, 1902. He has been confined twenty-two years and six months and is possibly the oldest life prisoner in the State of Pennsylvania. His prison record has been excellent. He is a musician of fine ability, has been instructor of the band and orchestra, is a composer of reputation and the practical overseer of the Chapel.

The trial Judge has filed with the Board the following letter:

"I have notice that an application will be made for a pardon by R. D Wilcox, alias Walter Dorman, and I have been shown a letter which I sent to your Honorable Board soon after his conviction and sentence, when an application was made for commutation, in which I see that I recommended a commutation to imprisonment for life, or some definite term of very considerable length. The application resulted in a commutation to imprisonment for life.

"After this very considerable lapse of time, I am of the opinion that this release from further imprisonment at this time would not do any injustice to the Commonwealth or the community."

The Trial District Attorney has filed with the Board the following letter:

"The applicant for pardon, R. D. Wilcox, alias Walter Dorman, was jointly indicted with the Biddle brothers for the murder of one Thomas D. Kahney. I was the District Attorney of the County at that time and had charge of the prosecution. In the preparation of the case for trial I found that the Commonwealth's case was incomplete when Dorman sent for me while he was in the City lock-up and voluntarily agreed to tell me the whole story without any promise of consideration from the Commonwealth. In securing his story of the killing the Commonwealth was in the possession of a perfect case. When the case was called for trial Dorman pleaded guilty generally to murder, and the Biddles were separately tried and convicted of murder of the first degree by placing Dorman upon the stand with other testimony in the case. The cases against the Biddles were taken to the Supreme Court, and the Judgment of the lower Court was affirmed. The assistance of Dorman was inestimable to the Commonwealth in the trial of the Biddle brothers, without which I am not sure that a conviction could have been secured.

"Dorman is now past 44 years of age, and after the lapse of twenty-two years of imprisonment I believe that his release from further imprisonment would not be of any injustice to the Commonwealth, but on the other hand might be of value to the State in future like cases."

The Warden of the Western Penitentiary telegraphs the Board as follows:

"Walter Dorman's conduct has been satisfactory since nineteen seventeen is director of prison band which he organized his long imprisonment has impaired his health during the past several years has held a loss from disturbing element of prisoners Dorman in addition to being a talented musician has a good trade he was quite young when committed he is now well educated and I believe would if pardoned make good."

The Trustees of the Western Penitentiary recommend clemency.

Because of the youth of the applicant when the crime was committed, the term of imprisonment already served, his excellent record in the Penitentiary, and the recommendations of the Trial Judge, Trial District Attorney, Warden and Trustees of the Penitentiary, we believe that he has been adequately punished and that if now released he will become a useful, law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At No. 73 September Term, 1919, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Allegheny, John Muzychuk pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with felonious assault and battery, and on September 8, 1919, was sentenced to pay a fine of 6¼¢, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a term of not less than six and one half years nor more than seven years.

The applicant is thirty-one years old, a native of Russia, and owes allegiance to that country. He is by occupation a laborer and when arrested resided in the City of Pittsburgh. He is married.

About nine months prior to his arrest he was married and soon discovered that his wife was running around with other men. He protested against her conduct, and she left him, but subsequently returned to Pittsburgh. The applicant, after visiting his wife's mother's home in search of her, crossed the Thirty-third Street Bridge, Pittsburgh, when he met her, accompanied by a strange man. He asked her to go home with him. An altercation ensued between him and the stranger and his wife. Blows were struck. The applicant was so inflamed with jealous rage that he claims that he did not know that he had struck his wife in the melee. He had no weapon and whatever blows were struck were with his bare hands.

The applicant is illiterate and can not read English, and when he pleaded guilty did not understand what he was doing. While he recalls striking the strange man, he does not remember assaulting his wife, which is the charge on which he was convicted.

The applicant has now served four years and one month of his term of imprisonment, and the Trustees of the Penitentiary recommend clemency.

He was never before charged with or convicted of any crime.

Martha Muzychuk, the wife of the applicant, who was assaulted by him, has written a long letter to Doctor Ellen C. Potter in which she asks her influence in behalf of a pardon for her husband. This letter is on file with the Board.

Because of the circumstances of this case, the previous good record of the applicant, the term of imprisonment already served, the recommendation of the Trustees of the Penitentiary, and the petition of the wife, who was injured, who now forgives him and needs his support, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said John Muzychuk.

Sir: At No. 12 November Term, 1921, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Bedford, Percy Conner was convicted of larceny, and on November 15, 1921, was sentenced to pay a fine of $100, costs, restore the stolen property and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than four years nor more than five years.

The applicant is twenty-eight years of age, a native born citizen of the United States, a laborer by occupation, unmarried, and at the time of his arrest was employed in a factory in Cumberland, Maryland. His proper place of residence was with his father, aged 93 years, residing in West Providence Township, Bedford County.

Raymond Conner, the brother of the applicant, and the prosecutor in the case, resided on his father's farm. He bought a Ford automobile for $275 on a lease contract and paid about $175 of the purchase money. His father, Emanuel Conner, paid the balance. Raymond Conner alleged that his brother, the applicant, stole this car on or about July 17, 1921. It happened that the applicant left that locality about the time that the car was alleged to have been stolen by him. He was arrested about three months later at Cumberland, Maryland, and returned to Bedford County, Pennsylvania, without extradition, and while nothing was ever learned about the alleged stolen car the applicant was convicted and sentenced for the theft. Emanuel Conner, the father, and part owner of the car, was not present at the trial and is the petitioner for pardon in this case. Raymond Conner, the brother, part owner of the car, is a fugitive from justice.

The applicant has never before been convicted of any crime. He has served one year and eleven months of his term of imprisonment. His prison record is excellent. He has always denied his guilt of the offense for which he was convicted and sentenced.

Because of the circumstances of this case, the previous good record of the applicant, the term of imprisonment already served, and the need which his aged father has for his support and assistance in operating the little farm on which he resdes, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Percy Conner.

Sir: At No. 15 November Sessions, 1920, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Allegheny, John McCarthy, alias Jackie McCarthy, pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with robbery and receiving stolen goods, and on November 17, 1920, was sentenced to pay a fine of 6¼¢, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than five years nor more than seven years. At No. 16 November Sessions, 1920, on a similar charge he pleaded guilty and a like sentence was imposed to run concurrently with the previous sentence.

The applicant is twenty years of age. He is a native of the United States, of Irish-American parentage. He is unmarried. He had no trade when arrested, but has learned the barber trade in prison.

On September 7, 1920, he and four others held up Frank Nigro and took $20.00 from him. One week later the same persons held up John Kuchen and took from him a carton of cigarettes.

When arrested for these crimes the applicant was only seventeen years of age and had never before been charged with or convicted of any crime. He has now served two years and eleven months of his term of imprisonment, and the Trustees of the Western Penitentiary recommend clemency.

Neither the Trial Judge nor the Trial District Attorney oppose the application for pardon.

County Commissioner Houlahen has promised to give the applicant employment in the Road Department under his jurisdiction, and the Superintendent of the Carnegie Steel Company (Clark Mills) has also promised to give him employment in his plant, both evidenced by letters on file with the Board.

Congressman Morin has also filed a letter with the Board recommending a pardon.

Because of the extreme youth of the applicant when the crime was committed, his previous good record, the term of imprisonment already served, the recommendation of the Trustees of the Penitentiary, and the need which his parents have for his support and assistance, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said John McCarthy, alias Jackie McCarthy.

Sir: At No. 9 May Term, 1922, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Centre, Joe Korkus and five other defendants waived the finding of a true bill by the Grand Jury and pleaded guilty to an indictment charging them with caving the mine of O. G. Morgan, situated in Snow Shoe Township, Centre County, and on March 27, 1922, was sentenced to pay a fine of $500, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than one year and ten months or more than two years.

The applicant is twenty-seven years of age, of Polish birth, but American born, a coal miner by occupation, unmarried, and at the time of his arrest resided with a sister in Centre County.

The applicant was a member of the United Mine Workers which had been on a strike in the district for a number of months. There was bad feeling toward the men who had taken the places of the strikers and on March 1, 1922, while a number of men, including the applicant, and his accomplices, were returning home from a meeting of a social club, where they had been drinking beer, it was suggested that they cave the mine which was promptly done. About three weeks later the applicant was arrested, and later the other five defendants, all of whom have been since discharged.

The applicant has now served one year and seven months, approximately, of his term of imprisonment. He was never before charged with or convicted of crime. His prison record is good. During the World War in 1918 he volunteered in the service of the United States and was placed in the U. S. Naval Reserve Force and has an honorable discharge from service.

The Trial Judge recommends a pardon for the applicant in the following language:

"I have received formal notice of the application of Joe Korkus for pardon to be presented at your meeting on the 17th instant and am of opinion that this petition should be granted."

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the prior good record of the applicant, the term of imprisonment already served, and the recommendation of the Trial Judge, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and that if discharged he will prove himself a useful, law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said John Korkus.

Sir: At No. 22 February Sessions, 1921, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Erie, Robert Novak was convicted of larceny and on February 22, 1921, was sentenced to pay a fine of $50, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than five years and five months nor more than eight years.

The applicant is twenty-two years, an American citizen, unmarried, and at the time of his arrest was an employe in the signal department of the New York Central Railroad Company, and resided with his parents in the City of Cleveland, Ohio. He is the eldest of four children.

The applicant was nineteen years of age when the crime was committed and was anxious to secure employment. He had been laid off from work by a reduction of force. He was engaged by a man named Funda to drive automobiles to and from the City of Cleveland, Ohio, which were purchased by Funda who claimed to be a dealer in second-hand cars. The day following his employment Funda brought the applicant to the City of Erie, Pennsylvania, for the purpose of taking an auto out of a garage in the latter city, which Funda claimed to have bought, and returning with it to Cleveland. After their arrival in Erie in the evening Funda went away and returned later driving a Ford sedan which he delivered to the applicant and instructed him to drive through to Cleveland that night. It transpired later that Funda had stolen this car from the place where it was parked along the streets shortly after the arrival of himself and the applicant to the City. While driving the car on the road to Cleveland the applicant was arrested for the theft of the car and brought back to Erie for trial, and later convicted. Funda was never tried for his part in the theft.

The applicant has served two years and eight months of his term of imprisonment, and the Trustees of the Western Penitentiary recommend a pardon. He was never before charged with or convicted of crime.

While the applicant was technically guilty of larceny, the principal in the crime escaped punishment. He was anxious to secure employment and became the tool of an experienced crook. The Cleveland Hardware Company and the George H. Bowman Company at Cleveland have both offered employment to the applicant upon his release as evidenced by letters filed with the Board.

Because of the youth of the applicant when the crime was committed, his prior good record, the term of imprisonment already served, in consideration of the recommendation of the Trustees of the Western Penitentiary, and the letters from citizens of Cleveland, Ohio, his former home, we have concluded that the applicant has been sufficiently punished and that if now discharged he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Robert Novak.

Sir: At No. 106 February Sessions, 1922, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Erie, Harry Orbin pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with breaking and entering a store building in the night-time with intent to commit a felony therein, and on June 3, 1922, was sentenced to pay a fine of $200, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than three years nor more than five years.

The applicant is thirty-six years of age, of Jewish parentage, but a citizen of the United States, and prior to his arrest was a resident of the City of Erie and had been engaged for a number of years in the plumbing business in that City. He has a son nine years of age.

On the night of March 17, 1922, about midnight, the applicant, accompanied by three others, went to the home of Julius Woolhandler in Erie for the purpose of stealing liquor reputed to have been stored in the house. The applicant waited a short distance from the house with an automobile truck in which the whisky was to have been hauled. The three co-defendants were detected while endeavoring to effect an entrance to the building and, upon an alarm being given, rushed to the waiting automobile and endeavored to escape. All four were apprehended a short distance from the Woolhandler home and placed under arrest. Pleas of guilty followed, paroles were granted, and the parole of the applicant was subsequently revoked by the Court and sentence imposed.

The applicant has served seventeen months of his term of imprisonment. The authorities of the Penitentiary certify that his conduct has been excellent. He was never before convicted of crime.

The applicant has always been an industrious man, is a former soldier, and his young son requires the care and attention of a father. His parole was taken away because of a dispute arising between a fellow workman and himself over money loaned and not paid when due.

The trial Judge has recommended a pardon in the following letter:

"I sentenced Harry Orbin on a plea of guilty of breaking and entering, to a minimum of three years in the Western Penitentiary. The facts developed by the District Attorney's office were that the defendant with two others broke into a store building with intent to remove a quantity of intoxicating liquors. I am inclined to think that the ends of Justice have been met in this case by the imprisonment of this defendant since the 3d day of June, 1922, and believe that this defendant might safely be pardoned at this time."

The trial District Attorney filed with the Board the following letter:

"Notice of petition for pardon in the above matter has been served upon me as District Attorney of this County. Prior to sentence having been imposed an investigation was made through my office relative to Orbin's record. The young man's record was not bad, but he had, nevertheless, been implicated in a charge of Breaking and Entering a dwelling house in the night time. He was paroled with other defendants charged with the same offense, and his conduct not being satisfactory to our Court, resulted in his parole being revoked.

"For several years prior to Orbin's difficulties he lived with a family in this city, with whom I am well acquainted. This family bears an excellant reputation in the community and they speak in highest terms of the applicant. Orbin has a son whom I understand is a child about nine years old. At the time of Orbin's arrest, this child remained with Mr. and Mrs. Gahagen, where he and his father previously lived. Shortly after Orbin was sentenced to the penitentiary Mrs. Gahagen died, and since that time the child has been dependent upon the assistance of relatives for his maintenance and support.

"Orbin is not a troublesome individual. He has now been incarcerated for a considerable period of time. The other men implicated in the violation of the law, which was the direct cause of Orbin's sentence, have made good, and it is my opinion that Orbin will do likewise if given the opportunity, and anything that the Board may see fit to do in the matter will meet my approbation."

The Mayor of Erie has also filed with the Board a letter in which he states that he has been personally acquainted with the applicant for a number of years, and that his prior record had been good. He also states that the applicant had a creditable record in the recent World War. He adds that a number of citizens had urged him to request clemency from the Board and concludes: "From what I am able to learn of his reputation I believe the ends of justice would be reached by giving his petition favorable consideration. The other two defendants implicated with Orbin in the breaking and entering charge have made good since paroled and I believe Orbin if given another opportunity will do likewise".

In consideration of the circumstances of this crime, the prior good record of the applicant, his excellent prison record, the need which his young son has of a father's care and attention, the recommendations of the Trial Judge, the Trial District Attorney and Mayor of Erie, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released he will prove himself a useful, law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Harry Orbin.

Sir: At No. .. January Sessions, 1921, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Chester, George A. Bruce, alias Daniel F. Eyerly pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with larceny, and on December 20, 1920, was sentenced to pay a fine of $500, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a period of not less than five years nor more than ten years.

The applicant is twenty-five years of age, an American citizen by birth and parentage. He is married, but resides with his parents in the City of Philadelphia and contributes to the support of his father's family. He is a story writer for magazines and periodicals.

On October 18, 1920, the applicant hired a taxicab to take him and two friends from Philadelphia to Coatesville. On their way back to Philadelphia, realizing that he did not have the money to defray the cost of the trip, he suddenly conceived the idea of taking the car from the chauffeur and of driving to Philadelphia, placing the car in a garage over night, and the next day, after securing the necessary funds, return the car to the Taxicab Company with full compensation and explanation, believing that this was the only feasible way out of the difficulty. Without consulting his companions, and without their knowledge, the applicant presented a small unloaded pistol and ordered the chauffer to alight, which he did. The chauffer was not harmed nor was he threatened or robbed. The applicant and his companions, realizing the predicament in which they were placed by the action of the applicant, became panic stricken and, instead of returning to Philadelphia as had been intended, drove to Media then to Wilmington, Delaware, and on southward until finally at Dublin, Georgia, the car was placed in a garage, and the applicant wired to Philadelphia for funds. Five or six days later the applicant was arrested and returned to Philadelphia without extradition, and subsequently taken to West Chester for trial with the result already mentioned.

The applicant has served two years and ten months of his term of imprisonment. He was never before charged with or convicted of any crime. He has contracted tuberculosis as shows by the letter of Doctor Ungerleider, Resident Physician of the Eastern Penitentiary, which reads as follows:

"I have examined George Alden Bruce, our No. C 584, and find that he is suffering from chronic pulmonary tuberculosis, moderately advanced.

"This disease involves the entire upper lobe of his left lung and part of the upper lobe of his right lung. He is also suffering from chronic adhesive pleurisy which makes him rather uncomfortable."

Doctor Phillips recommends a pardon in the following letter:

"In my position as former Resident Physician of the Eastern State Penitentiary I was in constant contact with the said George Alden Bruce. He was a clerk in my office for several months and was later promoted to the position of Chief Clerk for the Medical Department. These positions demand absolute honesty and integrity. During the time Bruce was associated with me, I found him to be reliable in every way, strictly honest, unhesitatingly truthful, a willing worker and an intelligent assistant. This in the face of constant temptation.

"He is extremely well educated and a writer of merit. His spare hours were devoted to the writing of short stories and verse, some of which I have seen in print, and in the best magazines. While working under me he wrote a book length novel, which I understand is to be published in the near future.

"He served in the Army of the United States, and was honorably discharged on a Surgeon's Certificate of Disability, contracted in the line of duty. He was a patient at the United States General Hospital at Fort Bayard, New Mexico for many months. This is a tuberculosis hospital. I have learned that his condition has again become active.

"In the matter of his crime—I do not think it was a premeditated attempt at law-breaking, but rather a rash bit of foolishness on the young man's part, the consequences of which were never dreamed of by him. I am positively certain that, were he again at liberty, such an action would, in the future, be impossible for him.

"I think he should be allowed a chance. I, from a physician's standpoint do not hesitate in saying that his present incarceration places his health in grave peril. Were he released it would be necessary for him to spend the next three years, possibly five years, in the Southwest, in the endeavor of regaining his health. I think George Alden Bruce is a coming name in letters. I think that he has been sufficiently punished for his transgression, in view of his damaged health. I have faith in his future.

"I know that from the day of his admission to the Eastern State Penitentiary that he has served the State faithfully and well. First as a teacher in the Institution's school, and then as a member of the Medical Staff.

"Therefore I would respectfully recommend that Your Honorable Board, grant him a full pardon."

Robert J. McKenty, Sr., former Warden of the Eastern Penitentiary, also recommends a pardon for the applicant, in a letter placed on file. He states that he was a valuable inmate, was an instructor in the prison school and Clerk of the Medical Department, and assistant in the laboratory. The letter concludes as follows:

"He had been a model prisoner in every respect, always strictly obedient and cheerful, always respectful to all overseers placed over him during my administration. He is not physically strong and I do not consider him a criminal. I trust that the Honorable Board of Pardons will consider him worthy of pardon."

Doctor W. B. Greenway, Pastor of Bethany Temple Presbyterian Church, Doctor Floyd W. Tomkins, Pastor of the Church of the Holy Trinity, and other prominent citizens of Philadelphia also ask for clemency.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the comparative youth of the applicant when the crime was committed, his prior good record, his excellent prison record, the term of imprisonment already served, the grave physical condition of the applicant as shown by the letters of trained physicians who associated with him in the Penitentiary, and the recommendation of prominent citizens, men and women, who are personally interested in his behalf, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released will prove himself a useful, law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said George A. Bruce, alias Daniel F. Eyerly.

Sir: At No. 13 June Term, 1923, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Potter, Willard Smith pleaded nolo contendere to an indictment charging him with aggravated assault and battery, and on June 12, 1923, was sentenced to pay a fine of $500, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than one year and four months nor more than two years.

The applicant is thirty-one years of age, a native of this State, wherein he has resided during his entire life except from the years 1913 to 1922, when he resided in Tennessee. He is a graduate of Cumberland University, Lebanon, Tenessee, and is a member of the Bar in that State in good standing, and was also admitted to practice law in the United States Court. Since 1922, when he returned to Coudersport, Potter County, he has been engaged as an automobile salesman and as an employe of the McCabe Furniture Company. He has a wife and three children dependent on him for a livelihood.

The applicant spent Sunday, April 15, 1923, at the home of Clarence Piper in Coudersport. Quantities of liquor were drank by both men. Piper owned an automobile, and when applicant left for his home Piper insisted upon driving the car and taking the applicant to his home. While driving Piper became so intoxicated that he was unable to operate the car, and at his request the applicant took the driver's seat and continued to operate the car. About 7:30 in the evening two other young men were taken in as passengers, and the car was driven by the applicant down the main street of Coudersport and on to the Fort Allegheny road to a point about one mile distant from the place of starting. During the drive two automobiles were met and passed in a careful and prudent manner. The car also passed safely several small children playing in the highway. After passing the children an approaching car with blinding lights shut off the view of the road in the direction applicant was driving. Three persons appeared on the road ahead of the car operated by the applicant on the right side of the center of the road and about twenty-five feet distant. The applicant instantly applied the brakes, turned his car to the right and attempted to pass these persons by turning his car into the ditch at the side, and the three persons also attempted to avoid the car, and one of them, Mary Jaros, was struck by the car skidding and slightly injured. The applicant was pinned underneath the car which overturned and was so severely injured that he was removed to the hospital for treatment.

Mary Jaros was present in Court during the trial, but was not called as a witness nor was there any testimony to show the extent of her injuries. While it is true that the applicant operated the car while intoxicated, according to the testimony in the case he exercised all possible care and caution with regard to the safety of pedestrians and passing automobiles.

The applicant has now served four months of his term of imprisonment. He was never before charged or convicted of crime. His conduct in prison has been excellent.

Four hundred citizens of Potter County filed with the Board a petition asking for clemency. It is signed by County officials, professional men, business men and men and women generally.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case and the absence of carelessness and recklessness in the operation of the car by the applicant; becaue of the sentence disproportionate with the circumstances surrounding this case; in view of the prior good record of the applicant, his excellent record in prison and the petition of prominent citizens in his behalf, and because of the fact that his wife and small children require his assistance and support, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and that if released he will prove himself a useful, law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Willard Smith.

Sir: At No. 35 September Sessions, 1920, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Montgomery, James Ambrose was convicted of arson, and on September 14, 1920, was sentenced to pay a fine of $10.00, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a period of not less than four years nor more than five years.

The applicant is thirty-six years of age, an American citizen and at the time of his arrest he was employed as a laborer in the Freed Heater Works in Collegeville, Montgomery County, Pa., where he resided with his wife and two children.

The applicant resided in a small house in Collegeville owned by Horace L. Saylor. Upon his refusal to move, Saylor instituted proceedings to evict him. The Sheriff gave the applicant the requisite notice to remove within seventy-two hours. He moved out all of his furniture except a couch and a few other articles which he left in the kitchen. He set fire to these, but, subsequently, becoming conscience or panic stricken, took water and put out the fire before any material damage was done. On July 20, 1920, he made another fire in the house. The only evidence against him was his confession that he did this out of revenge for the eviction proceedings.

The applicant has now served three years and one month of his term of imprisonment. He was never before charged with or convicted of any crime.

Doctor Linn Bowman, Moral Instructor in the Eastern Penitentiary, has filed a letter with the Board in behalf of a pardon for the applicant. He states that Ambrose "is not a criminal but a poor ignorant man who went astray and who has paid an awful penalty. The District Attorney Mr. Renninger promised to recommend a pardon. My personal interest is in the fact that I have sent to this poor man's wife regular sums for her maintenance and that of her children. Please bear my personal interest to the Board with the single emphasis of my knowledge of his suffering family."

The Trial Assistant District Attorney filed with the Board a letter in which he states:

"This office has no suggestions to make in the matter and will be perfectly satisfied with the action taken by the Board in this application."

In view of all the circumstances of this case, the prior good record of the applicant, the term of imprisonment already served and the need which his family has of his help and assistance, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released he will prove himself a useful, law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said James Ambrose.

The applicant is twenty years of age, a native of the Bahama Islands, and a subject of Great Britain. He is unmarried. His occupation is that of coal miner. At the time of his arrest he was employed as a dauber of coke ovens by the Luzerne Coal Company in Fayette County, which at the time was his place of residence. He has no family connections or affiliations in the United States.

The applicant, a negro, shot and instantly killed Charles Brown, yard boss for the Luzerne plant of the Hillman Coal & Coke Company, a white man, while the latter was eating his breakfast at the Company boarding-house about 6:45 on the morning of January 20, 1923. The white men and the colored men ate in adjoining rooms. The applicant came into the white dining-room with drawn gun and, pointing it at Brown, said, with an oath, "Put up your hands. I have come to take that gun this morning." Immediately following the demand the applicant fired twice, killing Brown. He backed from the house, covering the inmates with his gun and was arrested on a west bound freight train the evening of the same day. The day previous to the killing Brown and the applicant engaged in an altercation, when Brown reprimanded him for inattention to his duties. In the heat of argument Brown pulled a revolver from his pocket which gun was found on him after the killing. After the altercation the applicant quit work and proceeded to the office of a Justice of the Peace at Brownsville, where he endeavored, unsuccessfully, to swear out a warrant for the arrest of Brown on a charge of surety of the peace. This was the evening before the murder.

The applicant claims that he had no knowledge of the presence of Brown in the building when he entered it on the morning of the shooting, and that he fired the shots when he saw Brown moving his hand toward the pocket in which he had carried a revolver on the previous day.

The Trial Judge recommended a commutation of the death penalty in the following letter filed with the Board:

"Thomas William Talbert Thompson was convicted of murder of the first degree, and tomorrow he appears by counsel before your board for a commutation of his sentence. There was sufficient evidence to sustain the conviction of first degree murder, and yet, notwithstanding that, I am of opinion that this defendant's application for a commutation of sentence should be granted. His youth, the circumstances under which the killing occurred, the previous conduct of the deceased, the natural fear of the defendant, who was far away from home, with no near friends, the repeated demands by the defendant for the gun which the deceased had before defendant fired the fatal shots, and the statement of the defendant to the court at the time of his sentence to death, all combine to impel this court to recommend to your board that the death sentence imposed on this defendant be commutated to life imprisonment."

Because of the youth of the applicant at the time the crime was committed, the circumstances surrounding the case, the natural fear of the applicant who was far from home and friends, and in the light of the occurrence of the previous day when the deceased menaced him with a revolver, in consideration of the fact that the applicant had never before been charged with or convicted of crime, and that the Trial Judge, who knew all the circumstances of the case, recommended a commutation, we have determined that his sentence of death should be commuted to life imprisonment.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that the sentence of death imposed upon the said Thomas William Talbert Thompson be commuted to life imprisonment.

Sir: At No. 37 April Sessions, 1922, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Allegheny, John P. Rush, alias, Ralph J. Lopez, was convicted of murder in the first degree, and on November 18, 1922, was sentenced to be electrocuted.

The applicant is thirty-five years of age, of American birth and citizenship. His occupation was that of railroad telegrapher, but at the time of his arrest he was not employed. The applicant's proper place of residence was at Keown Station, Ross Township, Allegheny County, Pa., where he lived with his wife and three children.

The evening of December 24, 1921, the applicant spent in Pittsburgh in the Italian quarter of the city and attended several Italian feats and celebrations, drinking a large quantity of Italian wines and whisky. He, with a companion known as "Shorty", who has never been apprehended, went to Dormont Borough late that night and at three thirty o'clock A. M. were seen prowling about the streets and were arrested as suspicious persons by the Borough police. They were put in the Borough patrol wagon and immediately thereafter the applicant is said to have shot Joseph A. Coghill, the driver of the patrol wagon, in the back of the head, killing him instantly, and also shot at the other policeman who had him in custody, inflicting a scalp wound. The following morning the applicant was arrested in Dormont Borough, questioned by the Burgess and police, and released after the truth of his story had been investigated. On January 23, 1922, almost one month after the crime, the applicant was arrested in Pittsburgh, helplessly intoxicated. He was taken to Police Headquarters, and after two days of questioning a confession was obtained from him, which the applicant states was procured without violence, but that his weakened condition, lack of food and suicidal tendency (indicated by five previous attempts at suicide) induced him to tell what was untrue as a means to accomplish his self destruction. This confession was the principal evidence against him and on it mainly he was convicted.

The application for commutation of the death penalty is mainly based on the mental condition of the applicant who suffered a serious injury to his head by being crushed between two cars while working for the railroad eight years prior to his crime. Since then he has mainfested a suicidal inclination, as shown by an attempt at suicide by poison five years before the crime was committed, another attempt at suicide by shooting three years before the crime was committed, and three attempts at suicide just previous to his confession.

The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of crime and bears the reputation of good conduct, quiet demeanor and affectionate disposition.

The applicant during the trial showed no interest or concern in the proceedings and was unable to testify as to his whereabouts after midnight of December 24, 1921, his mind being inflamed by drink and his memory a blank. All the testimony in the case shows that he was grossly intoxicated the night of the crime. Seven witnesses for the defense testified that they had met and talked with the applicant in the East end of Pittsburgh, ten miles from the scene of the crime, just prior to and at the very moment the crime was committed and some time thereafter.

The Trial District Attorney filed with the Board a letter in which he reviewed the trial of the applicant. Among other things he said:

"At the trial of the case he repudiated this confession but admitted that he had made it voluntarily, without any coercion or promise from the officers, and that his sole desire was to be sent to the electric chair so that his troubles might be thus ended, he having attempted to commit suicide three different times after his arrest. * * * During the whole course of the trial I was impressed by the peculiar stare on the part of this defendant. However, when he went on the witness stand he belied his appearance and seemed to be exceptionally bright. It is therefore a matter upon which I would not wish to pass judgment but will leave that to the discretion of your honorable Board. Upon consideration of all the circumstances, including the report of the physicians."

Doctor William C. Sandy, Director Bureau of Mental Health, Department of Public Welfare, at the request of the Board, made an examination of the mental condition of the applicant and has filed with the Board a report embodying the result of said examination. Doctor Sandy's conclusions are as follows:

"It is the opinion of the examiner that the prisoner, John Peter Rush, alias Ralph Lopez has an abnormal personality. He has been unstable and erratic, subject to moddy spells, at times depressed, inclined to stay by himself and not to talk, at other times he has been disturbed. He has had suicidal impulses, morbid fears, nervous tension and anxiety. None of these spells or abnormal manifestations however, have been so severe or of long enough duration as to bring about commitment and treatment in a hospital for mental patients, and he probably would not be considered "insane" in a legal sense in that he has probably always understood the difference between right and wrong.

"Such an unstable individual, however, might under similar circumstances, be impelled to make a confession of having performed an act of which he was really innocent. If as it is alleged, there exists alibis which (without the confession) would have cleared this prisoner of the crime of which he is accused, then it is the opinion of the examiner there is a reasonable doubt and sufficient grounds for commutation to life imprisonment.

"If his sentence is commuted to life imprisonment, it is probable that there will be in time further manifestations of an abnormal personality, e. g. suicidal attempts, episodes of depression and agitation, which may later on necessitate his transfer and treatment to a hospital for mental patients. In any event if his sentence is commuted, he should be kept for the future in an institution, e. g. either penitentiary or a hospital for mental patients."

Because of the circumstances surrounding this case, the doubt as to the identity of the man who murdered Coghill, the mental peculiarity of the applicant, and above all the elaborate report of Doctor Sandy, who examined him at the request of the Board, we have concluded that the sentence of death imposed in this case should be commuted to life imprisonment.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions", recommend that the sentence of death imposed upon the said John P. Rush, alias Ralph J. Lopez, be commuted to life imprisonment.

Sir: At Nos. 510, 512 and 515 October Sessions, 1915, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for Lackawanna County, Adolf Blau was indicted for embezzlement and fraudulently receiving moneys from depositors as a banker, knowing that he was insolvent, and having been found guilty, after trial, in the one case, he pleaded guilty in the other two cases. On February 7, 1916, he was sentenced to pay fines aggregating $1.182, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a period of not less than six years nor more than nine years.

The applicant, before sentence, had been committed to the County Jail in default of bail for more than seven months, and in February, 1922, when he was released on parole, he had served six years of his term of imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary. He is now on parole.

The applicant is fifty-four years of age. He is of German parentage and Jewish religion, and for many years prior to his conviction was a resident of the City of Scranton and engaged in business therein. He resided with a sister, having no family of his own.

Prior to his conviction he conducted a State or private bank in Scranton, had a steamship agency, was engaged in buying, leasing and selling real estate, and published a foreign language newspaper. Prior to his failure he had on deposit in his bank more than $370,000, and had assets approximating $700,000. His failure was due to real estate investments in Scranton, the value of which was affected by mine caves, his possession of assets not readily liquidated, and also to the depreciation caused by the World War. He was doing a flourishing business when the crash came and after his failure turned over to his trustee his life insurance, for the benefit of his creditors. In January, 1923, he obtained his discharge in bankruptcy from the United States Court and has a favorable opportunity to form a business connection abroad if relieved from the exactions imposed by his parole.

The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of crime. Since his release on parole he has resumed to a certain extent his former business activities and desires to rehabilitate himself completely in the eyes of the world.

There is no recorded opposition to the present appeal for clemency. The Trial Judge has been noncommital, but the Trial District Attorney, who is now on the Bench, filed with the Board the following letter:

"Adolph Blau has applied for a rehearing. As district attorney I prepared and prosecuted the cases against Blau. I am now asked to endorse his application for a rehearing and for ultimate pardon. This I cannot do if it involves the implication that I regard his conviction as unjust or his sentence undeserved. While Blau was serving his sentence, I consistently opposed his several applications for pardon. He was released from the penitentiary on parole after completing the minimum of his sentence. He is at present at liberty except for the restrictions placed upon him by his parole. It is asserted that if these restrictions were removed by the Board of Pardons, Blau could make better progress toward rehabilitating himself in the business world. Inasmuch as he has served his term of imprisonment and has therefore, as far as possible paid his debt to society, I am sure no one would begrudge Blau an opportunity to pursue successfully an honorable vocation.

"If a pardon now would help to restore Blau to usefulness, I would not object to it, and I know of no one else who would, provided a pardon would not be predicated upon the assumption that his conviction and sentence were unmerited, and provided it would convey no such implication."

Said letter is dated September 18, 1923.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the prior good record of the applicant, because of the fact that the applicant is now on parole and during the twenty months since his release he has to some extent regained his position in the business world and has been discharged by the Court from the consequences of his bankruptcy; because of the fact that he has an opportunity to form a business connection abroad if relieved from the exactions of parole, and on account of his age can not decline any opportunity for rehabilitation and advancement, in consideration of the statement filed with the Board by the Trial District Attorney, we have concluded that the applicant has been adequately punished and should be given the opportunity for rehabilitation offered him in the business world.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Adolf Blau.

Sir: At No. 55 April Term, 1922, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Lackawanna, Joseph Malzusky was convicted of larceny and receiving stolen goods, and on May 24, 1922, was sentenced to pay a fine of $1,000, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a period of not less than two years and ten months nor more than three years.

The applicant at the time of his sentence was about forty years old and resided in the City of Scranton. He was a mine laborer by occupation. He has a wife and five children.

The applicant, Thomas Durken and John Lewis were arrested and tried for stealing goods belonging to the Lackawanna Railroad Company. Durken and Lewis pleaded guilty to the charges and were sentenced to serve eighteen months in the County Jail, respectively. Durken was released on parole after serving three and one-half months, and Lewis was released on parole after serving about five months. The stolen goods were returned to the Railroad Company.

The applicant has now served seventeen months of his term of imprisonment. He was never before charged with or convicted of any crime. He has a wife and five children who are dependent upon him for support. No one appeared in opposition to his application for pardon, and no rotests were filed.

Because of applicant's previous good record and the term of imprisonment already served, and because of the fact that his accomplices were released on parole after serving less than six months in the County Jail, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and that if now released will prove himself a useful, law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Joseph Malzusky.

Sir: At No. 3 May Term, 1916, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Washington, Edward Locker, alias Edward Lockhart, was convicted of voluntary manslaughter, and on May 29, 1916, was sentenced to pay a fine of $1.00, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a maximum period of twelve years and a minimum period of eight years.

The applicant is thirty-two years old and by nationality an American negro. He is married. At the time of his arrest he was employed as a mechanic with the steel mills of Donora, Pennsylvania, and resided in Westmoreland County, Pennsylvania, just across the River from Donora.

In the Spring of 1915 George Coates, in the absence of the applicant, went to his home and attempted to commit an assault upon applicants wife, who, upon the return of her husband, informed him of the action of Coates. The latter also circulated stories derogatory to the character of the applicant's wife and, learning that he was about to be arrested, left Donora and did not return there until November 20, 1915. On that day the applicant was in a pool-room in Donora and seeing Coates and Percy Law, the man who had informed him that Coates was slandering his wife, and desiring to learn the truth accosted them and asked them to come out on the porch with him as he desired to talk with them, and the three of them then went out on the porch where the applicant asked Coates concerning the stories he had been circulating. Coates became very angry, and calling both the applicant and his wife vile names, made a motion as if to draw a weapon. The applicant, believing that he was in great danger of death or bodily injury at the hands of Coates, drew his revolver and fired two shots, both of which took effect and caused the death of Coates.

The applicant served six months in jail awaiting trial, and has served seven years and five months of his term of imprisonment, and has practically served the minimum sentence imposed by Court. He was never before charged with or convicted of any crime. His conduct in prison has been excellent, as shown by the letter of the Warden filed with the Board. His physical condition is bad, as shown by the certificate of the resident physicians of the Penitentiary.

The Trial District Attorney has filed a letter with the Board in which he recommends a pardon. The concluding paragraph of this letter is as follows:

"I think his application has considerable merit in it and I believe that the Board could with perfect propriety pardon him at this time. He was not a well man at the time he was sent to the penitentiary, my idea being that he had tuberculosis, and I think perhaps he is afflicted with this disease at the present time, and the Board certainly could make no mistake in releasing him."

The applicant has filed with the Board a letter addressed to him by the Trial Judge, which reads as follows:

"Your letter received. If you are the same person that was tried before me in May, 1916, for murder under the name of Edward Lockhart and convicted of voluntary manslaughter, and Warden Egan and Chaplain Miller will vouch for your exemplary conduct during the seven and more years you have been under their care, I think you ought to be discharged. You were in our jail awaiting trial about six months and you have been under sentence about seven years and two months and this makes substantially eight years, the time your minimum period of confinement. Your good conduct and promise to live the life of a law abiding citizen after you get out ought to count in your favor. I have no objection to your being pardoned if Warden Egan and Chaplain Miller are willing for it. You can use this letter for what it is worth. If you get out I hope you will be given strength to live an honest and upright life."

Warden Egan has certified to his good conduct in prison. A number of letters from Representative Sprowls and other prominent citizens advocating clemency have been filed with the Board, as well as a petition of thirty leading citizens.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the prior good record of the applicant, his impaired health, and the recommendations of the Trial District Attorney, Trial Judge and prominent citizens; because of the term of imprisonment already served and his excellent prison record, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and that if now released he will prove himself a useful, law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At No. 44 April Term, 1921, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Venango, Steve Horn waived the finding of an indictment by the Grand Jury and pleaded nolo contendere to four different counts of receiving stolen goods, and on April 28, 1921, was sentenced to pay a fine of $1.00, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than five years nor more than five years and nine months.

The applicant is thirty-two years, a native and citizen of Venango County, Pennsylvania, is a common laborer by occupation, and at the time of his arrest was employed on an oil lease in said County. He is married and has a wife and two children, aged eight and six years respectively. The applicant had been employed by the Pan-American Refining Company at Rouseville, Pa., for about ten years prior to the commission of the offenses of which he was convicted and was a sober, industrious and faithful employe. Several months prior to his arrest he fell under the evil influence of one Don Mook, who was a much older man and more experienced in the ways of the world and under the evil influence of Mook, who pleaded guilty to the charges of burglary, larceny and receiving stolen goods at the same session of Court wherein the applicant was tried, the applicant received certain goods that had been stolen, none of which he disposed of, and all or almost all of which were returned to the owners.

The applicant has now served two years and six months of his term of imprisonment. He was never before charged with or convicted of any crime. His prison record is excellent, as shown by a letter of the Warden of the Western Penitentiary. He has an affection of the heart which has caused poor health. This latter fact is shown by the certificate of the physician in said institution.

The County Detective was the prosecutor in this case and filed with the Board a letter in which he states that the applicant is not vicious and that his trouble came upon him through evil association. He concludes:

"I believe the interest of justice can as well be served by giving him a chance to return to his family and be a good citizen as imposing further imprisonment."

Congressman Hulings has filed a letter with the Board in which he states:

"After a careful investigation I am fully convinced that the man in question became involved through association with bad companions, as his record is absolutely clear previous to the time of the offense for which he has been imprisoned for the past two or three years. I believe the young man has more than atoned for his wrong doing and I would gladly endorse his being sent home to his family under whose care I am sure he can be brought back to his former health and position."

This letter was addressed to the Attorney for the applicant, but is filed with the Board as part of the record in the case.

Edmond C. Breene, who was the Attorney for the applicant at the time of his trial, but no longer represents him, also filed a letter with the Board in which he reviewed the entire case. He states, among other things, that the applicant was a sober, industrious, reputable man over whom Mook had acquired an evil influence in order to use him as a receptacle for stolen property. He adds:

"I think that Mr. Horn has been amply punished. Mr. Horn has already served twenty months in the Penitentiary and I think that this is more than sufficient punishment for his participation in these crimes, in view of the facts surrounding the same and his reputation and standing in the community."

The Trial Judge has filed with the Board the following letter:

"Steve Horn pled guilty to several charges of the larceny of sundry automobile supplies and was sentenced by me. There were several others mixed up in the matter and I got the impression that Horn's association with the others was responsible for his becoming involved. Prior to that time I did not know him personally but I then learned that he had been quite favorably regarded by the people in the community in which he resided and that they were much surprised on learning of his complicity in the matter. He has a family which is much in need of his help.

"In imposing sentence I made some discrimination in his favor, and will not regard unfavorably any further clemency which your Board may deem it proper to extend to him."

The Trial District Attorney also filed with the Board the following letter:

"In re application of Steve Horn.

"I have been served with notice of the above application and am writing this letter in an endeavor to be of assistance to the Board hearing it.

"Steve Horn was a pupil in a school taught by me about twenty-four years ago. He was an inoffensive boy and of the best intentions but due to a seeming mental weakness was very easily lead. I feel certain that his present difficulty is due to this weakness. I do not believe that Steve Horn could plan and execute a criminal act not because of lack of mentality but he has no disposition for such conduct and I feel certain that his present situation is due to an older and directing head.

"Steve has a wife and two children who need his care and attention. For a number of years he was employed by the Penn-American Refining Company and had bought a home for them which was partly paid for at the time of his incarceration.

"Steve Horn entered a plea to charges of receiving stolen goods while the other defendants entered pleas to burglary larceny and receiving stolen goods. On this plea Steve Horn was given a minimum sentence of five years and of this sentence he has served about two and one half years.

"Knowing Steve Horn in the manner indicated I believe that he has now served sufficient of his term of sentence to have the necessary reformatory effect and the ends of justice have been met by the punishment he has thus far suffered. If I sense the feeling of the community I believe there is the same feeling among those persons who know him, I am confident that the public will be in no danger of further violations of law by Steve Horn and that he has learned a valuable lesson. For these considerations I feel that the Board of Pardons would be justified in granting a pardon to Steve Horn."

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the prior good record of the applicant, his excellent prison record, his impaired health, the need which his family has of his support and assistance, the term of imprisonment already served, and the recommendations of the prosecutor, the Trial District Attorney and the Trial Judge we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and that if now released he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions," recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Steve Horn.

Sir: At No. 629 March Sessions, 1919, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Philadelphia, John Clancey was convicted of robbery, and on March 26, 1919, he was sentenced to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a term of not less than seven years nor more than ten years, and to pay the costs of prosecution.

The applicant is an American by birth, forty-two years of age, unmarried, a laborer by occupation and resided in the City of Philadelphia for some time prior to his arrest.

The applicant was charged with robbing Peter Lukoff, a Pole, in the toilet of a saloon where both men had been drinking. The amount taken was $35.00. The charge was made by Lukoff in the saloon, and the applicant was attacked by the prosecutor and some of his friends. He fled from the saloon and was arrested by an officer on the street, and when searched had only some small change in his pocket, although the prosecutor claimed that he had been robbed of $35.00. Both men were locked up for the night. The applicant was given a hearing on the following morning and held without bail for Court, and ten days later was brought into Court, and being without counsel, notwithstanding his protestation of innocence, he was convicted and sentenced as above stated. On the trial no witnesses were called from the saloon to corroborate Lukoff's story.

The applicant has served four years and seven months of his term of imprisonment. He was never before charged with or convicted of crime.

A number of letters were filed with the Board bearing on the honesty of the applicant.

The District Attorney's office of Philadelphia was represented on the hearing of this application, and while there was no recommendation for clemency, no opposition was expressed thereto.

Under all the circumstances of this case, in consideration of the prior good record of the applicant, the term of imprisonment already served, the doubt as to the applicant's guilt of the crime charged, and the severe sentence imposed, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and that if now released he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said John Clancey.

Sir: At No. 71 September Sessions, 1918, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Washington, Emmett Chisholm pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with murder, and the Court, after hearing testimony, directed a verdict of murder in the second degree to be entered against him, and on March 17, 1919, he was sentenced to pay a fine of 6¼¢, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than eight years nor more than ten years.

The applicant is twenty-seven years of age, an American negro by birth, and unmarried. At the time of his arrest he was employed as a miner in the Black Diamond Mine of the Pittsburgh Coal Company in Monongahela City, and at that time resided near that City.

On July 5, 1918, applicant went to see Mr. Cunnihan, Superintendent of the Pittsburgh Coal Company's mine in Gallatin, to obtain an order for his pay and to arrange about his Liberty Bonds. The order was refused and Cunnihan went away about his business and shortly returned accompanied by two men, one of whom was John Roush, a mine foreman, aged about thirty-seven years, six feet tall, and muscular. The applicant asked Cunnihan if he could get the money that had been taken out of his pay for Liberty Bonds. Cunnihan tried to dissuade the applicant from drawing this money and passed on, the applicant persistently followed him and his two companions. Roush had taken no part in the conversation, but at this point he turned on the applicant, saying "You are not a d—— bad nigger are you?" struck him in the face, and knocked him down. Roush was following the applicant and crouched forward to strike again when the applicant fired while in a falling position, and shot Roush through the heart. The applicant is a small man and at the time when the crime was committed was only twenty-two years of age, while Roush, the aggressor, was a large man, a much older man, muscular, and six feet tall.

The applicant has now served four years and seven months of his term of imprisonment. He was never before charged with or convicted of any crime. The prison authorities certify that his conduct in prison has been good.

Under all the circumstances of this case it would appear that the applicant was guilty of no more than voluntary manslaughter.

The Trial Judge has filed with the Board the following letter:

"I have received the required notice of the application of Emmett Chisholm for pardon before your Board on the 17th instant and recommend the same. At the time of imposing sentence I intimated to his attorney, Mr. Hazzard, that if he made a good record as a prisoner I would join in a recommendation for his pardon after a reasonable time."

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, which justified the applicant in believing that he was in imminent danger of his life, because of the prior good record of the applicant, his good record in prison and particularly because of the recommendation of the Trial Judge, having in mind also the youth of the applicant when the crime was committed, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and that if now released he will become a useful, law-abiding citizen.

Harrisburg, Pa., October 17, 1923.

Sir: At No. 90 May Sessions, 1919, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Allegheny, James Scally was convicted of voluntary manslaughter and on November 22, 1919, was sentenced to pay a fine of 6¼¢, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than seven years nor more than nine years.

The applicant is forty-one years of age and is a native born citizen of the United States. For many years prior to his arrest he was employed as a brakeman and conductor by the Carnegie Steel Company on the Union Railroad and at their plant known as the Edgar Thompson Plant. At the time of his arrest he resided at Fort Perry near the last mentioned plant. Applicant's family consists of three children, aged twenty-one, nineteen and seventeen respectively.

The applicant was married in 1902, and it was not until 1917 that he noticed a change in the demeanor of his wife towards him. On November 19, 1917, returning to his home at 6:20 in the morning, he knocked on the door to awaken his wife. Shortly thereafter she came to the door to let him in, and at the same time James Lee, whom he had always regarded as a friend, jumped off the front porch in a partly dressed condition, and as he did so one of his shoes came off. His wife begged him not to go after Lee for the children's sake. He told her to leave, but she begged permission to stay, and for the sake of his children he permitted her to do so. A week later, when he returned home, he gave his wife his pay check, after which she called the children, met Lee near the house, and they all went to McKeesport to the home of her brother, Joseph Gobble. The applicant was left alone and continued at his work, while his wife and children remained at Gobble's. This continued about a month. He asked his wife to allow him to have the children, but she refused. He asked her to stay away from Lee and she refused. He went to Lee and told him that if he went with his wife while the children were with her he, the applicant, would not be responsible for what would happen. Lee laughed at him. The applicant secured the promise of a good job at Donora. On December 24, 1919, he went to the Gobble house to see his wife in order to persuade her and the children to accompany him to Donora. His wife invited him into the house. Mrs. Gobble, his wife and daughter, Anna, were in the room where he met his wife. He asked her, his wife, and children to go with him to Donora. When he said this Mrs. Gobble laughed aloud. He turned to look at her, and, following the direction in which she was looking, saw Lee through the partly opened door standing on the stairway and aiming a revolver at the applicant, who jumped, but not before Lee had fired and shot him through the body. Lee fired a second shot and the ball passed through applicant's left arm. The applicant then began firing at Lee and fired three shots in quick succession. After Lee had shot the applicant twice, the wife of the applicant came between Lee and him and in doing so she received the fusillade of bullets and was struck four times, from the effects of which she died several weeks later.

The applicant has now served three years and eleven months of his term of imprisonment. He was never before charged with or convicted of crime. His prison record is good.

The applicant was convicted on the testimony of Mrs. Gobble, the sister-in-law of his wife, who harbored the latter and her children and permitted Lee, the destroyer of applicant's home, to visit her, under the same roof which sheltered her two young daughters, and also on the testimony of his daughter Anna, whose mind had been poisoned against him by her mother, and finally on the testimony of Lee, himself the father of three children, who had destroyed applicant's home.

The Chief of Police of McKeesport wrote a letter to the applicant, which was filed with the Board, and in which he states, among other things, "I am heartily in favor of your being pardoned. I hope the Pardon Board will see its way clear and thus enable you to again be a free man and a good citizen. I certainly do feel that they will be doing an act of justice, not only for yourself; but for your family and other relatives.

"Anything further that I can do toward helping you now, in your earnest wish and appeal, I shall gladly try and do so."

In consideration of all the circumstances surrounding this case, the prior good record of the applicant, the term of imprisonment already served, and his good prison record, because of the letter of the Chief of Police of McKeesport, written by a man who is in position to know all the facts of this case, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and that if now released he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said James Scally.

Sir: At No. 52, March Sessions, 1918, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Indiana, Peter Curato was convicted of robbery, and on June 24, 1918, was sentenced to pay a fine of $500.00, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than nine years nor more than ten years.

The applicant is twenty-nine years of age and a subject of the Kingdom of Italy. He is unmarried. His aged father and mother, residing in Italy, are dependent upon him for support. He had resided at Johnstown for about twelve years.

The applicant was jointly indicted with Tony Curato, (his brother), James Pizzerella, and John Pagnatto, and convicted of robbing three men, to wit, Ayonb, Calary and Cafasso, of sums aggregating $1019, under the following alleged circumstances:

The applicant, together with Tony Curato (his brother), Calary and Cafasso, two of the men who were robbed, and another gambler by the name of Curry, went to Homer City, Indiana County, to engage in gambling. They were unable to find a suitable place and desirable companions, and on the following day, to wit, April 28, 1918, between the hours of 9:15 and 10:45 P. M., were proceeding along the street to the hotel, in order to spend the night, when suddenly, in a dark place, Ayonb, Calary and Cafasso were held up by three men with revolvers and robbed. Curry made his escape before the robbery. The robbers escaped in an automobile. Tony Curato, Pizzerella and Pagnatto, on the trial, were positively identified as the men who actually committed the robbery. The applicant was admittedly not present when the crime was committed. Prior to the robbery, he left the party, between the hours of 9 and 9:30, and went to Pizzerella's home and went to bed and remained there the remainder of the night. His statement is corroborated by the wife of Pizzerella and four other disinterested witnesses.

The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of crime. He has now served five years and four months of his term of imprisonment, which is more than one-half of the minimum period.

While it was contended on the part of the Commonwealth that the applicant, while not an actual participant in the robbery, had lured the gamblers in the vicinity of the gun men in order to be robbed by them, there was no evidence of any conspiracy or understanding between the applicant and the robbers to rob the gamblers. The applicant was arrested at the home of Pizzerella within two or three hours after the robbery and flight of the criminals, and the testimony showed that when the crime was committed the applicant was some distance from the scene of the robbery.

The Trial Judge has filed with the Board the following letter:

"In the case of the application for the pardon of Peter Curato, convicted of the crime of robbery at No. 1, June Term, 1918, in the Court of Oyer & Terminer of Indiana County, I wish to say that it would seem that this defendant has served a substantial sentence, he not being an actual participant in the robbery so far as being personally present at the time the crime was committed, and is therefore a proper subject for lenient consideration.

"I am writing this letter to put myself on record as not opposing this pardon, and in the sincere belief that the case is worthy of your careful consideration."

The present District Attorney, who was not in office when the case was tried, writes the Board as follows:

"Re: Pete Curato.

"In regard to above applicant I am informed that Judge Langham wrote your Board a letter which formed the basis of a rehearing in his case. I was not District Attorney at the time the case was tried, but have learned some of the facts by inquiry; I shall be quite satisfied with the decision of the Board, as informed by Judge J. N. Langham."

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the doubt of the guilt of the applicant, his prior good record, the term of imprisonment already served, because of the fact that one of the actual participants in the robbery has already been pardoned by your Board, because of the need which his aged parents have for his support and maintenance, and in consideration of the recommendation of the Trial Judge, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and that if now released he will prove himself a useful, law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Peter Curato.

Sir: At No. 23, January Sessions, 1923, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Dauphin, Elmer Rodkey pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with highway robbery, and on March 28, 1923, he was sentenced to undergo imprisonment in the Huntingdon Reformatory.

The applicant is twenty years of age, and was born and raised in Dauphin County. He is unmarried and resides with his parents in the Borough of Penbrook, where, at the time of his arrest, he was employed in Hoak's dairy.

The applicant, together with Russell Hawkins, and one Reichert, and one Reed, went out into the country to visit the home of a foreigner who was supposed to be in the bootlegging business. They found the foreigner away from home. While they were proceeding from the house and were close to the public road, the foreigner returned. They held him up and took his money from him. The amount was not large, but was divided equally among the four boys. Reichert was much older than his companions, and was supposed to be the master mind. He was sentenced to the Eastern Penitentiary, while Hawkins and the applicant were sentenced to the Huntingdon Reformatory. After the applicant had been there a short time the Trial Judge made an order for his discharge on parole. He was thereupon committed to the care of the local Probation Officer, who had him in charge until the question of the legality of the parole was agitated by the managers of the Reformatory, when he was recommitted to the institution. While on parole he was given employment by his former employer, earning approximately $25.00 per week. Before his original arrest he was a quiet, peaceable, law-abiding youth, saved his earnings and carried a bank account.

The applicant has served eight months imprisonment, less the period during which he was out on parole, and of which the papers disclose no exact record.

In consideration of all the circumstances surrounding this case, the youth of the applicant, his prior good record, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and if now released he will become an industrious, peaceable and law-abiding citizen.

We have been aided in arriving at this conclusion by the report of the Probation Officer, concerning applicant's conduct while on parole, and by the recommendation of the Trial Judge, which were filed with the Board.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Elmer Rodkey.

Sir: At No. — April Sessions, 1920, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Chester, Irwin Gardner, Jack Burka and Theodore Sassi were severally convicted of assault and battery with intent to rob, and on October 7, 1920, they were each sentenced to pay a fine of $500.00, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a period of not less than six years nor more than ten years.

Gardner and Burka, two of the applicants, are each twenty years old, while Sassi, the third applicant, is nineteen years of age. All are native-born and before the commission of this crime resided with their parents in New York City. In April 1920, they decided to run away from home and go to Arizona. Their combined capital was $17.00. Without notifying their relatives they left New York and started for the West. They went as far as Philadelphia by rail. On April 16 they left Philadelphia, traveling by the Lincoln Highway afoot, and when near Coatesville they encountered H. B. Herr of Lancaster, who was driving an automobile. They had previously determined among themselves that they would accost the first man who approached in an automobile, beg a ride, and when opportunity was afforded would overpower him, if possible, throw him out of the car and proceed on their westward journey until the gas was consumed, when they would abandon the car and proceed on foot. When Herr appeared they proceeded to carry out their plan, and shortly after they entered the car, one of the applicants struck him over the head with a stone and the car being without control ran into a stone wall and was considerably damaged. They became frightened, abandoned the car and tramped westward. While Herr was seriously injured he was able to furnish a description of his assailants. When they applied for night's lodging at Police Headquarters, in Parksburg, they were arrested and finally confessed their guilt.

When this crime was committed two of the applicants were seventeen years of age and the third one was but sixteen years of age. They had never before been in the toils of the law. The sum of $2,000 was raised by their friends and relatives and paid to Mr. Herr, as a recompense for the injuries which he received. They have each served three years and one month of their term of imprisonment. Their prison records are excellent.

The Trial District Attorney filed a letter with the Board in which inter alia he states:

"Considering all the circumstances I have no objection to the granting of pardons to these young men at this time. From what I understand of the mental attitude of the applicants I believe that the ends of justice have been served and that those ends will not be defeated by pardoning the said applicants, if the Board of Pardons sees fit to do so. I am moved in this respect by the fact that the young men have served over three years in the Penitentiary, a very substantial sentence; that they have made a very fair restitution to their victim, in the amount of Two Thousand Dollars ($2,000.00); that they are young men and appear to realize the serious nature of their offense and have repented therefor, and to have decided to become useful and law abiding citizens when liberated."

The attorney for the prosecutor in this case filed with the Board a letter, in which he said:

"I represented Horace B. Herr and likewise the Lanacster Automobile Club of Lancaster, Pa.

"When the former applications were made, on behalf of Mr. Herr and the Automobile Club I filed a protest and appeared against the granting of the applications.

"I now desire to withdraw my opposition on behalf of both my clients to the applications for pardons for these three young men, and join on behalf of my two clients in the pardons.

"My reasons for so doing are these:—These young men are mere boys, have served more than three years, and have voluntarily made financial restitution about a year ago, in so far as it was possible for them to do, for the injuries inflicted upon the person of Mr. Herr, and upon his property."

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the youth of the applicants, their prior good records, their affort to make restitution to the man who was injured, in consideration of the fact that they have each served one-half of their minimum term of imprisonment, and because of the recommendations of the Trial District Attorney and the prosecutor in the case, we have determined that they have been sufficiently punished and that if now released they will become useful and law abiding citizens.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Irwin Gardner, Jack Burka and Theodore Sassi.

Sir: At No. 12, March Sessions, 1905, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Delaware, William Jones was convicted of murder in the first degree, and on July 17, 1905, was sentenced to be hanged. The death penalty was subsequently commuted to life imprisonment.

The applicant is now fifty-four years of age, a citizen of the United States, colored, unmarried. At the time of his arrest he resided in the City of Chester where he was employed as a laborer.

On December 10, 1904, the applicant shot and killed Robert Anderson, a negro who was noted for his quarrelsome disposition. The applicant and Anderson had wards during the afternoon of the day of the shooting, and Anderson had made threats against the applicant, who subsequently purchased a revolver, and when Anderson entered the house between six and seven o'clock in the evening of the same day he was shot by the applicant, and when the deceased was searched after the shooting he was found to have been armed with a razor.

The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of crime, while the deceased bore a bad reputation and had made threats against the applicant several hours before he was killed, and when killed was found to be armed with a razor. It further appeared by affidavits filed with the Board that the applicant killed Anderson in self defense.

The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of any crime. He has an excellent prison record. He has saved $1,500 while in prison. He has served approximately twenty years in prison, the maximum for second degree murder.

The Trial District Attorney has filed with the Board a letter, in which he states inter alia:

"Jones during my term as District Attorney of Delaware County, Pennsylvania, was convicted of first degree murder.

"On April 13, 1920, when the Petition of this man was before your Board before, I wrote to you that under the circumstances, I felt that twelve years of confinement, which this man had undergone would vindicate the Law and satisfy the ends of justice.

"I am still of that opinion today, but feel even more strongly than I did then that this man has suffered sufficient punishment for his crime and in my opinion further punishment of him would serve no good to him personally nor any deterrent effect upon the Community, because Jones has ceased to be an individual in this Community and therefore any effect of his continued punishment is lost.

"Trusting that you will therefore see your way clear to do the justice that I feel this man's case merits, I hope you will grant him a pardon."

In the consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the record of the applicant before the crime was committed and since his imprisonment, the term of imprisonment already served, and the recommendation of the Trial District Attorney, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and that if now released he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing upon due public notice and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said William Jones.

Sir: At No. 4, April Sessions, 1922, in the Court of Over and Terminer in and for the County of Elk, Jacob Huber pleaded guilty to murder in the second degree, and on April 12, 1922, was sentenced to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than seven nor more than eight years.

The applicant is thirty-one years of age, an American citizen, unmarried, and at the time of his arrest he was employed as a glass worker with the Heisey Glass Company, at Newark, Ohio.

The applicant and his brother, John Huber, were bachelors and lived together. On November 14, 1921, in the evening, while they were eating supper, John Huber, who was in a bad humor, began scolding the applicant about a bale of cotton batting which the latter had bought for his automobile. The applicant tried to pacify his brother who became more and more violent, threatening bodily violence and calling the applicant vile names. The applicant retreated upstairs followed by his brother who threatened to kill him and throw him down the stairs. John Huber was taller than the applicant and weighed seventy pounds more. The applicant finding that he was cornered and could not escape from his brother, who continued his threats to kill him, noticed a revolver hanging in a holster on the wall. He seized the revolver and shot his brother John, after which he put him into bed and went for a physician, who came and removed John Huber to the home of a sister nearby where he died three days later.

The applicant has been confined in prison two years. He bears an honorable discharge as an Overseas Veteran. He was never before charged with or convicted of crime. His record in prison has been excellent.

The applicant is afflicted with an incurable disease of the heart, as shown by the medical testimony attached to his application for clemency.

The Trial District Attorney has filed with the Board the following letter:

"I join with the Petitioner in his application for the pardon at your hands. The Brother killed by this Petitioner was an unusual vicious character, and caused the Officials of Elk County considerable trouble. I am familiar with the physical condition of this Applicant for some time back, and believe that he has already been sufficiently punished for the crime committed, and under the circumstances in which it was committed."

The Trial Judge has filed with the Board a letter in which he reviews the reasons on which the application for pardon are based. He states inter alia:

"The sixth reason relates to his health, which I have no doubt is bad. His appearance at the time of his sentence indicated that he was then decidedly weak physically, and if his present condition is found to be as represented, I would recommend that his application be granted upon humane grounds. It is true, as stated in the seventh reason that he has been confined in prison for about two years, and, considering the state of his health, it is no doubt also true that he has also suffered a great deal, as stated in the eighth reason."

A member of the Commission investigating disabled World War Veterans representing the American Legion, residing in Pittsburgh, has filed with the Board a letter in which he states inter alia:

"Since the date of discharge of this man he has been a beneficiary of the U. S. Veterans' Bureau, and my investigation discloses the fact that he will be rated in the near future as a permanent and total disabled man and receive full compensation from the Government for the same. There is no question but that this man has but a year to live either in or out of the Penitentiary and I am sure it is the humane thing to do to release him at this time."

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, which show that the murder was committed purely in self defense, in consideration of the prior good record of the applicant and his excellent record in prison, because of the term of imprisonment already, served, the serious physical condition of the applicant, as shown by medical testimony, and in consideration of the recommendation of the Trial District Attorney and the recommendation of the Trial Judge that he be released if his physical condition is as represented by medical authority, we have concluded that the applicant has been sufficiently punished and that if now released he will become a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Jacob Huber.

Sir: At Nos. 1 and 2, August Sessions, 1916, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Chester, Clarence Alexander Rea alias Wray waived the finding of a true bill by the Grand Jury and pleaded guilty to sodomy and buggery, and larceny, and on May 29, 1916, on the first charge was sentenced to pay a fine of $500.00, and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a period of not less than eight years nor more than ten years, and on the charge of larceny was sentenced to pay a fine of $100.00, and to undergo imprisonment in the same penal institution for a term of not less than two years nor more than three years. The latter sentence to begin immediately at the expiration of the previous sentence.

The applicant is forty-one years of age and is unmarried. He has no living relatives except a father. Previous to his sentence he was a wanderer with no occupation, and since his incarceration he has become a writer, and a book of his poems has recently been published by J. B. Lippincott Company, Philadelphia, which has been highly commended by literary critics, and has also been a contributor to "Life", "Judge" and other well known periodicals and magazines, as well as to the metropolitan newspapers.

In December, 1912, the applicant took up his residence in Coatesville, Pennsylvania, to engage in newspaper work and lodged with the family of Robert Garnet. Mrs Garnet's oldest child was a boy about thirteen years old. In February, 1913, the applicant left Coatesville accompanied by the boy. The latter took with him a child's bank, which he claimed as his personal property, but which was claimed by the boy's mother. The taking of this bank was made the basis of the charge of larceny, and applicant's relations with the boy were made the basis of the more serious charge. The applicant and the boy wandered about from place to place until in May, 1916, when they were arrested in the City of Pittsburgh, identified, and returned to Coatesville. Under pressure from the Police, the boy confessed to certain immoralities, and in order to save the boy from the stigma of a trial, the applicant pleaded guilty to the offenses charged.

The applicant has now served seven years and six months of his term of imprisonment. Prior to this sentence he had pleaded guilty to the larceny of a book, for which offense he served eighteen months in the Huntingdon Reformatory. He subsequently pleaded guilty to the larceny of food from a house in Delaware County, and for this offense he served six months in the County Jail.

A number of writers have become interested in the applicant on account of the literary ability which he has displayed, and have asked the Board for clemency in his behalf. The list includes Professor William Lyon Phelps, of Yale College; H. L. Mencken, of Baltimore; Karl Edwin Harriman, Editor of the "Red Book", Chicago; Thomas L. Masson, New York; Charles H. Towne, of New York; Henry S. Canby, New York; Harvey O. Higgins, and Professor R. Tait McKenzie of the University of Pennsylvania.

In consideration of all the circumstances surrounding this case, the term of imprisonment already served, because of the extraordinary literary ability, which the applicant has manifested, and because of the interest which prominent literary men have taken in him and because of the appeals for clemency, which they have made, we have concluded that the applicant has been sufficiently punished and that if now released he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Clarence Alexander Rea alias Wray.

Sir: At No. 23, January Sessions, 1923, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Dauphin, Russell Hawkins pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with highway robbery, and on March 28, 1923, was sentenced to undergo imprisonment in the Huntingdon Reformatory.

The applicant is about eighteen years of age and was born and raised in Dauphin County. He is unmarried and resides with his parents in the Borough of Penbrook, where, at the time of his arrest, he was employed by William Mader.

The applicant, together with Elmer Rodkey, Paul Reichert and Wesley Reed, went out into the country to visit the home of George Kristoff, a foreigner, who was supposed to be in the bootlegging business. They found Kristoff away from home. While proceeding from the house, and when they were close to the public road, Kristoff returned. They held him up and took his money from him. The amount was not large, but was divided equally among the four. Reichert was much older than his companions and was supposed to be the master mind. He was sentenced to the Eastern Penitentiary, while Rodkey and the applicant were returned to the Huntingdon Reformatory. Before his original arrest he was a quiet, industrious, law-abiding youth, saved his earnings and carried a bank account.

The Trial Judge has filed with the Board a letter, in which he states that from information received with respect to the reputation and behavior of the applicant before and since his trial, he can see no reason why his application for pardon should not be granted.

In consideration of all the circumstances surrounding this case, the youth of the applicant, his prior good record and his behavior while on parole, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and that if now released he will become an industrious, peaceable and law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At No. 28, June Sessions, 1918, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Mercer, William Kimberly pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with murder and manslaughter, and the Court, after hearing testimony, determined the degree of his guilt to be murder of the second degree, and on September 7, 1918, was sentenced to pay costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than sixteen years nor more than twenty years.

The applicant is now fifty-two years of age, an American citizen, a farmer by occupation, and at the time of his arrest resided on his farm situated one mile from the Borough of Mercer. He had a wife, but no children.

The applicant shot and killed his wife on April 19, 1918, in their home about 5:00 P. M., while intoxicated, and without any provocation or motive, and immediately thereafter shot himself with the shotgun in the region of the heart inflicting a frightful wound from which he recovered by skillful surgical and hospital treatment.

The applicant for years prior to the commission of this crime had been an inebriate, and at the instance of his wife he had taken so-called cures, but without avail. The drink habit grew upon him until his health became seriously impaired. Several days before he killed his wife he began one of his periodic drinking spells. The forenoon of the day of the murder he spent in drinking at a hotel in New Castle. After dinner he went or was put to bed in the hotel, but sometime in the afternoon he arose and purchased a revolver with which to kill himself. He lapsed into a state of complete amnesia until he found himself in the Mercer Hospital one week after the crime was committed, and knew nothing of the death of his wife until he read the newspaper account of the tragedy. Dr. Mitchell of the Warren Hospital, a well know expert, testified before the Court that the applicant was in a state of complete amnesia at the time of the commission of the crime and incapable to form in his mind a specifice intent to take life.

The relations between the applicant and his wife had been of the most affectionate nature. Sometime before the crime was committed he voluntarily conveyed to her absolutely one-half of his estate. There was no apparent motive, reason or provocation for the murder.

The applicant had never before been charged with or convicted of crime. He has now served five years and two months of his term of imprisonment.

The Trial Judge filed a letter with the Board in which after reviewing the circumstances of the crime, he states inter alia:

"I have declined up to this time to write a letter to the Board of Pardons, recommending his discharge from the Penitentiary, but now after more than five years am inclined to believe that his case is deserving of the consideration of the Board of Pardons.

"I am of the opinion that, if the Board of Pardons is satisfied, under all the circumstances connected with the commission of the crime, that the best interests of society would not suffer, this is a case where the Board of Pardons might exercise the power given by the laws of this State, and grant him the pardon, requested."

The Trial District Attorney has filed with the Board the following letter:

"I have known Mr. Kimberly quite well for a number of years and did some business for him, and also for his wife during her lifetime.

"From my contact with Mr. Kimberly and his wife in both a business and social way and my observation of his conduct toward his wife I am sure he was very fond of her, and would never have committed the crime resulting in her death had he been in his right mind.

"Mr. Kimberly was a periodical and heavy drinker, and had been drinking to excess for a short time prior to the day when he shot his wife, and the opinion of these best able to judge of the condition of his mind at the time of the commission of this crime was that he could not distinguish between right and wrong.

"From what I have learned of Mr. Kimberly since he was confined in the penitentiary it would seem that he has suffered greatly because of what he did, and is a very different man than when first sent there, and if your Honorable Board can be satisfied under all of the circumstances surrounding this case that Mr. Kimberly can resist the temptation that will come to him from strong drink, and live a better life and not be dangerous to society than I can see no good reason for refusing the pardon applied for."

Judge Emery and former Judge Porter, both of the adjoining county of Lawrence, have also filed letters with the Board in which after reviewing the circumstances of the case they strongly recommend a pardon.

In Consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the mental condition of the applicant induced by chronic alcoholism, the lack of motive and provocation for the crime, the prior good record of the applicant, the term of imprisonment already served, and the recommendations of the Trial Judge and Trial District Attorney, as well as the recommendations of the two Judges from the adjoining County of Lawrence, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and that if now released he will prove himself a sober, law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said William Kimberly.

Sir: At No. 72, June Sessions, 1922, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Montgomery, L. A. Saltzman pleaded guilty of Extortion at Common Law and on September 21, 1922, was sentenced to pay a fine of $100.00, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Montgomery County Prison for a period of three months. On Nov. 18, 1922, he was paroled by the trial judge for the remainder of his term of imprisonment.

The applicant is 42 years of age, a native of Russia but a naturalized American citizen. He is a Hebrew. He has practiced the profession of medicine in Philadelphia ever since his graduation from the Jefferson Medical College in 1902. At the time of his arrest he resided in the City of Philadelphia with his wife and two children aged 6 and 3 years respectively.

For about seven years prior to his arrest he had been employed by the Medical and Optometry Boards of the State as Investigator to secure evidence against unlicensed practitioners. In June 1922, the applicant received a telephone call from one M. D. Mollier, a Chiropractor, at Trappe, Pa., requesting him to call on urgent business. The applicant called on him and found that he was the President of the Philadelphia Chiropractor Protective Asso., an organization composed of unlicensed practitioners in Philadelphia. He asked the applicant to assist in having a bill passed by the Legislature giving his association a State Board of their own, and the applicant promised to help him if he would furnish a list of the members of the association. He told applicant that he would furnish such a list if he would call again the following week. A week later Mollier phoned the applicant requesting him to call for the list on a particular afternoon. He called at the time appointed. As he was about to leave Mollier handed him $100.00 in cash, saying "Take this for your service for coming out here twice". The applicant took the money and as he was leaving the house he was placed under arrest and was requested to return the $100.00 which he did without objection.

Since his graduation, in addition to the active practice of his profession, the applicant has been Assistant to the Professor of Orthopaedic Surgery at the Jefferson Medical College and has also been Assistant to the Professor of Eye Diseases in the same institution.

Francis Shunk Brown, former Attorney General, who was attorney for the prosecutor in this case, wrote a letter which the counsel for the applicant has filed with the Board, as follows:—

"I represented those who prosecuted Dr. Saltzman, and I believe he has been sufficiently punished for the offense, I have from him positive assurance that there will be no recurrence. In view of his conduct since his release, and his prospect, I am pleased to join in the application. I believe the interests of justice have been fully met by the punishment he has received."

The Secreary of the State Board of Optometrical Education, Examination and Licensure has filed with the Board a letter in which he certifies to the honesty, faithfulness and efficiency of the applicant in his work for the Board during the past six years, and asks the Board to recommend a pardon.

The Superintendent of Mt. Sinai Hospital, Philadelphia, also recommends a pardon. Several other prominent physicians certify to the applicant's good reputation as a physician.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case and the fact that the applicant was never before charged with crime, because of the professional ability of the applicant and the opportunity for advancement if relieved of the stigma of conviction for crime, because of the recommendation of the former Attorney General who represented the prosecutor in this case and the recommendation of the Secretary of the State Board which had employed the applicant as an investigator, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released he will become a useful, law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At No. 5, January Sessions 1921, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Perry, James Ellsworth alias Elmer Fred Kemkes was convicted of Breaking and Entering a House to commit a Felony and on January 22, 1921, was sentenced to pay the costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a period of not less than five years nor more than six years.

The applicant is now 23 years old, an American born citizen and has a wife but no children. At the age of seventeen he enlisted in the Navy and served as a seaman from 1917 to 1919. After leaving the Navy he was employed in Providence, R. I., and other places.

In January 1921, the applicant and one Roy Cunningham endeavored to secure employment in New York and Philadelphia. Unsuccessful, they planned to go to Michigan. They boared a freight train at Harrisburg and stopped off at the Cove, between Marysville and Duncannon. They entered the Summer cottage of Frederick Smith and helped themselves to crackers and preserves and took a pair of shoes and a vest. Shortly after leaving the premises they were arrested and taken to New Bloomfield. The applicant was never before charged with crime. He has now served two years and ten months of his term of imprisonment.

The trial Judge has filed with the Board a letter in which inter alia he states that:

"The sentence was more severe than it probably otherwise would have been, owing to the fact that there had been a number of similar offenses at about the same time. Considering the youth of the prisoner, the good report that comes of his behavior in prison, and the severity of the original sentence, I desire to recommend to your favorable attention his application for a pardon."

In consideration of the youth of the applicant, his prior good record, the severity of the sentence, the term of imprisonment already served and the recommendation of the trial Judge, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and that if now released he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said James Ellsworth, alias, Elmer Fred Kemkes.

Sir: At No. 6, September Term, 1922, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Fayette, George Carp was convicted of murder in the second degree, and on October 17, 1922, was sentenced to pay a fine of 6¢, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than two years nor more than three years.

The applicant is thirty-four years of age, Polish by birth, but a naturalized American citizen, a carpenter by occupation, and at the time of his arrest was employed by the Hillman Coal & Coke Company, and resided in Arnold City, Fayette County, with his wife and one child and three step children.

On the night of May 28, 1922, at Arnold City, a party of five or six men, who had been drinking, congregated near the home of Joe Downs and created a minor disturbance. Downs got his shotgun and started down the road in the direction where the disturbance took place and on his arrival met several men including the applicant, who had also been drinking. The latter took the shotgun from Downs and proceeded down the road. Another person, Bob Smock, who had also been drinking, followed the applicant down the road and asked him to surrender his shotgun. The applicant refused to do this and kept on going down the road until he reached the yard of a house to which he was followed by Smock and a number of other men. In the yard an altercation took place between Smock and the applicant, whereupon Smock discharged a revolver, presumably at Carp, the applicant, and the latter who had been pointing the shotgun fired and, it is claimed, killed an innocent bystander, John Tomalsky. Both Smock and the applicant immediately left the scene of the killing. Smock thinking that he had killed the man went to Uniontown and surrendered himself at the County Jail. The applicant also surrendered himself to the local officers.

The applicant has never before been charged with or convicted of crime. He has served one year and one month of his term of imprisonment. There is considerable doubt as to whether or not the applicant fired the fatal shot, and even if he did so, it was in self defense.

The Assistant District Attorney who tried the case filed with the Board a letter in which he reviewed the circumstances surrounding the crime. In it inter alia he states:

"The writer, at the time of the trial, felt that Carp had a good defense in the nature of a plea of self-defense, but he did not avail himself of this defense, and denied at all times and on the stand that he fired any shot whatsoever in the yard."

"The killing was not a very serious grade of homicide and this office feels that the ends of justice have been met by the length of imprisonment already undergone by the defendant, and this office recommends that a pardon be granted to him."

Nine persons, who were witnesses for the Commonwealth and testified at the trial of the case, filed with the Board a petition in which they averred:—

"That the circumstances under which the shooting occurred were peculiar; that some circumstances pointed to the guilt of the said defendant and some circumstances pointed to his innocence.

"That your petitioners were always more or less in doubt as to the guilt of the defendant in the said trial and since the trial of the case have been more convinced that he did not fire the shot which resulted in the homicide.

"Wherefore your petitioners pray your Honorable Body to favorably consider the said application for a pardon."

The petition for clemency is sworn to by one of the petitioners who deposes that the original petition was actually signed by the petitioners individually and that the circumstances set forth therein are true and correct.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, and the doubt as to who really shot Tomalsky; in consideration of the recommendation of the Trial District Attorney, and the petition of the Commonwealth's witnesses, who testified at the trial of the applicant, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and that if now released he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said George Carp.

Sir: At No. 215, May Sessions, 1919, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Westmoreland, Eugeno Robellini was convicted of voluntary manslaughter and recommended to the mercy of the Court, and on June 16, 1919, was sentenced to pay a fine of $5.00, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than six years nor more than ten years.

The applicant is thirty years old, a native of Italy and a subject of the Kingdom of Italy. He is by occupation a laborer, and at the time of his arrest was employed by the Pittsburgh Steel Company at Monessen, Pennsylvania, where he resided. He has a wife and one child living in Italy.

On April 19, 1919, on returning to his boarding house he found Domenico Zaccarini there. When applicant entered, the latter called him a vile name and made for him with a butcher knife. The applicant then went away and returned twice, but finding him there about midnight went to a friend's house and remained with him all night. The following morning he encountered Zaccarini on the street, who grabbed him and reached for his knife. He was a large powerful man, weighing about one hundred and eighty-five pounds, while the applicant is only five feet tall and weighs about forty pounds less. When the applicant found that he could not escape and that he would have to protect himself and that his life was endangered, he shot and killed Zaccarini with his revolver.

The applicant has never before been charged with or convicted of crime. He has served four years and five months of his term of imprisonment.

The Superintendent of the wire mill, in which he was employed, has filed with the Board a letter, in which he states:

"Herewith I beg to testify as to the character of Eugene Rotellini, who has applied to your Honorable Board for a pardon.

"He worked under me when he got into this trouble and I can truthfully say that he was a steady, industrious and sober workman and liked by everyone he worked with.

"Judging from what I know of him, I can say that he will be a good man again, and I shall put him to work if the Honorable Board will be kind enough to grant him a pardon."

The pay master of the same mill in a letter filed with the Board states:

"The petitioner was in the service of this Company for about four years prior to the time of his getting in trouble. "I know him to be a good, quiet and reliable workingman and am sure that if his application receives favorable consideration that he will be again become a respected member of our community."

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the prior good record of the applicant, the term of imprisonment already served, together with the recommendation of his former employers, who offer to furnish him employment upon his release, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and that if now released he will prove himself an industrious, useful and law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At Nos. 50 and 51, April Sessions, 1920, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Allegheny, Martin Mendel pleaded nolo contendere to indictments charging him with conspiracy and larceny, and on February 17, 1921, was sentenced to pay a fine of 12½¢, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than six years nor more than nine years.

The applicant is about twenty-eight years of age, a native of the City of Pittsburgh and of Hebrew parentage. At the time of his arrest he was a salesman in a large department store and was the main support of an aged father and mother. These offenses were committed in or about January or February, 1920. In the larceny case, clothes to the value of $56.00 were taken. In the conspiracy case certain articles were in the custody of a messenger boy and it was alleged that the applicant and an accomplice, by some scheme or artifice, took the packages containing the goods from the messenger boy. All of the articles taken were restored to the owners, and no loss was suffered by them.

At No. 42, February Sessions, 1921, in the same Court, the applicant and one Jacob Miller, were jointly indicted for the larceny of an overcoat from a department store. Miller was caught leaving the store with the overcoat, but the applicant was not present. When arrested, Miller implicated the applicant in the crime. Miller pleaded guilty to the charge and was sentenced to a term of six months in the Allegheny County Jail, and was paroled after serving about three months. The applicant was tried immediately after Miller had pleaded guilty. The only evidence offered against him at the trial was the testimony of the self-confessed accomplice. After his conviction for the larceny of the overcoat, he was sentenced for a term of not less than two years nor more than three years in the Western Penitentiary. His sentence for the three crimes mentioned aggregate a minimum of six years and a maximum of nine years.

Prior to the commission of these crimes the applicant suffered from an injury to his head sustained in an accident, and he was subsequently operated on to remove the pressure of a bone on his brain.

The applicant has now served thirty-four months of his term of imprisonment. All of the prosecutors but one have asked for pardon. In every case the stolen goods were restored.

Judge Stone, who presided at the trial, with Judge Haymaker, has filed with the Board a letter in which he states, inter alia as follows:

"So far as I am personally concerned, I believe sufficient time has elapsed since his sentence, to bring about all necessary improvements in this young man, and I have no reasons to believe but what he will be a good citizen hereafter.

"It may be that the sentence imposed was severe. At any rate, I will be entirely satisfied if he is now given his liberty."

Judge Haymaker writes the Board:

"I have very little recollection as to the facts of the case in which I was concerned, but inasmuch as Judge Stone thinks that the defendant's case is a proper one for clemency I feel disposed to join him in a similar request."

Harry H. Willock, Trustee of the Penitentiary states among other things concerning this case:

"I personally feel that he has been punished enough and should have a pardon."

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the term of imprisonment already served, the recommendation of the prosecutors and of the Trial Judges, as well as the recommendation of Trustee Willock, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and that if now released he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At No. 14, March Term, 1913, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Allegheny, William Payne was convicted of felonious assault and battery and by the Jury recommended "to the extreme mercy of the Court", and on March 14, 1913, was sentenced to pay a fine of 6¼¢, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of one year. Sentence to begin at expiration of any sentence now being served in the Western Penitentiary.

The applicant is forty-nine years of age, a native-born American negro, and has no relatives except a sister residing in Allegheny County. When arrested for the present offense he was serving a sentence in the Western Penitentiary imposed by the Court of Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County on September 27, 1910, for sodomy and buggery, to which crimes he pleaded guilty and was sentenced on two indictments to a minimum sentence aggregating five years and a maximum sentence aggregating twenty years.

On January 21, 1913, the applicant in his cell was reading and laughing over humorous items in the newspaper. Edward Pohl, who occupied a nearby cell, imagined that the applicant was laughing at him, took offense and threatened to "get" him in the morning. The following morning, the applicant, fearing Pohl, endeavored to avoid him, but without success. Pohl caught hold of the applicant three times and finally attacked him with a shoe knife. The applicant defended himself with his fists the best he could, and finally took the knife away from him. Pohl was the aggressor. The applicant had given him no cause for attack and endeavored in every possible way to avoid the encounter. When attacked he was weaponless and used his fists in self-defense until after he obtained possession of his assailant's knife.

The applicant has now served thirteen years and two months of the term of imprisonment imposed in September, 1910, and asks clemency for the second offense, to wit, felonious assault and battery, committed in the defense of his person from the assaults of a fellow prisoner actuated by an imaginary wrong, and, who, persistently followed the applicant and attacked him with a knife.

Under all the circumstances of the present case, in view of the fact that the applicant was set upon by a fellow prisoner armed with a knife, and because of his effort to avoid difficulty we have concluded that he should be relieved from the penalty imposed for the crime committed while in prison so that he may become eligible to parole by the prison authorities. We also have in mind the fact that he has served thirteen years and two months on account of the crimes first committed.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said William Payne.

Sir: At No. 1, June Sessions, 1911, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Allegheny, Sofron Pulko was convicted of murder in the second degree, and on October 28, 1911, was sentenced to pay costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than nineteen years and eleven months nor more than twenty years.

The applicant is fifty-one years of age, a subject of Rumania, a steel and silversmith mechanic by occupation, and at the time of the commission of the crime was employed by the Westinghouse Company at East Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. He was married when the crime was committed, but had no children.

In 1909 the applicant and his wife became estranged and for about one year preceding the commission of the crime they lived apart. A short time preceding the commission of the crime the applicant was arrested for non-support and ordered to pay a weekly sum for the support of his wife. He endeavored without success to effect a reconciliation with his wife who was employed at the Passavant Hospital in Pittsburgh. On April 8, 1911, the applicant went to the hospital to settle financial matters with his wife. He found her in the laundry and after a few words drew a revolver and shot her through the head and then shot himself and cut himself with a knife, resulting in eight or ten wounds in his chest, several of which penetrated the lung. His wife died the same day from the effects of her wound.

The applicant upon being arraigned in Court stood mute and refused to plead. A special plea of insanity presented by his counsel was filed. The evidence adduced during the trial showed that he was suffering from neurosis or epilepsy and had been in this condition for months preceding the crime, and that at the time of the commission of the crime he was not legally responsible for his actions. Medical testimony to this effect was presented which doubtless influenced the Jury to reduce the grade of crime from murder, which was charged in the indictment, to murder in the second degree.

The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of crime. He has now served twelve years of his term of imprisonment. While in prison he has regained his health and no longer shows evidence of neurosis or epilepsy, and if released will be enabled to earn a livelihood as a silversmith whose work is in great demand.

The applicant has a fine record in prison and the Trustees recommend clemency.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the impaired mental condition of the applicant when the crime was committed, his prior good record, the term of imprisonment already served, and the recommendation of the Board of Trustees, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and that if now released he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Sofron Pulko.

Sir: At No. 21, December Sessions, 1919, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Centre, Michael Gafigan pleaded guilty to breaking and escaping penitentiary, and on March 24, 1920, was sentenced to pay a fine of $1.00, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than four years nor more than five years. Sentence to commence on completion of sentence from Potter County, March 8, 1917.

The applicant is twenty-seven years old, a native-born American citizen, unmarried and by occupation a railroad employe. At the time of his arrest for escaping from the penitentiary he was at Albright, West Virginia, where he was employed by a lumber firm.

On March 8, 1917, the applicant was sentenced by the Court of Quarter Sessions of Potter County for the crime of breaking and entering, and larceny, to serve eight years in the Western Penitentiary, which sentence was afterwards modified and reduced by the Court to six years and twenty days. While serving this latter sentence on September 16, 1919, he walked away from Rockview, and had his freedom six months and eleven days when he was arrested in West Virginia and remanded to Pennsylvania for trial on the charge of breaking and escaping from the penitentiary.

The applicant has now served six years and eight months, less the period of six months spent in West Virginia after his escape, and asks to be relieved from the penalty imposed for escaping from the penitentiary.

The Trial Judge has filed with the Board the following letter:

"An application for pardon will be made before your Board by Michael John Rivers, alias Michael Gaffigan, at your approaching November meeting, and after consultation with the Warden, Mr. Egan, we feel that the petition of this young man should be granted. He will have served the full minimum term of sentence imposed in Potter County. The rest of it applies on his escape from the New Western Penitentiary.

"After investigation it seems to me he has been sufficiently punished and there is a very strong chance of his becoming a good citizen if released at this time."

The Trial District Attorney filed with the Board a letter in which he does not recommend a pardon, but states that he would have no objections officially to the applicants release "upon the expiration of his minimum sentence under the charge of escaping from the Rockview Penitentiary."

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the period of time already served in the penitentiary, and the recommendation of the Trial Judge, we have concluded that the applicant has been sufficiently punished.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Michael Gafigan.

Sir: At No. 25, March Term, 1922, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Armstrong, Nick Cirre waived the finding of a Grand Jury and pleaded guilty to the charge of receiving stolen goods, and on February 13, 1922, was sentenced to pay a fine of $500.00, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than two years and eleven months nor more than three years.

The applicant is now thirty-one years of age, a native of the Kingdom of Italy, a baker by occupation, and at the time of his arrest was employed in a restaurant in Ford City, Armstrong County, where he resided. He is unmarried.

On or about December 27, 1921, the clothing store of Louis Hirschberg in Ford City was robbed of goods. Peter Kloss, who is now serving a sentence in the Western Penitentiary, was suspected of being the robber, and his association with the applicant in a business and social way caused suspicion to be directed to the applicant, who was arrested, confessed his guilt, informed the officers where the stolen goods were and helped them recover a substantial amount. It was not alleged that he was present at the robbery, nor connected therewith.

The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of crime. He has now served one year and nine months of his term of imprisonment. His prison record is excellent.

The Trial Judge has filed with the Board a letter recommending clemency. The concluding paragraph of his letter is as follows:

"From what I know about this man and from what I have recently learned as to his conduct, and the assurance that he will lead a proper life hereafter, and from the further fact that the prosecutor and his friends seem desirous to obtain the release of the prisoner, and from the further fact that he has served a goodly portion of the sentence imposed, I am inclined to believe the ends of Justice will be subserved by a pardon. I therefore recommend that he be pardoned."

The Trial District Attorney also filed a letter with the Board in which he stated that he applicant had not taken part in the burglary and that, therefore, he had accepted his plea of guilty as to receiving stolen goods. His letter concludes:

"Knowing of these facts and knowing he has served a considerable portion of his sentence, I believe that he has served sufficient time and will be a good citizen. I would, therefore, feel that I can honestly recommend his pardon and ask that your Honorable Board grant the same."

The applicant's former employer filed with the Board a letter in which he certifies to the applicant's trustworthiness and to the further fact that he was working during the night in which the store was burglarized.

The prosecutor in the case also writes the Board, "I would, therefore, ask that this man be granted a full pardon and I heartily join in his application for the same.

In consideration of all the facts in this case, the prior good record of the applicant, the term of imprisonment already served, and because of the recommendations of the Trial Judge, Trial District Attorney and the prosecutor in the case, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and that if now released he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Nick Cirre.

Harrisburg, Pa., November 21, 1923.

Sir: At No. 24, May Term, 1923, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Centre, Sandy Fedor was convicted of assault and battery with intent to commit rape, and on May 23, 1923, was sentenced to be committed to the Huntingdon Reformatory under the rules and regulations of said institution.

The applicant is seventeen years of age, and unmarried, and previous to his conviction was employed in the mines at or near the village of Winburne, Clearfield County.

On March 21, 1923, in the evening, Emma Fedora and Mollie Fedora, sisters, while on their way home, were attacked by two boys whom they identified as the applicant and Joseph Schimco. The information alleged that the crime was committed at seven o'clock and the applicant proved that he was in church at that hour. The hour of the alleged assault was then changed from seven to eight o'clock and the applicant was unable on short notice to obtain testimony as to his whereabouts at the time finally fixed by the prosecutrix. The information was not made until one week after the commission of the crime and the warrant of arrest was issued three weeks later. During this interval the applicant was at his home and could readily have been found. The father of the girls approached the step father of the applicant with a proposition to settle the matter out of Court, but this was refused.

The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of crime. He has been in the reformatory six months.

The Trial Judge has filed the following letter with the Board:

"I have been notified formally that an application will be made for the pardon of Sandy Fedor and Joseph Schimco at your meeting to be held on the 21st instant. These boys were sentenced by me to the Huntingdon Reformatory at the May Sessions in 1923. After investigation I am of opinion that the ends of Justice have been met and if pardoned they would return to their homes and become law-abiding citizens."

The Trial District Attorney has also filed with the Board a letter in which, after referring to the sentence of the applicant and Joseph Schimco, he concludes:

"After investigation I am of opinion that the ends of justice have been met and if pardoned they would return to their homes and become law-abiding citizens."

In consideration of the youth of the applicant, the circumstances of the case, the doubt as to the identity of the assailants of these girls, his good prior record, and in consideration of the recommendations of the Trial Judge and Trial District Attorney, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and that if now released he will become a good, useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Sandy Fedor.

Sir: At No. 23, May Term, 1923, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Centre, Joseph Schimco was convicted of assault and battery with intent to commit rape, and on May 23, 1923, was sentenced to be committed to the Huntingdon Reformatory under the rules and regulations of the institution.

The applicant is seventeen years of age and unmarried, and previous to his conviction was employed in the mines at or near the village of Windburne, Clearfield County.

This crime is alleged to have been committed in the evening of March 21, 1923, when Emma Fedora and Mollie Fedora, sisters, while on their way home at about seven o'clock were attacked by the applicant and another boy Sandy Fedor. On the trial of the cause the applicant proved that at the time, alleged in the information, he was in church and the prosecutrix thereupon changed the hour of the alleged assault from seven to eight o'clock, and the applicant was unable on short notice to obtain testimony as to his whereabouts at the hour finally fixed by the prosecutrix. The information was not made until one week after the commission of the crime and no warrant of arrest was issued until three weeks later. Sir: At No. 7, August Term, 1922, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Adams, John Bolin pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with assault with intent to commit robbery, and on June 19, 1922, was sentenced to pay a fine of $1.00, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a period of not less than two years nor more than three years.

The applicant was twenty-one years of age at the time of his arrest, a citizen of the United States, a shoe machine operator, by occupation, and at the time of his arrest was employed with the Hanover Heel and Inner Sole Company, Hanover, Pennsylvania. He resided at New Chester, Adams County, with his wife and one child, aged two years.

On June 10, 1922, about 9:00 P. M., Emory Rife, who operated a garage near his residence in a small village lying between McSherrystown and Hanover, saw two men at the garage (which is on the same lot on which his residence is built) and when he went towards them demanding to know what they wanted, the smaller of the two men, who happened to be the prosecutor, disappeared. The other man, Charles Toot, struck Rife with a heavy club and otherwise assaulted him to such an extent that he was rendered unconscious. Toot then escaped. The applicant was not present when the assault and battery was committed upon Rife and did not aid or assist him in any way. Toot admitted the assault and battery. On the trial of the case the applicant, who was without counsel, pleaded guilty and received the same sentence as the man who committed the crime.

The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of crime. His reputation in the community is excellent. He was an Overseas Veteran in the World War and bears an honorable discharge. He has now served one year and five months of his term of imprisonment.

The Chief of Police of Hanover, who arrested the applicant, has filed a letter with the Board that while the applicant went to the garage with Toot, he disappeared before the assault was committed, and evidently had no knowledge of any intended violence. He further states that he was not called as a witness during the trial of the case, and believes that if all the facts had been known to the Court a less severe sentence would have been imposed. He concludes:

"Under all the facts, and believing sufficient punishment has been already imposed upon Bolin, both for his own reformation, as well as for the good of the public generally, I voice the sentiment of our people about here when I join in the application for his pardon."

The prosecutor in the case filed an affidavit with the Board in which he states that he was not called upon to testify when the boy was sentenced. He further states that the applicant was not present when the assault was committed and did not aid or assist in the commission of the crime. He concludes:

"I make this statement in justice to young Bolin and in all fairness to him and the Court. He had no Counsel and plead guilty. He has already served an imprisonment of over one year and three months, and as prosecutor in the case cheerfully join in his application for pardon."

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the youth of the applicant, his prior excellent character and reputation; in consideration of the term of imprisonment already served, and the recommendations of the Chief of Police who arrested him, and the prosecutor in the case, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and that if now released he will prove himself an industrious and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said John Bolin.

Sir: At Nos. 97 and 98, January Sessions, 1922, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Philadelphia, Walter Levine was convicted of Attempted Larceny, Assault and Battery and Aggravated Assault and Battery and on January 9, 1922, he was sentenced to pay costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a period of not less than four years and six months nor more than five years.

The applicant is 25 years of age, a citizen of the United States, a teamster by occupation, unmarried and at the time of his arrest resided in the City of Philadelphia.

On December 14, 1921, about midnight, on the corner of 13th St., & Girard Ave., Philadelphia, Edward Furlong, Walter Hanshaw and the applicant were standing, engaged in conversation. Mrs. Carrie Townsend, accompanied by Jacob Tittle, passed by. Mrs. Townsend carried a pocketbook under her arm and the three men made an effort to snatch if from her. Mrs. Townsend held on to it and her companion Tittle grapped with the men and they fought together for some time. Hanshaw carried a blackjack and struck Kittle over the head. During the struggle the applicant endeavored to go through Kittle's pockets. Attracked by the commotion pedestrians gathered and Furlong fired his gun in the direction of Kittle. The men then scattered but were soon thereafter arrested. The applicant made a frank and full confession of his complicity in the affair and also testified at the time of the trial. The applicant had no weapon while his companions were armed. Furlong who fired the revolver pleaded guilty to all charges and was sentenced to serve eighteen months in the Huntingdon Reformatory and is now out on parole. Hanshaw and the applicant received like sentences in the Eastern Penitentiary. Hanshaw was pardoned by the Board in June 1923.

The applicant was never before charged with nor convicted of crime. He has served one year and ten months of his term of imprisonment. At the time of the trial he was not represented by counsel and did not have a chance to present his case fully.

The trial District Attorney did not oppose the application.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the fact that the applicant was not armed, in consideration of the prior good record and term of imprisonment served by the applicant, because of the fact that one of his associates has been pardoned and the other released from the Huntingdon Reformatory on parole, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and that if now released he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Walter Irvine.

Sir: At No. 599, October Sessions 1919, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Philadelphia, Abraham Schwartz was convicted of Conspiracy and on May 13, 1921, was sentenced to pay costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Philadelphia County Prison for the term of one month.

The applicant is 36 years of age, a Russian by birth but a naturalized citizen of the United States. At the time of his arrest he was a police officer and resided in the City of Philadelphia with his wife and two small children.

The applicant, with another police officer, was detailed to investigate a certain burglary. He subsequently arrested Morris Brick and Jacob Scopp, on suspicion. and they were held for further hearing to enable the applicant to investigate the case and procure evidence. While the applicant was taking Brick to the station house, the latter's son, Harry, threatened that he would "fix him and get even with him" for arresting his father. Brick and Scopp were finally discharged for lack of sufficient evidence. In the meanwhile, the applicant was arrested for Conspiracy and held for Court. At the hearing before the Magistrate, Harry Brick, the son of one of the suspects, testified that he had paid the applicant money on the night of the arrest, and had agreed to pay him additional money for the purpose of having him refrain from prosecuting the father. On the trial Scopp testified that one Steiger, who was jointly indicted with the applicant, asked him for $100.00 to distribute among certain persons connected with the case. He finally gave him $50.00 for the purpose. Steiger was immediately arrested for conspiring with the applicant and one Bockel in whose saloon the demand for money was made, to obtain money from the suspects. All three were convicted of Conspiracy on the testimony of Scopp who has a long criminal record and of Harry Brick.

The co-defendants of the applicant fared better than he. Bockel's sentence was suspended. After serving one-third of his sentence Steiger was discharged on parole. The applicant served twenty days when his sentence was reconsidered and suspended and he was discharged on parole. Since his release he has behaved well and desires pardon in order to remove the stigma of the prison sentence.

The trial Judge, in a letter filed with the Board states:

"I have no objection to the pardon of Abraham Schwartz. I believe he was the least culpable in the case and the short sentence imposed upon him was indicative of my judgment in his case."

The trial District Attorney informed the Board that there were no objections to the pardon.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case and the prior good record of the applicant, and in consideration of the trial Judge, we have concluded that the applicant should be relieved of the stigma of his conviction and imprisonment.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Abraham Schwartz.

Sir: At No. 149, May Sessions, 1921, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Philadelphia, Robert Byrd was convicted of robbery, and on May 5, 1921, was sentenced to pay a fine of $1,000, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a term of not less than four years and eleven months nor more than five years.

The applicant is twenty-seven years of age, a native-born citizen of the United States, negro, and at the time of his arrest was a janitor and was employed at the Art School, Broad and Pine Streets, Philadelphia, in which city he resided with his wife and her mother who had four small children whom he assisted in supporting.

On April 29, 1921, about 8:30 P. M., Miss Charlotte Fitzpatrick, the prosecutrix, was standing in front of a church in said city talking to some ladies when the applicant came along and snatched her handbag, which was hanging on her wrist. The lady cried "thief". A passerby ran after the applicant and caught him. Realizing his apprehension, he threw the handbag on the pavement before he was seized.

The applicant committed no violence to the person of the prosecutrix and merely grabbed the handbag and ran away. The pocket-book and contents were valued at $8.50, all of which was recovered by the owner.

The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of any crime. He was intoxicated when the crime was committed. He has now served two years and six months of his term of imprisonment.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this crime, his prior good record, the term of imprisonment already served, the need which his family has for his support and assistance, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and that if now released he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Robert Byrd.

Sir: At No. 436, May Sessions, 1920, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Philadelphia, Arthur J. Wells pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with larceny, and on June 6, 1920, the Court ordered and adjudged that sentence be suspended and defendant discharged on probation for a period of three years.

The applicant is twenty-five years of age, an American citizen, by occupation a chauffeur-mechanic. At the time of his arrest he was employed as a driver by the American Express Company and resided in the City of Philadelphia with a wife and two small children.

The applicant stole a bale of cloth from the Express Company and sold it to Robert Lee Hammie, proprietor of a cleaning and repairing establishment.

The applicant, after he was placed on probation by the Trial Judge, was permitted to go to Wisconsin and has now completed his term of probation, and his record during this period has been commendable.

The Probation Officer of the Quarter Sessions Court of Philadelphia has filed the following letter with the Board:

"Mr. Wells entered a plea of guilty to the charge of larceny of a bale of cloth, the property of the American Express Company, on June 6, 1920, and was placed on parole for a period of three years. While on probation he complied faithfully with the requirements imposed upon him by the Court in accordance with the provisions of the Act of Assembly and was discharged from said probation by this Department.

"This man, I understand, is living an upright life and making an honest effort to comply with the law. I personally feel this is a case in which your Honorable Board can give favorable consideration to an application for a pardon."

In consideration of the fact that the applicant's family require his assistance and support, in consideration of the fact that he was never before convicted of crime, and that his conduct during a three years term of probation was excellent, we believe that he should have an opportunity to rehabilitate himself and be relieved from the stigma of a conviction.

We have, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Arthur J. Wells.

Sir: At No. 16, December Sessions, 1920, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for Lawrence County, Mike Opperman waived a jury trial and pleaded nolo contendere to an indictment charging him with felonious assault and battery, aggravated assault and battery, assault and battery, and assault, and on December 23, 1920, was sentenced to pay a fine of $50.00, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than three years and eight months nor more than four years.

At No. 17, of the same Sessions, and in the same Court, he entered a similar plea and a like sentence was imposed as in the preceding case. The two sentences to run concurrently.

The applicant is twenty-five years of age, a native of Austria, and subject thereto. He came to the United States in 1914, and took out his first naturalization papers in 1916. At the time of his arrest he resided with his wife in Cleveland, Ohio, and was employed by the Ohio Motor Sales Company. He is an automobile mechanic and learned the trade of tool maker.

In 1920, the applicant met one Ivan J. Elowich, a bootlegger, through the latter's wife who was a friend of the wife of the applicant. Elowich asked him to assist him in holding up the truck of another bootlegger, which he knew passed at certain times between certain cities with cargoes of contraband liquor. The applicant left Cleveland with Elowich planning to intercept one John Simon, a bootlegger, with his truck load of liquor on his way to Akron, Ohio, at or near New Castle. Elowich and the applicant met Simon's truck not far from New Castle. They stopped the truck by driving their car across the road. The applicant covered Simon with a revolver and when the latter told him to get out of the way and reached for his hip pocket as if to secure a gun, the applicant struck Simon over the head with the butt of his revolver and the man collapsed. They then dragged Simon and his wife, who accompanied him, out of the car, and left them by the roadside. Elowich mounted Simon's car and both cars were driven rapidly away. Later the liquor was transferred from Simon's car to their own car and taken to Cleveland where it was finally disposed of. Simon identified Elowich as one of the men who held him up and ten days after Elowich was arrested, the applicant was apprehended. Simon testified in Court that Opperman had struck him on the head.

The applicant was twenty-three years of age when this crime was committed. He had hitherto been a law-abiding citizen. Elowich was an experienced bootlegger and planned the affair. The applicant has now been confined in prison since October, 1920, more than three years. His record in prison has been excellent as shown by the fact that in 1922, he was transferred to the prison farm at Rockview. The Board of Trustees recommend clemency.

The Trial District Attorney filed with the Board a letter in which he states inter alia:

"I feel that if your Board should grant the application of Mike Opperman, that the ends of justice would be met.

"After the crime was committed Mike Opperman was arrested in Cleveland, Ohio, and came to Pennsylvania without demanding requisition papers, which assisted us very considerably, as we might have had difficulty if he had fought extradition, being weak on identification at that time.

"Immediately after he was brought to New Castle he asked to be brought to my office and voluntarily made a complete confession of his part in the crime.

"The history of the case as he gives it in his application, as I recollect the circumstances, are correct. I had a number of talks with him before he was sentenced, and in spite of the circumstances and character of his crime, I felt as if he was not really a criminal at heart. The Court sentenced him about half of what Elowich was sentenced.

"I am only writing this letter on account of the impression I had of him at the time of his arrest and sentence, and if my recollection serves me right, our reports of his reputation from Cleveland, Ohio, were very good, and I understand his record, as a prisoner, is excellent.

"If your Honorable Board should see fit to pardon him I believe he will now make a good citizen."

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the comparative youth of the applicant when the crime was committed, his prior good record, in consideration of the recommendation of the Board of Trustees and the recommendation of the Trial District Attorney, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and that if now released he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Mike Opperman.

Sir: At No. 275, June Sessions, 1919, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Fayette, George W. Riley was convicted of incestuous adultery, rape and bastardy, and on October 25, 1919, was sentenced to pay a fine of $100.00, costs and to undego imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a term of not less than nine years nor more than fifteen years.

The applicant is fifty-six years of age, an American citizen, a laborer by occupation, and at the time of his arrest resided in Wheeler, near Connellsville, Pa. His family consisted of a wife and five children.

One of applicant's daughters, Lida, now about twenty-two years of age has been a wayward girl beyond the control of her parents. She is the mother of three illegitimate children and has consorted with men from the time she was fifteen years of age. On Easter Sunday, 1919, the applicant was remonstrating with her on account of her evil conduct. She resented his admonitions, and he, losing control of his temper, struck her on the shoulder with a small window stick, which he had in his hand at the time. The applicant immediately expressed his sorrow and obtained work for her with different parties. Lida was angry with her father and threatened to get even with him. Prior to this affair she had charged the paternity of her illegitimate children on various persons, but subsequently to this incident she made an information against her father in which she charged him with the paternity of these children, and on her testimony he was tried, convicted and sentenced. The daughter Lida, on February 25, 1921, while confined in a tuberculosis sanitarium at Mt. Vernon, Ohio, subscribed to an affidavit, declaring that her father was innocent of the charges which she had made.

The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of crime. He has now served four years and one month of his term of imprisonment. In consideration of his daughter's affidavit, the applicant is innocent of the crimes for which he was convicted and sentenced.

The Trial Judge has filed the following letter with the Board:

"I heartily recommend the granting of a pardon to George W. Riley, Convicted on the testimony of his daughter of incestuous adultery, rape, and bastardy, and now undergoing a sentence in the Western penitentiary of not less than nine nor more than fifteen years. When this defendant was convicted and sentence imposed I had no reasonable doubt of his guilt. Since that time, and especially since the affidavit made by the daughter, which is referred to in the defendant's petition, and from other information that has come to me, there has arisen in my mind a very serious doubt as to the defendant's guilt. At any rate I think under all the circumstances of the case that the imprisonment undergone by the defendant has been sufficient to meet the requirements of the law, and I seriously and unhesitatingly recommend a pardon."

The Trial District Attorney writes the Board as follows:

"In regard to the application of George W. Riley for pardon, I beg leave to advise that this case was tried under S. J. Morrow, District Attorney, in 1919. The writer was at that time Assistant District Attorney, and assisted in the prosecution of the case. While of the opinion at the time that the defendant was guilty, later developments have made me feel less certain of the fact. This office will interpose no objection to a pardon."

Harry H. Willock, Penitentiary Trustee, stated to the Board that Mrs. Muirhead, Chairman of the Pardon and Parole Committee of the Penitentiary, states that she recommends very strongly that this pardon be granted as the applicant impressed her strongly of his complete innocence.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the extreme doubt as to guilt of the applicant, the term of imprisonment already served, the recommendation of the Trial Judge and the Penitentiary Authorities, and the statement of the Trial District Attorney, we have concluded that the applicant has been sufficiently punished and that if now released he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At No. 25, June Sessions, 1922, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Carbon, Andrew Kent pleaded guilty to the charge of felonious entry, and on June 8, 1922, was sentenced to pay a fine of $100, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a period of not less than two years and nine months nor more than four years.

The applicant is twenty-three years of age, an American citizen by birth and parentage, and a laborer by occupation. At the time of his arrest he resided in Palmerton. He is married and has one child, but has no knowledge of the present whereabouts of his wife. In 1922 the applicant was in poor health and as a consequence not continuously employed. He fell into debt and was unable to defray his living expenses. On the night of April 15, 1922, he broke into the warehouse of the Mauser Mill Company at Palmerton by using an iron bar and burglarized the safe and took therefrom the sum of $21.00, which was afterwards returned. While indicted for burglary and larceny, the District Attorney finally accepted a plea of guilty to the charge of felonious entry. The applicant has now served one year and eight months of his term of imprisonment. He was never before charged with, or convicted of, any crime. His prison record is good, as shown by the fact that in February, 1923, he was transferred to the prison farm at Rockview, Centre County.

The Trial Judge, in a letter to the applicant, which was filed with the Board, states:

"If you can get a recommendation for a pardon from the Board I shall make no objection, and would be willing to give you a trial on parole."

The Chief of Police of Palmerton, who arrested the applicant, in a letter addressed to him, and filed with the Board, states, inter alia:

"I always considered you an honest young man, and even though you made the fatal mistake that many other young men have made, I believe you should have a chance to live down that mistake. You surely cannot do that in prison, and I for one am in favor of giving you another chance, and have written to the District Attorney telling him so."

The Trial District Attorney, in a letter addressed to the applicant, and filed with the Board, concerning the application for pardon, states:

"I have submitted the matter to P. J. Dougherty, chief of Police, Palmerton, Pa., who caused the prosecution which was brought against you and who is thoroughly familiar with the circumstances of your offense and he writes me as follows:—

"'I don't think that keeping Mr. Kent in prison a year longer would improve him morally. I believe he is sincere. He didn't act like a hardened criminal when arrested. He volunteered to plead guilty and did so. I believe we should give him another chance.'

"I shall adopt Mr. Dougherty's attitude in this matter as my own, assuming of course, that no unfavorable elements will turn up."

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the comparative youth of the applicant, his prior good record, the term of imprisonment already served, and the statements of the Trial Judge, Trial District Attorney and Chief of Police of Palmerton, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and that if now released he will prove himself a useful, law-abiding citizen.

Harrisburg, Pa., December 19, 1923

Sir: At No. 15, April Sessions, 1920, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Allegheny, Daniel Kist was convicted of murder in the second degree, and on December 23, 1920, was sentenced to pay a fine of 6½¢, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than nine nor more than twelve years.

The applicant is a native of Hungary, aged thirty-six years. He has been in America about thirteen years. He is a coal miner by occupation and was employed at the time of his arrest. He is married and had seven children, three of whom survive and live with their mother in the City of McKeesport.

The applicant removed from Large to Duquesne at the request of his wife, who wanted to get away from Joe Toth who was pursuing her with his attentions. Toth followed them to Duquesne and when they returned to Large he also returned there. During the Summer before the killing the applicant had Toth arrested and brought before a Justice of the Peace at Large because of misconduct. On the day of the killing the applicant took his family out for an automobile ride. Toth objected because he was not invited to accompany them. The applicant and Toth drank together at the house of a common friend that night and after midnight they left the house and separated. Toth had previously threatened to kill him. After applicant's return to his home and while he was sitting on a chair, Toth fired several shots into the house. The applicant then got his revolver and both exchanged shots. Toth was found dead the next morning on a porch near the Kist house.

The applicant has now served three years of his term of imprisonment. If he really shot Toth it was in self-defense inasmuch as Toth, after trying to break up his home, had threatened to kill him and had shot into the applicant's house while the latter was there before the applicant armed himself with a revolver and replied.

Arthur Storer, member of the House of Representatives from Allegheny County, has filed a letter with the Board in which he states that he has made a careful investigation of the circumstances surrounding this case and recommends that the applicant be returned to his family, who sorely need his support.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the lack of evidence showing that the applicant had actually killed Joe Toth, the fact that the latter was the aggressor and that if shot by the applicant the killing was in self-defense, and in consideration of the recommendation of Representative Storer, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and that if now released he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At No. 30, February Sessions, 1916, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, in and for the County of Allegheny, Joseph Patrick White pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with Murder, and on March 3rd, 1916, the Court, after hearing the evidence, fixed the degree as that of Murder of the second degree and sentenced the applicant to pay a fine of $1.00, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in McCandless Township, Allegheny County, having been 18 years nor more than 20 years.

The applicant is now 24 years of age and an American citizen. Before his arrest he worked at various occupations, principally however, as a farm hand. When arrested he was enlisted and undergoing service with the United States Marines at Fort Royal, South Carolina. His legal residence was in the city of Pittsburgh.

On the morning of December 12th, 1915, Caroline Viehmier, a widow aged 70 years, was found dead in her home in McCandless Township, Allegheny County, having been bound and gagged. The coroner's jury found that she had been gaged and strangled by one William McClure and the applicant, and recommended that they be held upon the charge of Murder, and that one Aaron Fell be held as accessory before the fact. The applicant was a boy 16 years old and McClure was a few years older. Fell was the son-in-law of the deceased and resided near her residence. On the trial, Fell was acquitted.

The applicant has now served seven years and nine months of his term of imprisonment. There was no specific intent on the part of anyone to commit murder. The object was robbery and the death was the consequence of gagging.

Harry H. Willock, a member of the Board of Trustees, appeared before the Board and recommended pardon. Mrs. Rae Muirhead, trustee and chairman of the Committee on Paroles of the Western Penitentiary, has filed a letter with the Board, strongly recommending a pardon. Mrs. Lucy Dorsey Iams, vice-president of the board of Trustees and chairman of the Committee on Social Service, also filed a letter with the Board recommending a pardon in the course of which she states that she regards the present case as perhaps the most deserving of clemency.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the extreme youth of the applicant when the crime was committed, the term of imprisonment already served, and in further consideration of the recommendations of Trustee Willock and Mesdames Muirhead and Iams, we have concluded that the applicant has been sufficiently punished and that if now released, he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions," recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Joseph Patrick White.

Sir: At No. 1, June Sessions, 1917, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, in and for the county of McKean, Rocco Carboni was convicted of Murder in the second degree, and on October 5th, 1917, was sentenced to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than 10 years nor more than 15 years.

The applicant is 36 years of age and a subject of the Kingdom of Italy. He came to this Country about 1900. At the time of his arrest he was employed in the Brush Block Factory at Kane, where he had worked for seven years. He is a widower and has two children.

One evening in March, 1917, about 7:30 P. M., Frank Vero, Frank Morano and the applicant were walking three abreast on Fraley Street in the borough of Kane. The applicant was on the inside of the walk and Morano was in the center. The street was thronged with people who were on their way to the theatres. As these three men reached an alley which runs into Fraley Street, there was a shot fired and Morano was struck in the neck and killed. The applicant ran up the alley and was apprehended within a few minutes. At the trial of the case there was no motive shown for the killing, and no gun was found on either Vero or the applicant. Two witnesses who were behind the three men, testified that they saw the flash of the gun but could not see who fired the shot. Both Vero and the applicant testified that the shooting was done by one Angelo Fortugno who stood in the alley as the three men passed and shot Morano after he had passed and then ran up the alley. The applicant testified that he ran up the alley in pursuit of Fortugno. The latter had had trouble with Morano several days before the murder at a christening where Morano had slapped Mrs. Fortugno who fainted, and a physician had to be called in. Fortugno disappeared the day of the crime and has never been heard of since. Dr. O'Neill, an eminent surgeon, testified that the bullet which killed Morano, came from the alley.

The applicant has now served six years and two months of his term of imprisonment. He claims to be innocent of the crime for which he was sentenced and Vero with whom he was jointly indicted, was acquitted upon the same evidence on which the applicant was convicted. The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of crime. He has always been an honest, industrious, law-abiding citizen. The deceased was of a domineering and quarrelsome disposition and shunned by the better class of Italians.

Sergeant Freeman of the State Police was asked by the Board to investigate the circumstances of this case and has filed an elaborate report in which he expresses the opinion that Morano was killed by Fortugno, and suggests that the present application for pardon be given serious consideration.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the doubt as to the guilt of the applicant, the term of imprisonment already served, his prior good record, and above all, in consideration of the report and recommendation of the Sergeant of State Police, we have concluded that the applicant has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released, he will prove himself a peaceable, law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At Nos. 243-4-5-6, March Term, 1919, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Philadelphia, Florence Duke pleaded guilty to indictments charging her with larceny, and on March 13, 1919, was sentenced in the aggregate to pay the costs of prosecution and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a period of not less than eleven years and eight months nor more than twelve years.

The applicant is twenty-four years of age, unmarried, a native of America, a weaver by occupation, and formerly resided near Boston, Massachusetts. For about a year prior to her arrest she resided in the City of Philadelphia.

At the time of the commission of the crimes for which she was sentenced the applicant was living in Philadelphia with one Walter Shem, a chauffeur, to whom she was not married, but was living with him as his wife under the promise and expectation of marriage. During the winter of 1918-19 Shem was guilty of stealing a number of automobiles and used the applicant to assist him in obtaining the cars and accomplishing the crimes. The stolen cars were sold in Philadelphia and other places. The applicant voluntarily confessed her part in the offenses to the police after her arrest and gave valuable information in reference to the cars that had been stolen. Shem fled and his whereabouts is unknown. Subsequently other persons who were implicated in these offenses in New Jersey were prosecuted and the applicant voluntarily went to New Jersey, testified against them and assisted in their conviction.

The applicant has now served four years and eight months of her term of imprisonment.

The Chaplain of the Eastern State Penitentiary has filed a letter with the Board in which he states that in his judgment, should a pardon be granted her, she would carry out the determination to lead an honest and upright life.

A number of prominent women of Philadelphia have interested themselves in behalf of the applicant and have written letters to the Board in which they urge clemency. Among the number Mrs. Charlotte M. Waln has been particularly active in behalf of the applicant and has, by letter and by telegram filed with the Board, assumed responsibility for her when she is liberated. The Prosecutor of the Pleas of Atlantic County, New Jersey, has recommended pardon in consideration of the invaluable assistance which the applicant rendered in the conviction of persons involved in the theft of automobiles and the disposition of the stolen property.

In consideration of the numerous letters from prominent citizens on file recommending pardon, the recommendation of the Prison Chaplain, the recommendation of the Prosecuting Attorney of Atlantic County, New Jersey, and above all, because of Mrs. Waln's offer to be responsible for the applicant after her liberation, we have concluded that she has been sufficiently punished and that if now released she will become a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Florence Duke.

Sir: At the January Term, 1916, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Chester, Charles Johnson was convicted of highway robbery (two counts,) and larceny (two counts,) and on January 12, 1916, was sentenced in the aggregate to pay a fine of $55.00, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a period of not less than ten nor more than sixteen years.

The applicant is thirty-four years of age, an American citizen by birth, a shoemaker by occupation, and at the time of his arrest was employed by Worths Mill Electric Crane. He is married and has one child ten years of age. At the time of his arrest he resided in West Chester.

On January 8, 1916, the applicant and Thomas Carrigues, who had been drinking, met one Wassell Houchuck on the road near Coatesville, Pennsylvania, and robbed him of money and clothing and also robbed one Joseph Petrovich of a sum of money.

The Court, in imposing sentence upon the applicant, overlooked the fact that the two larcenies were included in the two highway robberies and imposed sentence for four distinct offenses instead of two distinct offenses. Inasmuch as sentences for highway robbery were imposed, the sentences for larceny were improper and illegal, both offenses constituting but one crime. Upon the hearing before the Board at the October sessions, 1923, the case was continued in order that counsel might confer with the Trial Judge and obtain his view of the matter. In a letter filed with the Board counsel for the applicant states that he had seen the Trial Judge and that the latter had said that the sentences on the larceny charges should not have been imposed inasmuch as they were included in the charges of highway robbery.

The applicant has now served seven years and eleven months of his aggregate term of imprisonment.

In consideration of the term of imprisonment already served and of the error in the Trial Judge imposing sentences for larceny in addition to the sentences for highway robbery, both constituting the same offense, we have concluded that the applicant has been sufficiently punished and that if now released he will prove himself a law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Charles Johnson.

Sir: At Nos. 83 and 84, March Term, 1917, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace, in and for the County of Cambria, Joe Rushik was convicted of Felonious Assault and Battery, and on March 13th, 1917, was sentenced in the aggregate, to pay a fine of $50.00, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than 11 years nor more than 13 years.

The applicant is 40 years of age and a subject of the kingdom of Italy. He came to this Country when he was 28 years of age. He is a coal miner by occupation. He has a wife and four children residing in Cleveland, Ohio. At the time of his arrest, he resided at Culver, Cambria County.

The applicant claims that he has no knowledge of the circumstances connected with the crime for which he was sentenced. On the evening of August 6th, 1916, he was for several hours, drinking with six companions at the home of one of the number. It was a warm night. He walked out to the woods near his home and fell asleep. When he awoke about 2:30 A. M., he returned to his home and remained there until morning when he was arrested for having shot two men the night before. Neither of the men who were shot, immediately after the crime, identified him as their assailant. However on the trial they did so identify him.

The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of any crime. He has now served six years and nine months of his term of imprisonment.

Sergeant Freeman of the State Police, by request of the Board, investigated this case and filed a report in which, inter alia, he states that the applicant has an excellent prison record and concludes as follows: "His story, as appears in his application for pardon, is the same that he told at the time of his arrest, at his trial, and has since told continually without variation, therefore I have the honor to suggest that your Honorable Board give this application serious consideration."

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the doubt as to the guilt of the applicant, the term of imprisonment already served, his good record before and since his conviction, and the recommendation of the Sergenat of the State Police, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released, he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions," recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Joe Rushik.

Sir: At Nos. 61 and 62, December Term, 1922, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, in and for the County of Northampton, George H. Grim was convicted of Larceny by Bailee and Fraudulent Conversion, and on February 14, 1923, was sentenced in the aggregate, to pay a fine of $200.00, and to undergo imprisonment in the Northampton County Prison for a period of six months.

The applicant is an American citizen by birth, 38 years of age, married, is an undertaker by profession and at the time of his arrest resided in the city of Bethlehem.

The applicant at various times, borrowed money from Ella Brown, an intimate friend of his wife's, and always repaid the loans until the last one. Not having cash, Mrs. Brown loaned him two bonds of a thousand dollars each which the applicant deposited with a bank as collateral security for a loan, and some time later, being hard pressed for money, ordered the bonds sold and the money placed to his credit. Shortly thereafter, the applicant and his wife had marital difficulties which resulted in their separation. Mrs. Brown aligned herself with the wife and was one of the petitioners who asked the United States Court to have the applicant declared a bankrupt. She also made a criminal information against the applicant on which he was tried, convicted and sentenced as already stated. The applicant claims that when he got the bonds from Mrs. Brown, she agreed that he might sell them in case he could not borrow sufficient. Mrs. Brown denies that she ever consented to such sale.

The applicant was never before charged with, or convicted of crime, except that in January, 1923, he was arrested on a charge of desertion and Non-support, made by his wife on which charge he is now held under bail.

The applicant has now served the entire term of imprisonment and unless he is pardoned, will be deprived of his means of livelihood since he will be unable to engage in business as a licensed undertaker.

The Adjutant General of Pennsylvania has filed with the Board the following letter:

"I have known Mr. Grim's family for three generations; they have been law-abiding, honest, trustworthy residents of Lehigh County. Mr. Grim has had this training inbred in him and I firmly believe that if a pardon be granted him that the lesson he has learned will cause him to follow the training of his father and mother and again become a respectable citizen.

"As a boy, Mr. Grim was a student under me in the public schools of Allentown and was a hard worker, conscientious, fair-minded and honest. He has made his mistake, fully realizes it, I am sure, and I am firmly convinced that his experience of the past few months will serve as a lesson to him and that if given an opportunity he will rehabilitate himself and again become a worthy citizen.

Mr. Grim is a licensed undertaker and I understand would lose his license to practice his profession should he not receive the consideration and pardon from your Board.

"If such a pardon is granted Mr. Grim, several citizens of Allentown, myself included, who have known him for many years, have agreed that we will take care of his future and give him an opportunity to again start in the undertaking business in some place where he may again become a self-respecting citizen.

"I most sincerely request the consideration of your honorable board and a favorable decision and pardon for the applicant."

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, because of the fact that the applicant has served his term of imprisonment and will be unable to pursue his occupation of licensed undertaker unless he is pardoned, in consideration of the recommendation of the Adjutant General of the State, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released, he will prove himself an honest, law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At No. 1, January Term, 1923, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Jefferson, Leroy Bullers was convicted of statutory rape, and on February 10, 1923, was sentenced to pay a fine of $300, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than two years nor more than two years and six months.

The applicant is twenty-five years of age and a citizen of the United States. He is a farmer by occupation. At the time sentence was imposed he was married and had two children, aged seven years and ten months, respectively.

The alleged crime was committed on October 14, 1922, between the hours of 5 and 9:30 P. M., upon the person of one Lulu Hetrick, aged about fourteen years. The conviction was secured through the uncorroborated testimony of the prosecutrix, who was never subjected to medical examination nor did she become a mother. The applicant established a complete alibi. During the hours mentioned, which the prosecutrix alleges were spent in her company, he was not with her but was seen by a number of disinterested witnesses at points far distant and in a different direction from what she alleges.

After his conviction E. B. Waite, who was not a witness during the trial, voluntarily came forward and made affidavit to facts which corroborated the applicant at a material point in his story. Upon reading his affidavit the twelve members of the jury which convicted him filed a petition with the Board in which they ask for clemency, alleging that they are convinced that the applicant is guiltless of the crime.

There was also filed with the Board a petition signed by a number of citizens who were present in Court at the time of the trial and heard the testimony. They allege that the verdict of guilty was not consistent with the evidence, and they also ask for clemency.

The Trial District Attorney filed a letter with the Board in which he states that he has no objection to a pardon being granted.

The applicant, was never before charged with, or convicted of, crime. He has now served ten months of his term of imprisonment.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the serious doubt as to the guilt of the applicant, his prior good record, the term of imprisonment already served, the need which his family have of his support and maintenance, the recommendations of the jury which tried him and of numerous petitioners who were present in Court, and heard all the testimony in the case, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and that if now released he will prove himself a useful, law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Leroy Bullers.

Sir: At No. 19, January Sessions, 1922, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Lackawanna, Frank McGowan pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with burglarly, and on February 7, 1922, was sentenced to pay a fine of $1.00, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a term of not less than five years nor more than ten years.

The applicant is now nineteen years of age, a native born American citizen, and at the time of his conviction resided with his parents in Minooka, Lackawanna County. He is a coal miner by occupation and unmarried.

The applicant was tried and convicted of burglarizing the stores of John Kelly and Sam Sommers, situated in the Township of Minooke and carrying away therefrom merchandise valued at $40.00.

The applicant was never before charged with, or convicted of, crime. His prison record is excellent. He has now served one year and ten months of his term of imprisonment. He was only eighteen years old when this crime was committed.

The Trial Judge has filed a letter with the Board recommending a pardon.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the youth of the applicant at the time of the commission of the crime, his prior good record, his excellent prison record, the term of imprisonment already served and the recommendation of the Trial Judge, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and that if now released he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At No. 55, November Sessions, 1910, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, in and for the County of Lancaster, George Watson was convicted of Murder in the second degree, and on January 16th, 1912, was sentenced to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a period of not less than 19 years nor more than 20 years.

The applicant is now 72 years of age, colored, unmarried, and at the time of his arrest, was a chimney sweeper and rolling mill worker by occupation. He has been a life long resident of Lancaster County.

On November 14th, 1910, the applicant killed Isaac Makle, Jr., a young colored man, by stabbing him in the left side with a dirk. The crime was committed without premeditation, deliberation or criminal intent while both the decedent and the applicant were under the influence of liquor. The deceased, without provocation, dangerously assaulted the applicant in his home, threatened to kill him, and after he had thrown the applicant down and mounted his prostrate body, he swore that he would knock his brains out with a large sea shell which he held in one hand while he clutched the applicant's throat with the other hand. The killing was done upon the impulse of the moment in self-defense and in the fear that the life of the applicant was in immediate danger.

The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of crime. He has now served almost 12 years of his term of imprisonment. His prison record is excellent and the prison authorities recommend a pardon.

A number of citizens of Lancaster County have filed with the Board a petition asking for clemency. This petition is joined in by the father and mother of the deceased.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the prior good record of the applicant, the recommendation of the prison authorities, the advanced age of the applicant, and the petition of many of his fellow citizens of Lancaster County including the father and mother of the deceased, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released, he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions," recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said George Watson.

Sir: At No. 21, April Sessions, 1917, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Jefferson, Alf Lewis was convicted of breaking and entering, larceny and receiving stolen goods, and on April 7, 1921, was sentenced to pay a fine of $100, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Allegheny County Workhouse for a period of not less than five years nor more than ten years.

The applicant is now twenty-three years of age and a native born American citizen. He is a laborer by occupation and at the time of his arrest was employed as a coal miner in Jefferson County, Pennsylvania, where he resided. He is unmarried.

In September, 1916, the Mahoning Supply Company was conducting what is commonly termed a Company Store in connection with the coal mining industry in the mining village of Eleanora, Jefferson County. During the night, on or about October 1st, 1916, the store building was feloniously entered and goods to the value of $300.00 was taken therefrom. While the applicant was not named in the information made by the manager of the store, he was arrested with seven others for the commission of the crime. In April, 1917, a true bill was found by the Grand Jury against three of the accused persons, including the applicant. One of the number, Melvin Styers, pleaded guilty to the indictment and was sentenced to the Western Penitentiary and afterwards pardoned.

The applicant was not tried until four years after he was indicted. While he was a companion of the persons jointly indicted with him, he has always protested his innocence of any connection with the crime. It must be remembered that when this crime was committed he was only a boy sixteen years of age. His trial and conviction without a sworn complaint or a presentation of the Grand Jury was an unlawful proceeding.

The applicant has now served two years and eight months of his term of imprisonment.

The Prosecutor has filed a letter with the Board in which he recommends a pardon.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, his unlawful conviction, the extreme youth of the applicant when the crime was committed, the term of imprisonment already served and the recommendation of the prosecutor, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and that if now released he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Alf Lewis.

Sir: At Nos. 92, 93, 94, 95 and 96, January Sessions, 1921, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Pease in and for the County of Lehigh, Robert Smith pleaded guilty to indictments charging him with Larceny (three counts), Breaking and Entering, and Operating an automobile without the consent of the owner, and on January 24, 1921, was sentenced in the aggregate to pay a fine of $900.00, and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a period of not less than five years nor more than seven years, and to pay costs.

The applicant is 23 years of age and is a native born American citizen. He is unmarried, and at the time of his arrest, he was an employee of the Homeopathic State Hospital.

On the evening of December 20th, 1920, the applicant with one Homer Bice, went to the garage of the Homeopathic State Hospital, Allentown, and took therefrom a Dodge sedan belonging to the Institution, for the purpose of taking a ride. They left Allentown about 10:00 o'clock P. M. and drove to Pittsburgh, and from Pittsburgh to other cities in Pennsylvania and were finally arrested in Aspinwall, Pennsylvania, on January 4th, 1921, and were brought back to Allentown for trial. When they took the automobile, it was their intention to take a short ride and return, but instead of doing so, they proceeded to stay out beyond their time and continued to drive on until they were finally arrested. The automobile which they had taken without permission, was returned to the Hospital.

The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of crime. He has now served two years and eleven months of his term of imprisonment. His uncle, Josiah Smith, residing at Philadelphia, has filed a letter with the Board in which he undertakes to supervise the conduct of the applicant and to see that he is given employment in case he is released. There was also filed with the Board, a letter from the Superintendent of the Hospital addressed to the applicant, in which he states that he is not opposed to a pardon.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the comparative youth of the applicant, his prior good record, the term of imprisonment already served, in further consideration of the fact that the State Hospital authorities, the owners of the stolen car, do not oppose pardon, and that the uncle of the applicant will supervise his conduct, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released, will prove himself to be a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions," recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Robert Smith.

Sir: At No. 4, May Sessions, 1922, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Lackawanna, Peter Tunis alias Peter Trunzo pleaded guilty to the second count contained in the indictment, to wit, voluntary manslaughter, and on May 9, 1922, was sentenced to pay a fine of $100, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a period of not less than five nor more than eight years.

The applicant is twenty-seven years old, a subject of the Kingdom of Italy. Immediately prior to his arrest he was employed as a laborer by the Bull's Head Coal Company, Scranton, and resided in that City. He came to the United States in 1921 after having served in the World War with the Italian Army for four years. He has a wife and two small children in Italy.

On April 1, 1922, the applicant and a friend, one Vitarese, after having played cards in a store for several hours with Dominic Faliano and several other Italians, left the store and proceeded up the street. On their way they encountered Faliano and one Morocco. Faliano said to the applicant, "I am going to kill you", and caught the latter by his coat with one hand and with the other hand drew from his coat pocket a revolver and fired at the applicant. When the applicant saw the deceased draw his revolver, he drew his own revolver from his hip pocket and fired one shot at the deceased, which struck the latter in the left breast near the heart and caused his death three days later. Faliano, the aggressor, was a powerful man, almost six feet tall and weighed 180 pounds, while the applicant is a small man five feet three and one-half inches tall and weighs but 135 pounds.

On April 14, 1922, the applicant voluntarily surrendered himself to the police authorities. When he shot Faliano the applicant had reasonable grounds to assume that his life was in jeopardy, and the killing was done in self-defense.

The applicant was never before charged with, or convicted of crime. He has served one year and seven months of his term of imprisonment.

The private counsel for the prosecutor, the prison inspectors, the Trial District Attorney, and the Trial Judge, by letters filed, recommended a pardon.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the prior good record of the applicant, the term of imprisonment already served and the recommendations of the prison inspectors, the counsel for the prosecutor, the Trial District Attorney and the Trial Judge, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and that if now released will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At Nos. 460 and 461, December Sessions, 1920, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Philadelphia, Paul Checchio pleaded guilty to indictments charging him with robbery and entering to commit a felony, and on December 24, 1920, was sentenced in the aggregate to pay costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Philadelphia County Prison for a term of ten years.

The applicant is now nineteen years of age, unmarried, a native born citizen of the United States, a laborer by occupation, and at the time of his arrest resided in the City of Philadelphia with his mother.

A second hand clothing shop, located at 818 Vine Street, Philadelphia, was robbed of money and clothing by two persons, a young boy and a man in sailor's uniform. A boy by the name of Michael DeSales was arrested for the crime and placed in a cell to await hearing. There happened to be in the same cell the applicant, who was held for hearing on the charge of his mother as being incorrigible. The applicant told DeSales that he was the one who committed the crime. DeSales told officers of this confession, and the applicant repeated his confession to the officers. On the trial he appeared as a witness for DeSales. When this occurred the applicant was only sixteen years of age.

The applicant was never in trouble before except for juvenile delinquencies. He has served three years of his term of imprisonment.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the youth of the applicant, because of the fact that he confessed the crime and pleaded guilty to the indictment and in consideration of the term of imprisonment already served, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and that if now released he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Paul Checchio.

Sir: At No. 591, September Sessions, 1922, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace, in and for the County of Luzerne, Charles Sube and Daniel Sube pleaded guilty to an indictment charging them with Breaking and Entering, and Larceny, and on September 16th, 1922, Charles Sube was sentenced to pay a fine of $100.00, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a period of not less than two years nor more than four years, and Daniel Sube was sentenced to pay a like fine, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a period of not less than three years nor more than five years.

The applicants are brothers and are native citizens of the United States. They are both miners by occupation. Both are married. Charles Sube is 20 years of age and has a wife but no children. Daniel Sube is 23 years of age and has a wife and three small children.

There is located in the out-skirts of Hazleton, a small building used as a service station, and which also contains automobile supplies. In September, 1922, four young men, including the Sube brothers, were arrested by the State Police for the larceny of certain automobile supplies from this building. The young men admitted their guilt. One of the defendants was later paroled by the Court, another defendant has since been pardoned.

The brothers took no part in the breaking and entering, or in the taking and carrying away of these articles. They waited nearby until their friends entered the place and withdrew with the articles.

The applicants were never before charged with or convicted of crime. They have served one year and three months of their term of imprisonment. Their families require their assistance and support.

The Trial District Attorney, the Mayor of Hazleton, two of the Justices of the Peace, and a Constable, have petitioned the Board for clemency. The prosecutor in the case recommends pardon. Thomas Kennedy, president of the United Mine Workers of America, District 7, in a letter filed, also recommends a pardon.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the youth of the applicants, their prior good record, the term of imprisonment already served, the need of assistance and support required by their families, the recommendations of the prosecutor, the District Attorney, the Mayor of Hazleton, and certain law officers of that city, and the recommendation of the president of the United Mine Workers of that district, we have concluded that they have been sufficiently punished, and that if now released, they will prove themselves to be useful and law-abiding citizens.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions," recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Charles Sube and Daniel Sube.

Sir: At No. 25, January Sessions, 1921, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace, in and for the County of Jefferson, William Bofinger waived the finding of a true bill by the Grand Jury, and entered a plea of guilty to the charge of Breaking and Entering, Larceny and Receiving Stolen Goods, and on January 31, 1921, was sentenced to pay a fine of $100.00, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than 4 years nor more than 5 years.

The applicant is now 23 years of age and a citizen of the United States. He is unmarried. He is by occupation a coal miner. He has dependent on him for support, a father and mother, a sister 13 years of age, and a nephew 8 years of age. At the time of his conviction, he resided in Punxsutawney.

Buck Irony, Sam Rosana, Robert Hill and the applicant planned to break and enter the store of Abraham Pete at Anita, Jefferson County, about five miles distant from Punxsutawney, and to steal merchandise. Irony who was the master mind, went ahead and broke a window through which access to the store could be had. Rosena and Hill entered the store while the applicant stood on guard a short distance away. Irony had left the store before the arrival of his companions. Rosana and Hill came out of the store with travelling bags containing clothing, shoes and other merchandise. Rosana, Hill and the applicant then walked to Punxsutawney where the stolen goods were taken to the home of Hill and divided between Irony, Hill and Rosana. The applicant did not receive any of the stolen goods or any property whatsoever, derived from the thefts. Irony is a fugitive from justice. Rosana was paroled under the Juvenile law of the State. Hill and the applicant were jointly indicted and entered pleas of guilty whereupon sentence was imposed by the Court.

The applicant was only 20 years old when this crime was committed. He has now served two years and eleven months of his term of imprisonment. His prison record is excellent. The present District Attorney who has investigated the case, has filed a letter with the Board in which he states that the application is meritorious and that the applicant has been confined long enough to satisfy the ends of justice. Lex N. Mitchell, one of the members of the Public Service Commission, recommends a pardon in a letter filed with the Board.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the youth of the applicant when the crime was committed, his plea of guilty, the term of imprisonment already served, the need which his parents have of his support and assistance, because of the recommendation of Lex N. Mitchell, and the favorable attitude of the District Attorney, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and that if now released, he will prove himself a peaceful and law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At No. 62, April Sessions, 1920, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, in and for the County of Chester, R. C. Behringer pleaded guilty to the charge of Larceny, Receiving Stolen Goods and Entering a Pennsylvania Railroad car, and on November 14, 1921, was sentenced in the aggregate to pay a fine of $1100.00, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a period of not less than 8 years nor more than 11 years.

The applicant is 28 years of age and a citizen of the United States. He is a press man in the printing business, but was not employed at the time of his arrest in that business, he having played professional baseball in Pennsylvania and New Jersey. He is unmarried and at the time of his arrest was residing with his sister in the city of Philadelphia.

On the night of April 15th, 1920, the applicant with two other men, were discovered by police officers of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, in the act of stealing goods from freight cars standing on the tracks of said railroad, near Whitford, Chester County. When first discovered, several cases of merchandise were setting on the railroad embankment near a large auto truck. One of the thieves jumped from a freight car which had been entered, and fired several shots at the officers, which fire was returned by them. The auto truck immediately started in the direction of Philadelphia with the offenders in it, and was stopped at Wayne about 1:00 o'clock A. M. on the same night, and the applicant and his two companions who were in it, were promptly arrested. The applicant made a complete confession, admitting the robbery of several freight cars at the place and time above mentioned. He denied firing any shots, although one of the officers identified him as the man who had done so.

The auto truck which was used in the robbery of the freight cars, was jointly purchased by the applicant and his two companions. The other men proposed that they steal from the railroad cars and the applicant finally yielded. Three trips were made for the purpose. All of the property taken, was recovered except some cartons of tobacco which were sold by one of his companions. The whereabouts of the two men who were accomplices of the applicant in the commission of these crimes, is unknown.

The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of any crime. He has served two years and one month of his term of imprisonment.

A number of letters from prominent citizens who know the applicant, have been filed with the Board recommending clemency.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, his plea of guilty, the restoration of the greater portion of the stolen goods, the prior good record of the applicant and his term of imprisonment already served, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released, he will prove himself an honest, law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At No. 2, March Session, 1922, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, in and for the County of Fayette, Samuel Jenkins was convicted of Larceny from the Person, and Robbery, and on March 15, 1922, was sentenced to pay a fine of 6¢, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than four years nor more than six years.

The applicant is now 20 years of age, an American citizen, colored, and at the time of the alleged offense, was employed as a coal miner in Washington County, Pennsylvania.

On or about January 5th, 1922, the applicant came to Uniontown on his way to visit his parents in Fayette County, Pennsylvania. He met one Peter Brooks, a stranger, who invited him to take a walk. They started out Gallatin Avenue, Uniontown, and met two girls walking. Brooks grabbed a pocketbook from the arm of one of the girls and started to run away. He told the applicant to follow which he did. Two days later, Brooks and the applicant were arrested charged with Robbery and Larceny and the applicant was tried, convicted and sentenced as before stated.

The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of any crime. He has now served one year and eight months of his term of imprisonment. The crime was not committed by the applicant, and he was charged with the same by reason of the fact that he was in company with Brooks, the actual perpetrator.

The Trial Judge has filed with the Board a letter in which he states that Brooks was the master mind in the commision of the crime and that Jenkins was not aware of any intention to commit a crime, and that he never realized the situation he was in until Brooks seized the pocketbook. The Trial Judge "unqualifiedly recommends" a full pardon.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the comparative youth of the applicant, the fact that the applicant committed no crime, but was involved because he was in bad company, in consideration of the term of imprisonment already served, his prior good record, and the strong recommendation of the Trial Judge, we have concluded that the applicant has been sufficiently punished and that if now released, will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open seissions," recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Samuel Jenkins.

Sir: At No. 6, September Term, 1922, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Beaver, Charles Clark was convicted of aggravated assault and battery, and on September 30, 1922, was sentenced to pay a fine of $100.00, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than two years and ten months and not more than three years.

The applicant is thirty-four years of age, a native born American citizen and a coal miner by occupation. At the time of his arrest he was employed as a coal miner by the Wayne Coal Company at Canton, Ohio. He is a resident of Beaver County, is married and has two children, aged eight and two years, respectively.

On March 27, 1922, the applicant and one Thomas Britton, who had been drinking together, went to Ellwood City, Pennsylvania, in an automobile owned by the applicant. On their way home they stopped in Darlington. Britton took the applicant's car, leaving him behind. The applicant thought Britton was stealing the car and pursued him in another car, stopped him on the road, and an altercation ensued, the applicant hitting Britton once on the head with his fist. Both had been friends theretofore and never had any difficulty. Britton refused to make an information, but an information was made by the County Detective.

The applicant has now served one year and almost three months of his term of imprisonment.

Five of the jury which convicted the applicant have petitioned the Board for his pardon and Britton, the person assaulted, also asks clemency. His wife and small children require his support and assistance.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the trifling character of the offense, the term of imprisonment already served, the need which his family have for his assistance, and in consideration of the recommendation of the person who was assaulted and five of the jurymen who convicted him, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and that if now released he will prove himself a peaceable, law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Charles Clark.

At Nos. 160, 161, 162, 163, October Sessions, 1921, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Blair, Marion Yon waived the finding of a Grand Jury and pleaded guilty to the charge of robbery, and on September 28, 1921, was sentenced to pay a fine of $25.00, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than four years nor more than six years. Sentence was imposed in the first case and suspended in the three other cases.

The applicant is now twenty-eight years of age, an American citizen by birth and a machinist by occupation. At the time of his arrest he was out of work. His place of residence was at Juniata, Pennsylvania. His family consisted of a wife and two children, aged eleven and two years, respectively.

The applicant being out of work fell into bad company and joined a band of idle and dissolute young men who committed a series of petty larcenies, and was finally arrested with others and tried, convicted and sentenced as before stated.

The applicant was never before charged with, or convicted of, any crime. He has now served two years and almost three months of his term of imprisonment.

Harry H. Willock, a Trustee of the Western Penitentiary, recommends a pardon on account of the excellent prison record of the applicant. Mrs. Rae Muirhead, a Trustee of the Penitentiary, also recommends clemency.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the prior good record of the applicant, the term of imprisonment already served, the need which his family have of his support and assistance, and because of the recommendations of Trustees Willock and Mrs. Muirhead, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and that if now released he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At No. 2, September Sessions, 1919, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, in and for the County of Bedford, Leonardo Latona pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with Murder, and on September 4th, 1919, the Court, after hearing testimony, fixed the degree at Murder in the second degree and sentenced the applicant to pay a fine of $100.00, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than six years nor more than eight years.

The applicant is 27 years of age and a subject of the Kingdom of Italy. He is by occupation a coal miner and was so engaged at the time of his arrest. He is married and has a wife and three small children who reside at Woodvale, Bedford County, Pennsylvania.

In May, 1919, Samuel Latona, a brother of the applicant, was in a house at Woodvale, Bedford County, on a Sunday afternoon with other Italians. An Italian named Santa Sparatza, who had a criminal record, shot Samuel Latona through the body in the presence of the applicant without any apparent provocation. Another Italian, Pagano, then shot Samuel Latona a second time. The applicant ran to his brother's assistance and stooped over him endeavoring with his hands to put out the fire which had caught in his brother's clothes. While so doing, Pagano fired at the applicant and struck him in the mouth, the bullet knocking out several teeth and passed out again. Samuel Latona although twice shot, fired at Pagano wounding him badly in the body, and also fired at Sparatza, badly wounding him. The applicant picked up his brother's pistol and endeavored to shoot Pagano. The latter retreated, followed by the applicant and a fusillade of bullets ensued. Pagano, Samuel Latona and Sparatza all died from effects of these wounds. The applicant narrowly escaped death and was finally taken to jail in Bedford. The applicant and his brother, Lewis Latona, were jointly indicted for the murder of Pagano, but Lewis Latona was acquitted by the Jury.

The applicant has always borne a good reputation and was never before charged with or convicted of crime. The provocation was great and his guilt consisted in following and endeavoring to kill the man who had without provocation, shot his brother and who had endeavored to kill him and had badly wounded the applicant while he was endeavoring to put out the fire which had caught in his brother's clothes.

The applicant has now served four years and three months of his term of imprisonment. The Trial District Attorney filed no letter with the Board, but the applicant's counsel stated to the Board, that the prosecuting officer was of the opinion that a pardon could now be properly and justly granted.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the prior good record of the applicant, the term of imprisonment already served, the comparative youth of the applicant when the crime was committed, and the recommendation of the Trial District Attorney, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and that if now released, he will prove himself a peaceable and law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At Nos. 5, 8, 9, December Sessions, 1918, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Centre, Cldye G. Gray and George F. Gray were convicted of larceny, and on February 24, 1919, were sentenced in the aggregate to pay a fine of $3.00, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than two years and six months nor more than three years.

The applicants are brothers and native born citizens of the United States. Clyde G. Gray, one of the applicants, is thirty-seven years of age, and at the time of his arrest was engaged in farming and resided in Julian, Centre County, with his wife and three children, aged 12, 9 and 5, respectively. George F. Gray, one of the applicants, is thirty-nine years of age and was also engaged in farming at the time of his arrest and resided in Julian, Centre County, with a woman who was his common law wife.

The applicants were convicted and sentenced for the larceny of five head of cattle. The crimes were committed in July and August of 1918. The chief witness against them was one Meris Mann, the common law wife of George F. Gray, one of the applicants. A short time prior to their arrest Meris Mann had a violent quarrel with her common law husband and threatened him with revenge. Without her testimony the brothers would never have been convicted.

The applicants have now served four years and ten months of their term of imprisonment. They were never before charged with, or convicted of, any crime.

Grant Hoover, a member of the Executive Committee of the Pennsylvania State Conservation Council, has filed with the Board a letter in which he strongly recommends a pardon. The Trial District Attorney has also filed a letter with the Board in which he also strongly recommends a pardon. A number of letters from prominent citizens of Centre County, asking for clemency have been filed.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the prior good record of the applicants, the term of imprisonment already served and the recommendations of Grant Hoover, the Trial District Attorney and others, we have concluded that they have been sufficiently punished, and that if now released they will prove themselves useful and law-abiding citizens.

This pardon is granted largely on the representations of Mr. Hoover, and the Board requests him, in so far as he can do so, to make himself responsible for the good behavior of the applicants after their release.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Clyde G. Gray and George F. Gray.

Sir: At No. 69, January Sessions, 1915, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace, in and for the County of Dauphin, Harry T. Sheetz pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with Larceny by Bailee, and Receiving Stolen Goods, and on January 12th, 1915, was sentenced to pay a fine of $5.00, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a period of not less than four years nor more than seven years.

The applicant is 50 years of age, a native born citizen of the United States, an iron roller by occupation. He is a divorced man and has no children.

On October 10th, 1914, the applicant, who was then living in Fleetwood, Pennsylvania, hired a team from D. Miles Sherrick of Middletown, Pennsylvania. He, with a companion named Mellott, thereupon visited different taverns, drinking as they went, and finally in Kittanning, Pennsylvania, was arrested on a warrant issued at the instance of the owner of the team, charging him with Larceny by Bailee.

In 1905, the applicant pleaded guilty in Franklin County to a charge of Larceny by Bailee, and was sentenced to five years in the Eastern Penitentiary. He was released after serving three years and six months of the sentence, the balance being commuted. He was arrested for the present offense in October, 1914. On January 12th, 1919, he was arrested at the gate on a warrant from the United States District Court, and was taken to Cleveland, Ohio, on the charge of using the mails with intent to defraud. He pleaded guilty, and was sentenced to one year and a day in the Federal Prison at Atlanta. After the expiration of that sentence, he was returned to Cleveland, Ohio. In October, 1920, he was again arrested on the charge of Burglary, Larceny and Receiving Stolen Goods, and was sentenced for a term of not less than one year nor more than 15 years in the Ohio State Penitentiary. He was released on July 17th, 1922, from that Institution and was thereupon returned to the Eastern Penitentiary to serve the remaining three years of the maximum term upon the offense for which the pardon is now asked.

The applicant is now suffering from pulmonary tuberculosis of the progressive type, both lungs being effected. He is also suffering from neuritis and is so crippled that he can only move about with the aid of crutches.

In consideration of the serious physical condition of the applicant, and the recommendation of the parole officer, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released, he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Harry T. Sheetz.

Sir: At No. 279, September Sessions, 1919, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, in and for the county of Luzerne, John Neary, pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with manslaughter, and on November 11, 1919, was sentenced to pay a fine of $500.00, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a period of not less than 11 years and 6 months nor more than 12 years.

The applicant is 55 years of age and an American citizen. He is an electrical engineer by occupation and at the time of his arrest was employed as such in the City of Wilkes-Barre, where he resided. He is the father of 10 children, ranging in age from 7 years to 24 years.

There had been considerable bickering between the applicant and his wife. On May 12, 1919, about 10 A. M., while his wife was upstairs, the applicant also went upstairs. Shortly thereafter a shot was heard. The applicant came downstairs and hurried out for the doctor and for the priest. The wife had been shot in the abdomen and died about four days later. The applicant accompanied his wife to the hospital and there surrendered to the police. There was no eye-witness to the tragedy. The applicant states that after he went upstairs he obtained the revolver. In a struggle for its possession, the revolver was discharged, with fatal result. The hands of both were marked and scarred in the struggle for the possession of the weapon.

The applicant was never before charged with, or convicted of crime. He has now served 4 years and 1 month of his term of imprisonment. His prison record is excellent.

The trial District Attorney has filed a letter with the Board, in which he states that the applicant has been sufficiently punished and should be given the chance to make good. The Editor of the Wilkes-Barre Evening News, by letter filed, recommends a pardon. His former employers, by letter filed certify to his industry and integrity and offer to re-employ him at any time.

Reverend Father J. J. Curran strongly recommends a pardon for the applicant so that he may rejoin and care for his family, which requires his support. The children are now scattered among relatives and friends and one is in an Orphanage.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the uncertainty as to the applicant's guilt, his prior good record, the term of imprisonment already served, the need of his children for his support, the recommendations of the trial District Attorney, the Editor of the Wilkes-Barre Evening News, and above all, the recommendation of Father Curran and his voluntary promise to keep in close touch with the applicant to see that he reunites his family and discharges his parental duties and deports himself as a good, law-abiding citizen, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions," recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said John Neary.

Sir: At No. 100, November Sessions, 1920, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Allegheny, Lawrence Fisher pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with robbery and receiving stolen goods and on December 23, 1920, was sentenced to pay a fine of 6¼ cents, costs, and to undergo a term of imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than ten years nor more than fifteen years.

The applicant is twenty-two years of age, an American citizen by birth and had worked as an automobile mechanic, although he was not so employed at the time of his arrest. He resided with his mother and sister sixteen years old, in the City of Pittsburgh.

The applicant on November 24, 1920, when nineteen years of age was arrested as a member of a gang of four persons, one a boy and two older men, and pleaded guilty to thirteen automobile hold-ups which were practically committed in one night. The older men were never apprehended and are fugitives from justice. He pleaded guilty to thirteen indictments covering these offenses and sentence was imposed as above on the one indictment.

The applicant has now served three years of his term of imprisonment. He was only nineteen years old when the crime in question was committed and was under the domination of older men who have hitherto escaped punishment. The applicant's mother has planned to remove to California with her daughter, and the applicant if released will accompany them to that distant State, where he will contribute to their support. A member of the present Board of Trustees of the Penitentiary recommends a pardon in consideration of valuable information which the applicant imparted and which has resulted in effecting beneficial changes in the management of that Institution.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the youth of the applicant when the crime was committed, the term of imprisonment already served, the need which his mother and sister have of his support and maintenance, in consideration of the opportunity afforded him in a distant State remote from former evil associates to rehabilitate himself, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished.

Sir: At Nos. 18, 19 and 20, February Sessions, 1921, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for Allegheny County, Jerome Dorr alias Jack Dorr was convicted of larceny and at Nos. 21 and 22 of the same term in the same Court he was convicted of operating a motor vehicle without the consent of the owner and on February 15, 1921, was sentenced in the aggregate to pay a fine of 12½ cents, costs, and to undergo a period of imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a term of not less than fourteen years nor more than twenty years.

The applicant is twenty-two years of age and shortly before the time of his arrest was employed as an embroidery worker in a factory at Hoboken, New Jersey, where he resided with his mother. He is unmarried. He bears an honorable discharge as a World War Veteran.

The applicant came to Pittsburgh on or about October 20, 1920, in search of employment. In an Employment Office he met one George Grant, a man much older than himself who persuaded him to accompany him. Grant subsequently stole three automobiles the applicant being with him at the time. There was no direct evidence that the latter committed these crimes. There was an alleged confession by him which he subsequently stated was obtained by intimidation and abuse. Grant, the perpetrator of the crimes, escaped. After being imprisoned 105 days in the County Jail, the applicant was finally brought to trial, convicted and sentenced as above.

The applicant has now served two years and eleven months of his term of imprisonment. He was never before charged with or convicted of crime. At the time of his conviction he was only nineteen years of age.

Seven of the twelve jurymen which convicted him, by letters filed with the Board, recommend a pardon. The trial Judge in a letter filed with the Board, states that in his judgment the applicant has been sufficiently punished. Congressman Egan of New Jersey, in whose district the applicant resided has filed with the Board a letter recommending a pardon. Two Captains of Police residing in Hoboken, New Jersey, also recommend clemency.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the youth of the applicant when the crime was committed, his prior good record, the term of imprisonment already served, the excessive sentence, the recommendations of the trial Judge and others, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and that if now released he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At Nos. 91, 92, 93, 94, 95 and 96, January Sessions, 1921, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Lehigh, Homer Bice pleaded guilty to indictments charging him with larceny, breaking and entering, and operating an automobile without the consent of the owners, and on January 24, 1921, was sentenced in the aggregate to pay a fine of $500.00, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a term of not less than five years nor more than seven years. Sentence was suspended on four indictments charging larceny.

The applicant is twenty-three years of age and a native born American citizen. He is unmarried. At the time of his arrest he was employed at the Homoeopathic State Hospital, Allentown.

On the evening of December 20, 1920, the applicant with one Robert Smith, went to the garage of the said State Hospital, and took therefrom a Dodge sedan belonging to the institution, for the purpose of taking a ride. They left Allentown about 10:00 o'clock P. M. and drove to Pittsburgh, and from Pittsburgh to other places in Pennsylvania and were finally arrested in Aspinwall, Pa., on January 4, 1921, and brought back to Allentown for trial. They took the automobile with the intention of taking a pleasure ride and returning, but instead of doing so they proceeded to stay out beyond their time, and continued to drive on and on until they were finally arrested. The automobile was returned to the hospital.

The applicant was twenty years of age when arrested and was never before charged with or convicted of crime. He has now served three years of his term of imprisonment. His fellow employe, Robert Smith, who was arrested and convicted with him, was granted a pardon for his share in the offense in December, 1923. The applicant's mother is in poor health and requires his support.

The Trial Judge, in a letter filed with the Board, states that he had recommended a pardon for Robert Smith and that the applicant is entitled to the same consideration as Smith.

In consideration of all the cicrumstances of this case, the youth of the applicant when the crime was committed, his prior good record, the term of imprisonment already served, the need which his mother has for his support and assistance, in further consideration of the fact that the hospital authorities, the owners of the stolen car, do not oppose a pardon, and because of the recommendation of the Trial Judge, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released, will prove himself to be a useful law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions," recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Homer Bice.

Sir: At No. 563, January Sessions, 1919, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Philadelphia, Francis Joseph Olsen alias Frank Olsen pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with Voluntary Manslaughter, and on March 20, 1919, was sentenced to pay costs, and to undergo a term of imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a period of not less than seven years nor more than twelve years.

The applicant is a native born American citizen, twenty-five years of age. At the time of his arrest he was employed as a night watchman by a building contractor in the City of Philadelphia. His residence was with his mother at Croydon, Pennsylvania. He is unmarried.

On October 30, 1918, about three o'clock in the afternoon the applicant entered a saloon in Philadelphia, near his home, and drank beer. The proprietor of the saloon was a Pole and the persons there at the time were of the same nationality. An argument arose between the applicant and one John Soldroski, concerning a watch which the latter tried to sell to the applicant. When the latter refused to purchase same, Soldroski became angry, struck him a blow on the nose, knocking him down. The applicant congenitally crippled and having but one arm was dazed and stunned by the violence of the blow, arose and when he perceived, the men in the saloon crowding up as he supposed to the assistance of the man who had unexpectedly felled him to the floor, drew a gun from his pocket and shot Soldroski in the abdomen. The latter died on the following day.

The applicant was twenty-one years old when the crime was committed. He has now served four years and ten months of his term of imprisonment. He was never before charged with or convicted of crime.

Samuel R. Boggs, President of the Model Mills Company, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, a Trustee of the Eastern Penitentiary has filed with the Board a letter in which he offers to pay the expenses which the applicant would incur for treatment for tuberculosis in the Mt. Alto Sanatarium, and also offers to give him a position when he recovers his strength. He also obligates himself to stand sponsor for the applicant and to see that he behaves himself.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the comparative youth of the applicant when the crime was committed, his prior good record, the term of imprisonment already served, and in further consideration of Samuel R. Boggs offer to pay the expenses of treatment at a Sanatarium, and to provide a position for the applicant when he has recovered his strength, and also his offer to be responsible for the applicant after his liberation, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and that if now released, he will become a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Francis Joseph Olsen alias Frank Olsen.

Sir: At No. 15, March Term, 1921, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Beaver, Edward Elam alias William Edward Elam was convicted of robbery and receiving stolen goods, and on March 18, 1921, was sentenced to pay a fine of $100.00, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than four years nor more than six years.

The applicant is twenty-six years of age and resided in the City of Pittsburgh. He is unmarried. He was employed by the Amalgamated Leather Company at Wilmington, Delaware, for a year and a half after his return from France where he served during the World War. Later he was employed by Cuthbert Brothers, Contractors, in the City of Pittsburgh.

On December 20, 1920, the applicant went to Midland, Beaver County, in search of employment. Pete Milkovick kept a general store in said borough. It was charged that the applicant and two companions came to the store and purchased cigarettes. One of the men seized Milkovick by the arms. The applicant pointed a gun at Milkovick, while the third rifled his pockets and money drawer. They carried away about $100.00. Milkovick and his wife, at the preliminary hearing, identified the applicant as the one who pointed a gun at Milkovick, although prior to the hearing their identification was not clear. The applicant had no revolver in his possession when arrested and only a few dollars in money. He has always maintained his innocence. He has now served two years and ten months of his term of imprisonment.

The Trial Judge in a letter filed with the Board recommends a pardon.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the comparative youth of the applicant when the crime was committed, the doubt as to his guilt, the term of imprisonment already served, and the recommendation of the Trial Judge, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released, will prove himself to be a useful and law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At No. 53, April Term, 1922, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Luzerne, Henry Chadwick was convicted of breaking and entering, and larceny, and on April 5, 1922, was sentenced to pay a fine of $200.00, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a period of not less than four years nor more than six years.

The applicant is a native born American citizen and twenty-five years of age. He is of Lithuanian descent. He is a clerk by occupation and at the time of his arrest resided with his aunt in Duryea, Luzerne County. He is unmarried.

The applicant purchased one dozen pair of silk hose for the sum of eight dollars from a man with whom he was playing cards. The man was a stranger to the applicant and claimed that he was a hosiery salesman from New York. The applicant made the purchase in order to present them to a young lady with whom he was at the time keeping company, but subsequently after a quarrel sold the hose at cost to another woman. About one week later he was interrogated regarding the theft of merchandise from a store conducted by one Luggs, and was finally arrested and charged with breaking and entering, and larceny of merchandise from the Luggs store. The hosiery in question was identified by Mr. Luggs as part of the merchandise stolen from his place of business on December 22, 1921. The applicant, notwithstanding the fact that the hosiery which he sold was identified as stolen property by the owner, stadfastly maintained his innocence of the robbery. He was only twenty-three years of age when the alleged crime was committed He was never before charged with or convicted of any crime. He has now served one year and nine months of his term of imprisonment.

Both the Trial Judge and the Trial District Attorney, in letters filed with the Board, recommend clemency.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the comparative youth of the applicant when the alleged crime was committed, the doubt as to his guilt, his prior good record, the term of imprisonment already served, and in further consideration of the recommendations of the Trial Judge and Trial District Attorney, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released, he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At No. 79, September Sessions, 1920, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Clearfield, Phil Eckelberger was convicted of felonious entry, and assault and battery with intent to commit murder, and on February 25, 1921, was sentenced to pay a fine of $500.00, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a term of not less than four years nor more than five years.

The applicant is thirty-eight years of age and a coal miner by occupation. He is a native born American citizen and unmarried. At the time of his arrest he resided with his mother in Punxsutawney, Pennsylvania.

Abe Caplan, a Jew, resided a short distance from DuBois, Clearfield County. On the first floor of his residence he conducted a general store and lived on the second floor with his family consisting of a wife and two children. Sometime after midnight, July 23, 1920, the store was burglarized and certain articles carried away, and Caplan who was sleeping in a room on the second floor was shot while in bed, there being three bullet wounds. He fully recovered. Eight days after the crime was committed the applicant was arrested and finally convicted and sentenced. He was identified as the perpetrator of the crime by Mrs. Caplan.

The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of any crime. He has now served approximately two years and eleven months of his term of imprisonment.

George W. Freeman, Sergeant of the State Police, by request of the Board, investigated the circumstances of this case and filed a report in which he concludes that the applicant is innocent of the crime, and that his arrest was the result of what is commonly called a frame-up. Mrs. Caplan was mistaken in the identy of the burglar. At the time when the crime was committed the applicant was in company with a woman some distance from the scene, and this fact was not brought out at the trial in order to save the reputation of the woman.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the prior good record of the applicant, the term of imprisonment already served, and the extreme doubt as to his guilt, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released, will prove himself to be a useful and law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At No. 273, May Sessions, 1920, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Philadelphia, Edward Coffey alias James Coffey alias James Hughes was convicted of Robbery, and on May 20, 1920, was sentenced to pay costs, and to undergo a term of imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a period of not less than nine years nor more than ten years.

The applicant is twenty-eight years of age, a native born American citizen, and until shortly before his arrest was employed as a salesman and resided in the City of Philadelphia.

On May 7, 1920, the applicant and one John Hollis had been drinking together. Both were out of employment. About six P. M. of that day, while on Richmond Street, in the City of Philadelphia, they encountered a wagon driven by one Fred Setter, who was employed by a provision dealer in delivering goods and collecting money. They stopped the wagon and took from the driver the sum of $107.00, which was recovered immediately thereafter. No violence was used in the holdup and the victim of the robbery made no outcry until sometime after the crime was committed. Hollis and the applicant were almost immediately arrested, and both were subsequently convicted and sentenced as above stated.

The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of crime. He has served three years and eight months of his term of imprisonment. While he is guilty of the crime, it was not the result of premeditation or conspiracy but was committed on the impulse of the moment.

M. H. McClockey, the employer of the man who was robbed, has filed with the Board a letter in which he recommends a pardon. Several of the officials of the Eastern Penitentiary who have come into personal contact with the applicant have filed letters with the Board asking clemency.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the prior good record of the applicant, the term of imprisonment already served, in further consideration of the recommendations of officials connected with the Penitentiary who have come into personal contact with the applicant, and were in a position to observe his conduct, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and that if now released he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At No. 155 July Term, 1920, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Philadelphia, Abraham Gropper alias Abraham Glupper was convicted of Entering to steal, and on February 4, 1921, was sentenced to pay costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a period of not less than seven years nor more than eight years.

The applicant is 29 years of age, white, married, and a clerk by occupation. He has lived practically all his life in New York City.

On or about June 8, 1920, the applicant and John Mariano alias Joseph Riese and Joseph Cupielo, all of whom resided in New York came to Philadelphia and took lodgings at the Dayton House, No. 125 South 13th Street, Philadelphia. The Carmac Company occupy the building adjoining. Two days after the arrival of these men they forced a window into the third floor of the building occupied by the Carmac Company and stole therefrom a quantity of ladies apparel, which they shipped in a trunk which they had brought with them. On the day of the theft while on their way to the station in a taxicab, as the result of a collision Cupielo was so badly injured that he had to be taken to the hospital and in the dress suit case which accompanied hime were found samples of ladies clothing similar to the apparel which had been stolen. This circumstance caused the arrest, conviction and sentence of the three men. There was no question as to the guilt of these men.

The applicant has now served practically three years of his term of imprisonment. His prison record is good. He has shown every evidence of true reformation and a desire to rehabilitate himself. The Manager of the Arch Street Theatre, Philadelphia, a well known citizen, in a letter filed with the Board has offered employment to the applicant if released, and a home and employment has also been offered him by the Milford Farm Rotisserie, located on the Boston Post Road at Milford, Connecticut. Mrs. Joseph M. Gazzam, of Philadelphia, and other prominent and philanthropic persons, who have a personal acquaintance with the applicant have conferred with him in prison and are impressed by his repentance and desire to lead a better life, have filed letters with the Board urging clemency.

The trial Judge has filed with the Board a letter in which, after commenting upon the case, he indicates that he is favorable to a pardon.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the term of imprisonment already served, because of the fact that two responsible persons have offered to give the applicant employment if released, in consideration of the representations of prominent and responsible persons who know the applicant and are convinced that he has truly reformed and should be given the opportunity to rehabilitate himself, and in further consideration of the representations of the trial Judge, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and that if now released he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At Nos. 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, January Term 1919 in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace, in and for the County of Philadelphia, Adolph Wittig alias Adolph Wooding pleaded guilty to seven bills of indictment charging sodomy and buggery and solicitation to commit the same, and on January 10, 1919, was sentenced to pay the costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a period of not less than six years nor more than ten years.

The applicant is a native of Hamburg, Germany, 45 years of age and unmarried. During the greater portion of his life he has been engaged in a clerical capacity with various steamship companies. He has an aged widowed and infirm mother in Germany who requires his support.

The applicant, in 1914, while in the employ of a German transportation company came to America and in August of that year his employment ceased due to the war and he was unable to return to his native country. He subsequently obtained positions with coast-wise lines. During the war he registered as an enemy alien and the fact that his employment was irregular and that he could not contribute to the support of his parents in Germany, and the worry incident to his sojourn in a country which was at war with his native land preyed upon his mind to such an extent that he became partially irresponsible for many of his actions. Prior to the commission of the offenses to which he pleaded guilty his reputation and character were unimpeached.

The applicant has now served five years, or one-half of the maximum sentence imposed.

The trial Judge has filed with the Board a letter in which he states that he believes the applicant was a subject for observation and treatment rather than for punishment and that he had been committed to the Penitentiary because there was no institution in the State to which he could have been sent for treatment. He suggests the commutation of his sentence so that he may be transferred to the proper authorities for deportation to Germany.

The applicant, if released, cannot become a charge on the community because a warrant of deportation has been lodged at the Eastern Penitentiary and he will immediately upon release be taken into custody by an agent from the office of the Immigration Commissioner, placed upon a ship and deported.

Colonel John C. Groome, Warden of the Eastern Penitentiary, has filed with the Board a letter in which he states that there can be no doubt whatever as to the applicant's deportation if released, because all the papers for such deportation have been prepared and Ignatius J. Horstman, of Philadelphia, a former member of the Board of Inspectors of the Eastern Penitentiary has personally guaranteed to see that the applicant is immediately deported upon his release. The trial District Attorney who strenously opposed the original application for pardon in 1921, does not now object to clemency.

In consideration of the term of imprisonment already served by the applicant, the need which his aged mother has of his support and assistance, and in consideration of the recommendation of the trial Judge and the certainty that the applicant will be deported immediately upon his release, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions," recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Adolph Wittig alias Adolph Wooding.

Sir: At No. 4 March Term, 1917, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the county of Fayette, Martz Mareni was convicted of murder in the second degree, and on December 31, 1917, was sentenced to pay a fine of six cents, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than eight years nor more than twelve years.

The applicant is 27 years of age, a native-born citizen of Italian descent. His occupation was that of helper to a pipe-fitter and he also ran a motor in a coal mine, at the time of his arrest. His home was in Republic, Penna., situated about twelve miles from Uniontown. He is unmarried. He has a father, mother, four sisters and four brothers.

On the evening of December 24, 1916, the applicant and one Mike Leonardi were driving in the automobile owned by the latter, which he used as a taxicab. A young woman, Alice Miller, who was a stranger to the two men asked them to take her to a certain street car station. There was one passenger in the car at the time. After his discharge, they proceeded by a brick and macadam road, which was the shortest route to Miss Miller's destination. The latter being unfamiliar with the route taken told the men that they were on the wrong road, and acting under this misapprehension, while the car was going at high speed, she leaped to the ground and was so seriously injured from the effects of her fall that she subsequently died. The applicant and his companion did not see her disappear, but after going some distance discovered that the car was empty. They returned a portion of the way to search for the missing passenger, but the night being dark they could not find her. Both men were arrested the following morning. They had made known the fact of her disappearance the night when it occurred and when they failed after search to find her, concluded that she had jumped from the car and proceeded on her journey by trolley car. The medical testimony at the time of the trial was to the effect that the injuries of the deceased were the result of her jumping from the car.

The applicant has now served six years, or one-half of his term of imprisonment. His prison record is good. He was never before charged with or convicted of crime.

The mother and step-father of the girl filed with the Board a letter in which they state their opinion that the applicant was not only not guilty of the murder but was innocent of any wrong doing. They state that the applicant was only 20 years of age when the alleged crime was committed, that his father is crippled from injuries received in a coal mine and unable to work, and that his mother and younger brothers and sisters require his assistance and support.

The trial Judge filed with the Board a letter in which he stated that he had interviewed the mother and step-father of the deceased girl and that they stated to him that the statements contained in their letter were true and that they desired the applicant to be pardoned. He further states that he knows of no reason why the pardon should not be granted.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the doubt as to any wrong doing on the part of the applicant, his youth when the alleged crime was committed, the term of imprisonment already served, his prior good record, the recommendation of the mother and step-father of the deceased and of the trial judge, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and that if now released he will prove himself a useful law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions," recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Martz Mareni.

Sir: At No. 140, February Sessions, 1922, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Alleghany, George Pritchard was convicted of Murder in the first degree, and on July 27, 1923, was sentenced to be electrocuted.

The applicant is twenty-nine years of age, an American citizen, colored, and his occupation is that of chauffeur. He resided in the City of Pittsburgh at the time of his arrest, and is married.

For three months prior to the night of the tragedy, the applicant and Fairy Belle Walker, the deceased, cohabited together as husband and wife. On the morning of December 31, 1921, they left their home and went to the home of a sister of the latter, in Sharpsburg, a suburb of Pittsburgh. During the afternoon the applicant left the woman with her sister and returned after an absence of three hours. He remained a short time, departed and returned again finally about eight P. M. During his absence the applicant made four attempts to borrow a revolver, the last effort being successful. Armed with the weapon, he returned and engaged in ordinary conversation with his paramour, when, without apparent cause, the applicant started a quarrel, and when reproved by the brother-in-law of the deceased, who was in the room, desisted. Later, while the Walker woman was reading a newspaper, without any warning, the applicant approached her and emptied the contents of the revolver into her body, killing her instantly. He then left the premises, and shortly returned to the scene of the tragedy and discharged the revolver into his own head, destroying the sight of his right eye. The only excuse for his conduct was the claim that the deceased had given money, which he had bestowed, to another man.

The applicant was never before charged with, or convicted of crime. He has been imprisoned since the day of the tragedy, a period of twenty-five months.

While the evidence as to the mental condition of the applicant at the time of the tragedy was conflicting, and while the Jury by their verdict found that he was sane, strong evidence offered in support of his defense of insanity raised serious doubts as to his mental responsibility. Carroll P. Davis, Trust Officer of the Union Trust Company, Pittsburgh, and Thomas Patterson, a prominent Attorney, who formerly employed the applicant as a chauffeur, have filed letters with the Board in which they express their opinion, based on personal contact with him, that the applicant is deficient mentally. The Trial Judge, in consideration of what he terms deficient mentality, recommends clemency. Wallace Borland, a member of the City Council of Pittsburgh, and former Senator Mearkle, who have known the applicant for many years, also recommend clemency.

Dr. William C. Sandy, Director, Bureau of Mental Health, State Department of Welfare, by request of the Board, made an examination of the applicant and has filed an elaborate report, based on said examination and further observation, and declares that the applicant is mentally defective.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the recommendations of the Trial Judge and prominent citizens who were well acquainted with the applicant, and, above all, in consideration of the report of Dr. Sandy, we have concluded that the applicant is defective mentally, and that the sentence of death heretofore imposed on him should be commuted to life imprisonment.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions", recommend that the sentence of death heretofore, imposed on George Pritchard shall be commuted to life imprisonment.

Sir: At No. 9, March Term, 1922, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace, in and for the County of Berks, Oswin Hottenstein pleaded guilty to the charge of Malicious Injury to Railroad, and on March 6, 1922, was sentenced to pay a fine of $100, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a period of not less than three years nor more than six years.

The applicant is now 20 years of age, an American citizen, a laborer by occupation and unmarried. He has a mother and three brothers.

On February 9, 1922, the applicant, who was 18 years of age, went upon the tracks of the Philadelphia and Reading Railway Company to pick coal, and while thus engaged, picked up an iron brake shoe and placed it on one of the rails of the track. It constituted such an obstruction as might derail a train passing over it. The obstruction was discovered by a railroad employee and removed by him before the arrival of any train. No damage of any kind was caused thereby. When arrested, the applicant admitted placing the iron on the track, and by way of explanation, stated that he put it there in order that it could be more readily found by the track walker. The lad evidently did not realize the probable serious consequences of his act.

The prosecutor, an officer of the Railroad Company, is favorable to clemency. The Trial District Attorney has filed with the Board a favorable statement of the case in which he interposes no objection to clemency. The President of the Railroad Company, in a letter to the applicant which is filed with the Board, is favorable to a pardon.

The applicant has now served one year and eleven months of his term of imprisonment. He was never before charged with or convicted of crime. He was only 18 years of age when the crime was committed.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the youth of the applicant when the crime was committed, the prior good record of the applicant, the term of imprisonment already served, the recommendation of the President of the Railroad Company, and the favorable statement of the Trial District Attorney, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released, he will prove himself to be a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions," recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Oswin Hottenstein.

Sir: At No. 30, March Sessions, 1916, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Allegheny, James Holmes was convicted of murder in the second degree, and on June 28, 1916, was sentenced to pay a fine of six and one-fourth cents, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a term of not less than ten years nor more than twelve years.

The applicant was twenty-eight years old at the time of his conviction. He is colored, an American citizen, unmarried, and at the time of his arrest was a laborer working for a contractor on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad at Pittsburgh.

On January 8, 1916, the applicant went to a saloon on Wylie Avenue, Pittsburgh, which was frequented by colored people. While sitting there Emma Rhodes, a woman more than forty years of age, large in stature, was also in the saloon with friends drinking liquor. She had a bad reputation as a fighter. She asked the applicant, who was a stranger, to buy her a drink. Upon his refusal to do so she proceeded to revile and abuse him. In order to keep peace the applicant left the saloon. On the afternoon of the same day he returned. While sitting there Emma Rhodes again abused and reviled him. He got up to leave the saloon when she came behind him, struck him on the jaw with her fist, and reached back and grabbed a chair as if to strike him. The applicant, a stranger surrounded by friends of the woman, who were drinking with her, somewhat intimidated by her reputation for belligerency, and believing that the woman, who was considerably larger than he and drunk, would strike him with the chair, pulled out his gun and shot her twice, as the result of which she died on the same day.

The applicant was never before charged with, or convicted of, crime. He has served seven years and eight months of his term of imprisonment, and his prison record is excellent, as shown by the letter of the Warden on file. His parents, who are aged and infirm, require his support.

The Trial Judge in a letter filed with the Board is noncommittal with reference to clemency, but the Trial District Attorney in a letter filed with the Board recommends pardon.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, in consideration of the fact that the applicant was assaulted by a large, drunken woman and had every reason to expect grievous bodily injury at her hands when he fired the fatal shot, in consideration of the term of imprisonment already served, his prior good record and the recommendation of the Trial District Attorney, and because of the fact that his aged and infirm parents require his support, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released he will prove himself a good, law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said James Holmes.

Sir: At Nos. 623 and 624, August Sessions, 1921, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Philadelphia, Henry E. Johnson, alias Harry E. Johnson, pleaded guilty to bills of indictment charging him with Bigamy and Perjury, and on August 26, 1921, was sentenced on the charge of Perjury to pay costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a term of not less than three years nor more than five years.

The defendant is twenty-nine years of age and is a machinist by trade, and at the time of his arrest resided in the City of Philadelphia.

The applicant was married to Leona Vincent on December 15, 1916, at Elkton, Maryland. They lived together in the City of Philadelphia until August, 1917, when he enlisted in the United States Army and continued in service until May, 1919. Upon his return from service he found that his wife had been going out in the company of other men, she representing herself as being a single woman, and the applicant and his wife separated. On October 27, 1920, the applicant married Grace Harley and continued to live with her in Philadelphia from that date until his arrest in July, 1921. The charges of Bigamy and Perjury grew out of the statements made by him in his application for license to marry the second time. His lawful wife has since obtained a divorce and married one William Levis, with whom she kept company while the applicant was in the service.

The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of crime. He has served two years and six months of his term of imprisonment. Grace Harley, his unlawful second wife, asks for clemency and the District Attorney who prosecuted this case does not oppose the application.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the prior good record of the applicant and the term of imprisonment already served, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released he will prove himself a law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At No. 1, December Sessions, 1917, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Lawrence, Frank Sullivan was convicted of Murder in the second degree, and on December 15, 1917, was sentenced to pay a fine of fifty dollars, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Western State Penitentiary for a period of not less than fifteen years nor more than sixteen years.

The applicant is fifty-two years of age, a native of Ireland, but a naturalized citizen of the United States. At the time of his arrest he was employed on the labor gang of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company near New Castle, and was boarding and sleeping, in company with other employes, in a line of box cars fitted up with bunks and one car fitted up for Kitchen purposes. He is unmarried and his only relatives are sisters and one brother.

On October 9, 1917, it rained and the gang were off work and in the bunk cars loafing and sleeping. The applicant was asleep in his bunk when he was awakened by loud talk and the noise of a drunken altercation between two workmen. He got out of his bunk and separated them, thought the trouble was over, and was about to lie down again when one of the men, McCloskey by name, ran into the kitchen car and picked up a heavy brake stick and struck his antagonist on the head, knocking him senseless, and then turned on the applicant and chased him down the car, striking at him with every step. The applicant endeavored to get away from him, but finally, when he was cornered and could go no farther, grabbed an ax which happened to be lying at hand and when he again came at him struck him with the ax and killed him. He immediately surrendered to the officers, admitted his guilt and exonerated the other men in the car from all blame for the killing.

The applicant was never before charged with, or convicted of, crime. He has served six years and two months of his term of imprisonment.

Reverend Father Huber, Catholic Chaplain of the Western Penitentiary, has filed with the Board a letter in which he strongly recommends pardon and offers to be sponsor for the applicant so far as his future behavior is concerned.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the fact that the deceased was killed by the applicant in self-defense, in consideration of his prior good record and the term of imprisonment already served, and the recommendation of the Chaplain of the Western Penitentiary, who has agreed to become sponsor for his future behavior, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and that if now released he will prove himself a peaceable and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Frank Sullivan.

Sir: At No. 45, October Sessions, 1915, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Mercer, John Drew was convicted of Murder in the second degree, and on January 26, 1916, was sentenced to pay a fine of fifty dollars, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Western State Penitentiary for a period of not less than twelve years nor more than sixteen years.

The applicant is now thirty-one years of age, an American citizen of Irish-American parentage. He was a trainman by occupation, but out of employment at the time of his arrest. He is unmarried. He resided in Greenville, Mercer County.

The applicant is charged with having killed, on the evening of June 26, 1915, A. W. Washburn, the proprietor of a small grocery store in Greenville, by striking him on the head with a hammer. His conviction was based entirely on circumstantial evidence and because of his proximity to the scene of the crime immediately before it was discovered. Two witnesses testified that they saw him sitting in the Railroad Station shortly before the murder. The Station is located about one hundred feet from the Washburn store. The applicant was arrested on suspicion shortly after the murder and had made no effort to escape from the scene of the tragedy and, while robbery was assigned as the motive of the crime, nothing belonging to the deceased was found on the person of the applicant. He was only twenty-three years of age when arrested.

The applicant was arrested at the age of fifteen, charged with breaking windows in a deserted farm house, and sentenced to the Reform School at Morganza. Beyond this he was never convicted of crime. He has now served eight years and one month of his term of imprisonment. The Warden of the Penitentiary in a letter filed with the Board testifies to his excellent prison record.

The Trial Judge has certified to the Board that he submitted the case to the Jury with considerable mental reservation because there was barely sufficient testimony offered to justify a conviction. The Trial District Attorney has filed a letter with the Board in which he states the evidence in the case was entirely of a circumstantial nature. He further states that the present application is more meritorious than any presented during his two terms of office as District Attorney. The Superintendent of the Penitentiary has filed with the Board a letter recommending clemency.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the doubt as to the guilt of the applicant, the term of imprisonment already served, his comparative youth at the time of the commission of the crime, the favorable statements of the Trial Judge, Trial District Attorney, Superintendent and Warden, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and that if now released he will prove himself a peaceable and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said John Drew.

Sir: At No. 33, June Sessions, 1921, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Potter, Maynard Tompkins waived the finding of a true bill by the Grand Jury and pleaded guilty to the charge of Breaking and Entering and Larceny, and on June 16, 1921, was sentenced to pay a fine of one hundred dollars, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Western State Penitentiary for a period of not less than six years nor more than eight years.

The applicant is twenty-five years of age, an American citizen and married. He is a barber by occupation. When arrested his home was in Austin, Potter County.

On June 6, 1921, he and one Edward Murphy broke into the general store of Harry Sykes at Austin and stole therefrom merchandise. They were arrested on the subsequent day and promptly restored all of the stolen goods. Murphy, his accomplice, was sentenced to the Western Penitentiary for a minimum term of three years and a maximum term of five years. At the time of the commission of this offense the applicant was out of employment, and he and his wife were in destitute circumstances, which prompted the crime. He was only twenty-two years of age when the crime was committed. He has not only a wife dependent on him for support, but has an aged father and mother who require assistance.

The applicant has now served two years and eight months of his term of imprisonment.

The Trial District Attorney has filed with the Board a letter in which he recommends a pardon in consideration of the comparative youth of the applicant and the need which his aged parents have of assistance.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the comparative youth of the applicant when the crime was committed, the term of imprisonment already served, the need which his wife and aged parents have of his support and assistance, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and that if now released he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Maynard Tompkins.

Sir: At No. 355, September Sessions, 1920, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace, in and for the County of Philadelphia, Paul C. Marpole alias Paul Cheda Marmol was convicted of Robbery, and on September 21, 1920, was sentenced to pay costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a term of not less than four years nor more than four and one-half years.

The applicant is 24 years of age and a native of Cuba. His occupation is that of printer. At the time of his arrest, he was employed at the Adelphia Hotel, Philadelphia, as a fireman. He is unmarried and resided in the city of Philadelphia.

On September 9, 1920, the applicant, who had been employed at the Sun Ship Yard, Eddystone, Pennsylvania, was discharged on account of scarcity of work, and came to Philadelphia to seek employment. On account of his unfamiliarity with the English language, he had difficulty in securing a position, but finally, after suffering privation and when almost his entire savings had become exhausted, he secured a position at the Hotel Adelphia. He could not obtain his pay in advance, and was living in actual destitution when he fell in with Mexicans, who, learning of his plight, urged him to steal as they had done. They not only gave him evil advice, but plied him with drink, and proposed that he rob women who passed up and down the street. Finally in his desperation and muddled condition of mind, meeting a woman, Jennie Trutkoff, in a dark place, he snatched her handbag which contained $95.40 in money, and ran away, the woman pursuing him and screaming loudly. In his fright and endeavor to escape, he did not open the handbag, but threw it away. He was arrested and the handbag and contents recovered. The applicant was only 21 years of age when this crime was committed. He was never before charged with or convicted of crime. He has now served three years and five months of his term of imprisonment. He was in dire need and a desperate man, a stranger in a strange land.

Assistant District Attorney Fox, who was present when the application was heard, expressed himself as favorable to a pardon in consideration of the circumstances of the case and the length of the term of imprisonment served.

In consideration of the circumstances surrounding this case, the comparative youth of the applicant when the crime was committed, his prior good record, the term of imprisonment already served, and the favorable attitude of the District Attorney's office, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released, he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Paul C. Marpole alias Paul Cheda Marmol.

Sir: At No. 20, December Sessions, 1914, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, in and for the County of Allegheny, Andy Faytol was convicted of Voluntary Manslaughter, and, on February 6, 1915, was sentenced to pay a fine of 6¼¢, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Western State Penitentiary for a period of not less than 10 years nor more than 12 years.

The applicant is now 32 years old and is a native of Czech-Slovakia, and owes allegiance to that Country. He is unmarried. At the time of his arrest he was a mill worker in the Carnegie Steel Works at Braddock, Pennsylvania, and resided in that place. He came to America in 1910.

On May 16, 1914, the applicant and his younger brother, Steve Faytol and a companion went to the Saturday evening dance in the community dance hall. Steve Faytol was hilariously drunk, and at the entrance of the building, he collided with one Mike Hudak, an Austrian. A quarrel arose between them and Hudak was getting the best of his drunken antagonist. In the scuffle Steve Faytol, who had secured possession of a knife, used it in endeavoring to cause Hudak to relax his hold on him, and in the effort, stabbed Hudak killing him instantly. The applicant neither saw the fight, nor participated in it, and was in the building when it occurred. The by-standers shouted to the applicant that his brother Steve was fighting on the street. He then came out of the hall into the street and urged his brother to flee, and aided the escape. The latter was arrested shortly thereafter in an adjoining County.

Neither the applicant nor his brother had ever before been charged with or convicted of crime. He was neither an eye witness nor a participant in the quarrel between his brother and Hudak, which resulted in the death of the latter, and only appeared on the scene after Hudak had been stabbed. His offense consisted in aiding and abetting his brother's flight after the tragedy.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the comparative youth of the applicant when the drime was committed, his entire innocence of all connection with the crime before its perpetration, because of his prior good record and the term of imprisonment already served, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and that if now released, he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions," recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Andy Faytol.

Sir: At No. 13, October Sessions, 1923, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Lackawanna, Arthur L. Conrad was convicted of Forgery, and on October 5, 1923, was sentenced to pay a fine of five hundred dollars, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a term of not less than two years and six months nor more than five years.

The applicant is about thirty years of age, unmarried, and at the time of his arrest was employed as an iron worker by the Aberthaw Construction Company in the City of Scranton. He contributed to the support of an aged father and mother who resided in the State of New York. The applicant served as a private in the World War and carries an honorable discharge.

During his residence in Scranton the applicant became acquainted with Mrs. Helen Walsh Golden and Mrs. Helen O'Malley Walsh, who were the owners each of an undivided interest in certain real estate situated in said City. Mrs. Golden was separated from her husband, Anthony E. Golden, who resided outside the State. These women desired to convey the real estate which they jointly owned, and, being unable to secure the signature of Anthony E. Golden, persuaded the applicant to sign the name of the latter to the deed of conveyance, urging that inasmuch as the real estate was actually the property of Mrs. Golden, and that her husband had no present direct interest in it, it was no crime for him to write the husband's name. The applicant accordingly signed the name of the said Anthony E. Golden in the deed of conveyance at the office of an Attorney to whom he was introduced by Mrs. Helen O'Malley Walsh as Anthony E. Golden, the husband. Relying upon the advice of a friend of the applicant, who said that he had arranged through former Congressman Farr that sentence would be suspended if the applicant pleaded guilty, the latter went into Court and without the benefit of counsel pleaded guilty and subsequently found that he had been misled by the alleged friend.

The applicant was never before charged with, or convicted of, crime. He has now served four months of his term of imprisonment.

He was not cognizant of the nature of the crime which he committed nor did he profit financially or otherwise from his act. He relied too strongly upon the influence of an alleged friend who had promised suspension of sentence if he pleaded guilty, and subsequently neglected to employ counsel and permitted the trial of his case to go by default.

Samuel R. Boggs, Trustee of the Penitentiary, has filed with the Board a letter in which he strongly recommends pardon. In the event of his discharge a position with the Beach-Nut Ham Company has been offered him. Neither the Trial Judge nor the Trial District Attorney oppose this application for clemency.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the term of imprisonment already served, the prior good record of the applicant, and the recommendation of Samuel R. Boggs, Trustee, and the need which his aged parents have of his support and assistance, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and that if now released he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At No. 10, September Sessions, 1916, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Northumberland, Veto Verano was convicted of murder in the second degree, and on January 15, 1917, was sentenced to pay the costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a minimum period of not less than twelve years and for a maximum period not exceeding fifteen years.

The applicant is thirty-three years of age, a native of Italy, but has filed his declaration of intention to become a citizen of the United States. He is by occupation a coal miner and at the time of his arrest resided in Northumberland County. He is married and has five children who are living with friends at Scranton. The present whereabouts of the mother is unknown.

About ten o'clock on the night of April 15, 1916, in the Borough of Kulpmont, Northumberland County, Furio Manillo was shot and killed and Frank Christiano was also injured by revolver shots in a crowd of nine Italians, which consisted of the deceased and eight others, and included the present applicant. There was a drinking party at the house of Sam Nariello and all were intoxicated. A quarrel ensued between two of the Italians which led to a free-for-all fight, culminating in the casualties above mentioned. It was contended that the applicant fired the shot which killed Manillo. The applicant claimed that Christiano fired the fatal shot. The latter was charged with murder, tried and acquitted. The conviction of the applicant was had mainly on the evidence of a brother of the deceased, who was also wounded.

The applicant was never before charged with, or convicted of, crime. He has now served seven years and one month of his term of imprisonment, and his physical condition has become seriously impaired by reason thereof. He has five small children who need the care and support of a father.

The Trial Judge has filed with the Board a letter in which he recommends clemency on account of the impaired health of the applicant and the need of his children. The President Judge of the County, who was the Prosecuting Attorney when the applicant was convicted, filed with the Board a letter in which he states that he has serious doubt of the guilt of the applicant and believes that Manillo lay dead when the applicant fired shots into his body and fled. He further states that after the aquittal of Christiano he was averse to prosecuting the applicant for murder and only did so by direction of the Trial Judge.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the doubt of the actual guilt of the applicant, his prior good record, the term of imprisonment already served, the recommendation of the Trial Judge and the statement of the Trial District Attorney, and further because of the need which his children have for a father's support and maintenance, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Veto Verano.

Board of Pardons.

Harrisburg, Pa., February 20, 1924.

Sir: At Nos. 88, 89 and 90, June Sessions, 1921, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace, in and for the County of Fayette, E. Newton Newcomer pleaded guilty to three indictments charging him with Embracery and Bribery, and on January 31, 1922, was sentenced to pay a fine of $300, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Allegheny County Workhouse for a term of six months.

The applicant is a farmer aged 53 years and married. He has lived in Fayette County practically his entire life.

Several defendants who were indicted for selling liquor without a license, were to be tried in the Court of Quarter Sessions of said County at the March Term, 1921. The applicant's crime consisted in corruptly approaching three of the jurors who had been summoned to serve for the week in which the liquor cases were to be tried. He promised them money in the event of the acquittal of Frank Monaghan, one of the defendants. He gave them no money.

The applicant was never before convicted of any crime. He has paid the fine and costs, and served the time required by the sentence, and the parole which was afterwards granted.

The purpose of the present application is to remove the civil disabilities imposed by Article 2, Section 7, of the State Constitution. After the termination of his sentence, the applicant was elected a school director by the citizens of his township, and still serves in that capacity.

The Trial Judge, the prosecuting attorney and the present District Attorney in letters filed with the Board, recommend a pardon.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, and the fact that the applicant has fully paid the penalty imposed by the Court, and because of the recommendations of the Trial Judge. prosecuting attorney, and the present District Attorney, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released, he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At No. 14, March Term, 1921, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, in and for the County of Fayette, Lawrence Fallon was convicted of an attempt to commit Felonious Rape, and on July 9, 1921, was sentenced to pay a fine of $100, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than three years and six months, nor more than five years.

The applicant at the time of the commission of the alleged crime, was 21 years of age, of Irish descent, but a citizen of the United States. He is a coal miner by occupation and unmarried, residing with his parents in the city of Uniontown.

On January 12, 1921, the applicant and one George Burford, were driving up the main street of Uniontown in the latter's automobile, when they passed two young girls walking in the direction in which the car was bound. The girls looked and smiled. The men did not know who they were, but offered to take them home, and later on invited them to go along to Hopwood, two and one-half miles east from Uniontown. They drove around and the girls returned to there home about 1:30 A. M., and one of the girls charged the defendants with the crime of Rape. While the men admitted solicitation, there was no assault. Both girls were under the age of 16 years.

Both men were arrested, and Rutherford, after his release from jail on giving bail, before the case was called for trial, absconded, and his present whereabouts is unknown.

The applicant has now served two years and seven and one-half months of his term of imprisonment. He was never before charged with or convicted of crime. His prison record is excellent.

The Trial Judge and the Trial District Attorney, in letters filed with the Board, recommend pardon. The present District Attorney, the Chief of Police, the Warden of the County prison, the Mayor of Uniontown, the Sheriff and County Detective of Fayette County, join in the recommendation for clemency.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the youth of the applicant when the alleged crime was committed, the term of imprisonment already served, his prior good record, in consideration of the recommendations of the Trial Judge, Trial District Attorney, former District Attorney, Mayor of Uniontown, and other prominent citizens, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released, he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

Harrisburg, Pa., February 20, 1924.

Sir: At No. 56, March Sessions, 1916, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Delaware, Henry Wilkins pleaded guilty to murder, and after the taking of testimony the Court fixed the degree of murder as second degree, and on April 8, 1916, sentenced the applicant to pay a fine of one hundred dollars, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a maximum period of twenty years and a minimum period of twenty years less one day.

The applicant is fifty years of age, colored, a citizen of the United States and is married. At the time of his arrest he was employed by a firm of contractors at Bryn Mawr, Pennsylvania, where he resided. He was a leading figure in the colored community, being a trustee and treasurer of the colored church.

Mrs. Novella Canon roomed in the same house with the applicant and his wife. Several years prior to December 6, 1915, the date of the tragedy, improper relations had existed between the applicant and Mrs. Canon. About two years prior to this date, fearing that his wife had learned of the illicit relation existing, the applicant informed Mrs. Canon that this relation must cease, and it did actually end, although Mrs. Canon continued to reside in the same house in the dual role of friend to both husband and wife. On December 6, 1915, about 5:30 P. M., the applicant met Mrs. Canon on the road as she came home from work and asked her to go with him to see his wife and talk over the matter. Mrs. Canon declined and in a sudden and uncontrollable impulse the applicant fired his revolver, killing Mrs. Canon, and immediately surrendered to the police, giving a voluntary statement of all the facts leading up to and connected with the crime. He did not engage counsel to defend him and submitted himself to the judgment of the Court.

The applicant was never before charged with, or convicted of, crime and occupied a high place in the colored community. He has now served seven years and ten months of his term of imprisonment. His prison record is excellent.

Robert J. McKenty, former Warden, and Samuel R. Boggs, Trustee, both filed letters with the Board in which they recommend pardon, and the latter not only agreed to furnish the applicant employment, but offered to stand sponsor for his good behavior.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the term of imprisonment already served, the prior good record of the applicant, the recommendation of former Warden McKenty and Samuel R. Boggs, and particularly because of the latter's offer to find the applicant employment and to become sponsor for his fuure good behavior and to make report to the Board from time to time of the conduct of the applicant, we have decided that he has been sufficiently punished and that if now released he will prove himself a peaceable and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Henry Wilkins.

Sir: At No. 44, September Sessions, 1922, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Clearfield, Amos Bennehoof pleaded guilty to the charge of breaking and entering and larceny, and on July 11, 1922, was sentenced to pay a fine of one dollar, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Western State Penitentiary for a period of not less than two years nor more than six years.

The applicant is twenty-three years of age and an American citizen. At the time of his arrest he resided with his parents in Clearfield, Pennsylvania. He is by occupation a salesman and collector, and at the time of his arrest was employed in that capacity by the local Agent of the Singer Sewing Machine Company.

On June 8, 1922, the applicant and one Lippart broke into the service station of the Keystone Auto Gas and Service Company, located at Clearfield, and stole therefrom eleven gallons of oil.

The applicant has now served one year and seven months of his term of imprisonment. His parents are advanced in years and require his aid and assistance.

The Trial Judge in a letter addressed to the applicant and filed with the Board recommends a pardon. The Chaplain of the Western Penitentiary also recommends a pardon.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the term of imprisonment already served, the comparative youth of the applicant when the crime was committed, and the recommendation of the Chaplain of the Penitentiary and of the Trial Judge, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and that if now released he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At No. 57, April Sessions, 1921, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, in and for the County of Chester, C. C. McCurley alias Alfred Donald McCurley pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with Robbery, and Assault and Battery with intent to kill, and on February 3, 1922, was sentenced in the aggregate to pay costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a period of not less than five years nor more than seventeen years.

The applicant is 32 years of age. He has been employed in various occupations of a mechanical nature. At the age of 17, he was declared insane and was confined in St. Elizabeth's Hospital for the Insane at Washington, D. C. He served in France during the World War and was given an honorable discharge. He was wounded, gassed, and shell shocked, and for a considerable time thereafter, was in various hospitals and was returned to the United States as a casual. Applicant's mother is almost 70 years of age. She entered Federal service in 1917 when her son enlisted, and will retire in April when she becomes 70 years of age. She will become a public charge unless the applicant is pardoned so that he may secure employment which will enable him to support her.

On February 14, 1921, the applicant and five others, started for Philadelphia from Washington, D. C. in a large touring car for the purpose of getting liquor to transport to Washington. While on the road near Kennett Square, Pennsylvania, they passed one James Doolittle who was engaged in carrying contraband whiskey to Baltimore and Washington. After several shots were fired after the Doolittle car, they overtook him and unloaded the whiskey from his car to their own car and transported it to Washington for disposal. This incident formed the basis of the charges.

The applicant has now served two years of his term of imprisonment. He is the sole support of his aged mother. The Veterans Bureau of the Federal Government has offered, in a letter filed with the Board, to take the applicant, if pardoned, and afford him treatment which will enable him to regain his mental poise. Hon. D. A. Reed, United States Senator, has filed with the Board a letter in which, on account of the applicant's physical condition, and need for such medical treatment as has been offered, urges clemency.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the applicant's physical and mental condition which antedated the War, and which must have been aggravated by his experiences abroad, in consideration of the term of imprisonment already served, and the need which his aged mother has of his support and assistance, and finally in consideration of the offer of the Veterans Bureau of the Federal Government to furnish suitable mental and physical treatment, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released, he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At No. 26, February Sessions, 1921, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Erie, William Thompson was convicted of breaking and entering, larceny and receiving stolen goods, and on February 22, 1921, was sentenced to pay a fine of five hundred dollars, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a term of not less than seven years and six months nor more than ten years and six monts.

The applicant is twenty-five years of age, an American citizen, and prior to his conviction resided with his mother in Ashtabula, Ohio, and was employed as a switchman for the New York Central Railroad in their yards in that City. He is unmarried.

On November 17, 1920, about 8:20 P. M., the applicant who had come to the City of Erie where he had been promised a position, entered a drug store in said City conducted by Tobias M. and Mary Healy and robbed the cash-drawer of fifty-two dollars. The applicant was under the influence liquor at the time. After the robbery he returned to Ohio where he was arrested and brought back to Erie for trial.

The applicant has now served three years of his term of imprisonment. He was never before charged with or convicted of crime. He served as a private during the World War.

Mrs. Mary Healy, one of the prosecutors, has filed a letter with the Board in which she strongly recommends clemency. She was present when the robbery was committed and states that the applicant acted as though he were under the influence of liquor. Former District Attorney Blass has filed with the Board a letter recommending that he be pardoned in order that he may return home and support his aged mother and sister who require his help.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the term of imprisonment already served, the prior good record of the applicant, because of the strong recommendation of a former District Attorney, who is fully conversant with the case, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said William Thompson.

Sir: At Nos. 63 and 64, December Sessions, 1922, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Beaver, Julius Fiorino was convicted of assault with intent to commit rape and assault and battery, and on December 30, 1922, was sentenced in the aggregate to pay a fine of two dollars, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of not less than two years nor more than six years. The Jury in its verdict recommended him to the mercy of the Court as to the first mentioned charge.

The applicant is thirty-three years of age and a native of the Kingdom of Italy. He has resided in America for thirteen years. He is unmarried. At the time of his arrest he resided with his brother-in-law in Ambridge, Beaver County.

The alleged crime was committed on October 29, 1922, about eight o'clock in the evening, on a path leading to a spring in a public place less than one hundred feet from a paved street in the Borough of Ambridge. The alleged victims were two little Italian girls, aged nine and ten respectively, who accosted the applicant and asked him for money and followed him up the path. He turned and drove them back, slapping one of them on the face with his hand. They thereupon returned home and informed their parents of the alleged crime.

The applicant was convicted upon the uncorroborated testimony of the two girls. It seems remarkable that at that hour and place no other witnesses could be obtained.

The prosecutor in the case, who was the Chief of Police, has filed with the Board a letter in which he urges clemency. The sole female member of the Jury which convicted him has also filed a letter in which she asks pardon. She resides in Ambridge, is familiar with the locality in question and heard all the testimony and erpresses doubt as to the applicant's guilt. In the Jury Room, for several hours, she voted for acquittal. The Trial District Attorney has filed with the Board a letter recommending clemency, and the parents of the two little girls join in the application for pardon.

The applicant has never before been charged with, or convicted of, crime. He has served one year and two months of his term of imprisonment. At the time of his arrest he resided with his sister's husband, who has seven small children. The applicant aided in the support of the family, and his assistance is more necessary at this time because of the long continued illness of his brother-in-law. The family is in a destitute condition.

In consideration of the circumstance of this case, the doubt as to the guilt of the applicant, his prior good record, the term of imprisonment already served, the recommendation of the Trial District Attorney, the prosecutor, the female member of the Jury which convicted him and the parents of the two girls, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and that if now released he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Julius Fiorino.

Sir: At No. 645, September Sessions, 1913, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, in and for the County of Philadelphia, Achilli Lombardo pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with Murder, and after testimony was taken, was adjudged guilty of Murder in the second degree, and on December 17, 1913, was sentenced to pay the costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a period of not less than 19 years and 11 months, nor more than twenty years.

The applicant is 35 years of age, unmarried, an Italian, and at the time of his arrest, was engaged in selling olive oil.

On August 1, 1913, while the applicant resided in the city of Philadelphia, he and one Tobia Fuma, were drinking together during the afternoon. Later in the evening while Fuma was talking to a woman on a street corner, the applicant approached from the rear and stabbed the deceased several times in the back, reaching the heart, causing almost instant death. The applicant's defense was intoxication.

The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of crime. He has now served 10 years and two months of his term of imprisonment. He was 24 years old at the time of the commission of the crime.

The Trial Judge has filed two letters with the Board in which he recommends clemency.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the comparative youth of the applicant when the crime was committed, the prior good record of the applicant, the term of imprisonment already served, and the recommendation of the Trial Judge, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released, he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions," recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Achilli Lombardo.

Sir: At No. 20, September Sessions, 1923, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace, in and for the County of Montgomery, Crawford Russel Neil alias Russel C. Neill, Ralph Adams alias Robert Kincade, Norman Booker alias Brooke pleaded guilty to an indictment charging them severally with the unlawful possession of burglar tools, and on September 20, 1923, they were severally commited to the Pennsylvania Industrial Reformatory at Huntingdon, Pennsylvania.

The applicant Neil is 21 years of age, and at the time of his arrest, lived with his parents in Philadelphia. He was a clerk. The applicant Adams is 19 years of age, and at the time of his arrest, resided with his parents in the same city. He was a clerk. The applicant Booker is 18 years of age, and at the time of his arrest lived with his parents in the same city. He was an electrician by occupation. The three applicants are native Americans and were never convicted of any crime, excepting Neil who pleaded guilty to having in his possession a pistol. He was paroled in the care of Rev. Thomas Hubert Jones, of Wissinoming, Philadelphia, for a period of one year.

The applicant Neil owned an automobile, and he took his co-applicants out riding on June 7, 1923. They were returnng home by Abington, Montgomery County, about 1:00 A. M. when they stopped the car in order to cool the engine which had become overheated. The automobile was stopped under an electric light, and consequently the lights of the car were turned off. A policeman arrested the three boys for parking without lights. They were confined in jail the remainder of the night and at the hearing the next morning, it was testified that there were burglar tools found in the car and a safe blowing outfit nearby. It was also testified that the numbers on the engine had been changed. Upon default of bail, they were committed to jail where they remained until they were tried. Acting upon advice of counsel, they pleaded guilty to the charge laid in the indictment and were sentenced as above.

The applicants Adams and Booker did not know what kind of tools were in the car, and applicant Neil, the owner of the car, had no tools except such as were usually carried in automobiles.

The applicants were confined in jail for more than three months awaiting trial, and have now been confined in the Reformatory, five months.

Rev. Thomas Hubert Jones appeared before the Board and asked for clemency. He promised to become sponsor for their future good behavior and to report to the Board from time to time, as to their conduct.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the term of imprisonment already served, the youth of the applicants, because of the fact that their former employers will again give them positions, and because of Mr. Jones' promise to be responsible for their future conduct, we have concluded that they have been sufficiently punished, and that if now released, they will prove themselves useful and law-abiding citizens.

Sir: At Nos. 116 and 117, February Sessions, 1921, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Luzerne, Mike John alias John Hohns was convicted of Larceny and Receiving Stolen Goods, and on February 15, 1921, was sentenced in the aggregate to pay a fine of $500.00, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a period of not less than five years and ten months nor more than six years.

The applicant is now forty years of age, and is a naturalized citizen of the United States of Syrian birth. At the time of his arrest he was engaged in the huckstering and junk business and resided in the City of Wilkes-Barre with his wife and seven children, ranging from three to sixteen years of age respectively.

The applicant and four others were charged with the larceny of goods from the Pennsylvania and Jersey Central Railroad Companies at Wilkes-Barre. His co-defendants pleaded guilty and received shorter sentences than the applicant who denied his guilt and stood trial. After their release they all made statements completely exonerating the applicant from any participation in the crime.

The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of crime. He has served three years and one month of his term of imprisonment. His family is destitute and is dependent on charity.

The Trial District Attorney has filed a letter with the Board in which he recommends pardon and the County Detective who is familiar with all the circumstances of the case joins in the recommendation. Sam. R. Boggs, a Trustee of the Penitentiary also recommends pardon. Courtland Butler, Parole Officer of the Eastern State Penitentiary, filed a letter with the Board in which he recommends a pardon and agrees to become sponsor for the applicant's future good behavior.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the doubt as to the applicant's guilt, his prior good record, the term of imprisonment already served, the destitute condition of his family, the recommendations of the Trial District Attorney and County Detective, and above all, in consideration of the offer of Courtland Butler, Parole Officer, to become sponsor for the future good behavior of the applicant, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and if now liberated, he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearir upon due public notice and in open sessions," recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Mike John alias John Hohns.

Sir: At No. 56, May Sessions, 1921, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Northumberland, Sam Lucifero pleaded guilty to Voluntary Manslaughter having been indicted for the crime of murder, and on May 17, 1921, was sentenced to pay a fine of $100.00, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a minimum period of four years and a maximum period of ten years.

The applicant is thirty-one years of age, a naturalized American citizen of Italian birth. At the time of his conviction he was employed as a miner during the day and operated a Barber Shop at night in Kulpmont. He was unmarried at the time and contributed to the support of his parents who resided in Italy.

In the Coal Region a band of Italians constituting an order commonly known as "The Black Hand" exists and has been organized for the purpose of terrorizing and extorting money from their countrymen. Their method was to terrorize and if their victime refused to comply with their demands they were killed. Members of this order, including one Dominick Verano, had demanded of the applicant the sum of $65.00, and were so insistent that the applicant for a time was afraid to leave the house at night. He frequently saw Verano standing watch or guard at various times. On the evening of April 23, 1921, the applicant left his home with the intention of going to Mt. Carmel. While he was standing waiting for the streetcar, he was accosted by Verano who started a verbal reproach and attempted to pull out his gun which evidently stuck fast in his clothing. The applicant managed to draw his gun first and shot Verano in self-defense. When he turned to leave the scene Verano shot him in the thigh and he was confined in the hospital for some time. The shooting occurred in the presence of a number of Italians, who were companions of Verano.

The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of crime. He has now served two years and ten months of his term of imprisonment. His prison record is excellent.

The present District Attorney who was one of the private Attorneys for the Commonwealth during the trial, has filed with the Board a letter in which he states that extenuating circumstances have been revealed since the trial which show that the applicant has been sufficiently punished. The Trial Judge has filed a letter with the Board in which he states that the Commonwealth had always conceded that the applicant had shot Verano in self-defense, and recommends pardon.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case which clearly establish justifiable homicide in self-defense, in consideration of the prior good record of the applicant, the term of imprisonment already served, the recommendations of the prosecuting Attorney and Trial Judge, and the need which his aged parents have for his assistance and support, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and that if now liberated he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Sam Lucifero.

Sir: At No. 8, June Sessions, 1921, in the Court of Oyer and terminer in and for the County of Cambria, Charles Hill was convicted of Robbery and on June 16, 1921, was sentenced to pay a fine of $100.00, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a term of not less than nine years nor more than ten years.

The applicant was eighteen years of age when the alleged crime was committed. He was an American citizen by birth and was employed in a Shoe Shining Parlor, at Johnstown, Pennsylvania. He was unmarried.

The applicant was employed by the Cambria Steel Company at Johnstown, from 1919 until about Christmas 1921, when he was laid off for lack of work. The alleged robbery occurred about nine o'clock May 7, 1921. Robinson Circus had exhibited in Johnstown and the City was filled with people and many robberies were committed. The applicant was arrested the morning after the crime and taken to the Alderman's Office where one James Jones, a complete stranger to him, confessed to the robbery of a Chinaman's place of business and charged the applicant with being an accomplice in the crime. Jones the real perpetrator, has recently filed with the Board an affidavit in which he declares that the applicant had nothing to do with the commission of the crime.

With the exception of a thirty day term of imprisonment in the Cambria County Jail for drunkenness, the applicant was never before charged with or convicted of crime. He has now served two years and eight months of his term of imprisonment.

The Trial District Attorney has filed a letter with the Board, in which, while making no recommendations, he states that if he were making a recommendation, it would be for clemency.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case and the fact that the real perpetrator of the crime declares that the applicant was not a party to it, in consideration of the youth of the applicant, the term of imprisonment already served, the prior good record of the applicant and the statement of the Trial District Attorney, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and if now released he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions" recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Charles Hill.

At the time of his sentence the applicant was 24 years of age. He is a native-born American citizen and his trade is that of a wheelsman on the Great Lakes. At the time of his arrest he was on his way to Conway, Beaver County, to enter the employ of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. His place of residence was Detroit, Michigan. He is unmarried and has no near relatives.

The applicant and one George Howard were charged with taking $29.00 from the person of Frank Tangorra, a passenger on a street car. While the latter was not able to testify that the defendants had taken his money, one Garber, a fellow passenger on the car, testified that he saw Howard take a sum of money out of Tangorra's pocket and that when the car stopped in Beaver the applicant was in front of Tangorra and Howard in the rear. The applicant and Howard were strangers to one another when they met on the street car. Both were arrested, tried and convicted. The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of crime. He has now served 3 years and 3 months of his term of imprisonment. There was no direct evidence connecting him with the crime. It was his misfortune to have been in the company of the perpetrator. He refused to plead guilty and stood the trial.

The Trial District Attorney has filed a letter with the Board in which he states that he has no further opposition to the granting of a pardon. The Trial Judge has since died and the present Judge has filed a letter with the Board in which he recommends pardon based on his knowledge of the circumstances of the case. He also expresses the opinion that the applicant has been sufficiently punished.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the doubt as to the guilt of the applicant, his prior good record, the term of imprisonment already served, the statement of the Trial District Attorney and the recommendation of the Judge who has full knowledge of all the circumstances of the case, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and that if now liberated he will prove himself a useful law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions." recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said William Murphy.

Sir: At No. 17, March Sessions, 1922, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Fayette, Mont. W. McCormick was convicted of entering a freight station with intent to commit a Felony and Larceny, and on May 9, 1922, was sentenced to pay a fine of 6¢, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Western State Penitentiary for a minimum period of 2 years and 6 months and a maximum period of 3 years.

The applicant is 48 years of age and an American citizen by birth. At the time of his arrest he was employed as a Deputy Sheriff and resided at Uniontown, Fayette County. He is a divorced man and has two children.

In the early morning of February 16, 1922, the B. & O. freight station at Uniontown was broken into and fifteen cartoons of cigaretts taken therefrom and concealed in and under a box car on the tracks adjoining the station platform. Apparently the burglars had been frightened away before opportunity offered for the removal of the stolen property. There were no witnesses to the burglary. Police Officers, while making their rounds, heard a noise at the station and upon their arrival at about 12:30 A. M. discovered that a burglary had been committed, and saw three unknown men running down the railroad tracks. The applicant at the time was in the vicinity of the freight station in his automobile, heard the shots which the officers fired upon the fleeing burglars and joined the officers in an effort to capture the burglars. Nothing was said or intimated regarding the applicant's connection with the crime until the afternoon of the following day when he was arrested upon information made by a detective of the railroad company. The applicant explained his presence near the station by stating that as an officer of the law he had occasion to visit that vicinity in his automobile, and while returning heard the officers shooting, parked his car on the street, and passed between the freight cars standing on the tracks in his effort to reach the station by the shortest route. His automobile was fifty feet distant from the place where a portion of the stolen goods was found and contained none of the loot. The evidence against the applicant was very meagre.

He has now been imprisoned 22 months. During this period he served 19 months as inner turnkey in the Fayette County Jail. The Sheriff kept him there, after his sentence to the Western Penitentiary, on account of the applicant's wonderful executive ability, which was utilized in placing the county prison in a sanitary condition, and in maintaining discipline to the extent that it raised the jail from a low state to one of the most sanitary and efficient prisons in the Commonwealth.

The Trial District Attorney has filed with the Board a letter in which he expresses doubt as to the applicant's guilt and recommends a pardon. The prosecutor in the case has filed a letter with the Board recommending clemency. The Sheriff, Clerk of the Courts, County Solicitor and Warden of the County Prison also recommend a pardon. George W. Freeman, Sergeant of the State Police, at the request of the Board, made an investigation into the circumstances of this case and as a result thereof expresses his personal opinion that the applicant is innocent of the crime for which he was convicted.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the doubt as to the guilt of the applicant, his extraordinary prison record, in consideration of the term of imprisonment already served, and the recommendations of the District Attorney, Prosecutor, Sheriff and other county officials, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and if now liberated he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At Nos. 603 and 608, March Sessions, 1921, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace, in and for the County of Philadelphia, John Letter alias John Moran was convicted of Conspiracy and Entering to Steal, and on June 30, 1921, was sentenced to pay costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a minimum period of five years and a maximum period of seven years.

The applicant is 26 years of age, a native-born American citizen. He is unmarried and resided with his father in the City of Philadelphia and was employed by him. He served honorably during the World War.

The applicant was jointly indicted and convicted with George Boynton and John Garvey. The two last named persons approached officer McCloskey in the Y. M. C. A. Building, Philadelphia, about 1:30 A. M. March 13, 1921, and suggested that they would rob a tailor shop in the neighborhood and divide the proceeds equally among the three, the officer to receive a share as the price of his connivance. About a week later Garvey met the officer and confirmed the arrangement. The latter subsequently saw Boynton come out of the tailor shop and arrested him. He then returned to the tailor shop and placed Boynton and the applicant under arrest when they emerged. No goods were stolen. There was no evidence connecting the applicant with the conspiracy. He was not present when the arrangements to rob the shop were made with the officer. His name was not mentioned and Boynton and Garvey testified that they never saw him before his arrest. The applicant claimed that he was not in the building when arrested, but on the street and was informed by the officer that he was arrested on suspicion.

The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of crime. He has now served two years and nine months of his term of imprisonment. His prison record is excellent. He is suffering from chronic gastric trouble and requires special diet and fresh air.

The Trial Judge has filed with the Board a letter in which he states that the testimony showed no connection between the applicant and his co-defendants either before or at the time of the offense, except that he was found in the store immediately after the breaking was discovered and gave no satisfactory explanation of his presence. He further states that he might very properly have been acquitted on the ground of reasonable doubt. Assistant District Attorney Fox appeared before the Board and while he did not join in the application for pardon, his attitude was not unfavorable thereto.

The applicant's father, Ambrose Letter, trading as Owen Letter's Sons, a long-established well-known and reputable wholesale and retail coal dealer, in a letter filed with the Board, offers to furnish the applicant with a permanent position and agrees to become sponsor for his future good behavior.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the doubt as to the guilt of the applicant, his prior good record, the term of imprisonment already served, the statement of the Trial Judge, the impaired physical condition of the applicant, and the fact that his father, who is a well-known and responsible citizen has offered to give him employment and to become sponsor for his future good behavior, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and that if now released he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said John Letter alias John Moran.

Sir: At No. 9, September Sessions, 1917, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, in and for the County of Centre, William Shannon pleaded guilty of murder in the second degree to an indictment charging him with murder, and on September 20, 1917, was sentenced to pay a fine of $1.00, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Western State Penitentiary for a minimum period of 16 years and a maximum period of 20 years.

The applicant at the time of the commission of this crime was only 17 years of age, unmarried, and had been employed in and about the brick yards near the village of Sandy Ridge, Centre County.

The applicant boarded with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mease. On June 24, 1917, Mease brought to his home a quantity of whiskey and prevailed upon the applicant to drink with him. As a result he became grossly intoxicated. While in this condition Mease handed the applicant a fully loaded revolver asking him to take care of it, fearing that he (Mease) might do himself damage with it while drunk. Mrs. Mease had become infatuated with the applicant and kept nagging him while in this drunken state, and chided him with being too friendly with other women. At the time she carried in her arms an infant niece. The applicant in a drunken frenzy took the revolver, which had been given him by her husband, and shot at Mrs. Mease, the bullet missing her, but killing the infant in her arms. He was in such a beastly state of intoxication that he had no recollection of the shooting.

The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of any crime. He has now served 6 years and 6 months of his term of imprisonment. The prison authorities certify to his excellent prison record.

Dr. Evan L. Jones of Philipsburg, a life-long resident of that community, and a worthy and reputable citizen offers to become sponsor for the future good behavior of the applicant. Dr. Jones is spoken of in the highest terms by the cashiers of two National Banks in Philipsburg in letters filed with the Board.

The Trial Judge has filed with the Board a letter recommending a pardon.

In consideration of all the circumstances of the case, the youth of the applicant when the crime was committed, his prior good record, the term of imprisonment already served, the recommendation of the Trial Judge, and because of the fact that Dr. Evan Jones of Philipsburg, a highly reputable citizen has agreed to become sponsor for the future good behavior of the applicant, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and if now liberated he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions," recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said William Shannon.

Sir: At No. 232, April Sessions, 1923, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Philadelphia, Harold McGillicuddy was convicted of Felonious Entry and Larceny, and on July 5, 1923, was sentenced to pay costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Philadelphia County Prison for a period of one year and six months.

The applicant is 29 years of age and a native born American citizen. He is unmarried and resided in the City of Philadelphia with his mother and two unmarried sisters. At the time of his arrest he was one of the proprietors of a so-called saloon in that city.

On April 3, 1923, the retail fur shop of Marks Finkel in said city was entered and the sound of a burglar alarm connected with the shop brought to the scene two representatives of the Auxiliary Fire and Burglar Alarm Company and a squad of policemen from the police station. Upon their arrival Max Hyman, Grover C. Stocker, Nelson Dinneger and the applicant were discovered in the fur vault of the shop. It was about 3:00 A. M. Four bags stuffed with furs were found in the vault, and also certain instruments which might have been available for purposes of burglary were found on three of the men, but none on the applicant. There is a diversity in the testimony respecting the applicant's condition as to sobriety at the time of his arrest. There was no evidence of forcible breaking and entry, but Stocker, one of the defendants, had keys which permitted access to the building. Three of the men were jointly tried and convicted, but the applicant was tried separately. The latter's defense was that there was no financial incentive for him to commit the crime, and that he was so intoxicated when he went with the other men to the shop in a car supplied by one of them that he was incapable of entertaining the specific intent necessary to convict him of the crime. The testimony also showed that the applicant had been drinking heavily for sometime prior to the commission of the crime and had suffered from a fit of delirium tremens on the previous day. There was nothing to connect him with the crime other than his presence in the vault and he had a substantial amount of money upon his person when arrested.

The applicant's three codefendants were tried, convicted and sentenced, and Dinneger, the third one, was promptly paroled and his subsequent conduct justified the Court's action.

The applicant has now served nine months of his term of imprisonment. His record in prison has been excellent. He was never before charged with or convicted of crime. His reputation was unimpeached. It was his misfortune to be addicted to the use of strong drink.

E. M. Hackney, Probation Officer of the Court of Quarter Sessions, Philadelphia County, has filed with the Board a letter in which he recommends a pardon. Cornelius McGillicuddy (popularly known as Connie Mack), the applicant's uncle, and John D. Shibe, both prominent, substantial and respected citizens of Philadelphia, have offered to become joint sponsors for the applicant's future good behavior and to give him employment.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the physical condition of the applicant at the time of the commission of the crime incapacitating him from forming a specific intent to commit crime, in consideration of the financal condition of the applicant, lack of motive, his prior good record and exemplary conduct in prison, because of the recommendation of the Probation Officer of the Quarter Sessions Court, and particularly because of the offer of Cornelius McGillicuddy (popularly know as Connie Mack) and John D. Shibe to become joint sponsors for the applicant and to endeavor in every way possible to make him a good man and a good citizen, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions," recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Harold McGillicuddy.

Sir: At No. 64, April Sessions, 1922, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, in and for the County of Allegheny, Elmer Johnson was convicted of Murder in the first degree, and on March 23, 1923, was sentenced to be electrocuted.

The applicant is 26 years of age, a native born American citizen, unmarried, and at the time of his arrest resided with his mother in Wilmerding, Allegheny County. He is by occupation a coal miner.

James Krache, who was employed at the Suncliff garage in Penn Township, Allegheny County, was murdered on February 18, 1922, about 11:30 P. M. He died from the effects of gun shot wounds in the head, and the coroner's jury found that either Elmer Johnson (the applicant), Joe Villano, or Paul Agresti, inflicted the wounds. The applicant was tried first and convicted of Murder in the first degree. Villano and Agresti were subsequently tried by different juries and both found guilty of Murder in the second degree. Villano was sentenced to a term of not less than 18½ years, nor more than 20 years in the Western Penitentiary, and Agresti was sentenced to imprisonment for not less than 5 years nor more than 10 years in the same penal institution.

The applicant was convicted largely on the statements of his co-defendants. The three men were riding in a Ford coupe and stopped at the garage for gas. They afterwards attempted to rob the garage and when Krache, who was in charge, in defense of himself and the establishment, drew a revolver and aimed at the applicant, the latter fired at Krache inflicting a superficial wound in the chest, whereupon Villano shot Krache in the head, who died from the effects of the shot two hours later.

While all three men were engaged in the perpetration or attempted perpetration of a robbery, it is conceded that Villano fired the fatal shot and received an 18 to 20 year sentence in the Western Penitentiary for Murder in the second degree, and Agresti, the other co-defendant, received a sentence of 5 to 10 years imprisonment in the same institution for Murder in the second degree.

The Trial Judge filed a letter with the Board in which, while not recommending clemency, he emphasizes the fact that the applicant did not fire the fatal shot, although present, and that the real murderer and the third man, escaped with a much lighter punishment. Five of the jurors who convicted the applicant have filed a petition with the Board recommending clemency.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, in view of the fact that the applicant was first tried and convicted of Murder in the first degree, whereas his two companions were both subsequently convicted of Murder in the second degree, the one, the actual murder, receiving a sentence of 18½ to 20 years in the Western Penitentiary, and his companion, equally guilty with the applicant, receiving a sentence of only 5 to 10 years imprisonment, we have concluded that the sentence of death heretofore imposed on the applicant, should be commuted to life imprisonment.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions," recommend that the sentence of death imposed upon the said Elmer Johnson, be commuted to life imprisonment.

Sir: At No. —, January Sessions, 1921, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Chester, William Reich alias William Reith waived indictment and pleaded guilty to the crime of Larceny, and on December 20, 1920, was sentenced to pay a fine of $500, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a period of not less than 5 years nor more than 10 years.

The applicant is 24 years of age, and a native born citizen of the United States. He is unmarried and resided with his parents in the City of Philadelphia. His occupation was that of stock salesman.

On October 20, 1920, the applicant went to Coatesville by train and took with him a girl companion. On the same day George A. Bruce and H. W. Bourne motored from Philadelphia to Coatesville, bringing with them another girl, and there they met the applicant and his companion. The automobile belonged to the American Taxi-cab Company of Philadelphia. The three men and the two girls ordered the chauffeur to drive them back to Philadelphia. On their way back it was discovered that they had no money to pay the cab hire and Bruce, who was the leader of the party, drew a revolver and ordered the driver to leave the car, which he did. The latter was not harmed nor was he threatened or robbed. Bruce and his companions, realizing the predicament in which they were placed by the violent action of the former, became panic stricken and instead of returning to Philadelphia, as had been intended, drove southward until finally they reached Dublin, Georgia, where they were arrested on November 2, 1920. All waived extradition and were brought to West Chester where they pleaded guilty to the larceny of the car. There was no deliberate intent to steal the car. It was more of the nature of a joyride until Bruce drew his revolver and ordered the chauffeur to leave the car, after which the plan was formed to leave the State. Bruce, the master mind in this transaction, was pardoned by this Board in October, 1923. The applicant was only 19 years of age at the time and was under the domination of Bruce.

The applicant has now served three years and four months of his term of imprisonment. He was never before charged with or convicted of crime. During the World War he served in the Navy and carries an honorable discharge.

Dr. Herbert M. Goddard, a member of the Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary, and Vice-President of the Board, has offered to become sponsor for the future good behavior of the applicant.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the youth of the applicant when the crime was committed, his prior good record, the term of imprisonment already served, because of the fact that the applicant was led from a mere joyride into participation of a crime by evil companionship, and in consideration of the fact that Dr. Goddard has agreed to become sponsor for the future good behavior of the applicant, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions," recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said William Reich alias William Reith.

Sir: At No. 13, May Sessions, 1923, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County if Centre, Harry Hunsicker pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with Breaking and Escaping, and on April 4, 1923, was sentenced to pay a fine of $1.00, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Western State Penitentiary for a period of not less than two years nor more than three years, the sentence to be computed after the completion of the sentence from Carbon County for perjury.

The applicant is 32 years of age, a native born citizen of Pennsylvania, and resided in Carbon County all his life. He is unmarried.

The applicant had been convicted and sentenced on a charge of perjury by the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace of Carbon County, at No. 17, October Sessions, 1921, for a term of not less than 2 years nor more than 3 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary. While serving the said sentence he was transferred to the Western State Penitentiary. While working upon the prison farm connected with it, in company with several others, he walked off, but was apprehended within a day or two and recommitted.

The applicant has already served his full minimum term of two years on the charge of perjury. Prior to the commission of the last mentioned offense he was never charged with or convicted of crime.

The trial Judge has filed with the Board a letter in which he recommends clemency, and the Trial District Attorney strongly endorses this recommendation.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the fact that the applicant has already served the minimum term of imprisonment imposed by the Carbon County Court for perjury, and because of the recommendations of the Trial Judge and the Trial District Attorney, we have concluded that he should be relieved from the stigma of the present conviction and sentence, to wit, Breaking and Escaping.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions," recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Harry Hunsicker.

Sir: At No. 137, June Sessions, 1914, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, in and for the County of Philadelphia, James Smith pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with Murder, and the Court, after hearing testimony, adjudged him guilty of Murder in the second degree, and on June 29, 1914, sentenced him to pay costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a minimum period of 18 years and a maximum period of 20 years.

The applicant is 29 years of age, unmarried, colored, and a native of Virginia. He came north in 1910 and was variously employed in Philadelphia and vicinity, and in 1914, when the crime was committed, was employed by a contracting firm in that city.

In 1912 he became enamored of Mary Jones, a notorious colored women, more than twice his age. Later on they openly lived together as man and wife. In 1914 he left her. She pestered him with appeals to return to her which he finally did. There was constant bickering. On the morning of April 21, 1914, while he was lying on a lounge in the kitchen, Mary Jones entered the room holding a hatchet in her hand. A quarrel ensued. She became enraged, lost control of herself and threw the hatchet at the applicant, the hatchet striking him on the side. The latter, in endeavoring to avoid the blow, fell and grasped another hatchet which he threw at Mary Jones. A hatchet duel then ensued between the enraged couple, the applicant striking Mary Jones several times with the flat side of the hatchet. She subsequently died from the effects of these blows.

The applicant was 18 years of age when the crime was committed. There was no premeditation, and the blows were struck in self-defense after he had been assaulted by his paramour.

He has now served 9 years and 10 months of his term of imprisonment and while, on his own admission, he had been previously guilty of minor offenses, he was an industrious man, even after he came under the malign influence of the notorious woman whom he unfortunately killed in the culmination of a series of quarrels.

Alfred W. Fleisher, President of the Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary, has filed with the Board a letter in which he offers to make the applicant, if released, a member of his household, and also agrees to assume responsibility for his future good conduct.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the extreme youth of the applicant when the crime was committed, the term of imprisonment already served, and in further consideration of the fact that President Fleisher of the Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary has offered to take the applicant into his own household, and has agreed to become sponsor for his future good behavior, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now liberated, he will prove himself a peaceful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions," recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said James Smith.

Sir: At No. 204, October Sessions, 1919, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Philadelphia, Myer Katz and Philip Schultz were convicted of robbery, and on January 7, 1920, they were each sentenced to pay a fine of $200, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a term of not less than five years nor more than seven years.

The applicant Schultz is 20 years of age, and the applicant Katz is 22 years of age. Both are native born American citizens, are chauffeurs and mechanics by occupation, and were so employed at the time of their arrest. Both applicants are unmarried and resided with their parents in the City of Philadelphia, and contributed to the support of their respective families.

On August 22, 1919, the pawn shop of Abraham M. Frechie, situated at the Corner of Fifth and Cambria Streets in said city, was entered about 10:00 A. M., and the persons in charge were held up by two or more men who leveled pistols, and took from the safe jewelry and other valuables of the value of about $5,600.

Both applicants were partners in a taxi-cab and general hacking business. One evening they were approached by a stranger who made arrangements to use the taxi-cab the following morning. The next day about 10:00 A. M., the same persons requested Schultz, one of the applicants, to drive to Tenth and Vine Streets. The applicant Katz accompanied the latter. On the way to their destination they picked up a colored man named Jesse Anderson, and at Tenth and Vine Streets two other passengers were taken in. The applicant Schultz was then directed to drive to Fifth and Cambria Streets. The passengers alighted about 100 feet from the pawn shop, and told the applicants to wait until their return. Shortly thereafter the four men came out of the pawn shop carrying a suit case which they did not have when they left the taxi. The applicant Schultz was then directed to drive back to Tenth and Vine Streets where they left the taxi. The applicant Schultz was then directed to drive back to Tenth and Vine Streets where the passengers were discharged. Schultz, the applicant, was given $20.00 for the hire of the taxi and told to keep the change. After the departure of the passengers Schultz, the applicant, noticed a gold watch, apparently dropped by one of the passengers. It was decided to keep the watch until they could find the owner. A half hour later Katz, the applicant, was arrested. He was connected with the robbery because he had in his possession one of the stolen articles, and Schultz's arrest soon followed. Anderson who is now serving a term of imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for his share in the robbery, has filed with the Board an affidavit in which he states that both applicants were in no wise implicated in the crime, that they had taken no part in its perpetration, and were without knowledge of the purpose of the arrangement, and had no reason to suspect the purpose of the visit to the pawn shop. It must be remembered that the applicant Schultz was only 16 years old and the applicant Katz 18 years old when the crime was committed.

Both applicants have now served four years and three months of their terms of imprisonment. They were never before charged with or convicted of crime.

The private prosecutor in this case, the proprietor of the pawn shop, joins in this application, and the District Attorney's office, which had a representative present at the hearing, does not oppose the application. Responsible parties have offered employment to both applicants, if released.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the youth of both applicants when the crime was committed, their good record, the term of imprisonment already served, the recommendation of the private prosecutor, and the fact that on the suggestion of Alfred W. Fleisher, President of the Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary, Benj. Reibstein and Albert O. Light have offered to become sponsors for the future good conduct of both applicants, we have concluded that they have been sufficiently punished and that if now released, will prove themselves useful and law-abiding citizens.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions," recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Myer Katz and Philip Schultz.

Sir: At No. 208, February Sessions, 1921, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, in and for the County of Philadelphia, Allan Lane alias Richard Wilson was convicted of Robbery, and on February 16, 1921, was sentenced to pay costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a minimum period of nine and one-half years, and a maximum period of ten years.

The applicant is 42 years of age, a native of North Carolina, colored, and unmarried.

At the time of his arrest, he was out of employment and resided in the City of Philadelphia. He went to a house to apply for a room for lodging about 9:00 A. M. He had never been there before. The landlady said, "You are the man that robbed me last night." The applicant told her that he had never been there, and had never seen her before. The applicant had a small amount of money on his person at the time of his arrest. The woman claimed that she had lost some money the night before, but did not know how much. This is the offense for which he was convicted.

The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of crime. He has now served three years and two months of his term of imprisonment. Several letters were filed with the Board from citizens in North Carolina who knew the applicant during his residence in that State.

The District Attorney's office was represented at the hearing by Mr. Fox, who did not seriously oppose the application.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the prior good record of the applicant, the term of imprisonment already served, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now liberated, he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions," recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Allan Lane alias Richard Wilson.

Sir: At No. 553, January Sessions, 1921, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, in and for the County of Philadelphia, William Henderson pleaded guilty to Voluntary Manslaughter, and on April 1, 1921, was sentenced to pay a fine of $1.00, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a period of not less than four years, nor more than five years.

The applicant is 30 years of age, colored, a native of Alabama, married, and has one child, aged 10 years. He is a butler by occupation, but at the time of the commission of the crime, was employed as a garage helper in the City of Philadelphia where he also resided.

On December 5, 1920, about 10:30 A. M., five white men came into the garage where the applicant was employed. They were under the influence of liquor and remained in and about the garage until late in the afternoon. One of the men, named Neal, drove a car in and out of the garage several times, and on one of his trips collided with a truck causing considerable damage. When the men left the garage, the applicant followed them in order to ascertain their names and addresses, fearing trouble on account of the damaged car. The men went to a restaurant, the applicant following. He had a borrowed revolver in his possession which he handed over to the proprietor who placed it on a shelf in the rear of the counter. Two of the men went out. One of the men remaining, stepped into the doorway and blocked the same, preventing the applicant from leaving the building, while the other remaining man endeavored to secure the revolver. The applicant ran to the counter, grasped the revolver and pointed it at the man who went after the revolver. During the excitement, the revolver was discharged three or four times, one bullet striking William Gorman, who died eight days later.

The applicant has now served three years of his term of imprisonment. He was never before charged with or convicted of crime.

The Trial Judge has filed a letter with the Board in which he recommends a pardon. The District Attorney's office was represented at the hearing, and objected to clemency at this time, but not vigorously.

Dr. Herbert M. Goddard, vice-president and trustee of the Eastern State Penitentiary, has filed with the Board a letter in which he offers to employ the applicant as a butler in his household, in the event of his release, and also promises to become sponsor for his future conduct.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the prior good record of the applicant, the term of imprisonment already served, the recommendation of the Trial Judge, and in further consideration of the fact that Dr. Goddard will furnish the applicant employment in his household and will act as sponsor for his future conduct, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now liberated, he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said William Henderson.

Sir: At No. 116, February Sessions, 1921, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace, in and for the County of Luzerne, Joseph Elias was convicted of Larceny and Receiving Stolen Goods, and on February 15, 1921, was sentenced to pay a fine of $500.00, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a term of not less than 2 years and 11 months, nor more than 3 years.

At No. 117, of the same term, in the same Court, the said Joseph Elias was convicted of Larceny and Receiving Stolen Goods, and on February 15, 1921, received the same sentence as in the preceeding case, sentence, however, not to begin until the expiration of the sentence in No. 116, February Sessions, 1921, which sentence has been served.

The applicant is 40 years of age and a Syrian by birth. He has filed the necessary papers declaring his intention to become a citizen of the United States. His occupation is that of a laborer and ragman. At the time of his arrest, he resided in Allentown, but has resided in Wilkes-Barre nearly his entire life. He is married and has a wife and 4 children living, the latter ranging in age from 9 to 15 years respectively.

Mike John alias John Johns, Simon Moses, and the applicant, were charged with the larceny of goods from the Pennsylvania and Jersey Central Railroad Companies at Wilkes-Barre on two separate occasions during the month of September, 1920. The co-defendant, Mike John alias John Johns, was pardoned in March, 1924, and the other co-defendant, Simon Moses, has been recommended for pardon by this Board.

The applicant has now served 3 years and 2 months of his term of imprisonment. His wife and children are in destitute circumstances.

The Trial District Attorney filed with the Board a letter in which he recommends clemency on the same grounds that induced a pardon of his co-defendant, Mike John alias John Johns, and that caused the Board to recommend for pardon the other co-defendant, Simon Moses.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the term of imprisonment already served, the destitute condition of his family, the fact that one co-defendant has already been pardoned, and the other recommended for pardon, and in consideration of the recommendation of the Trial District Attorney, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now liberated, he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions," recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Joseph Elias.

Sir: At No. 1, June Sessions, 1918, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Indiana, James Pizzarella was convicted of robbery, on three counts, and on June 24, 1918, was sentenced on the first count only to pay a fine of $500, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Western State Penitentiary for a period of not less than nine years nor more than ten years.

The applicant is 39 years of age, and his occupation is that of a teamster, peddling fish, etc. He is a native of Italy and has resided in this country for a period of fifteen years. When the crime was committed he had filed his declaration of intention to become a naturalized citizen of the United States. He has a wife and four children residing in Indiana, Indiana County.

Four Italians, Peter Curato, Tony Curato (his brother), John Pagnotta and the applicant were convicted of taking from the persons of three men, two of whom were professional gamblers, sums aggregating $1018. On April 28, 1918, between the hours of 9:15 and 10:45 P. M., the men who were robbed were proceeding along the street in Homer City, Indiana County, when suddenly in a dark place they were held up by three men with revolvers and robbed. The latter subsequently escaped in an automobile. The applicant was positively indentified as one of the men who committed the robbery, although he set up an alibi and proved that he was at his home when the crime was committed.

The applicant has now served almost five years and ten months of his term of imprisonment. Two of his co-defendants have already been pardoned on the recommendation of this Board, John Pagnotta in March, 1923, and Peter Curato in October, 1923. The wife and children of the applicant are in destitute circumstances and require his support.

The District Attorney of Washington County has filed with the Board a letter in which he recommends clemency. While unfamiliar with the circumstances of the present case, he states that he used the applicant as a witness for the Commonwealth in the cases against Marcantonio Daniele and Angelo Fragassa who were convicted of murder in said county, and that he rendered invaluable assistance in breaking up the Black Hand society in that county.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the term of imprisonment already served, the fact that two of the codefendants have already been pardoned by this Board, the need which his destitute wife and children have for his support and maintenance, and the recommendation of the District Attorney of Washington County, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and that if now released he will prove himself a peaceful and law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At No. 180, April Sessions, 1923, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Luzerne, John Reed alias John Bass was convicted of Larceny, and on March 28, 1923, was sentenced to pay costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a term of not less than 18 months nor more than two years.

The applicant is 20 years of age, an American citizen by birth, unmarried, and at the time of his arrest he was employed in a restaurant and resided with his mother in the City of Wilkes-Barre.

On February 24, 1923, about 7:00 P. M., an automobile owned by Clement Karnofsky was stolen from the place where it was temporarily parked opposite the owner's store in said city. Four days later the same car was recovered by the police authorities of New York City from the possession of the applicant and two companions. Because of their unsatisfactory explanation as to the ownership of the car and their destination, the three men were thereupon arrested and delivered into the custody of the Wilkes-Barre police officials, and were subsequently indicted, convicted and sentenced.

The applicant has served almost one year and one month of his term of imprisonment. He was never before charged with or convicted of crime, and was only 19 years of age when the present crime was committed.

The Trial Judge has filed with the Board a letter in which he recommends a pardon. The Mayor of Wilkes-Barre and the Superintendent of the Department of Accounts and Finance in said city also recommend clemency.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the youth of the applicant, his former good record, the term of imprisonment already served, and in further consideration of the recommendations of the Trial Judge and the Mayor of the City, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now liberated, he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions," recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said John Reed alias John Bass.

Sir: At No. 258, April Sessions, 1916, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Luzerne, William Magulnitski was convicted of Breaking and Larceny, and in April 24, 1916, was sentenced to pay a fine of $500, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a term of not less than nine years and six months nor more than ten years.

The applicant is 42 years of age, and owes allegiance to the Republic of Poland. His occupation is that of a coal miner, but he was unemployed at the time of his arrest. His residence was in the Borough of Luzerne, Luzerne County. He is unmarried and has no relatives in America.

On February 23, 1916, the store of Max Goodman in the said borough was broken into and a quantity of merchandise taken therefrom. Five days later the stolen goods were found in a house situated a shirt distance from said borough. The applicant was present when the goods were found, but protested his innocence of the crime. Five men, including the applicant, were arrested and tried for the offense. One of the defendants was acquitted. The applicant and one of the other defendants were convicted and sent to the penitentiary. The two other defendants were paroled.

The applicant has now served almost eight years of his term of imprisonment. He was never before charged with or convicted of crime.

The Trial District Attorney, the Trial Judge, the present District Attorney and the prosecutor have filed letters with the Board in which they recommend clemency.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the prior good record of the applicant, the term of imprisonment already served, and the recommendations of the Trial Judge, Trial District Attorney, the present District Attorney and the prosecutor, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions," recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said William Magulintski.

Sir: At No. 68, August Sessions, 1911, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of York, Jacob Ilgenfritz was convicted of murder in the second degree, and on April 27, 1912, was sentenced to pay a fine of $1.00, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a term of not less than 19 years 11 months and 25 days nor more than 20 years.

The applicant is now 66 years of age and a native born citizen of the United States. He was for many years engaged in the drayage business in the City of York, but at the time of the commission of the crime owned and operated a restaurant in said city, and resided in the dwelling house above the restaurant. He was the father of six children, four being married and two single. Two of his children have died since his incarceration.

On July 11, 1911, the applicant, who had visited several hotels, and was under the influence of liquor, went to his son's house in the City of York where his wife, Susan Ilgenfritz, then was. The applicant and his wife were sitting on the front porch together. She went into the house to get a cup of coffee. He followed her, and as she entered the dining room he drew a revolver and shot her three times, as a result of which she died. He also attempted to shoot his son, when he was overpowered and lay as if he were lifeless until the patrol wagon came and carried him to prison. The applicant was a kind father and husband, except when under the influence of liquor when he became abusive and ugly. He has always maintained that he had no recollection of the shooting.

The applicant has now served almost twelve years of his term of imprisonment. He was never before charged with or convicted of crime, and his reputation in the community was excellent.

The physical condition of the applicant has become seriously impaired, as shown by letters filed with the Board. His conduct in prison has been excellent. His daughter, Mrs. Kochenour, who appeared before the Board asking clemency for her father, has offered him a home and will care for him if liberated.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the age and impaired physical condition of the applicant, the term of imprisonment already served, and his prior good record, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released, he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions," recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Jacob Ilgenfritz.

Sir: At No. 827, January Sessions, 1922, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace, in and for the County of Philadelphia, John Schwab alias Lee Smith pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with being armed with an offensive weapon, and on January 30, 1922, was sentenced to pay costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a term of not less than four years, nor more than five years.

The applicant is 19 years of age, unmarried, a clerk by occupation, and was born and reared in Mifflin County, and had only been in Philadelphia a short time prior to his arrest.

The applicant left his country home and came to the city to better himself, and fell among evil associates. On December 12, 1921, he accompanied two men, Howard Morse and Morris Henry, to a small shoe-repairing shop on Twelfth Street below Locust, Philadelphia. The three men were armed with revolvers or black-jacks. They first entered the shop in the morning, and returned again at noon and attempted to hold up the proprietor, Charles Hauser. He resisted and they fled without obtaining any money.

The applicant has now served two years and two months of his term of imprisonment. He was never before charged with or convicted of crime.

The Trial Judge has filed with the Board a letter in which he recommends a pardon. Senator Culbertson, the Register and Recorder, the Prothonotary, and the Sheriff of Mifflin County, applicant's former home, also recommend clemency; and a petition of citizens of said county, filed with the Board, asks that he be liberated.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the fact that the applicant was only 17 years of age when the crime was committed, in consideration of the term of imprisonment already served, his prior good record, and the recommendations of the Trial Judge and prominent officials of Mifflin County who are familiar with his career prior to the commission of the crime, and because of the fact that Hon. F. W. Culbertson, has agreed to become sponsor for him, and will endeavor to surround him with all the conditions that induce good citizenship, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now liberated he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions," recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said John Schwab alias Lee Smith.

Sir: At No. 1001, January Sessions, 1922, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Philadelphia, Frank Galvin pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with conspiracy, and on February 6, 1922, was sentenced to pay costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a term of not less than 18 months nor more than two years, the sentence to begin at the expiration of the sentence imposed by the same Court for larceny at No. 1000, January Sessions, 1922.

The applicant is 32 years of age, an American citizen by birth, unmarried, a sheet metal worker by occupation and lived in Boston until a short time before his arrest.

The applicant was indicted for larceny and conspiracy comprehending a single offense which consisted in the larceny of women's underwear from Blauner's store in the City of Philadelphia, in January 21, 1922. The applicant and Margaret Ward were jointly indicted on both charges, and while the former pleaded guilty his co-defendant stood trial and was acquitted on the conspiracy charge, but was convicted of larceny.

The applicant has now served two years and two months of his term of imprisonment.

The Collector of the Port of Boston and the Governor of Massachusetts have filed letters with the Board in which they ask clemency.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the fact that the codefendant of the applicant was acquitted by a jury on the charge of conspiracy, because of the term of imprisonment already served, we believe that he has been more than sufficiently punished on the charge of conspiracy only, and have determined to relieve him from the stigma of this charge, but are not ready to exonerate him from the more serious charge of larceny.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions," recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Frank Galvin.

Sir: At No. 30, September Sessions, 1921, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Huntingdon, Jimmie Rodenella alias Guiseppe Angeloe pleaded not guilty of murder, but subsequently by advice of counsel changed his plea to guilty of voluntary manslaughter, and on December 7, 1921, was sentenced to pay a fine of $10.00, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Western State Penitentiary for a period of not less than four years nor more than four years and six months.

The applicant is 30 years of age and a subject of the kingdom of Italy. His occupation is that of common laborer. At the time of his arrest he was employed in the stone quarries at Pemberton, Huntingdon County, where he resided. He is unmarried.

On the evening of August 12, 1921, the applicant and Nick Galout, made a social call at the house of a quadroon woman, with whom resided a Mexican, Alexander Medina, and a daughter aged about 15 years. While they were there Medina entered. He was under the influence of liquor and in a fighting mood. He sought a quarrel with them and they left the house. Medina went out after them to hunt them, as he informed his paramour. He was armed. Outside the house he encountered one or both of the men. Several shots were fired, but only one shot struck Medina, and killed him. It is not known from whence the shot came. The Mexican's pistol had been discharged. Both men were arrested and indicted for murder. The applicant was sentenced as above stated. There was but slight evidence against him, and the quadroon was the main witness. By leave of the court a nolle prosequi was entered against Galout, his codefendant, on the day the applicant was sentenced.

The applicant has now served three years and four months of his term of imprisonment. He was never before charged with or convicted of crime.

The Trial District Attorney has filed a letter with the Board in which he strongly recommends a pardon. He states that subsequent to the trial the quadroon left the country with Galout, the codefendant, and that he believes that the latter probably fired the fatal shot.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the doubt as to the guilt of the applicant, his prior good record, the term of imprisonment already served, and the recommendation of the Trial District Attorney, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and that if now liberated, he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At No. 23, January Sessions, 1923, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, in and for the County of Dauphin, Wesley Reed pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with Highway Robbery, and on March 28, 1922, was sentenced to imprisonment in the Huntingdon Reformatory.

The applicant is about 20 years of age, an American citizen by birth, a resident of Dauphin County, a carpenter by occupation, and resided in the Borough of Penbrook, Dauphin County. He is unmarried and resided with his parents.

Paul Reichert, Russell Hawkins and Elmer Rodkey, residents of Penbrook, Dauphin County, during the month of February, 1923, met one night and planned to go to the home of George Kurstoff, of Lower Paxton Township, who was supposed to be in the bootlegging business. When they reached the house, they found him absent. As they proceeded from the house on the lane leading to the public road, Kurstoff returned. They held him up and took a small amount of money from him which was equally divided among the four. Reichert was the oldest, and the master mind. All pleaded guilty, and Reichert was sentenced to not less than 11 months, nor more than 13 months in the Eastern State Penitentiary, where he is now imprisoned. Hawkins and Rodkey were recently pardoned by this Board.

The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of crime. He has now been imprisoned two years.

The Trial District Attorney, in a letter filed with the Board, does not oppose a pardon inasmuch as two of the applicant's co-defendants have already been pardoned, and the third one will soon be released by the expiration of his term of imprisonment.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the youth of the applicant, his prior good record, the period of imprisonment already served, because of the fact that the Trial District Attorney has no objections to a pardon, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released, he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions," recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Wesley Reed.

Sir: At Nos. 1 and 2, May Sessions, 1914, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, in and for the County of Columbia,

John Kalanoski was convicted of Horse Stealing, and on May 6, 1914, was sentenced in the aggregate to pay a fine of $1,000, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a period of not less than 17 years and 6 months, nor more than 17 years and 8 months.

The applicant is 72 years of age and is a citizen of the Republic of Poland. His occupation is that of a coal miner, but at the time of his arrest, he worked on his farm at Sugarloaf, Pennsylvania. He has a wife and four children.

The horse of Boyd Ohl was taken from his stable on the night of April 2, 1914, and several days later was found hitched to a dump cart of one Voynar of Mahanoy City. The applicant had charge of the team. When asked as to how he obtained possession, he replied that he had bought the horse from two fellows in Shenandoah. The applicant often engaged in horse trading. He was immediately arrested for the theft of the horse. He is an ignorant illiterate man, and speaks but little English.

The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of crime. He has served almost 10 years of his term of imprisonment.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the doubt as to the applicant's guilt, his advanced age, his prior good record, the term of imprisonment already served, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and that if now liberated he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

His Excellency, Gifford Pinchot, Governor:

Sir: At No. 32, October Sessions, 1921, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Chester, Clifford Pettit pleaded guilty to the larceny of an automobile, and on October 5, 1921, was sentenced to pay a fine of $500.00, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a period of not less than four years nor more than ten years.

The applicant is 29 years of age, a native born American citizen, and a machinist by occupation. He is unmarried, and at the time when the crime was committed resided in Chester County with his brother.

The applicant had been employed in the garage of Robert G. Schaeffer, but left his employ about September 1, 1921. On the night of September 19, 1921, the applicant returned to the garage of Schaeffer, took an automobile therefrom, and drove the same to Philadelphia and stored it in a garage. The following day when he returned to the garage and applied for the car, he was placed under arrest for larceny. He had not sold the car at the time of his arrest, and had been drinking.

The applicant has now served two years and six months of his term of imprisonment. He was never before charged with or convicted of crime. He served honorably in the World War.

The present District Attorney has filed with the Board a letter in which he recommends clemency, stating that the applicant had no idea of disposing of the car, but was merely using it on a joyride, and later intended to return it to the garage of his former employer. The President and members of the Council of the Borough of Phoenixville, where the applicant resided, filed a letter with the Board in which they recommend clemency, and the prosecutor in the case joins in the recommendation.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the prior good record of the applicant, the term of imprisonment already served, because of the recommendations of the present District Attorney, the prosecutor in the case, and the President and members of the Town Council of Phoenixville, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released, he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Clifford Pettit.

Board of Pardons.

Harrisburg, Pa., April 16, 1924.

Sir: At No. 30, June Sessions, 1923, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Beaver, Harold L. Kribbs was convicted of fornification and bastardy, and on September 29, 1923, was sentenced to pay the costs of prosecution, $50.00 lying-in expenses, the sum of $4.00 each week for the support of the child until it reaches the age of seven years, bond in the sum of $1,000, with security to be approved by the Court, to be furnished conditioned to comply with this order, in default of which defendant stands committed.

The applicant is 21 years of age, a native born American citizen, a clerk by occupation, his employer being his father who is engaged in the automobile business in the Borough of Beaver Falls, Beaver County, Pa., where he resided with his parents.

The Kribbs family and the Mannion family lived but a few doors apart, the children associating together and occassionally visiting back and forth. In the latter half of June, 1922, the applicant, who was then 20 years of age, went to the Mannion home and asked Grace Mannion (who was about a year older) to go automobile riding with him. Her parents gave their consent upon condition that a second girl was taken along. Consequently Edith Carpenter accompanied them. On March 19, 1923, Grace Mannion gave birth to a male child which she alleges was begotten on the occasion of the automobile trip. None of her family knew of her condition until the child was actually born, and it was only at or about the time of the birth of the child that she first named the applicant as the father. There was no charge or evidence of seduction or of a promise to marry, or of attentions indicative of matrimony. There was no evidence that the applicant was ever again in the company of Grace Mannion following the automobile ride. The girl who accompanied them on the ride testified that she had been with them all the time, or in a position to observe their actions, and that there had been no misconduct. The testimony of Grace Mannion at the hearing and at the trials differed in several material points. The applicant was twice tried and convicted of the offense. The Judge who tried the first case of his own motion granted a new trial, but the result was the same in both trials.

The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of crime. He has now been imprisoned six and one-half months. He has strenuously maintained his innocence of any wrong-doing.

The Judge who tried the first case filed with the Board a letter in which, while not recommending clemency, he states that he granted a new trial because in his judgment there was not sufficient evidence to sustain the verdict of guilty. The Judge who presided in the second trial filed with the Board a letter in which he does not recommend or oppose clemency, but states that the evidence was somewhat extraordinary in that the mother of the child never communicated the fact of her condition to the applicant, although they lived in the same town but a few doors apart. He also refers to the fact that the applicant maintained his innocence and went to jail rather than give bond for the payment of the costs and maintenance of the bastard child.

At the request of the Board, Sergeant G. W. Freeman of the State Police, visited Beaver County to investigate this case, and as a result filed a report with the Board in which he expresses doubt as to the guilt of the applicant.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this remarkable case, the doubt as to the guilt of the applicant arising out of the conflicting and improbable statements of the prosecutrix, in consideration of the period of imprisonment already served by the applicant, his unvarying protestation of innocence, because of the statements of the Trial Judges and the report of Sergeant Freeman, we have concluded that the applicant has been sufficiently punished, and that if now liberated, he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At No. 96, August Sessions, 1920, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Washington, Alfonso Polifrone alias Joe Alia was convicted of pandering, the indictment containing eight counts, and on August 23, 1920, was sentenced to pay in the aggregate a fine of $4.00, costs and to undergo an imprisonment in the Western State Penitentiary for a term of not less than 12 years nor more than 40 years.

The applicant is 30 years old, a native of Italy, but a naturalized subject of the United States. At the time of his arrest he resided in Pittsburgh and worked as a tobacconist. He is unmarried.

The applicant was arrested on June 16. 1920, for pandering. He was charged with taking into Washington County a girl named Ida Dunn for the purpose of prostitution. The girl had a bad reputation and was known as a common prostitute. Her sister testified in behalf of the applicant and stated that Ida Dunn was untruthful. The applicant denied taking her into Washington County, and denied receiving any money from her as the proceeds of her evil conduct. His conviction was secured mainly on the testimony of this girl.

The applicant has now served three years and seven months of his term of imprisonment. He was never before charged with or convicted of crime.

The present District Attorney has written a letter to the applicant, which is on file with the Board. In it he recommends pardon and lauds him for his services in exposing the operations of the Black Hand in Washington County. The Trial District Attorney, who is now one of the Judges of Washington County, has filed with the Board a letter in which he recommends a pardon on the ground that the applicant has been sufficiently punished, the girl involved a notorious prostitute, and because the applicant had helped the present District Attorney in uprooting the Black Hand.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the doubt as to the applicant's guilt, his prior good record, the term of imprisonment already served, and the recommendations of the present District Attorney and the Trial District Attorney, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and that if now released he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At No. 116, February Sessions, 1921, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace, in and for the County of Luzerne, Simon Moses was convicted of Larceny and Receiving Stolen Goods, and on February 15, 1921, was sentenced to pay a fine of $500.00, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a term of not less than 2 years and 11 months, nor more than 3 years.

At No. 121, of the same term, in the same Court, the said Simon Moses pleaded guilty to Receiving Stolen Goods, and on the day aforementioned, was sentenced to pay costs, to make restitution, and to undergo a like term of imprisonment.

The applicant is 49 years of age, a Syrian by birth, but a citizen of the United States. He is a coal miner by occupation, and at the time of his arrest was employed by the Lehigh and Wilkes-Barre Coal Company in the city of Wilkes-Barre, where he resided with his wife and 7 children, 6 of whom range in age from 3 to 16 years respectively.

Joseph Elias, Mike John alias John Johns, and the applicant, were charged with the larceny of goods from the Pennsylvania and Jersey Central Railroad Companies at Wilkes-Barre, on two different occasions, in the months of September and November, 1920. One of his co-defendants, Mike John alias John Johns, was pardoned in March, 1924, and the other co-defendant, Joseph Elias, has been recommended for pardon by this Board.

The applicant has now served 3 years and 2 months of his term of imprisonment. He was never before charged with or convicted of crime. His wife and family are destitute and require his support and maintenance.

The Trial District Attorney has filed with the Board a letter in which he recommends clemency, and maintains that the same reasons which induced the Board to recommend clemency in the case of Mike John alias John Johns, apply to the present applicant.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the term of imprisonment already served, the prior good record of the applicant, the need which his family has of his support and maintenance, the fact that one of his co-defendants has already been pardoned, and the other one recommended for pardon by this Board, and because of the recommendation of the Trial District Attorney, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released, he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At No. 233, February Sessions, 1922, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Allgheny, John Devlin was convicted of entering a building, larceny and receiving stolen goods, and on March 1, 1922, was sentenced to pay a fine of 6¼¢, costs, and to undergo imprisonment of not less than two years or more than five years in the Western State Penitentiary.

At No. 235, of the same term in the same Court, the said John Devlin pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with entering a building, and on March 1, 1922, the same sentence was imposed as in No. 233, the two sentences to run concurrently.

At No. 237, of the same term in the same Court, the said John Devlin pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with pointing firearms, and on March 1, 1922, was sentenced to pay a fine of 6¼¢, costs, and to undergo imprisonment for a term of two years in the Allegheny County Workhouse, the last mentioned sentence to run concurrently with the sentence imposed in No. 235.

At No. 10, April Sessions, 1922, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of the same county, the said John Devlin pleaded nolo contendere to an indictment charging him with burglary and receiving stolen goods, and on May 17, 1922, was sentenced to pay a fine of 6¼¢, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Western State Penitentiary for a term of not less than one year and six months or more than three years, to take effect at the expiration of the sentences imposed in Nos. 233 and 235, February Sessions, 1922.

The applicant is a native born citizen of the United States, 39 years of age and has resided in the City of Pittsburgh all his life. He was by occupation a stationary fireman. He has a wife and three small children aged three, seven and ten years respectively.

The applicant and several accomplices were charged with breaking and entering the residence of A. H. Chandler in the City of Pittsburgh on or about December 10, 1921, and taking therefrom a barrel of whiskey. They were also charged with entering the Fort Pitt Garage in said city on December 27, 1921, pointing a revolver at the watchman and demanding whiskey, but were frightened away without accomplishing their purpose. They were also charged with breaking and entering the dwelling house of Sol Rosenblum in the same city on February 11, 1922, and carrying therefrom certain goods.

The applicant before the commission of these offenses was never charged with or convicted of crime. He has served two years and two months of his term of imprisonment. Since his incarceration his wife has been continuously employed by a laundry company receiving a weekly wage of $18.00, and has been compelled to support the family on her earnings. The applicant before his arrest was an industrious, hardworking man, a kind and affectionate husband and father, and the sole support his family which sorely needs his assistance. Captain Robert S. Cain, a responsible citizen of Pittsburgh, has offered employment to the applicant upon his release with a compensation of $50.00 per week.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the prior good record of the applicant, the term of imprisonment already served, and the support and assistance which his wife and small children require, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released, he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At Nos. 90, 91 and 92, January Sessions, 1923, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Dauphin, Samuel Wilson, was convicted of the unlawful possession of drugs, and on January 15, 1923, was sentenced in the aggregate to pay a fine of $1500, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a term of not less than four years nor more than six and one-half years. Subsequently, because of the overcrowded condition of the penitentiary he was transferred to the Dauphin County Prison where he is now incarcerated.

The applicant is a native of Statesburg, South Carolina, 51 years of age, colored, and has resided in the City of Harisburg for seventeen years last past. He is by occupation a laborer and was employed by the Harrisburg Pipe and Pipe Bending Works.

The applicant is charged with having in his possession and selling, cocaine, hydro chloride and other narcotics to Roy Flynn and to Edwin Bertin a State Drug Agent. These sales were consumated in a place known as Hickory Alley in the City of Harrisburg during the months of September and October, 1922. Certain drugs were found in the applicant's apartments, but not in his actual and immediate possession, and it was testified that other people occupied these rooms.

The applicant has now served one year and four months of his term of imprisonment. He was never before charged with or convicted of crime. He was convicted on the testimony of Flynn, an addict, and upon the testimony of officers who searched the premises where he, in company with other negroes, had lived.

The District Attorney has filed with the Board a letter in which he states that he has discussed this case with the Court. He declares that the present sentence was imposed because imprisonment in the penitentiary was deemed preferable to imprisonment in the county jail, which latter is not equipped to take care of long term prisoners. He adds, "I feel sure that had the Court felt like imposing a sentence to the Dauphin County Jail, a shorter sentence would have been imposed."

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the term of imprisonment already served, the prior good record of the applicant, the statement of the District Attorney concerning the sentence, the doubt as to the guilt of the applicant, the fact that the latter is now imprisoned in the county jail instead of in the penitentiary to which he was originally consigned, and that the county jail is not equipped to take care of long term prisoners, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now liberated he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At Nos. 224, 225, 226 and 227, October Sessions, 1923, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Philadelphia, Edward Wood was convicted of assault and battery, aggravated assault and battery, assault and battery with intent to ravish, rape, and conspiracy to commit rape, and on October 10, 1923, was sentenced in the aggregate on three of the bills of indictment covering all of the above stated offenses (except the one charging conspiracy to commit rape), to pay costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a term of not less than five years nor more than ten years.

The applicant is 21 years of age. At the time of his arrest he was a soldier in the United States Army. Prior to that he had been a brakeman for the Philadelphia & Reading Railway Company. He is unmarried and resided with his parents in the City of Philadelphia.

The applicant was jointly indicted with two other young men. The circumstances of the alleged crime were as follows: Two girls, Henrietta Horner and Mary Pyle, aged thirteen years, on the evening of September 19, 1923, at about nine o'clock, went along Third Street accompanied by three boys, slightly older. They were chased by the applicant, two other men who wore soldier's uniforms, and a civilian. The girls and boys separated, the three boys proceeding up the street and the two girls cutting across an open lot. While crossing this lot they were overtaken by the four men, who were intoxicated. Both girls testified that Henrietta Horner was knocked down, over-powered and maltreated by the four men. The applicant was identified as one of the men who assaulted her. On the trial of the case, his two soldier companions admitted their guilt, but declared that the applicant who was with them at the time was innocent of any offense. The applicant stoutly denied his guilt.

The applicant has served seven months of his term of imprisonment. His prior record is excellent, except that he once served a term of six months in the county prison for larceny. His reputation for chastity had never been attacked.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the grave doubt as to the actual guilt of the applicant, his comparative youth when the alleged crime was committed, and the term of imprisonment already served, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now liberated he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions," recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Edward Wood.

Sir: At No. 813, March Sessions, 1919, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Philadelphia, Frank Mitchell was convicted of entering with intent to steal, and on April 9, 1919, was sentenced to pay costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a term of not less than three years nor more than five years.

The applicant is 45 years if age, a native born American citizen, a skilled laborer, and at the time of his arrest was employed by a contracting firm in the City of Philadelphia where he resided in the home of his cousin. He is unmarried.

On March 18, 1919, a policeman, patroling his beat, heard the screams of a woman, Eleanor Taylor. He ran to the house and found the front door open. Upon entering he found the applicant on the second floor being detained by a male occupant of the house. Prior to his arrest the applicant had had a misunderstanding with his sweetheart, the said Eleanor Taylor, which led her to tell him never again to come to the house. Feeling this to be a mere reprimand, the applicant went, as he was accustomed, to the home of his sweetheart, and when he entered her apartment, the latter and her mother yelled "murder—robber". The male occupants of the house were aroused, some calling the police and one detaining the applicant. The mother and daughter insisted that the applicant had entered to steal and demanded his arrest on that charge. Nothing was taken from the apartment.

On the trial of the case neither the mother nor daughter appeared against him. He was not defended by counsel, and was convicted and sentenced as above stated. He completed the maximum term of his imprisonment on April 9, 1924.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the grave doubt as to the actual guilt of the applicant, and because of the fact that he has served his maximum term of imprisonment, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that he should have the opportunity of rehabilitating himself, and also have removed the stigma which disqualifies him for good citizenship.

We, therefore, "after full hearing upon due public notice and in open sessions," recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Frank Mitchell.

Sir: At No. 152, July Sessions, 1923, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Philadelphia, Rose L. Robinson was convicted of larceny, and on November 12, 1923, was sentenced to pay costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Philadelphia County Prison for a term of one year.

The applicant is 38 years of age, colored, a widow and has lived in the City of Philadelphia for the past fifteen years, where she conducted a restaurant and store in the central part of that City.

Louis Casteel is a colored man who owned a diamond ring valued at $750. On June 6, 1923, Casteel and some other men and women paid a visit to the applicant at he home. Casteel exhibited the ring and finally placed it on the finger of the applicant before all present. Shortly thereafter the applicant and her guests went in an automobile to make a visit. When she returned within an hour she had the ring, but the stone was missing. Casteel endeavored to collect the value of the ring from the applicant, but she stoutly refused payment on the ground that the stone had been lost somewhere on the journey.

The applicant has now served six months, or one-half of her term of imprisonment. She was never before charged with or convicted of any crime.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the grave doubt as to the actual guilt of the applicant, because of her prior good record, and the term of imprisonment already served, we have concluded that she has been sufficiently punished, and that if now liberated she will prove herself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions," recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Rose L. Robinson.

Sir: At No. 1, March Sessions, 1923, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Dauphin, Charles Johnson was convicted of assault and battery, and larceny, and on September 20, 1923, was sentenced to pay a fine of $5.00, costs, to restore the stolen property and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a term of not less than two years and six months nor more than three years. Subsequently because of overcrowded condition of the penitentiary he was transferred to the Dauphin County Prison.

The applicant is 26 years of age, colored and a native of Georgia. He resided in the City of Harrisburg for twelve years last past. He was a laborer by occupation. He has a wife and child three years old.

The applicant is charged with having taken from the person of one Mike Branch, a foreigner, on February 23, 1923, the sum of $17.00. Branich, while drunk, entered the rooms of the applicant and his wife unsolicited, and during the absence of the applicant. When the latter returned his wife complained to him and he ejected Branich. Both denied taking any money from the latter. Branich was drunk and while in that condition lost his money and accused the applicant of taking the same.

The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of crime. He has served eight months of his term of imprisonment.

The District Attorney has filed with the Board a letter in which he states that he has discussed this case with the Court. He declares that the present sentence was imposed because imprisonment in the penitentiary was deemed preferable to imprisonment in the County Jail, which latter is not equipped to take care of long term prisoners. Sir: At No. 19, September Sessions, 1922, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Dauphin, Andrew Thompson was convicted of the unlawful possession of drugs, and on September 19, 1922, was sentenced to pay a fine of $500, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a term of not less than two years nor more than three years. Subsequently, because of the overcrowded condition of the penitentiary he was transferred to the Dauphin County Prison where he is now incarcerated.

The applicant is a native of Norfolk, Virginia, colored, and prior to his arrest was employed at the round house, Niagara Falls, New York, coaling engines. He is unmarried.

On September 3, 1922, having quit his job at Niagara Falls, and while returning to his former home in Virginia he stopped off in Harrisburg. He engaged in conversation with two colored men, whom he met on the street, and inquired for a lodging place for the night. While so engaged a police officer approached them and the two men fled, and in their flight threw away twelve capsules containing morphine. The officer picked up the capsules and placed the applicant under arrest for the unlawful possession of drugs.

The applicant has now served one year and eight months of his term of imprisonment. He was never before charged with or convicted of crime.

The District Attorney has filed with the Board a letter in which he states that he has discussed this case with the Court. Sir: At Nos. 16 and 35, June Sessions, 1920, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Allegheny, Willard Williams was convicted of larceny and receiving stolen goods, and was recommended by the jury to the "extreme mercy of the Court". On June 25, 1920 he was sentenced in the aggregate to pay a fine of 12½¢, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Western State Penitentiary for a term of not less than seven years nor more than eleven years. The applicant is an American citizen by birth, 29 years of age, at the time of his arrest a resident of Pittsburgh and a railway conductor by occupation. He is unmarried.

The applicant and one Norman Grandle about 4:50 P. M. on April 21, 1920, entered the store of the United Shirt Shops in Pittsburgh, and after covering the clerks with revolvers removed cash and revenue stamps from the cash register. On May 1, 1920, the applicant and Grandle entered the meat market of Matt Kofer located in the same city, and after covering the proprietor and an employe with revolvers robbed the cash register.

The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of crime. He has now served three years and eleven months of his term of imprisonment. He was a Corporal in the World War and was gassed. He has an honorable discharge. When the crimes were committed the applicant was out of work and penniless. If released he has been offered a position with a coal company at Greensburg by the Secretary of the corporation who was a Sergeant in the same Company of Infantry in which the applicant served as Corporal.

A number of comrades of the applicant who served with him overseas have filed a petition with the Board in which they ask for clemency.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the fact that the jury which convicted him recommended "extreme mercy", in consideration of his prior good record, the term of imprisonment already served and because of the fact that employment has been offered him by responsible parties, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released, he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Willard Williams.

Sir: At No. 1, December Sessions, 1918, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Columbia, Carmine Di Lalleri was convicted of murder in the second degree and on May 8, 1919, was sentenced to pay costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a term of not less than fifteen years nor more than eighteen years.

The applicant is a native of Italy and owes allegiance thereto. He came to America in 1913 and went to Berwick, Columbia County, where he was employed by the American Car and Foundry Company as a puddler in its rolling mill, and was thus employed at the time of his arrest. He has a wife and two sons who reside in Italy.

On Sunday evening, September 1918, between eight and nine o'clock, the applicant was on the front door step of his home paring his finger nails with a small pen knife, the blade of which was about two inches long. While thus engaged three intoxicated Italians came down the street with their arms linked. As they passed the applicant "good evenings" were exchanged. After the men had passed the applicant one of the number, Dominick Zannie, stopped and called the applicant to come out of the yard on the pavement stating that he wanted to see him. Realizing that the men were intoxicated, the applicant did not go out. Zannie called him twice. The applicant finally arose and proceeded towards the men. Zannie, after reviling him, in a fit of rage, rushed toward the applicant and struck him a violent blow in the chest. He again attacked the applicant and succeeded in getting hold of him, the latter attempting all the while to push his adversary away. He finally pushed Zannie away with such force that he fell to the ground. The latter was picked up by his two friends. He was bleeding profusely and they took him into a nearby house and sent for a physician, but Zannie died before the arrival of the latter. There was a wound in his right groin about one-half inch in width. The femoral artery had been severed and the man bled to death. This artery was only about one-half inch below the skin surface of Zannie. While there was no evidence showing that the applicant had stabbed Zannie with his pen knife, he had the knife in his hand during the encounter and the theory of the Commonwealth was that the pen knife was the weapon of death.

The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of crime. He has served five years of his term of imprisonment. While the applicant had the pen knife in his hand before and during the struggle the thrust was not premeditated, probably accidental, and if not accidental, the wound was inflicted in self-defense.

The Trial District Attorney and the Trial Judge both filed letters with the Board in which they recommend clemency. The County Solicitor, the Sheriff and the Superintendent of the rolling mill in which he was employed, also ask clemency.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the doubt as to whether or not the stabbing was accidental or in self-defense, in consideration of the prior good record of the applicant, the term of imprisonment already served, and because of the recommendations of the Trial District Attorney, Trial Judge, County Solicitor, Sheriff and others familiar with the facts of this case, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now liberated he will prove himself a peaceable and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Carmine Di Lalleri.

Sir: At No. 21, January Sessions, 1923, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Lackawanna, John Kraley was convicted of rape and on May 12, 1923 was sentenced to pay a fine of $50.00, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a period of not less than four and one-half years nor more than fifteen years. Two days later the Court modified this sentence and fixed the minimum term of imprisonment at three years and the maximum term at fifteen years.

The applicant was born in Slovakia and is twenty-two years of age, unmarried and at the time of his conviction resided with his parents in the Borough of Jermyn, Lackawanna County. He was a coal miner by occupation and if released will obtain a position with his former employer, the Hudson Coal Company. He was the sole support of his parents.

Paul Mickridge alias Mickravge, John Zrowka and the applicant were jointly indicted for the crime of rape committed upon the person of Mary Margevich, a Polish woman, married and aged twenty-seven years. On the night of November 13, 1922 she was returning to her home from a christening about two o'clock in the morning when she was stopped by the three men above named (who had been drinking together) and forcibly assaulted. Zrowka admitted that committed the crime and pleaded guilty on the trial of the case. The letter of the trial District Attorney filed with the Board states that as a result of his investigation of the case, he believes that Mickridge and the applicant, instead of helping to prevent the assault, stood by and allowed the assault to occur. The story of the victim was not clear as to the extent of the applicant's participation in the affair. On the trial Zrowka pleaded guilty and was sentenced to the State Penitentiary for a term of not less than four nor more than fifteen years. His minimum term was subsequently reduced to three years. The other two defendants went to trial. The first jury disagreed after deliberating more than twenty hours. Both were convicted on the second trial and both received a like sentence.

The applicant has now served one year and one month of his term of imprisonment. He was never before charged with or convicted of crime. He is only twenty-two years of age and his parents with whom he resided require his support.

The Trial Judge in conversation with a member of the Board verbally recommended a pardon.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the youth of the applicant when the crime was committed, term of imprisonment already served, his prior good record, the support and assistance which his family requires, the statement of the Trial District Attorney and the recommendation of the Trial Judge, we have concluded that the applicant has been sufficiently punished and if now released, he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said John Kraley.

The applicant is a native of the Borough of Jermyn, Lackawanna County, twenty-two years of age, unmarried and at the time of his conviction and for many years prior thereto, resided with his parents in said borough. Sir: At No. 222 November Sessions, 1923, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, in and for the County of Philadelphia, Francis Vincent Kelly was convicted of involuntary manslaughter, and on February 28, 1924, was sentenced to pay costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Philadelphia County prison for the term of four months.

The applicant is 25 years of age, a native-born citizen of the United States, and at the time of his arrest was a member of the Philadelphia Police force and resided in that city with his wife and five small children, the eldest being five years of age and the youngest being twins, nine months old.

On September 10, 1923, about 4:00 P. M., the applicant and Bernard Peck, both police officers attached to the 17th District Station, Philadelphia, became involved in a verbal altercation as a result of which Peck invited the applicant to fight, which the latter declined to do, but upon a subsequent meeting, in the patrol wagon of the station house, about midnight of the same day, the altercation was renewed and another challenge on Peck's part to fight was again declined. They left the station house together, proceeded north on 20th Street, Peck still insisting on a fight, and upon reaching Washington Avenue the applicant finally accepted the challenge. After proceeding a short distance they found a satisfactory place, took off their hats and caps and engaged in a fist fight in which Peck was knocked down several times, when two other officers came up and Peck had admitted that he had enough, they, together with the applicant, assisted Peck to his home. Peck's condition becoming worse he was taken to the hospital two days later, was operated on for fracture of the skull, and died there from this cause nine days later. The evidence showed that the deceased had sought a fight with the applicant on at least two different occasions and had used extremely vile and provocative language toward the applicant whenever he was in his company on the fatal day. The autopsy disclosed that the skull of the deceased was sub-normal in thickness and the medical opinion was expressed that a blow on the jaw and consequent fall striking the head on the ground, would produce a fracture.

On June 28, the applicant will have completed his full term of imprisonment. He was never before charged with or convicted of crime. In the fatal quarrel the applicant did everything possible to avoid a physical encounter with the deceased, refusing to fight on at least two occasions and risked incurring the contempt of his fellow officers for apparent cowardice. There was no moral turpide involved in the fight which was forced upon the applicant. When arrested he was suspended from the police force and his wife and five small children are now being supported by the charity of friends. During his imprisonment his behavior has been excellent and if granted a pardon will be restored to his former position on the police force. A large petition of citizens residing in applicant's ward has been filed with the Board, asking clemency.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the fact that death occurred as the result of a mere fist fight in which the deceased was the aggressor; in consideration of the further fact that the applicant has about completed his term of imprisonment and that if now liberated he will regain his former position on the police force; because of the prior good conduct of the applicant; because of the further fact that applicant's family requires his support and assistance, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and that if now released he will prove himself a peaceable and law abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions," recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Francis Vincent Kelly.

Sir: At Nos. 15, 17, 18, 19 and 20, April Sessions, 1922, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Philadelphia, I. Austin Wolfe was convicted of receiving stolen goods, and on February 2, 1923, was sentenced to pay costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a term of not less than one year nor more than two years.

The applicant is 34 years of age, a native of Russia and an American citizen. He has been a member of the Bar of Philadelphia County since 1912, and in 1921 and 1922, while still practicing law, owned a pawn shop at Seventeenth and Lombard Streets in the City of Philadelhia. He resided is said City with his wife and one child fifteen months old.

On the trial it was shown that a number of stolen articles had been purchased or taken in pawn at the applicant's pawn shop, and in order to connect him with the crime charged, his employes and others were called by the Commonwealth as witnesses against him, all of whom participated in the alleged criminal transactions. They all charged the applicant with having knowledge and with having participated in the receipt of these goods. The applicant denied any guilty knowledge of these transactions, claiming that at this time he was engaged in the practice of law. After twenty-seven hours deliberation the jury found him guilty and he was sentenced as above stated.

The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of crime. He has now served one year and four months of his term of imprisonment. His health has become impaired since his incarceration as shown by letters from physicians filed with the Board.

A number of letters have been filed with the Board in which the writers recommend clemency. Former Judge Patterson; George Wharton Pepper, United States Senator; Samuel W. Salus, State Senator; John R. K. Scott; Francis J. Walsh; Henry J. Scott; Leopold C. Glass; Benjamin M. Golder; William McCoach; Max Aron, and other prominent lawyers and citizens of Philadelphia, recommend clemency. The Board of Trustees of the Eastern Penitentiary ask favorable consideration of his application. Neither the Trial Judge nor the Trial District Attorney oppose clemency.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the prior good record of the applicant, the term of imprisonment already served, his impaired health, the support which his wife and infant child require. and the strong pleas for clemency on the part of his friends, many of whom are well known and prominent citizens of Philadelphia, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now liberated he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing upon due public notice and in open sessions," recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said I. Austin Wolfe.

Sir: At Nos. 119 and 240, September Sessions, 1922, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Dauphin, George King alias H. E. Russell was convicted of violation of the Bounty Law of the Commonwealth and of perjury, and in September 26, 1922, was sentenced on the charge of perjury to pay a fine of $5.00, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a term of not less than two and one-half years nor more than three years. Sentence on the other charge was suspended.

The applicant is 59 years of age and an American citizen by birth. His occupation is that of a trapper, and at the time of his arrest he was engaged in the pursuit of trapping. His place of residence was Los Angeles, California. He is unmarried.

On or about June 16, 1922, the applicant presented the skins of ten wild cats at the office of the State Game Commissioner, Harrisburg, for the purpose of obtaining the bounty or reward paid by the Commonwealth under the Act of May 23, 1919, P. L. 270, for the killing within the Commonwealth of this species of noxious wild animals. The clerk in the office received the skins, examined and canceled them by splitting the noses. The applicant was asked by the clerk when and where each wild cat was killed. An affidavit was then made out as required by the Act of Assembly, and the applicant signed the same by the name of George King and received a check for $80.00 bounty, which he immediately cashed. He was subsequently arrested on the charge if violating the Bounty Law, and after he had been confined in the County Jail for two months, an information was made against him charging him with perjury arising out of the same transaction.

The applicant has now served one year and ten months of his term of imprisonment. His record has been excellent.

The Trial Judge has filed with the Board a letter in which he strongly recommends clemency. The Trial District Attorney neither recommends nor opposes pardon.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the term of imprisonment already served, and particularly the recommendation of the Trial Judge, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At Nos. 60-62, September Sessions, 1922, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Montgomery, Samuel Reubin pleaded guilty to indictments charging him with burglary, felonious entry and larceny, and with carrying concealed deadly weapons, and on September 16, 1922, was sentenced on the charge of burglary, felonious entry and larceny to pay a fine of $10.00, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a term of not less than three years nor more than four years. Sentence was suspended on the second bill charging him with carrying concealed deadly weapons.

The applicant is 33 years of age, unmarried and at the time of his arrest was employed as a chauffeur in the City of Philadelphia, where he resided.

The applicant, and one John Proctor, were charged with breaking and entering in the nighttime the dwelling house of Joseph A. Haber on July 16, 1922, and taking therefrom eight cases of liquor and a wall safe containing silverware and jewelry. The applicant attended a dance at Elkins Park, Montgomery County, the night in question, where he met Proctor previously unknown to him. After the dance Proctor requested the applicant to assist him in carrying suit cases to Philadelphia. The applicant was led to believe that the suit cases belonged to Proctor who had left them at the place from which they were taken until he, Proctor, was ready to return to Philadelphia. Two suit cases were brought out of the Haber residence by Proctor, and the applicant assisted the latter in carrying them to a trolley line where they intended to take a car for Philadelphia. While waiting for the trolley car on the morning of July 16, 1922, at or about 2:00 A. M., they were arrested as suspicious characters. The Haber house at the time was unoccupied, and the police discovered that several cases of liquor and a small safe containing silverware and jewelry were removed from the Haber residence. Proctor had a loaded revolver in his pocket when arrested. and a loaded revolver was also found near where the applicant was standing at the time of his arrest. Proctor admitted that he alone had entered the Haber house during the day. The applicant denied that he had been in the house. Both were tried, convicted and sentenced.

The applicant has now served one year and ten months of his term of imprisonment. He was never before charged with or convicted of crime. His prison record is excellent.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the prior good record of the applicant, the term of imprisonment already served, and the further fact that the applicant's mother is an aged woman who requires support which he accorded her prior to his imprisonment, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions," recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Samuel Reubin.

Sir: At No. 165, June Term, 1916, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Northampton, Vincenzo Cuono alias Jimmy Corn was convicted of murder in the second degree, and on June 9, 1916, was sentenced to pay a fine of $500.00, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a term of not less than twelve years nor more than fifteen years.

The applicant is 41 years of age and a subject of the Kingdom of Italy. At the time of his arrest he was employed by the Albion Slate Company and resided at West Bangor, Northampton, with his wife and three children.

Vincenzo Nucera was a member if a Blackhand Society and the acknowledged leader of the same in Northampton County and surrounding districts. He demanded, from time to time, money from a number of Italians living in and about Bangor Junction, including the applicant. The last demand was made on or about December 1, 1915, at the Bangor Junction Hotel upon five Italians, including the applicant. After some conversation these men upon pretext that the money was at the house of one of their number, induced Nucera to accompany them for the purpose of obtaining the money. They left the hotel, more or less under the influence of liquor, followed the Lehigh & New England Railroad tracks for some distance, and then struck a path through the woods which leads around the rim of an abandoned slate quarry, the whole of which was nearly filled with water to a depth approximately one hundred feet. During this journey some of the men preceded Nucera, while others closely followed. When they reached the abandoned quarry hole, one of the men in the rear struck Nucera with a club, felling him and rendering him unconscious. After he regained consciousness he was struck by one of the men with fish plates, which they had brought with them from the railroad track. He became either unconscious or dead, whereupon they tied two fish plates to Nucera's body, one on each leg by means of wire, and threw the body into the quarry hole. One of the Italians, Curatol, was arrested for the crime and made a complete confession, as a result of which Russomano and the applicant were convicted of murder in the second degree. Two of the other Italians are fugitives from justice. Curatol was not prosecuted because of the services rendered as a witness in the case.

The applicant has now served eight years of his term of imprisonment. He was never before charged with or convicted of crime.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case. the term of imprisonment already served, and his prior good record, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now liberated he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At No. 4, September Sessions, 1919, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Bradford, Thomas Randolph was convicted of Rape. and on December 1, 1919, was sentenced to pay a fine if $500.00, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for the term of not less than five years nor more than six years.

The applicant is thirty years of age, unmarried, and at the time of his arrest resided with his parents in the Borough of Savre, Bradford County. He was then employed as a Railroad Switchman.

On the evening of August 12. 1919. the applicant met one Maud Sickler. in a Public Park located near Waverly.

About ten o'clock that same evening Miss Sickler accompanied him along a public highway in the direction of the Lehigh Valley Yards where he was employed. The alleged crime was committed on the journey. There was essentially no difference in the testimony of the applicant and the prosecutrix except as to whether the offense was forcible rape as charged or simple fornication.

The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of crime. He has now served four and a half (4½) years of his term of imprisonment. He served nearly two years with unusual distinction in the World War and was wounded and gassed in France.

A letter was filed with the Board in which the Trial Judge states that in his opinion the applicant has been sufficiently punished. A letter was also filed with the Board in which the Trial District Attorney states that he will not oppose clemency.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the term of imprisonment already served, the prior good record of the applicant, the statements of the Trial Judge and the Trial District Attorney, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and that if now liberated he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At Nos. 434, 435, 436, 437, 440, 441 and 442, March Sessions, 1919, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Philadelphia, Raymond Leiby alias Jack Taylor pleaded guilty to indictments charging him with Burglary, and on March 19, 1919, was sentenced on five indictments to pay costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary, terms aggregating not less than fifteen years nor more than fifty years.

The applicant is niw twenty-two years of age and a native born American Citizen. He is a laborer by occupation and at the time of his arrest was engaged in bridge building, and resided in the City of Philadelphia with his parents. He is unmarried.

At the time of his arrest the applicant was eighteen years of age. His older brother had entered the Military Service of the United States and it was the applicant's ambition to enlist in the Marine Corps. About a week before his arrest he endeavored to enlist in this branch of the service, but was rejected on account of defective vision. The applicant was discouraged by his failure to enter the Military Service, and not wishing to return home, fell into evil associations and was urged to commit the crimes for which he was afterwards sentenced. He acted as an outside man for the actual robber who is a fugitive from justice. His criminal career covered but a few weeks. After he confessed his guilt and assisted the officers in recovering stolen goods from the second-hand shops in Philadelphia where they had been sold.

The applicant has now served five years and three months of his term of imprisonment. He was never before charged with or convicted of crime.

A representative of the Pennsylvania Prison Society appeared before the Board and urged clemency. Assistant District Attorney Kelly, appeared before the Board and declared that the applicant had been sufficiently punished. The applicant's father has offered him employment and a home. The Trustees of the Penitentiary recommend that he be given another chance.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the youth of the applicant when the crimes were committed, his prior good record, the term of imprisonment already served, and in further consideration of the statement of the trial District Attorney, and because of the fact that Fred Swartz Brink, of Philadelphia, Penna., will become sponsor for the future good conduct of the applicant, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and if now liberated, will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At No. 19, September Term, 1915, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Somerset, Carmine Abbonizio alias Carmine Abalonzio alias Carmine Ablonizio was convicted of Murder in the second degree, and on December 19,1915, was sentenced to undergo imprisonment in the Western State Penitentiary for a term of not less than twelve years nor more than fifteen years.

The applicant is twenty-nine years of age and a subject of the Kingdom of Italy. He was a coal miner at the time of his arrest and was employed by the Berwind-White Coal Mining Company at Windber, Pennsylvania, where he resided. He has a wife and child living in Italy.

On September 14, 1915, about eight P. M. the applicant killed Alesandro Terraborelli, by stabbing him with a knife, under the following circumstances: The deceased in company with four others were on their way to a carnival which was exhibiting in Windber, when they encountered the applicant. All were more or less affected by strong drink. An altercation arose between the applicant and the deceased. The latter assaulted the applicant, pushed him, choked him, and threatened to kill him, when in fear of his life the applicant drew a knife and threw it at Terraborelli who died a few minutes after he had been struck with the weapon. The applicant's neck was found to be seriously scratched and bruised and the marks indicated that they were made by a human hand.

The applicant has now served 8½ years of his term of imprisonment. He was never before charged with or convicted of any crime. His prison record has been excellent, and the Trustees of the Penitentiary recommend a pardon. If released, employment has been offered by a brother who is a butcher and baker.

The counsel associated with the District Attorney in prosecuting the applicant, has filed with the Board a letter in which he states that the sentence was drastic and that the ends of justice will have been met if the applicant be released. He also states that the trial District Attorney, now deceased, shortly before his death expressed his willingness to join in a request for pardon.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the youth of the applicant when the crime was committed, his prior good record, the term of imprisonment already served, because of the recommendation of the prosecuting officers and the Trustees of the Penitentiary, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now liberated he will prove himself a peaceable and law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At No. 30, May Sessions, 1923, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Bradford, Wilfred Cook was convicted of perjury, and on May 17, 1923, was sentenced to pay a fine of $100.00, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a term of not less than two years nor more than two and one-half years.

The applicant is 24 years of age and a native born American citizen. He is by occupation a farmer and teamster. He resided in Windham Township, Bradford County, with his wife and a three year old son.

Leon Finch, a well known farmer and dairyman living in said township, operated a cider press on his premises, and it became commonly known that he kept for sale, quantities of wine, cider, apple-jack and other intoxicating beverages. In December, 1921, he was tried, convicted and sentenced for violating the Brooks High License Law as amended by the Woner Act. A large number of unwilling witnesses were subpoenaed by the Commonwealth to prove that Finch had violated the laws referred to. The youngest of these witnesses was the applicant. Subsequently he was tried and convicted for perjury in connection with his testimony in this case. He was the only witness in the Finch trial to be prosecuted for giving false testimony. The applicant had no personal interest in the result of the trial of Finch, and out of good nature attempted to assist the latter in the same way as many of the other witnesses.

The applicant has now served one year and one month of his term of imprisonment. His record in the penitentiary has been excellent, and the Trustees recommend clemency. A large number of persons residing in Windham Township have asked the Board for his pardon. Since his incarceration his life has worked out by the day to maintain herself and child.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the term of imprisonment already served, the need of his family for support and assistance, the recommendation of the penitentiary authorities, and the recommendations of many of his neighbors and friends, and in further consideration of the fact that Frank N. Moore, of Rome, Penna., will become sponsor for the future good conduct of the applicant, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At No. 225, January Sessions, 1922, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Lackawanna, Bartley J. Novak alias John Kosky was convicted of larceny, and on February 4, 1922, was sentenced to pay costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a term of not less than five years nor more than ten years.

The applicant is a native of the United States of America, and unmarried. At the time of his arrest for the present crime he was 25 years of age and was employed at the Hotel Jermyn, Scranton, as a porter, and resided in that city with his aged mother. He is a mechanic by occupation.

On September 2, 1921, a Marmon roadster was stolen and taken away from the garage of D. J. Robinson, Scranton. The applicant was identified by a colored woman and a small colored boy, who lived in the neighborhood of the garage, as the person who took the car away. The car was subsequently driven to Middletown, New York, where it was recovered. The applicant was without counsel, and the only witness in his own behalf. He denied that he was in any manner connected with the larceny of the car, or the driving of it to Middletown, New York.

The applicant has now served two years and four months of his term of imprisonment. His prior record is good, with the exception that in 1920, when 21 years of age, he was sentenced to the Detroit House of Correction for two terms, of ninety days each. He served overseas during the World War, and has an honorable discharge. The applicant is the sole support of his widowed mother, who is an aged woman, destitute and in poor health.

The Trial District Attorney has made no recommendation. The Trial Judge has filed no letter, but in conversation with a member of the Board, declared that the sentence imposed was severe under the circumstances, and that he believed that the applicant had been sufficiently punished, and urged clemency.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the term of imprisonment already served, because of the fact that the applicant is the sole support of an aged mother, who is in poor health and destitute circumstances, and above all, in consideration of the recommendation of the Trial Judge, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now liberated he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Bartley J. Novak alias John Kosky.

Sir: At No. 1091, February Sessions, 1923, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Allegheny, R. F. Hile pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with embezzlement, and on March 26, 1923, was sentenced to pay a fine of 6¼¢, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Western State Penitentiary for a term of not less than two years nor more than four years.

The applicant is 29 years of age and a citizen of the United States. He is an accountant by occupation, and at the time of his arrest was employed as paymaster for the Harmon Creek Coal Company, Pittsburgh, in which City he resided with his wife.

After the applicant's honorable discharge from the United States Army in December, 1918, he came to Pittsburgh and entered the employ of the company above referred to. During the latter part of 1921, he became involved in financial difficulties through his efforts to make a home for himself and wife, and because of illness, and becoming more and more involved he appropriated to his own use funds of the company aggregating $12,900.

The applicant has now served one year and three months of his term of imprisonment. He was never before charged with or convicted of crime. He has been a model prisoner. He is well educated and gives evidence of being truly repentant.

The private prosecutor in this case, and the President of the Coal Company, and others, have filed letters with the Board in which they ask for clemency.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the term of imprisonment already served, the prior good record of the applicant, and the recommendations of his former employer and others, and in further consideration of the fact that John R. Byrne, of Scottdale, will become sponsor for the future good conduct of the applicant, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At No. 35, December Sessions, 1921, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Armstrong, William McGann alias William W. Magan pleaded guilty to the charges of Felonious Breaking and Entering and Larceny, and on October 31, 1921, was sentenced to pay a fine of $500.00, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Western State Penitentiary for a term of not less than four years nor more than five years.

The applicant is forty years of age, a native born American citizen, unmarried, and a puddler by occupation. At the time of his arrest he was employed in the mill of A. M. Byers Company, in Girard, Ohio. On October 7, 1921, the applicant accompanied, by invitation, his friend Benjamin F. Funk, Jr., to visit the parents of the latter in Kittanning. During the evening they met friends on the streets with whom they conversed and with whom they drank. Late in the evening on their way home, the applicant and Funk came to an alley and noticed the rear door of the store room of M. Silberblatt, standing open. They entered the store and took therefrom merchandise consisting of suits of clothes and other minor articles. The following morning they took the stolen merchandise with them to Pittsburgh and disposed of part of it. Both were arrested the following day.

The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of crime. He has served two years and eight months of his term of imprisonment. The crime was committed without premeditation.

The trial Judge and the trial District Attorney in letters filed with the Board recommend pardon. The private prosecutor also asks clemency. The Trustees of the Western Penitentiary recommend a pardon. His former employers will give him employment.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the prior good record of the applicant, the term of imprisonment already served, because of the recommendation of the private prosecutor, the trial Judge, trial District Attorney and the Trustees of the Western Penitentiary, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and that if now released he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

The applicant is thirty-three years of age and a native born American citizen. He is a puddler by occupation and at the time of his arrest was so employed in the City of Pittsburgh. He resided at Kittanning. He is married and has a wife and one child who are dependent upon him for support.

On October 7, 1921, the applicant accompanied by a friend, William W. Magan, visited the home of his parents in Kittanning. Sir: At No. 42, October Sessions, 1920, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of York, James R. Wilson alias James R. Woollard pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with Bigamy and Perjury, and on October 30, 1920, was sentenced to pay a fine of $1.00, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a period of not less than 1½ years nor more than 7 years.

The applicant is forty years of age, and a native born citizen of this Commonwealth. At the time of his arrest his occupation was that of jeweler and watch repairer.

Previous to his arrest on the above charges the applicant lived in West Virginia where he had a wife and children. He deserted them and came to York, Pennsylvania. He was located there by the West Virginia authorities on the charge of desertion and taken back to West Virginia for trial. Immediately following his removal on requisition, it was discovered by the York authorities that while in York he had married a second time. A warrant was issued, requisition granted, and he was brought back to York from West Virginia. He confessed to the Bigamy and Perjury incident to obtain the second marriage license. The second marriage was annulled by the Court of Common Pleas of York County.

The applicant served eighteen months in the Eastern Penitentiary, the minimum term of his imprisonment and was paroled May 1, 1922, and immediately returned to York where he went into business of repairing sewing machanes until he was able to accumulate a sufficient sum to open up a jewelry and watch repairing business which he now conducts at No. 364 West Market St., York, Penna.

The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of crime.

It is claimed on behalf of the applicant that not having heard from his wife (who was a disreputable woman), for more than nine years, he believed her to be dead when he contracted the second marriage, and that he has paid the penalty for the Bigamy and Perjury involved in the second marriage, and since his parole more than two years ago, he has deported himself as a good and respectable citizen.

There was filed with the Board the petition of eleven business men of York who certify to his fair dealing as a business man and to his good citizenship since his release from prison.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the prior good record of the applicant, the term of imprisonment already served, and his good conduct since his release, we have concluded that he should be relieved from the stigma which attaches to an ex-convict and believe that if now pardoned he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At No. 3, March Sessions, 1923, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Warren, Erdhart Jensen alias Erhardt Marius Jensen pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with the Larceny of a motor vehicle, and on February 12, 1923, was sentenced to pay a fine of $1200.00, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Western State Penitentiary for a period of not less than three years nor more than three years and six months.

The applicant is twenty-two years of age, and owes allegiance to the Kingdom of Denmark. At the time of his arrest he was not employed and had no fixed residence.

He worked his way north until he finally reached the City of Buffalo. Desiring to go to Pittsburgh, on or about January 19, 1923, he took the train at Buffalo, went to Dunkirk, New York, changed cars and arrived at Warren about six o'clock in the evening. It was in the winter, the night was dark and the ground was covered with snow. While walking from the depot along the street after proceeding about two blocks, he saw a Franklin Automobile standing near the curb and stepped into it, drove through Warren to a small town called Sheffield, in Warren County, left the car standing on the street, got a room for the night in a cheap hotel, and in the morning when he went for the car he was arrested by officers and charged with the theft of the automobile.

The District Attorney of Warren County deeming the applicant an undesirable alien took up the matter through the proper department at Washington and finally secured from the Federal Government a warrant of deportation for the applicant, the execution of which has been deferred until his release from prison.

The applicant has now served one year and four months of his term of imprisonment. He was never before charged with or convicted of crime. The District Attorney in a letter filed with the Board strongly recommends pardon in order that the applicant may be deported to Denmark in accordance with the warrant of deportation already issued. The Trustees of the Penitentiary also recommend a pardon for the same reason.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the term of imprisonment already served, the comparative youth of the applicant, his prior good record, and the recommendation of the trial District Attorney and the Trustees of the Penitentiary, and above all because of the fact that if now released the applicant will be deported to Denmark in accordance with the warrant of deportation which has been issued by the Federal Government, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished.

Sir: At No. 125, March Sessions, 1919, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Philadelphia, Gilbert Taylor was convicted of Highway Robbery, and on April 20, 1919, was sentenced to pay costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a term of not less than nine years and eleven months nor more than ten years. The applicant is 27 years of age and a native born American citizen. He is by occupation a waiter on the Old Dominion Steamship Line. He is married. His wife is an invalid and resides in the City of Philadelphia.

On March 8, 1919, officer McCann was patrolling his beat on Poplar Street in the City of Philadelphia, about 2:30 A. M., when he was approached by John C. Wright who complained that he had been robbed on Parrish Street about a half hour before. As the officer, with Wright, went in search of the robbers, William Allen and the applicant approached them and the two men were pointed out by Wright as the robbers. Both men denied their guilt, and little or no money was found on either of them, although Wright claimed that about $65.00 had been taken from his person.

The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of crime. He has served five years and two months of his term of imprisonment.

Assistant District Attorney Fox has filed with the Board a letter in which he recommends a pardon because the prosecutor appears to be unreliable, and has told conflicting stories with regard to the crime.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the comparative youth of the applicant when the crime was committed, his prior good record, the term of imprisonment already served, the need which the applicants invalid wife has for support and assistance and because of the recommendation of the Assistant District Attorney, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released he will prove himself a peaceable and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions," recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Gilbert Taylor.

Sir: At No. 54, September Sessions, 1923, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Crawford, Raymond Sargeant pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with Larceny, and on September 27, 1923, was sentenced to pay a fine of $5.00, costs, and committed to the Huntingdon Industrial Reformatory.

The applicant is now 22 years of age and a native born American citizen. He is unmarried, and at the time of his arrest was employed by the Mayer Brothers Construction Company, of Erie, Pennsylvania, as a fireman. His parents are separated and reside out of the State. He has an honorable discharge for service in the United States Navy in the World War.

In the fall of 1923, the applicant, and two fellow employes, in the night-time broke into a store located in Steamburg, Crawford County, Pennsylvania, and carried away a considerable quantity of merchandise. They loaded the booty and carried it away in an automobile driven by one of the boys. The three boys were arrested a few days later in the City of Conneaut, Ohio, made a complete confession, assisted in the recovery of the stolen property, and voluntarily returned to Pennsylvania for trial.

The applicant has been imprisoned nine months. His institutional record is exceptionally good. He was never before convicted of crime. His mother is an invalid and requires his support. If released, employment has been offered him by his former employers.

The General Superintendent of the Reformatory has filed with the Board a letter in which he highly commends the good conduct of the applicant and recommends clemency.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the youth of the applicant when the crime was committed, his prior good record, the term of his incarceration, his excellent institutional record, the need which his invalid mother has of his support, and above all, the statement and recommendation of the Superintendent of the Reformatory, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions," recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Raymond Sargeant.

Sir: At No. 118, April Sessions, 1921, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Lehigh, Russell Matz pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with Breaking and Entering and Larceny, and on June 6, 1921, was sentenced to pay costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Peitentiary for a period of not less than four years nor more than six years.

The applicant is 28 years of age, and a native born American citizen. He is married and resides in the City of Allentown. His occupation is that of salesman and he was last employed as Assistant Manager of the Peoples Store of Allentown.

On January 22, 1921, the applicant together with Samuel Delong and Stewart Williams forcibly entered the store of Henry Fusselman, located in the County of Lehigh, opened the cash drawer and abstracted the sum of $100.00 in currency. He carried no deadly weapon. The store was partly used as a United States Post Office, and two sets of warrants were issued and two indictments found, one by the Commonwealth and one by the Federal Government. On April 15, 1921, the applicant was arrested in Pittsburgh by Federal Officers but turned over to the Lehigh County authorities for trial. The applicant has now served three years of his term of imprisonment.

The trial Judge, his successor the present Judge, (who was prosecuting Attorney), the private prosecutor in the case, the City Detective, and others, in letters filed with the Board recommend pardon. Dr. Herbert M. Goddard, of Philadelphia, Vice President of the Board of Trustees of the Eastern Penitentiary, has offered to become sponsor for the applicant's good behavior.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the term of imprisonment already served, the recommendations of the trial Judge, trial District Attorney, the private prosecutor, the City Detective, and others, and in further consideration of the fact that Dr. Herbert M. Goddard, of Philadelphia will become sponsor for his future good conduct, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and that if now released will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At No. 3, September Term, 1913, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Beaver, Mike Thomas was convicted of murder in the second degree, and on December 12, 1913, was sentenced to pay a fine of $1.00, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Western State Penitentiary for a term of not less than twelve years nor more than twenty years.

The applicant is 40 years of age and owes allegiance to the Kingdom of Serbia. He came to this country about eighteen years ago. He is a boiler maker by occupation, and at the time of his arrest was employed by the Jones and Laughlin Steel Company, at Woodlawn, Beaver County. He is unmarried and resided in Woodlawn.

In the spring of 1913, the applicant boarded with Nick Wgouitch. For sometime before the tragedy he had met with an accident and been unable to work. On April 24, 1913, the applicant who had been making the rounds of the saloons in Woodlawn with companions, and had been drinking considerably, came to his boarding house, and after arriving there continued drinking. In the afternoon Wgouitch came home from work and began to assault the applicant. The former's sister had told him that the applicant had attempted to strike her. Wgouitch became enraged, grabbed the applicant by the neck and threw him down, until both struggled into the yard. They quit fighting and the applicant went into the house to clean the blood from a cut over his eye, which he received in the scuffle. After he had cleaned up he went into the dining room. Wgouitch was in the room and grabbed a bottle and struck the applicant over the shoulder, grabbed another bottle and tried to strike him again, whereupon the applicant pulled a gun from his pocket and fired, as he claims, in self defense and to frighten his assailant. After he shot Wgouitch he ran from the house. While he had this gun in his pocket when the fight started, he made no attempt to use it until compelled to do so in self defense. After he ran from the house, Wgouitch followed him out and chased him for about fifty yards. Several shots were fired by other persons who were standing in that vicinity. At a distance of about seventy-five yards from the house Wgouitch fell down. The testimony of the doctor, who performed the autopsy, was to the effect that he died instantly from a bullet wound. The Commonwealth's contention at the trial was that the applicant had used a 44 calibre revolver in the fight, while one of the doctors, who assisted in the autopsy testified that the bullet taken from the body of Wgouitch was that of a 32 calibre revolver.

The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of crime. He has served ten years and six months of his term of imprisonment. His prison record is excellent. There is considerable doubt as to whether the shot which killed Wgouitch was fired by the applicant, inasmuch as the post mortem showed that he had been shot from behind through the heart and died instantly. Wgouitch was seventy-five yards behind the applicant when he fell.

The Trial Judge has filed with the Board a letter in which he recommends clemency. The prosent District Attorney, Who was the Assistant when the applicant was tried, has filed with the Board a letter in which he states that it would be unfair for the Commonwealth to oppose a pardon, inasmuch as the minimum sentence imposed has been nearly served, and provided that the penitentiary authorities recommend the pardon. The latter do so recommend.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the doubt as to the actual guilt of the applicant, his prior good record, the term of imprisonment already served, his excellent record in the penitentiary, and because of the recommendations of the Trial Judge, Trial District Attorney and Penitentiary Authorities, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now liberated he will prove himself a peaceable and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions," recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Mike Thomas.

Sir: At No. 475, October Sessions, 1919, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Philadelphia, Harry J. Born, Jr., alias Harry Barnes pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with Robbery and Assault with intent to rob, and on October 29, 1919, was sentenced to pay a fine of $1,000, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a period of not less than eight years nor more than ten years.

The applicant is 32 years of age, a native born American citizen, a chauffeur and lifeguard by occupation and has lived his entire life at Atlantic City and in Philadelphia.

On October 11, 1919, in the daytime the Jewelry Store of McQueen & Company, 1435 Walnut Street, in the City of Philadelphia, was entered by three men and a quantity of jewelry was forcibly removed and carried away by one of these men. The latter, Whitey Johnson by name escaped with the jewelry without being arrested and was subsequently killed in Ohio while engaged in a similar depredation. The applicant and Frank King were arrested in the immediate vicinity of the store, and were jointly indicted, tried and convicted. The applicant pleaded guilty and admitted his part in the enterprise, while King pleaded not guilty and was duly tried, convicted and sentenced. It was shown at the trial that both Johnson and King were well known criminals with long records, that the applicant had no previous convictions except one in the United States District Court in Philadelphia, for smoking opium and in that case sentence was suspended by the Court. The applicant has now served four years and eight months of his term of imprisonment. His prison record has been excellent.

The trial Judge has filed with the Board a letter in which he recommends pardon. A representative of the District Attorney's Office mildly opposed clemency. Edward L. Bader, Mayor of Atlantic City, Harry Bacharach a member of the Board of Public Utility Commissioners of New Jersey, W. Frank Sooy, City Solicitor, Walter E. Edge, United States Senator, Alfred J. Perkins, Postmaster, Louis A. Repetto, Edmund C. Gaskill, Jr., Isaac Bacharach, Representative in Congress, all prominent citizens of Atlantic City, have filed letters with the Board recommending pardon. The Sheriff of York County has filed a letter in which he asks clemency for the applicant because of his fine record in that Institution to which he was transferred from the Eastern Penitentiary. If released, employment has been offered him by the Edward L. Bader Construction Company of Atlantic City. Mayor Bader of Atlantic City has agreed to become sponsor for his future good conduct.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the term of imprisonment already served, the recommendations of the Mayor and other prominent citizens of Atlantic City, and in further consideration of the fact that employment has been offered him, and that Mayor Bader of Atlantic City will stand sponsor for his future good conduct, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and that if now released he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At No. 65, March Term, 1915, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Bucks, John A. Cope was convicted of murder in the second degree, and on June 1, 1915, was sentenced to pay a fine of $1.00, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a term of not less than fourteen years nor more than twenty years.

The applicant is 51 years of age, a native born American citizen, unmarried, a painter by trade, and at the time of his arrest was employed in the City of Philadelphia.

On September 28, 1914, Florence V. Cope, a niece of the applicant, aged eighteen years, came to her death as a result of a gunshot wound unintentionally inflicted by the applicant. On this day he was largely under the influence of liquor. He had been drinking in Philadelphia and had been ejected from the headquarters of the painter's union on account of drunkenness. He then started for his brother's home near Doylestown, where he usually spent week ends, and stopped on the way a number of times for more drink. He bought two bottles of liquor which he carried in his pocket. When he reached his brother's house about 11:00 P. M., he went to a closet to hang up his coat and hat, and in so doing, knocked down a shotgun which was standing there. He picked it up and it fell again. He then undertook to clean the gun so he could go hunting the following day. His brothers wife, hearing him moving about, came down to investigate. She seeing that the applicant was under the influence of liquor, and that he had a gun in his hands, yelled at him. The applicants two nieces then came into the room and one of them, the deceased, attempted to wrest the gun from him, and in the scuffle it was discharged causing her death. A nephew of the applicant then came in and took the gun away from him and told him to lie down on the sofa. He did so, but soon got up and left the house. He walked around for a while and then crawled into a neighbors barn and slept until morning. When he woke up he heard several people outside the barn talking about his having killed his niece. This was the first knowledge he had that his niece had been killed. He was not arrested until about two months later.

The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of crime. He has served nine years of his term of imprisonment. The death of his niece was caused by the accidental discharge of the gun when she attempted to wrest it from him. He was badly intoxicated at the time. During the past six years he has been treated in prison for tuberculosis, and his health has become seriously impaired, as shown by the letter of the prison physician, on file.

The Trial Judge has filed with the Board a letter in which he recommends clemency. The Trial District Attorney also advocates pardon, and the present District Attorney joins in the recommendation. Daniel B. Oblinger, Manager of the Union Mills Paper Manufacturing Company, New Hope, Pa., who is interested in the applicant and has advocated clemency, has been asked to become sponsor for his future good conduct.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the prior good record of the applicant, the term of imprisonment already served, his impaired physical condition, in consideration of the recommendation of the Trial Judge, Trial District Attorney and the present District Attorney, and because of the fact that Mr. Oblinger, a responsible citizen will endeavor to safeguard the future of the applicant, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At No. 37, October Sessions, 1913, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Lackawanna, Alfonso Girdano was convicted of murder in the second degree, and on December 13, 1913, was sentenced to pay a fine of $1.00, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a period of not less than sixteen years nor more than twenty years.

The applicant is 35 years of age and a subject of the Kingdom of Italy. He came to America in 1909 or 1910, but was never naturalized. His occupation is that of track laborer, and at the time of his arrest he was employed by the Lackawanna Railroad in the vicinity of Dunmore, Lackawanna County. He is married and has a wife (who is tubercular), and one child twelve years of age.

On the afternoon of September 15, 1913, after a quarrel, the applicant stabbed to death one Pasquale Valvano along the Lackawanna Railroad tracks near the tunnel at Nay Aug Park in the City of Scranton. Upon his subsequent arrest he admitted that he had stabbed Valvano and gave as a reason therefore, that he stabbed him because of improper remarks made about the applicant's wife.

The two men worked on the same railroad gang and lived across the street from each other. The applicant upon arriving home one evening found his wife weeping in the presence of Valvano. She disclosed to her husband that the applicant had been making improper advances to her for some time. The applicant demanded that he leave the house, which he did, saying when he departed, "Don't be afraid, I will fix you". This was in April 1913, and on account of the unpleasantness, the applicant moved to another house about a mile distant from his former home.

Thereafter there was considerable ill-feeling between the two men, as evidenced by frequent verbal altercations referring to the virtue of the applicant's wife. The deceased was a much larger man than the applicant, and the latter carried a revolver on account of the fear that he had for the deceased. At noon on the day of the murder, the applicant asked leave to quit work as he wanted to visit a sick cousin, who had just returned from the hospital. This he did, and on the afternoon of the same day, dressed in his best clothes he started for his cousin's house by way of the railroad track, which was the shortest route. He encountered the deceased who was alone. They had another verbal altercation and the applicant claims that Valvano chased him and threatened to hit him on the head with a wrench. They clinched. The applicant drew out his knife, stabbed Valvano once with fatal results, and fled.

The applicant was never before convicted of crime. He has served ten years and six months of his term of imprisonment, or more than one-half of the maximum term. The crime was committed in self-defense. The applicant had previously been attacked by the dead man, who was larger in size and whose reputation was that of a bad man.

The Trial Judge has filed a letter with the Board in which he asks clemency. A letter from the Trial District Attorney was also filed with the Board in which the writer asked for pardon. Dr. Linn Bowman also filed with the Board a letter advocating clemency.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the prior good record of the applicant, the term of imprisonment already served, the need which his family have for support and assistance, and because of the recommendations of the Trial Judge, Trial District Attorney and Dr. Linn Bowman, we have concluded that the applicant has been sufficiently punished, and that if now liberated he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions," recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Alfonso Giordano.

Sir: At Nos. 4 and 5, February Sessions, 1923, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Erie, Arthur Mahar was convicted of assault with intent to rob and for feloniously wounding and with intent to kill, and on February 21, 1923, was sentenced in the aggregate to pay a fine of $600.00, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Western State Penitentiary for a period of not less than seven years nor more than ten years.

The applicant is 33 years of age, of Irish descent, but a native born American citizen. He was a farmer for a number of years and at the time of his arrest aided his mother in conducting a rooming house in the City of Erie, where he resided during his lifetime. He is unmarried. He served over-seas during the World War.

On November 15, 1922, at 5:40 P. M. two men, unmasked, entered the store of the National Biscuit Company in the City of Erie, with intent to commit robbery. Five persons including the Manager of the store were present. One of them Withers, grappled with one of the robbers and during the struggle was shot in the abdomen. He afterwards identified the applicant as the man who shot him. The applicant was arrested several days later. At the trial the only evidence against him was the testimony of two of those present who identified him as one of the men engaged in the robbery. They never knew him before and only saw the man for a few minutes at the time of the attempted hold-up. On the contrary the testimony of several reliable citizens, including an Alderman and a Constable of the City of Erie, showed a conclusive alibi for the applicant. The other defendant who was captured at the time declared that he never knew the applicant and the latter was not with him at the time of the hold-up. The Jury were out over seven hours, and brought in a double verdict finding the applicant not guilty of felony, but guilty of a misdemeanor in unlawfully wounding William G. Withers, and recommended him to the mercy of the Court but found him guilty of assault with intent to rob.

The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of crime. He has served one year and four months of his term of imprisonment. Ten of the Jurors who convicted him have petitioned the Board for Clemency. The trial District Attorney has filed a letter with the Board in which he states that had the Jury which convicted him known of certain after-discovered matters, they would probably have reached a different conclusion. The Mayor and Chief of Police also recommend clemency. Sergeant George W. Freeman, of the State Police, at the request of the Board, went to Erie and investigated the case with a view of determining if possible the guilt or innocence of the applicant. He has filed with the Board a report in which he concludes that the applicant is innocent of the present charge and that his alleged identification as a member of the hold-up gang was a mistaken one.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the doubt as to the actual guilt, his prior good record, the term of imprisonment already served, the recommendation of the Mayor and Chief of Police of Erie, and ten of the Jurors who convicted him, and because of the report of Sergeant Freeman of the State Police, who expressed doubt as to the guilt of the applicant, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now liberated he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions," recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Arthur Mahar.

Sir: At No. 70, April Sessions, 1917, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of York, Walter Keys was convicted of murder in the second degree, and on October 25, 1917, was sentenced to pay costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a term of not less than ten years nor more than fifteen years.

The applicant is 42 years of age, a native born citizen of the United States, colored, and at the time of his arrest was a waiter at the Hotel Penn, in the City of York. He is married, but has no children.

For several years prior to the commission of this crime the applicant was employed, as already stated, at the Hotel Penn, in the City of York, and lived in South Court Alley with his wife, at the home of George McIntosh. On March 2, 1917, in the afternoon, a party was in progress at the home of George McIntosh, where the applicant resided. There were six men and six women present, including the applicant and John Hall, the deceased. They were drinking, playing, singing and dancing, but there was no evidence of immorality. The applicant overheard the deceased solicit his wife for improper purposes. Shortly thereafter he left the house, but the remark which he overheard wrankled and he subsequently returned to the house to ascertain what was going on. He again heard the deceased make improper remarks to his wife, and attempted to talk to her about this when the deceased interfered, called him a vile name, and threatened him with bodily injury. The deceased, together with McIntosh, came down the stairs, advanced toward the applicant, threatened to do him injury, and backed the applicant into a corner on the first floor of the house. The deceased then reached back to his hip pocket as if to draw a revolver, when the applicant drew a revolver and fired a shot, striking Hall in the chest, from which wound he died about twenty-seven days ofter the shooting. The applicant was sober, but the others remaining in the house during the day, including the applicants wife, had bought a considerable quantity of beer and whiskey and were intoxicated. The applicant was not in the habit of carrying a revolver, nor did he intend to kill Hall with it. The revolver did not belong to him, but was given him as collateral for a loan sometime before. However, when he was driven into a corner, from which there appeared no means for escape, and honesty believed that in order to save himself from death or great bodily injury, he used the weapon in self-defense.

The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of crime. He has now served six years and eight months of his term of imprisonment.

The Warden of the York County Prison, to which he was transferred in October, 1923, certifies that his prison conduct has been excellent. The Trial Judge has filed with the Board a letter in which he recommends pardon, stating that the sentence was "largely exemplary". His former employers in a letter filed with the Board offer him employment in the event of his liberation. Mr. Alvin Reist of York, former Proprietor of the Hotel Penn where the applicant was employed, has offered to become sponsor for his future good behavior.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the prior good record of the applicant, the term of imprisonment already served, the recommendation of the Trial Judge, and the offer of Alvin Reist, his former employer, to become sponsor for his future good conduct, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released he will prove himself a peaceable and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions," recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Walter Keys.

Sir: At No. 43, December Sessions, 1922, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Centre, T. R. Wolford pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with forgery, and on February 14, 1923, was sentenced to pay a fine of $1.00, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Western State Penitentiary for a term of not less than two years nor more than three years.

The applicant is 29 years of age and a native born American citizen, residing in Centre County. He is an electrician by occupation, and prior to the time of his arrest was engaged in electrical construction work. He is unmarried and resided with his parents.

The applicant became addicted to gambling, and while so engaged recklessly used the money in his possession, whether or not it belonged to him.

In November, 1922, the applicant forged the name of J. M. Corl to a check for $75.00, drawn on the First National Bank of State College, Pennsylvania, to his own order and received the cash on said check.

At No. 46, of the same Term in the same Court, the applicant forged the signature of the maker of another check for $50.00, and received the cash thereon. He pleaded guilty to this charge and sentence was suspended by the Court.

The applicant has now served one year and four months of his term of imprisonment, more than one-half of his minimum term. Prior to the commission of the offenses enumerated above he was never before charged with or convicted of crime.

The trial Judge has filed with the Board a letter in which he recommends pardon, stating that he believes that the applicant has been sufficiently punished and has learned his lesson.

Robert Roan has consented to become Sponsor for the future good behavior of the applicant.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the prior good record of the applicant, the term of imprisonment already served, the recommendation of the Trial Judge, and the additional fact that Robert Roan has consented to become Sponsor for the future good behavior of the applicant, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released, he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At No. 32, April Term, 1923, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Allegheny, Arthur Abercrombie was convicted of sodomy, and on April 18, 1923, was sentenced to pay a fine of 6¼¢, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Western State Penitentiary for a term of not less than two and one-half years nor more than three years.

The applicant is 39 years of age and a native born American citizen. His occupation is that of a laborer, and when arrested he was employed by James H. McQuaide & Son, Contractors, and worked with the steam shovel gang. He resided in the City of Pittsburgh, with his wife and five children, the youngest having died since his incarceration.

In March, 1923, the applicant was ill and did not work for several days. When asleep early in the morning, he heard a man's voice downstairs where his wife was doing the family washing. When he went down stairs he found Policeman Swuer with his wife. The applicant asked why he was in the house and received an impudent answer from the policeman. The applicant told him not to loaf in his house, and the wife took sides with the policeman. The latter then left, and when leaving said to the applicant, "I will fix you." The applicant learned that this policeman had been visiting his wife often, and at all hours, while he was at work. One week later, at 5:30 A. M., the applicant's wife got out of bed, went downstairs and opening the door, admitted this same policeman with four other officers. They came upstairs, dragged the applicant out of bed, and accused him of fighting with some man, which was untrue. They compelled him to dress, put him into a patrol wagon, hurried him to a police station and locked him in a cell. In a few minutes they returned with Swuer, the policeman the applicant had found with his wife. They compelled him to take off his coat, and Swuer handed him paper, pen and ink and said to him, "If you don't write down what I tell you I will knock your teeth out." The applicant said, "No, I will not," and was struck with a black-jack. He then beat him with his handy-billy. The policeman stood over him and threatened to brain him if he didn't confess to a crime he had never heard of, and which he never committed. In order to avoid a beating, and probable killing, the applicant wrote down what was dictated and was then taken to jail. Later when the applicant was taken into Court, he was told he was indicted for sodomy. He did not know the nature of the crime and had no lawyer to help him or explain to him the character of the offense, with which he was charged. This same Policeman Swuer was the prosecutor in Court and testified that the applicant had committed the crime on two of his boys, aged twelve and five years, respectively. The youngest boy admitted to the Court that his mother and a man had told him that his father had committed the offense. The wife testified in Court that she never saw or heard of her husband committing the crime alleged, and stated that she did not know who had made the complaint. Policeman Swuer testified that he never saw the crime committed and only heard it from other people. He also denied striking the applicant with his handy-billy. After the conclusion of the trial the applicant's wife left the Court room with Policeman Swuer.

The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of crime. He has served one year and two months of his term of imprisonment. His wife has abandoned her family and is leading a life of shame. The youngest child has since died, and three of the other children are being cared for by a cousin of the applicant who is seventy-five years old and in indigent circumstances.

The applicant's former employers have offered to re-employ him if he is released. The authorities of the Western State Penitentiary recommend clemency.

The Trial Judge has filed no letter, but in private conversation with a member of the Board stated that he had never recommended pardon, but believed that the applicant was entitled to clemency.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the extreme doubt of the guilt of the applicant, his prior good record, the term of imprisonment already served, the support which his children require from him, and because of the recommendation of the Trial Judge, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions," recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Arthur Abercrombie.

Sir: At No. 46, January Sessions, 1922, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Lackawanna, Charles Reese was convicted of rape, and on February 8, 1922, was sentenced to pay a fine of $1.00, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a term of not less than five years nor more than fifteen years.

The applicant is about 40 years of age, a widower, and a coal miner by occupation. At the time of the commission of this crime he resided at Old Forge, Lackawanna County. He has two children of tender years by his former wife, and two foster children.

The applicant was charged with having ravished his stepdaughter, Ellen Laird, aged 15 years, sometime during the month of June, 1920. The latter at the time was in the custody of Mrs. W. B. Duggan, Probation Officer of Lackawanna County, who was the private prosecutor in this case. Samuel Tedesco was first arrested and indicted for this crime, but the prosecution was subsequently withdrawn. The victim of the crime made conflicting statements as to the identity of her assailant, and after she placed the paternity of the child on her stepfather, the applicant, he was tried and convicted as before stated.

The applicant has now served two years and four months of his term of imprisonment. He was never before charged with or convicted of crime.

There was filed with the Board a letter from the resident physician of the penitentiary in which he certifies that the applicant is suffering from bronchial asthma, commonly known as miner's asthma, which disease has been of long duration. The applicant's two foster children and his two children by a former wife, are now objects of charity.

The Trial District Attorney has filed with the Board a letter in which he recommends a pardon. Mrs. Duggan, the private prosecutor in the case, verbally recommends clemency, basing her recommendation on the fact that he served more than two years and that his small children require support.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the term of imprisonment already served, the prior good record of the applicant, his impaired physical condition, the support which his small children require, and above all, the recommendations of the Trial District Attorney and the private prosecutor in this case, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At Nos. 22, 23a, 23b, 24a and 24b, December Sessions, 1919, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Lebanon, Jacob Dolla under the advice of counsel, pleaded guilty to indictments charging him with larceny and receiving stolen goods, attempting to blow up a building with dynamite and injure persons and property, felonious attempt to kill, etc., the five indictments connected with and forming part of one crime, to wit, attempting to blow up a building with dynamite and injure persons and property, and on December 11, 1919, was sentenced in the aggregate to pay a fine of $5.00, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a period of not less than twelve years nor more than seventeen years.

The applicant is an Austrian by birth, but has lived in this country for a number of years. He is intelligent and well educated. He is 31 years of age. He has a wife and two children dependent on him for a livelihood. During the fall of 1919, he was employed by the Bethlehem Steel Company, in the City of Lebanon, where he resided with his wife and two children, aged twelve and fourteen years respectively. At this time a strike prevailed among the iron and steel workers employed by the Bethlehem Steel Company and the Lebanon Iron Company, at Lebanon. The applicant who was an active and prominent member of the union participated in the strike. On September 28, 1919, a bomb was exploded on or under the front porch of a dwelling house located on East Weidman Street, Lebanon, wrecking the porch, which extended the full width of the house, and seriously damaging the front part of the house. The house was tenanted by a man named Fristovich. Two people were sleeping in the house at the time of the explosion, but no one was injured. At the same time a bomb had been placed at another building on the opposite side of the street, but for some reason failed to explode.

The applicant, Charles Miller, William Mumford, Harry Dissinger and John Sohn, were arrested for dynamiting, and all entered pleas of guilty, the applicant receiving the severest sentence, his minimum being twelve years, while the minimum sentence of Miller, Mumford, Dissinger and Sohn were three years, seven years, four years and four years respectively. The testimony in the cases of these men was of a conflicting character, inasmuch as the feeling in the community was very high, and the citizens of Lebanon were aligned on one side or the other in a bitter struggle between the employing corporations on the one hand and the strikers and their sympathizers on the other. The applicant being a man of exceptional intelligence and well educated, was a natural leader of the strikers, and many acts of violence, which usually occur during a protracted strike, when feeling runs high, were naturally attributed, justly or unjustly, to the strikers, and thus in the present case. After serving a portion of his sentence in the Eastern State Penitentiary, the applicant in April 1923, was transferred to the Western State Penitentiary, where he is now confined.

The applicant has now served four years and six months of his term of imprisonment. His wife is in bad health and is compelled to work daily in a hosiery mill in order to earn sufficient to support herself and two children.

John H. McKenty, who was an Assistant to his father, Robert J. McKenty, Sr., while the latter was Warden, has filed a letter with the Board in which he recommends clemency, and the Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary also recommend a pardon.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the conflicting testimony that runs throughout the case, the uncertainty as to the degree of guilt of the applicant, the term of imprisonment already served, the support which his wife and children naturally require from him, and the recommendations of the Penitentiary Authorities, we have concluded that the applicant has been sufficiently punished, and that if now liberated he will prove himself a peaceable and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Jacob Dolla.

Sir: At No. 126, May Sessions, 1919, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Westmoreland, Frank Carboni was convicted of assault and battery with intent to kill, and on May 15, 1919, was sentenced to pay a fine of $1.00, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Western State Penitentiary for a term of not less than six years nor more than seven years.

The applicant is a subject of the Kingdom of Italy and is 39 years of age. He is a coal miner by occupation. At the time of his arrest he was employed by the Booth & Flinn Contracting Company of Pittsburgh, engaged in putting in a pipe line at or near the City of Waynesburg, Greene County. He is unmarried, and the sole support of an aged mother residing in Italy. He is unable to speak the English language.

On or about March 13, 1919, a number of people were gathered together at the home of Nick Cappo, in Vandergrift, Westmoreland County, preparatory to a christening which was scheduled for the following day. The applicant who was a stranger in the neighborhood came with others to the Cappo home. A shooting affray occurred outside the house, and one Joe Rude was shot in the shoulder. Subsequently Nick Cappo and the applicant were arrested and charged with the crime. Both were convicted, but before they were sentenced Cappo was paroled by the Trial Judge.

At the time of this shooting the applicant was on parole, after serving nine years of a ten years sentence for robbery, imposed by the Fayette County Court.

The applicant has now served five years and one month of his term of imprisonment.

Clifford M. Smith, of New Kensington, the attorney for the applicant, in a letter filed with the Board, declares that arrangements have been already made for the passage money and expenses necessary for the deportation of the applicant to Italy, and promised to see to it that he will sail for Italy immediately after the pardon has been granted.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the term of imprisonment already served, and in further consideration of the fact that immediately upon his release the applicant will be deported to Italy in order to support his aged mother, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At No. 3, February Sessions, 1917, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Northumberland, Thomas Thompson was convicted of murder in the second degree, and on February 19, 1917, was sentenced to pay costs and to undergo imprisonment in the State Penitentiary for a term of twenty years.

The applicant is 28 years of age, a native of New York City, unmarried, and at the time of his arrest resided in Milton, Northumberland County, where he was employed as an electric drill operator by the American Car & Foundry Company. He has a mother living, and two brothers and two sisters all residing in New York City.

On October 21, 1916, in the evening, between the hours of six and seven, the applicant shot and killed Homer Reynolds in a boarding house conducted by Mrs. Bessie Fritz, in Milton. The homicide occurred in the dining room. The evening meal had just been completed. Two other persons were seated at the table with the deceased, who sat with his back to the doorway, opening into the kitchen. According to the evidence submitted at the trial, the applicant entered the dining room from the kitchen, brandishing a revolver in his hand, pointed it at Reynolds, and as the latter arose from the chair he fired one shot which struck Reynolds and caused instant death. Jealousy was the motive. The applicant was only twenty years of age when he shot Reynolds.

The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of crime. He has served seven years and four months of his term of imprisonment.

There was filed with the Board a letter from the chief resident physician of the penitentiary in which he states that the applicant is suffering from advanced heart disease, and that his tenure of life is very uncertain, and stated verbally that his death inevitably is a matter of less than two months.

The applicant's sister appeared and satisfied the Board that she was a responsible person, reputable and financially able to provide a comfortable home for him for the remainder of his life. If liberated, she promised to care for him.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the youth of the applicant when the crime was committed, his prior good record, the term of imprisonment already served, and above all, in consideration of his precarious condition of health, and of his sister's offer to provide a comfortable home for him, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Thomas Thompson.

Sir: At No. 94, April Sessions, 1921, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Allegheny, Antonio Caliendo was convicted of Murder in the first degree, and on May 24, 1923, was sentenced to be electrocuted.

The applicant is twenty-seven years of age, an Italian by birth, and a laborer by occupation. Prior to his arrest for the present offense, he was the owner and proprietor of a Pool and Billiard Room, in which he sold tobacco and cigars, located in the Borough of Swissvale, Allegheny County, and resided in said Borough. He is unmarried. He served over seas in the World War.

On February 19, 1921, an Italian, Dominick Combrea, was shot by the applicant, in the chest and abdomen, and died therefrom. The deceased, from time to time, came to the applicant's place of business and purchased certain articles of merchandise for which he refused to pay. In this way ill feeling sprang up between the two men and Combrea uttered threats of bodily harm against the applicant, in consequence of which the latter became afraid of Combrea and believed that Combrea would carry out the threats which he had uttered to others and which had been communicated to the applicant. On the night of the trouble the applicant left the Pool Room and went to his boarding house about seven P. M. After eating, and while on his return to the Pool Room he encountered the deceased with another Italian at a street intersection whereupon the applicant shot and killed Combrea. The eye witnesses to the affair are not clear as to what immediately preceeded the shooting, and while they testify that Combrea was shot in the back, the physician who performed the autopsy testified that the bullets entered from the front.

The circumstances of this case do not denote Murder in the first degree. The applicant had reason to believe that the deceased would do him bodily harm at the first opportunity when they met on the night of the fatal tragedy, and the deceased using vile language reached as though to pull some weapon, the applicant fearing immediate death or great bodily harm, fired the fatal shot, acting as he thought in self-defense.

The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of any crime.

It is claimed on behalf of the applicant that the deceased was a member of the Black Hand, and in support of this contention there was filed with the Board an affidavit taken before a Notary Public in West Virginia. The affiant was a former secretary of the Black Hand Organization in Harrison County, West Virginia. The Sheriff of said County, in a letter filed with the Board, vouches for the reliability of the affiant and states that the latter was of invaluable assistance in the conviction of certain members of that lawless organization who were convicted in Clarksburg, West Virginia, in 1923. In the affidavit referred to it is stated that several years ago Dominick Combrea, the deceased, came to the headquarters of the Black Hand Society, at Fairmount, West Virginia, to obtain members of the Society to kill the applicant, stating that the applicant would not pay tribute to the Society, and demanded that Combrea pay for the articles which he purchased, that the applicant had ordered him out of his place of business. That on one occasion Combrea had pulled a knife to kill him in his place of business but was deterred by the persons who were there. The affiant communicated with the applicant and told him of the threats that Combrea had made and his effort to obtain Black Handers to kill him by way of retaliation.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, and particularly in consideration of the affidavit above referred to, we have concluded that the sentence of death heretofore imposed on the applicant should be commuted to life imprisonment.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that the sentence of death heretofore imposed on Antonio Caliendo, be commuted to life imprisonment.

Sir: At No. 9, June Term, 1923, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Fayette, John Barnes was convicted of murder in the first degree, and on December 27, 1923, was sentenced to be electrocuted.

The applicant is 48 years of age and of Irish descent. He came to this country at the age of 15 years, and by reason of the naturalization of his father became a citizen of the United States. He is by occupation a coal miner and laborer. At the time of his arrest he was unemployed by reason of the coal strike in Fayette County, where he resided in the City of Uniontown. The applicant was somewhat addicted to the use of strong drink. He is a widower as a result of the homicide of which he was convicted.

On April 15, 1922, about 2:00 P. M. at the intersection of two streets in the City of Uniontown, the applicant shot and killed his wife, Elizabeth Barnes. Immediately thereafter he turned the revolver on himself and fired a bullet into the right side of his cheek in front of the ear fracturing the cheek bone and the base of the skull. His right eye was destroyed, having been ruptured by the bullet which passed entirely through the brain. He was taken to the Uniontown Hospital, and as the result of an operation the bullet was removed from his brain. He remained in the hospital until May 2, 1922. The applicant and his wife had not been living together for sometime previous to the shooting. He was a striking miner. Frequent quarrels occurred between the applicant and his wife. She finally drove him from home. Before the shooting the wife was employed in a restaurant, and on the day of the tragedy she left her employment to go to her home when she encountered her husband at the street intersection, where the homicide occurred. The applicant states that he had no intention of shooting his wife, but that when he accidentallv met her on the street and failed to persuade her to come with him and reestablish their home, he lost control of himself and does not remember what happened subsequently.

The applicant has been imprisoned since Mav 2, 1922, the date he was discharged from the hospital. He was never before charged with or convicted of crime. His mind has been seriously affected as the result of his attempt at self-slaughter.

Three eminent physicians and alienists have examined the applicant and pronounce him insane. Dr. S. H. Baum of Uniontown, for many years jail physician and Coroner of Fayette County, was present during an examination of the applicant by Dr. C. C. Wholey of Pittsburgh, one of the most noted alienists in Western Pennsylvania, and concurs in the report of the latter in which he found the applicant suffering from organic dementia. Dr. William C. Sandy, Director, Bureau of Mental Health, State Department of Public Welfare, a distinguished alienist, at the request of the Board, also examined the applicant and pronounces him insane.

The Trial District Attorney has filed a letter with the Board in which, after reviewing the case, he states that he has no objection to clemency, inasmuch as he is not satisfied that the applicant is of sound mind and discretion.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the prior good record of the applicant, the statement of the Trial District Attorney, and above all the findings of three eminent physicians and alienists who pronounce the applicant insane, ve have concluded that the sentence of death heretofore imposed should be commuted to Life Imprisonment.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, nd in open sessions", recommend that the sentence of death mposed upon said John Barnes, be commuted to Life Imprisonment.

Sir: At No. 4, September Term, 1921, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Cambria, Frank Sismicfkowski alias Frank Siemienkowski was convicted of rape, and on February 13, 1922, was sentenced to pay a fine of $100.00, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Western State Penitentiary for a term of not less than four years nor more than five years.

The applicant is 29 years of age and of Polish nationality. At the time of his arrest he was Priest of the Holy Cross Church, at Johnstown, Pennsylvania, under the jurisdiction of the Polish National Catholic Church. He was unmarried and resided in Johnstown. He has no relatives in this country. His mother resides in Poland.

The crime is alleged to have been committed upon the person of one Katherine Rosenberg, a Polish girl, and the sole witness for the Commonwealth. It occurred on the evening of January 28, 1921, on the occasion of a dinner party at the home of Father Jasinsky, at South Fork, Cambria County. The prosecutrix alleged that she was under the age of sixteen years when the crime was committed and her statement of age, at the time, was believed. Father Jasinsky and the girl, although unmarried, lived together as man and wife. At the hearing on a motion for a new trial, in January, 1922, the prosecutrix voluntarily appeared, was sworn, and testified that her testimony at the trial was false, and that no rape had been committed. The Court ordered her committed pending a charge of perjury, and after a few days in the county jail she retracted her story and was freed. Her present whereabouts is unknown. Demands for the settlement of the case by payment of money were made, but the applicant, maintaining his innocence, refused to pay. Finally, on April 12, 1921, almost three months later, the girl made an information against the applicant, and he was tried and convicted as before stated. Since the trial, the birth certificate and the records of the Federal Immigration Bureau have been secured, and are now on file with the Board, showing that the girl was at least twenty-six years old at the time of the commission of the alleged crime. She is under size, with small features, and one whose age it would be difficult to determine. It was her testimony as to her age that was the main factor in securing a conviction.

The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of crime. He has now served two years and seven months of his term of imprisonment.

At the request of the Board, Sergeant George W. Freeman, of the State Police, visited South Fork and investigated the case, and has filed with the Board a report in which, after reviewing the facts, he expresses "grave doubt" as to the guilt of the applicant.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the grave doubt as to the guilt of the applicant, his prior good record and the term of imprisonment already served, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released, he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Frank Sismicfkowski alias Frank Siemienkowski.

Sir: At No. 1, August Sessions, 1922, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Jefferson, Jim Puglise alias James Puglise was convicted of murder in the first degree, and October 26, 1923, was sentenced to be electrocuted.

The applicant is thirty-two years of age and owes allegiance to the Kingdom of Italy. His occupation is that of coal miner. At the time of his arrest he was employed at Florence, Jefferson County, Pennsylvania. His proper place of residence was in the same county where he resided with his wife and child thirteen months old.

On the morning of February 24, 1922, the dead body of Sylvester Carlise, a coal miner, was found suspended from the limb of an apple tree in the back yard of the applicant. There were no signs of struggle about the body. The face was not distorted and the features were calm. There were no marks upon the surface of the body except an insignificant scratch upon one hip, and a yellowish indentation on the neck located directly beneath the rope as the body hung to the tree. Carlise had eaten supper and drank raisinjack with the applicant and the applicant's wife the night before. The applicant and Carlise were fellow-miners and intimate friends, and there was no motive shown for the commission of the murder by the applicant. The coroner pronounced the death a suicide. Thirteen days thereafter the applicant and one Vincenzo Mazarella, were arrested and jointly charged with the murder. They were tried separately and the applicant was twice convicted of first degree murder, the first conviction having been subsequently set aside by the Supreme Court. After his second conviction Mazarella was tried and convicted of murder in the first degree. The applicant on each trial of his own case maintained his innocence and denied all knowledge of the circumstances surrounding the death of Carlise, but when called as a witness for the Commonwealth in the Mazarella trial, he implicated himself and Mazarella as principals in the murder placing the main responsibility upon the latter, and claiming that he had been forced by Mazarella at the peril of life to kill Carlise. Mazarella was shown to have had a motive in that nineteen months previously the brother of the deceased had shot Mazarella through the back of the neck. Because of the poverty of the applicant the Court appointed W. M. Fairman as counsel to defend him, the attorney being eighty-five years of age.

The applicant was never before tried or convicted of crime. Because of his advanced years the applicant's friends claim that Fairman was not in condition to make the most of the defense, and that the applicant's interests were seriously affected thereby.

The Trial District Attorney and his Assistant have filed with the Board a letter in which they declare that the applicant was found to be insane on July 9, 1924, by the Honorable J. W. Bouton, President Judge of McKean County, and he ruled that the applicant was incompetent to testify at the trial of James (?) Mazarella when the Commonwealth called the applicant as a witness for the Commonwealth. The Commonwealth had the applicant examined as to sanity both before and after the last mentioned trial, by Dr.

H. W. Mitchell, Superintendent of the State Hospital, at Warren, Pennsylvania. They further state they have no objections to the commutation of the applicant's sentence of death to life imprisonment.

The private counsel for the Commonwealth has filed a letter with the Board in which he states that the ends of justice and fair dealing would be met by a commutation of the applicant's death sentence to imprisonment for life.

Dr. Mitchell, at the request of the Board, made an examination into the applicant's sanity and reports that the latter is now insane.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the recommendations of the Trial District Attorney, his Assistant, and the private attorney employed to prosecute the applicant, and particularly because of the statement of Dr. H. W. Mitchell, of Warren, Pennsylvania, that the applicant is now insane, we have concluded that the sentence of death heretofore imposed on the applicant should be commuted to life imprisonment.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that the sentence of death imposed upon the said Jim Puglise alias James Puglise, be commuted to life imprisonment.

Sir: At No. 20, February Sessions, 1921, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Allegheny, John Kirk was convicted of robbery, and on April 1, 1921, was sentenced to pay a fine of 6¼¢, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Western State Penitentiary for a period of not less than five years nor more than seven years.

The applicant is thirty-two years of age and has a wife and two small children. He resided in the City of Pittsburgh where he operated an automobile for hire.

A truck, loaded with one hundred cases of whisky, was proceeding by night from the Large Distillery toward Pittsburgh, and when it was less than a mile from the suburbs of Pittsburgh was stopped by a gang of five or six men who placed an automobile in front of the truck, forced the driver to leave and drove the truck away. It was taken about two miles from the scene of the crime and unloaded, the liquor being piled up in a field near by. During the night several automobile loads were hauled into the city and disposed of, and, before daybreak, the balance undisposed of was stored in a barn near by, where it was afterwards found with some of the defendants in charge. The applicant was identified as one of the men who hauled the liquor from the field to the barn, but the identification was not complete for the reason that the crime was committed at night, the faces of the culprits were concealed and the applicant set up an alibi which was fairly plausible. All of the men who participated in the robbery were convicted and sentenced.

The applicant has now served three years and five months of his term of imprisonment. His prison record is excellent as shown by the letter of the Warden of the Western Penitentiary on file in which he recommends a pardon.

The Trial Judge has filed a letter with the Board in which he recommends a pardon. The present District Attorney, while not joining in a recommendation for pardon advises the Board that the applicant's prison record is excellent and that from a long talk with him he believes that the applicant has learned his lesson and now entertains a different viewpoint of life. The Trustees of the Penitentiary also recommend clemency.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the doubt as to the guilt of the applicant, the term of imprisonment already served, his excellent prison record, the need which his wife and children have of support and assistance, and the recommendations of the Trial Judge, the Warden and Trustees of the Western Penitentiary, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said John Kirk.

Sir: At No. 25, September Sessions, 1920, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Centre, Nolan Brody pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with Breaking and Escaping Penitentiary, and on August 23, 1920, was sentenced to pay a fine of $1.00, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Western State Penitentiary for a term of not less than 7 years nor more than 10 years, sentence to compute from completion of sentence for aggravated Assault and Battery imposed on December 16, 1914 by the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County.

The applicant is 46 years old, a native born American citizen, a laborer by occupation, and at the time of his first arrest, resided in Pittsburgh where he was driving an ice delivery wagon. He is married and has two children living in Virginia.

While serving the latter sentence of 7 years minimum and 10 years maximum, the applicant, in 1917, was transferred to the prison farm at Rockview, and was there in 1920 when he incurred the charge of Breaking and Escaping from the Penitentiary. He was a "trusty" and had obtained the consent of a prison guard to go berry picking and unintentionally wandered off the prison property, the grounds being extensive. Upon being warned by a farmer that he had strayed beyond the limits of the prison farm, he retraced his steps toward the prison, and was met by the sheriff and arrested as an escaped convict, after an absence of but several hours.

On December 6, 1924, he will have served in the Penitentiary his maximum term of 10 years imposed by the Allegheny County Court and if pardoned for the present offense, he will be subject to parole on the former charge. He has now been incarcerated 9 years and 9 months continuously, and has served the minimum term of his original term of imprisonment and almost 3 years for the Escape.

The Trustees of the Western Penitentiary recommend pardon.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the term of imprisonment already served, both on the original charge and for the Escape, the demands of his family, and because of the recommendations of the Trustees of the Western Penitentiary, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now liberated, he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At No. 164, March Term, 1919, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Dauphin, Ward B. Sheetz pleaded guilty, before indictment found, to the charge of public indecency, and on May 5, 1919, was sentenced to pay a fine of $500.00, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Dauphin County Prison for a term of three months.

The applicant is thirty-one years of age, an American citizen by birth, a laborer by occupation and unmarried. At the time of his arrest he was employed at the Middletown Car Works and resided in Royalton, Dauphin County, Pennsylvania.

The applicant was convicted of arson, and on November 2, 1914, was sentenced by the Dauphin County Court to the Eastern State Penitentiary for a term of not less than three years nor more than twelve years. He was paroled, November 2, 1918, and following his arrest on the present charge he was returned from parole, August 28, 1919, and has been incarcerated since that time, a period of more than five years. He has served almost nine years for the two offenses. His new maximum sentence would expire August 28, 1927. The present application is made for the purpose of making the applicant eligible for parole on the unexpired portion of his twelve-year maximum sentence for arson.

The present charge of public indecency, for which clemency is now asked, consisted in the applicant's exposure of his person before several people in a public place.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, we have concluded that the applicant has been sufficiently punished, and should be relieved from the stigma of the present charge of public indecency in order that he may become eligible for parole on the graver offense.

Sir: At No. 7, March Sessions, 1923, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Armstrong, Sam Tutaro alias Sam Tutoni pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with felonious assault and battery with intent to kill, and on February 2, 1923, was sentenced to pay a fine of $500.00, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Western State Penitentiary for a term of not less than three years nor more than five years.

The applicant is thirty-four years of age, unmarried, and was a coal miner by occupation. At the time of his arrest he resided in Yatesboro, Armstrong County.

On December 17, 1922, the applicant, in company with his brother Tony, visited the home of Paul Dadona in said borough. Joe Sebastian was also a visitor and Dadona and his guests engaged in a friendly game of cards. During the evening Dadona accused his guests of stealing $50.00 out of his coat. The accusation was denied by all of them, and the applicant volunteered to be searched. Dadona became more enraged as the controversy continued, and finally secured a revolver threatening to shoot the applicant and the other occupants of the room. A knife lay upon the table, which the applicant took for self protection. The possession of the revolver was finally secured by Sebastian, and in the scuffle Sebastian shot and killed Dadona and threatened to shoot the others. In the melee the applicant, being in possession of the knife, struck at the said Sebastian and inflicted a wound in his shoulder. Sebastian, the applicant and his brother, were all arrested and held for Court on the charge of murder. Before the trial Tony Tutoni, the brother, was discharged and the applicant was permitted to plead guilty to the charge for which he was afterwards sentenced. Sebastian admitted that he shot and killed Dadona and pleaded guilty to voluntary manslaughter, and received the same sentence as was imposed upon the applicant.

The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of crime. He has now served one year and seven months of his term of imprisonment. His sentence for felonious assault and battery was excessive as compared with the sentence meted out to Sebastian who shot and killed Dadona.

The Trial Judge and Trial District Attorney in letters filed with the Board both recommend clemency. The Constable who made the information, the Justice of the Peace before whom it was made, and the officer who made the arrest all join in the plea for clemency.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the excessive sentence imposed, his prior good record, the term of imprisonment already served, and the recommendations of all officials who were concerned in his arrest, trial and conviction, including the Trial Judge and Trial District Attorney, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions," recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Sam Tutaro alias Sam Tutoni.

Sir: At Nos. 475 and 476, October Sessions, 1919, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Philadelphia, Nat Slatnick alias Frank King was convicted of robbery and entering with intent to steal, and on October 29, 1919, was sentenced to pay a fine of $1,000, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a term of not less than eight years nor more than ten years.

The applicant is thirty years of age unmarried, a native of Hartford, Connecticut, and at the time of his arrest was employed as an automobile mechanic.

On October 11, 1919, in the daytime, the jewelry store of McQueen & Company, 1435 Walnut Street, in the City of Philadelphia was entered by three men, and a quantity of jewelry was forcibly removed and carried away by one of these men, to wit, Whitey Johnson, who escaped with the jewelry without being arrested and was subsequently killed in Ohio while engaged in a similar depredation. The applicant and Harry J. Born, Jr., alias Harry Barnes, were arrested in the immediated vicinity of the store, and were jointly indicted and tried. Barnes pleaded guilty and was sentenced to pay a fine of $1,000, costs and to undergo a term of imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a period of not less than eight years nor more than ten years. At the June Session of the Board of Pardons he was pardoned. The applicant was twenty-five years old when the crime was committed. He displayed a revolver, but did not use it, and played a subordinate part in the commission of the crime. He bears an honorable discharge from the United States Army, and his Commanding Officer, Colonel A. P. Watts, of Chicago, Illinois, has offered to give him employment if liberated.

The applicant has now served almost four years and eleven months of his term of imprisonment, or more than one-half of his minimum sentence. During his incarceration he has supported a married sister and three small children who are in destitute circumstances owing to the prolonged illness of the husband who is unable to work.

The Trial Judge in a letter filed with the Board recommends clemency, believing that the ends of justice have been satisfied and that the applicant will lead a better life in the future. F. W. Martin, of Toledo, Ohio, a reputable citizen, has offered employment to the applicant in case of his release, and has also agreed to become sponsor for his future good conduct.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the term of imprisonment already served, the demands of his sister's family who are dependent on him for support, and in further consideration of the fact that employment has been offered him, and that F. W. Martin, of Toledo, Ohio, will stand sponsor for his future good conduct, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released, he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At No. 118, September Sessions, 1923, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Somerset, Mike Viscoskey was convicted of a felony charging malicious injury to a railroad, under the Act of 1913, P. L. 186; and also convicted of a misdemeanor charging malicious mischief, and on January 26, 1924, on the felony charge was sentenced to pay a fine of $1,000, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Western State Penitentiary for a term of not less than five years nor more than ten years. Sentence was suspended on the minor charge.

The applicant owes allegiance to the Republic of Poland. He is about 26 years of age, unmarried and his occupation is that of a coal miner. His proper place of residence is Jerome, Somerset County Pennsylvania.

On the night of July 17, 1923, the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad bridge across Stony Creek, near Holsopple, Somerset County, was destroyed by an explosion, which the Commonwealth claimed was caused by Mike Kulchek, Alfred Ramsell, John Laputka, Clementi Actelli, the applicant, and one John Goodiskey. The first five named were jointly indicted, tried and convicted solely on the uncorroborated evidence of Goodiskey, an alleged accomplice, who was never brought to trial. The union miners at the Jerome mine had been on a strike. The bridge destroyed was located near Jerome, and over it the railroad carried coal to and from the Jerome mine, which, during the strike, was working on a non-union basis. Goodiskey's story was to the effect that these five men, by prearrangement, met him on the night in question, with a truck carrying a large quantity of dynamite, which was unloaded near the bridge, and a short time thereafter the bridge was destroyed by an explosive placed there by these men. The five defendants denied their guilt and established alibis by the testimony of disinterested witnesses.

Since the sentence of the applicant, and his co-defendants, evidence has been discovered which casts a substantial doubt on his guilt. It now appears that prior to the dynamiting a meeting was held at Johnstown, in which were present one Matthews, a Coal and Iron Policeman, employed by the Hillman Coal Company, J. C. Bentley, a Private Detective, representing the Somerset County Operator's Association, Goodiskey, the self-confessed accomplice, and one other person. At this meeting Bentley promised Goodiskey a reward of $1500, and immunity from prosecution, provided the latter would unite with the striking miners in dynamiting property and turn state's evidence. It was planned that Goodiskey should notify Matthews in advance as to the time and place where the dynamiting was to occur, so that officers could be present, prevent the explosion, and arrest the perpetrators. Four days after the dynamiting in the present case, Goodiskey was taken to Pittsburgh by Bentley who clothed and fed him and took him to the office of the United States Department of Justice, where he first denied any knowledge of the dynamiting, but subsequently after the reward had been increased to $3,000, he told the story implicating the defendants. Subsequently Bentley appeared before the attorneys for the defendants in Pittsburgh and confessed that he himself had fabricated the story implicating the five men, and that Goodiskey himself had blown up the bridge. Bentley's confession is set forth in an affidavit by one of the counsel, filed with the Board; and also appears in the depositions taken before the Trial Judge, sitting as a magistrate.

The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of crime. He has now served nearly nine months of his term of imprisonment. His conviction was procured solely through the uncorroborated testimony of an accomplice who was suborned to commit perjury in order to convict the five defendants.

There was filed with the Board a petition for clemency signed by eleven of the jurors who convicted the applicant, in which they declare that if all of the evidence in the case, which is now known, had been presented to them, they would have acquitted the defendants. The Trial Judge in a letter filed with the Board states that he would have granted a new trial had the after-discovered evidence been placed before him.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the substantial doubt as to the guilt of the applicant based on after-discovered evidence, his prior good record, the term of imprisonment already served, the recommendation of the jury, which convicted him, and of the Trial Judge, who sentenced him, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released, he will prove himself a peaceable and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions," recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Mike Viscoskey.

Sir: At. No. 142, August Term, 1923, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Washington, Mike Humenik was convicted of wantonly pointing fire arms, and on August 20, 1924, was sentenced to pay a fine of $300.00, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Allegheny County Workhouse for a period of four months, the sentence as to imprisonment to be computed from the actual day of commitment to the said Workhouse.

The applicant is 47 years of age, an Austrian by birth, but a naturalized citizen of the United States since 1909. His occupation is that of storekeeper. At the time of his arrest, he was conducting a general store at Slovan, Washington County, and was also the postmaster, the post office being kept and conducted in a part of the room used by the applicant for his store. He had been postmaster for five years. He is married and has nine children whose ages range from 21 years to 3 months.

On June 1, 1923, Henry Tennyson, Justice of the Peace at Slovan, deposited in the post office a letter properly addressed and stamped, which letter, together with all mail matter, was placed in a mail bag for transmission to its destination. Shortly thereafter, Tennyson returned to the post office during the temporary absence of the applicant and demanded of an employee in said post office, the return of said letter. Upon being refused, Tennyson became enraged and reviled the employee. Hearing the disturbance, the applicant came into the post office and upon his refusal to open the mail sack and return the letter to Tennyson, the latter began to revile the applicant and attempted to push through a door leading from applicant's store room back to the post office proper where mail, stamps, and other valuable matter belonging to the United States Government were kept in the custody of the applicant. The latter then picked up a revolver laying on a table in the post office and pointed the revolver at Tennyson and warned him not to attempt to enter the office. The latter then departed, went out into the street cursing and threatening the applicant, and the following day had him arrested for the offense of wantonly pointing fire arms and assault. On the trial of the case, the applicant was convicted on the first count, but acquitted on the count charging assault. The Court suspended sentence stating that the applicant should pay the costs, return home, and endeavor to maintain friendly relations with Tennyson and live at peace. The applicant subsequently paid the costs and considered the matter at an end. Nearly nine months after his conviction, the applicant was called before the Court and sentence imposed.

The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of crime. The speech and conduct of Tennyson were such as to provoke the action on the part of the applicant which followed, and even though his conduct may have constituted a technical violation of the law, such violation was the result of conduct and improper language used by Tennyson.

The acting Post Master General of the United States, in a letter filed with the Board, reviews the official conduct of the applicant in the incident which was made the basis of the trial and conviction in this case. He states that Tennyson's conduct in attempting to take a letter forcibly from the custody of the United States post office department was highly improper and was in violation of several Federal Statutes. He further states that it was the sworn duty of the postmaster to exclude Tennyson from the room used as a post office while the mails were being opened or made up, and that it was his duty to exercise all possible care for the protection of public funds and property in his charge. He further represents that postal employees have been instructed by the Department to use fire arms when necessary, to the fulfillment of their obligations as sworn custodians of the mail and government property. The letter concludes with the hope that the Board may act favorably upon the applicant's petition for clemency.

Senator Sprowls of Washington County, the Sheriff, and the Cashier of the Burgettstown National Bank of Burgettstown, Pennsylvania, in letters filed ask clemency. A voluminous petition signed by a number of the citizens of Washington County, was also filed asking clemency.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the demands of his large family, the prior good record of the applicant, in consideration of the recommendation of the Senator, Sheriff of the County, and the large petition of his fellow citizens, in consideration if the statement of the acting Postmaster General, and his recommendation of clemency, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released, he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice and in open sessions," recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Mike Humenik.

Sir: At No. 118, September Sessions, 1923, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Somerset, Mike Kulchek was convicted of a felony charging malicious injury to a railroad, under the Act of 1913, P. L. 186; and also convicted of a misdemeanor charging malicious mischief, and on January 26, 1924, on the felony charge was sentenced to pay a fine of $1,000, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Western State Penitentiary for a term of not less than five years nor more than ten years. Sentence was suspended on the minor charge.

The applicant is of Polish descent, but a citizen of the United States. He is about 43 years of age, a coal miner by occupation, and his proper place of residence is Jerome, Somerset County, Pennsylvania. He is married and has a wife and six small children dependent upon him for support.

On the night of July 17, 1923, the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad bridge across Stony Creek, near Holsopple, Somerset County, was destroyed by an explosion, which the Commonwealth claimed was caused by Mike Viscoskey, Alfred Ramsell, John Laputka, Clementi Acetelli, the applicant, and one John Goodiskey. The first five named were jointly indicted, tried and convicted solely on the uncorroborated evidence of Goodiskey, an alleged accomplice, who was never brought to trial. The union miners at the Jerome mine had been on a strike. The bridge destroyed was located near Jerome, and over it the railroad carried coal to and from the Jerome mine, which, during the strike, was working on a non-union basis. Goodiskey's story was to the effect that these five men, by prearrangement, met him on the night in question, with a truck carrying a large quantity of dynamite, which was unloaded near the bridge, and a short time thereafter the bridge was destroyed by an explosive placed there by these men. The five defendants denied their guilt and established alibis by the testimony of disinterested witnesses.

Since the sentence of the applicant, and his co-defendants, evidence has been discovered which casts a substantial doubt on his guilt. It now appears that prior to the dynamiting a meeting was held at Johnstown, in which were present one Matthews, a Coal and Iron Policeman, employed by the Hillman Coal Company, J. C. The applicant owes allegiance to the Kingdom of Italy. He is twenty-eight years of age, a coal miner by occupation, and his proper place of residence is Jerome, Somerset County, Pennsylvania. He has a wife and two children dependent upon him for support.

Sir: At No. 100, December Sessions, 1920, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Bradford, Omar T. Smith pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with blackmail and extortion, and on February 7, 1921, was sentenced on the count charging extortion to pay a fine of $100.00, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a term of not less than five years nor more than six years. Sentence was suspended on the first count charging blackmail.

The applicant is forty-seven years of age, a native born American citizen and resided in the Borough of Towanda, Bradford County, with his wife and six minor children.

The applicant being in greatly reduced circumstances, unable to obtain work and unable to support his family, conceived the crazy idea of attempting blackmail and extortion, not from strangers, but from those who had aided him and given him work. Among this number was Mrs. Eulalee Hill with whose parents the applicant's wife had worked before marriage, and from whose home the applicant had been married. He had repeatedly worked for Mrs. Hill and she had befriended him. He attempted by letter to intimidate, annoy, levy blackmail, and extort money from her, and in some of the letters threatened to kidnap and injure her and her child.

The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of crime. He has now served three years and eight months of his term of imprisonment.

The husband of Mrs. Hill, who had received the threatening letters, has filed with the Board a letter in which he asks pardon. The County Commissioners of Bradford County also recommend clemency. The Trial Judge and Trial District Attorney also ask for clemency.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the prior good record of the applicant, the term of imprisonment already served, the dire need of the applicant's family, and the recommendations of the County Commissioners, the Trial Judge, the Trial District Attorney, and those who had been injured, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At No. 223, June Sessions, 1914, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Luzerne, Joe Zambeto alias Guiseppe Zambeto alias Joe Volpe alias Joe Velas alias Angelo Zambeto was convicted of murder in the second degree, and on June 17, 1918, was sentenced to pay costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a term of not less than seventeen years nor more than twenty years.

The applicant is now thirty-four years of age, unmarried, an Italian by birth and unnaturalized. He came to the United States in 1909. He is a coal miner by occupation, and at the time of his arrest he was employed in Ohio. His proper place of residence is with his aged parents who reside in West Virginia.

On the afternoon and evening of July 12, 1913, a wedding celebration was in progress at the home of Peter Fravat, in the little mining town of Swoyersville, Luzerne County. Fravat's son had been married in New York and returned with his bride to his father's home on the morning of the day in question. Large quantities of strong drink were provided for an eight-day celebration, and a large number of people were present. The shooting occurred about eleven o'clock at night outside of the house where the celebration was being held. Joe Spina, a miner about twenty-two years of age, received two bullet wounds in the body and died on the following day. The shots were evidently fired at close range. It was dark and there was no eye witness to the shooting, but the Commonwealth claimed that Spina, in a dying declaration, charged the applicant, who was present, with the shooting. The applicant and the deceased were on friendly terms, and there was no evidence of any quarrel, and the only motive suggested by the Commonwealth was the refusal to permit the applicant the honor of dancing with Spina's bride. The applicant was short in stature and measured 5 feet and 3¾ inches in height. A witness who saw Spina's assailant running away from the scene of the shooting testified that the man he saw running was somewhat taller than he (the witness) who measured 5 feet and 4 inches. The applicant was not arrested until almost five years after the shooting. He steadfastly maintained his innocence.

The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of crime. He has now served six years and three months of his term of imprisonment. His prison record is excellent.

Trial Judge Fuller, Judge Jones, who, at the time, acted as counsel for the applicant, the Trial District Attorney, and his two Assistants, and the present District Attorney join in a plea for clemency. The wife of the murdered man, who has since remarried, joins in the request.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the doubt as to the guilt of the applicant, his prior good record, the term of imprisonment already served, the recommendations of the Trial Judge, the Trial District Attorney, and his two Assistants, the present District Attorney, and the wife of the murdered man, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released, he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

Harrisburg, Pa., September 17, 1924.

Sir: At No. 111, December Sessions, 1922, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Berks, Clarence Kaminski pleaded guilty to indictments charging him with robbery and assault, and on December 4, 1922, was sentenced to pay a fine of $100, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a term of not less than three years nor more than four years.

The applicant is now eighteen years of age and a native-born American. At the time of his arrest he was employed by a firm of silk glove manufacturers in the City of Reading, where he resided with his parents. He is unmarried.

The applicant was engaged in his employment on November 10, 1922, when he received a 'phone message telling him that his mother was sick and that he was wanted at home. When he got outside of the factory Owen Weaver and Charles Kulp, two men who were subsequently indicted with him, were waiting for him and told him that they wanted him to go along that they had planned to rob Jackson & Sons Rope Walk, and that he was to guard the outside to see that they were not disturbed. They then proceeded to the Rope Walk, and when they reached the office Weaver and Kulp entered, and the applicant turned and ran away. This was his first opportunity to escape. The applicant subsequently learned that Weaver and Kulp had taken money from the employees in the office and committed assault and battery upon one of them. The applicant had no part in the robbery or assault and battery, and received no part of the proceeds. He was only sixteen years of age at the time, and was intimidated into accompanying them. When arrested he explained the entire transaction to the authorities and to his counsel, and was advised to plead guilty, because thereby he would receive a lighter sentence. Consequently the applicant, on advice of counsel, entered a technical plea of guilty, although he had no part in the crimes for which he was sentenced.

The applicant has now served one year and nine months of his term of imprisonment. He was never before convicted of crime. He had been working regularly for two years prior to his arrest.

The present District Attorney, and the Assistant District Attorney who prosecuted the case, have filed letters with the Board recommending pardon. The private counsel for the owners of the Rope Walk, and the employe, who was assaulted at the time of the robbery, also join in the application for clemency. The person assaulted, in his letter, states that while he saw the applicant at the time, the latter did not participate in the robbery and assault. The Warden of the Berks County Prison, and the Warden of the Eastern Penitentiary, certify to the applicant's excellent prison record.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the youth of the applicant when the alleged crime was committed, the term of imprisonment already served, his prior good record, in further consideration of the recommendations of the Trial District Attorney, the present District Attorney, the attorney for the private prosecutor, and the person assaulted, and because of the fact that Henry G. Hodges, of the City of Reading, has agreed to become sponsor for the applicant's future good conduct, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Clarence Kaminski.

Sir: At No. 129, February Term, 1924, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Montgomery, Austin Greer pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with larceny, and on July 16, 1924, was sentenced to pay a fine of $10.00, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Montgomery County Prison for a period of not less than one year and four months nor more than two years and eight months.

The applicant is forty-one years of age, an American citizen, has a wife and four children and resided in Holmesburg, Philadelphia, where he conducted a garage and trucking establishment.

The applicant and five others conspired to break into the home of Croasdale Knott, situated in Abington Township, Montgomery County, and to steal a quantity of intoxicating liquors stored there. The applicant took no part in the actual burglary, but the plans were made at his home and carried out by the other five men who broke into Knott's house, took the liquor, and hauled at least part of it to the applicant's home in Holmesburg, where it was distributed. The applicant went on the stand as chief witness for the Commonwealth and told the entire story which resulted in the conviction of the five men on the charge of burglary.

The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of crime. He has now served three months of his term of imprisonment, and his family are in destitute circumstances and require support.

William D. Disston, Vice President, Disston Saw Works, Tacony, Philadelphia, and a number of prominent citizens of the Holmesburg section, of that City, have filed letters with the Board in which they strongly recommend clemency.

Wilhelm F. Knauer, a prominent attorney of Philadelphia, has volunteered to become sponsor for the applicant's future conduct in the event of his liberation.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the prior good record of the applicant, the valuable assistance which he has rendered the Commonwealth in the conviction of five men for burglary, because of his family's need of support and maintenance, the recommendation of Mr. Disston, and other prominent citizens, who have known the applicant for many years, and in further consideration of the fact that Wilhelm F. Knauer has offered to become sponsor for the applicant's future good conduct, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now liberated, he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Austin Greer.

Sir: At No. 31, September Sessions, 1923, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Butler, A. L. Hepler pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with fraudulent conversion, and on September 13, 1923, was sentenced to pay a fine of $1.000, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Western State Penitentiary for a term of not less than two years nor more than four years.

The applicant is forty-nine years of age and a native-born citizen of the United States. He is married, but has no children. At the time of his arrest he was Treasurer of the Citizens Insurance Agency and Mortgage Company, a Pennsylvania Corporation, domiciled in the City of Butler; Vice-President and General Manager of the Ideal Squab Company, a Pennsylvania Corporation, domiciled in Butler Township, Butler County; and he was also co-partner with Arthur Wilson in The Butler Investment Company, and resided near the City of Butler.

The applicant came to Butler in 1912 and engaged in the insurance business. He was a good citizen, industrious, sober and an indefatigable worker. In 1917 he promoted the Ideal Squab Company which raised squabs for market, manufactured butter and other dairy products, ice cream and sold milk and cream. This enterprise, under the management of the applicant, became extensive and prosperous. In 1922 the applicant was arrested charged with having used the mails to defraud in connection with the Squab Company, and while this case was never prosecuted, his arrest had the effect of destroying confidence in the company and caused liquidation proceedings. Upon trial, acting on the advice of counsel, he pleaded guilty to an indictment which charged him with converting to his own use $3,000 received from the sale of 200 shares of stock of the Citizens Insurance Agency and Mortgage Company, which stock rightfully belonged to him under a contract with the said company as shown by the minutes of the company.

The applicant has now served one year and one month of his term of imprisonment. He was never before charged with or convicted of crime. The authorities of the Western State Penitentiary recommend pardon.

The applicant has lost all of his property, but being in the prime of life, and with his character for industry and sobriety, coupled with great energy, he will, if liberated, retrieve his fortunes and become a good citizen.

Sergeant George W. Freeman, of the State Police, who, at the request of this Board, visited Butler and investigated the circumstances surrounding this case has filed a report in which he recommends clemency.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the prior good record of the applicant, the term of imprisonment already served, the need which his wife has of support, and particularly the recommendation of Sergeant Freeman, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and that if now released, he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At No. 6, April Sessions, 1915, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Lackawanna, Cologero Gericci was convicted of murder in the second degree and on May 13, 1915, was sentenced to pay a fine of $1.00, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a term of not less than fifteen years nor more than twenty years.

The applicant is 31 years of age and a subject of the Kingdom of Italy. He is by occupation a coal laborer, and at the time of his arrest was employed at the mines of the Pennsylvania Coal Company, at Dunmore, Pennsylvania. He is unmarried. His parents, 69 years of age, reside in New Jersey and require support.

The circumstances surrounding the crime, for which the applicant was sentenced, are as follows: A party of men, including the applicant and the person who was subsequently shot, were engaged in drinking in a saloon in the Borough of Dunmore. A dispute arose between the last mentioned persons. When the applicant left the saloon, he was followed by the decedent. They met a short distance from the saloon and a quarrel ensued. The decedent attacked the applicant, and he believing that his life was in danger, fired two shots at the decedent with fatal result.

The applicant has now served nine years and five months of his term of imprisonment. He was never before charged with or convicted of crime.

Santo Volpe, of West Pittston, has offered to furnish the applicant employment, if liberated, and will become sponsor for his future good conduct.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the prior good record of the applicant, the term of imprisonment already served, the need which his aged parents have of his support, and in further consideration of the fact that Santo Volpe has offered to give him employment and will become sponsor for his future good conduct, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released, he will prove himself a peaceable and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Cologero Gericci.

Sir: At No. 78, June Sessions, 1923, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Dauphin, Henry Berth pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with the unlawful possession and sale of drugs, and on June 8, 1923, was sentenced to pay a fine of $500.00, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a term of not less than three years nor more than five years.

The applicant is thirty-six years of age, an American citizen, colored, a laborer by occupation, and at the time of his arrest was employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. He resided in the City of Harrisburg with his wife and one son, aged eight years.

The applicant had been a user of narcotic drugs for a number of years and was constantly seeking a new supply. He went to Philadelphia in order to replenish his stock and was arrested when he returned to Harrisburg. He had previously been arrested for possession of narcotic drugs and had been paroled by the Dauphin County Court.

The applicant has now served one year and four months of his term of imprisonment. Eight months of this period has been served in the Dauphin County Jail, which is not adapted to house long-term prisoners and has no facilities for industry or for proper exercise and recreation. This Board has already pardoned two men who were sentenced about the same time for the same offense, and for approximately the same terms, to wit, Samuel Wilson and Andrew Thompson on the ground that it was not within the contemplation of the Court in imposing sentence that the defendants should spend so long a period of time in a county jail.

The applicant claims that he has conquered the habit during his incarceration, and assures the Board that if released he will never again use narcotics.

The Trial District Attorney has filed with the Board a letter in which he states that had the Court known that the term of imprisonment imposed would not be served in the penitentiary, and that portion thereof would be served in the county jail, the sentence would not have been so severe. He does not oppose clemency. When the sentences were imposed the Court had no idea that on account of overcrowded conditions in the penitentiary inmates would be apportioned among the various county jails in order to complete their respective terms of service. The Trial Judge corroborates this statement of the District Attorney in conversation with a member of the Board.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the term of imprisonment already served, and in further consideration of the fact that the Trial District Attorney and Trial Judge state that the present sentence would not have been as severe had it been known that portion thereof would be served in the Dauphin County Jail, and that two other narcotic drug users, who were tried and sentenced at approximately the same time, have been pardoned by this Board, we have concluded that the applicant has been sufficiently punished, and that if now liberated, he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Henry Berth.

Sir: At No. 171, June Sessions, 1914, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Philadelphia, Gregario Rizzatto was convicted of murder in the first degree, and on October 23, 1914, was sentenced to be electrocuted. Subsequently on March 18, 1915, the death sentence was commuted to life imprisonment.

The applicant is a subject of the Kingdom of Italy, and is about 71 years of age. At the time of his arrest he was a laborer by occupation and temporarily resided in Chestnut Hill, Philadelphia. He has a wife in Italy dependent on him for support.

The applicant was staying with friends in Chestnut Hill by the name of Calisto. On the evening of the tragedy friends gathered in the Calisto home and drank together. The applicant had lost his pocket book containing a train ticket to the West, which he expected to use the following day. He suspected Calisto of having taken these articles and made demands upon him for the return of his property, but was refused. The drinking continued and the party finally dwindled down to Calisto and the applicant. The mother and two daughters were in the kitchen preparing supper. The argument became more heated until finally the applicant drew a revolver and shot at Calisto, but at that very instant the latter's daughter Frances, aged about 17 years, hearing angry voices, rushed into the room, and threw herself between the two men just in time to receive the bullet instead of her father. She died from the effects of the wound.

The applicant has now served ten years of his term of imprisonment. There was no premeditation for the commission of the crime. The girl was accidentally shot when she intervened in a quarrel between two drunken men.

The applicant has been a model prisoner.

Both the Italian Federation of Societies of Philadelphia, and Albert Frey, Vice President of the Derr Lumber Company, Philadelphia, have guaranteed to pay the expenses of the applicant's deportation to Italy and will see to it that he is put on board ship and returned to his native land.

The Assistant District Attorney who was present at the hearing did not oppose the application for clemency.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the term of imprisonment already served, and in further consideration of the fact that responsible parties have offered to pay the expenses of the applicant's deportation to Italy, and will see to it that he is actually put on board the ship, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released, he will return to his native land and become a peaceable, law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Gregario Rizzatto.

Sir: At No. 24, February Sessions, 1922, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Erie, Pete Mattis was convicted of felonious assault with intent to commit the crime of murder, and on September 22, 1922, was sentenced to pay a fine of $200.00, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Western State Penitentiary for a term of not less than two years and eight months nor more than five years.

The applicant is thirty-two years of age, married and of Greek extraction. He has been a resident of the United States for more than ten years, and is an applicant for citizenship. He had for several years been engaged in conduct-in restaurants. He resided in the City of Erie.

Matthew Fogarty was employed as a night watchman by the United Drug Company, Erie. He went on duty at six o'clock on the evening of November 3, 1921, when he was attacked by two men who opened fire on him and shot him through the right arm and shoulder. The assault lasted but a few moments, after which the assailants rushed from the place. Within three-quarters of an hour thereafter the applicant, with several other men, were arrested in a pool room located thirteen blocks from the scene of the shooting. At the trial Fogarty identified the applicant as one of his assailants. No motive was shown by the Commonwealth implicating the applicant. Outside of the prosecutor's identification at the trial, the evidence tended to establish the innocence of the applicant who, by a number of reputable citizens, established his whereabouts from two o'clock in the afternoon of the shooting until his arrest by the police officers about five hours later.

The applicant has now served two years and one month of his term of imprisonment. He was never before charged with or convicted of crime. His prison record is excellent, and the Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary recommend clemency.

Both the Trial Judge and the Trial District Attorney in letters filed with the Board recommended pardon.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the prior good record of the applicant, the term of imprisonment already served, and particularly because of the recommendations of the Trial Judge and Trial District Attorney, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released, he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Pete Mattis.

Sir: At No. 30, September Sessions, 1924, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for Huntingdon County, C. R. Forbes alias Charles R. Forbes was convicted of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor, and on September 19, 1924, was sentenced to pay a fine of $100.00, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Huntingdon County Jail for a period of three months.

The applicant is thirty-six years of age and a native-born American citizen. He is a surveyor or civil engineer by occupation, and at the time of his arrest he was employed by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania as Assistant District Engineer engaged in highway construction in Blair, Bedford and Huntingdon Counties. He resided in Altoona, and has a wife and two small children.

On July 23, 1924, the applicant at 5:30 A. M. went to his office in Altoona, remained there an hour and three-quarters and then started out in his Ford car to inspect State highway work, and was so occupied during the entire day. He left Shirleysburg at 8:30 P. M. in order to return to Altoona, and made no stop until the time of the accident, not driving at a speed in excess of twenty miles per hour. After leaving Huntingdon he drove over Warrior Ridge, and at a distance of seven miles from Huntingdon and two from the Borough of Alexandria, on a perfectly straight piece of road, he accidentally collided with a car driven by Hugh Etters, doing some damage to Mr. Etters' car and further bending an axle on his own car which, earlier in the day, had been bent in crossing a ditch, and temporarily straightened out by him. Mr. Etters testified that he saw the applicant for a distance of half a mile prior to the collision, driving on his own side of the road in a straight line, but when the applicant's car came opposite to that of Mr. Etters, it suddenly swerved and collided with the latter's car. The applicant immediately got out of his car, gave him name, address and place of employment and told Etters he would pay for any damage done, which he did. Etters and his wife, who accompanied him, both testified that the applicant was perfectly sober and acted like a gentleman. Shortly after the collision the applicant was arrested by the Sheriff who told him that he was drunk, brought him to Huntingdon and placed him in jail where he spent the night until the following morning when he obtained bail. The applicant is not a drinking man and explained the accident by saying that he may have fallen asleep at the wheel after a long and arduous day's work. Two of the Commonwealth's witnesses, the defendant and five of his witnesses, all testified that he was sober.

The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of crime. He has now served one month of his term of imprisonment.

The private prosecutor in the case has filed with the Board a letter in which he states that the applicant was sober, and that the collision was accidental that the applicant was driving slowly and that his conduct was irreproachable. He asks clemency. R. W. Williamson and David H. Myers, both members of the Bar, filed letters with the Board in which they state that they were present in Court during the trial of the applicant and that he should have been acquitted on the evidence presented to the jury. Charles C. Brewster, Member of Assembly, and the Chief Clerk of the Board of County Commissioners of Cambria County, have filed letters with the Board in which they recommend clemency. The Trial Judge and Trial District Attorney did not oppose the application.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the doubt of the guilt of the applicant, his prior good record, and the recommendations of the private prosecutor in the case,Representative Brewster, the County Commissioners of Cambria County, we have concluded that the applicant has been sufficiently punished, and that if now liberated he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said C. R. Forbes alias Charles R. Forbes.

Sir: At Nos. 51 and 52, February Sessions, 1916, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Philadelphia, Edward F. Keller alias Edward Keilblock was convicted of voluntary manslaughter, and on May 2, 1916, was sentenced to pay costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a period of not less than ten years nor more than twelve years.

The applicant is a native of New York City. His occupation is that of an expert leather bag manufacturer and workman. At the time of his arrest he was 49 years of age, and employed in Philadelphia, in which City he resided with his wife.

In 1913, the applicant and one Daniel J. McNichol, entered upon the manufacturing of leather bags in Philadelphia, under the name of Keller Manufacturing Company. On March 30, 1914, McNichol, the applicant's business partner, disappeared and nothing was heard of him until his body was found on December 15, 1915, by some workmen who were excavating in the cellar of a vacant building which had formerly been used by the applicant in conducting a laundry business. There was no question as to the identity of the remains. The business venture had not been successful and it appeared that the applicant had been appropriating some of the firm's money to his own use. The Commonwealth showed that about the time McNichol disappeared a large packing box was seen late at night in front of Keller's home. The body of McNichol was placed in a trunk which contained leather clippings, such as would be found in a shop similar to that of McNichol and the applicant. The body was put in the trunk, and the trunk placed in a box, and the box transported from the factory to the vacant building, in the cellar of which McNichol's remains were subsequently discovered. The applicant told conflicting stories as to his association with McNichol on the day that McNichol disappeared, and for several days afterwards. The evidence in the case was purely circumstantial.

The applicant has now served eight years and five months of his term of imprisonment. His prison record is excellent. He is industrious and a skilled workman.

Former employers have offered to furnish work in case he is released, and Dr. Herbert M. Goddard, a Trustee of the Eastern State Penitentiary, has offered to establish the applicant in business if released, and will become sponsor for his future good conduct.

In consideration af all the circumstances of this case, the fact that the applicant was convicted on purely circumstantial evidence, the term of imprisonment already served, and particularly because of the fact that Dr. Herbert M. Goddard has offered to become sponsor for his future good conduct, and will establish him in the business in which he has shown extraordinary skill, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At No. 258, April Sessions, 1919, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Philadelphia, Edgar Seegars, Frank Okronley and William Sinnlovsky severally pleaded guilty to an indictment charging them jointly with burglary, and on April 16, 1919, Seegars was sentenced to pay costs, and to serve a term of imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a term of not less than seven years nor more than thirteen years, while Okronley and Sinnlovsky were each sentenced to pay costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for terms of not less than six years nor more than ten years. A fourth defendant died in prison.

The applicant Seegars is twenty-six years of age, an American citizen, and a locomotive fireman by occupation and had recently been employed as such by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. The applicant Okronley is a native of Poland, but a naturalized American citizen. He is by occupation a fireman, twenty-five years of age, unmarried, and before his arrest resided with his father in Springfield, Massachusetts. The applicant Sinnlovsky is a Russian by birth, but a naturalized American citizen, thirty-five years of age, a shoemaker by occupation and a widower.

The crime consisted in burglarizing the former homes of W. Freeland Kendrick, 1129 Duncannon Street, Philadelphia, (the present Mayor of the City), and A. Hyman, located on the Old York Road. In April, 1919, silverware, dresses and other personal effects were taken from the Kendrick home valued at $2,000, and when Seegars, one of the applicants, was arrested he was fully attired in Mr. Kendrick's clothing. When the three defendants were arrested at their lodging house, about noon of the day of the morning following the crime, a considerable portion of the loot was found in their possession. Seegars alone had robbed the Hyman home and taken therefrom $197.00 worth of clothing and furs.

The applicants have now served five and one-half years of their terms of imprisonment.

Mayor Kendrick, the private prosecutor in the one case, has a filed a letter with the Board in which he recommends pardon, believing that the applicants have been sufficiently punished. The Trial Judge has filed a letter with the Board in which he states he has no objections to clemency. A. Hyman, private prosecutor in one of the cases, has also filed a letter with the Board recommending pardon. The District Attorney's office was represented at the time of the hearing and interposed no objection to clemency.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the term of imprisonment already served, and in further consideration of the fact that the two private prosecutors recommend pardon, and the Trial Judge and District Attorney's office make no objection thereto, we have concluded that they have been sufficiently punished, and that if now released they will prove themselves useful and law-abiding citizens.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Edgar Seegars, Frank Okronley and William Sinnlovsky.

Sir: At No. 1, December Sessions, 1919, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Lawrence, Francesco Lestorti alias Frank Lester was convicted of murder in the second degree, and on March 17, 1920, was sentenced to pay a fine of $50.00, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Western State Penitentiary for a term of not less than twelve years nor more than fourteen years.

The applicant is thirty-nine years of age and a subject of the Kingdom of Italy. He came to the United States in 1913. He is a laborer by occupation, and at the time of his arrest was employed at the Johnston Quarry, Hillsville, Lawrence County, Pennsylvania, and resided in Bessemer. He has no relatives in the United States, but has a wife and one small child in Italy.

On October 4, 1919, the applicant and one Joe Nero, a fellow Italian, had been engaged in an altercation about certain alleged remarks uttered by Nero, affecting the applicant's moral character. After angry words a fight ensued, and the applicant claims that Nero struck him with his dinner bucket. In the fight Nero was cut in the leg by a piece of iron which the applicant picked up and used in self-defense, and Nero subsequently died from the effects of the wound. On trial the applicant claimed self-defense and that the wound, which caused the death, was inflicted in the heat of passion during a fight with no intention to seriously injure Nero.

The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of crime. He has now served four years and seven months of his term of imprisonment.

The private prosecutor, who is now the parole officer for Lawrence County, has filed a letter with the Board in which he states that he believes that the applicant was convicted of a graver offense than the evidence justified, and that he has been sufficiently punished. He also states that the location of the wound on the deceased was in such a place as shows that there was not intention to inflict vital injury. The Trial Judge and Trial District Attorney both filed letters with the Board in which they recommend clemency. The prison authorities certify that the applicant's conduct has been excellent.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the fact that he was convicted of a graver offense than the evidence warranted, and in further consideration of the fact that the private prosecutor, Trial Judge and Trial District Attorney in letters filed with the Board all recommend pardon, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released he will prove himself a peaceable and law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At Nos. 35 and 36, June Sessions, 1916, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Allegheny, Walter Reed pleaded guilty to indictments charging him with burglary, and receiving stolen goods, and on July 13, 1916, was sentenced to pay a fine of 6¼¢, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Western State Penitentiary for a term of not less than two years nor more than three years.

The applicant is twenty-seven years of age and a native-born citizen of the United States. He is colored, unmarried and a laborer by occupation. He has a mother and two sisters residing at Ardmore, Pennsylvania.

The applicant was only nineteen years of age and out of employment. On July 5, 1916, he forced open a screen window and entered the home of Mrs. Julia White, Pittsburgh, and carried away certain articles and cash; and on the same day forced open the rear door of the home of Mrs. Clara Pavlick and carried therefrom certain articles and cash. He was paroled from the Western Penitentiary on July 13, 1918, after having served his two years minimum sentence, and on August 23, 1918, was drafted into the United States Army, where he served until his honorable discharge in December, 1918. He then returned to Pittsburgh and made repeated efforts to obtain employment, but was unsuccessful. In February, 1919, on account of slack business, he lost his job with the Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company, and was arrested a few days later on a charge of burglary, and when arraigned in Court pleaded guilty, and on March 21, 1919, was sentenced for a term of not less than five years nor more than ten years in the Western State Penitentiary.

He has now served the five years minimum sentence imposed in March, 1919, and has served six months on his year parole of the sentence of July, 1916, and if granted a pardon on the remaining six months, the Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary may parole him for five years on the sentence imposed in March, 1919.

The applicant's mother is old and feeble and requires support. Employment has been offered him by the Urban League of Pittsburgh, organized for social service among negroes.

The Trustees of the Penitentiary certify that his prison record is excellent and recommend clemency.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the term of imprisonment already served, the fact that the applicant gives evidence of having truly reformed, his aged mother's need of support, and in further consideration of the offer of employment, and the recommendation of the Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Walter Reed.

Sir: At No. 634, October Sessions, 1920, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Philadelphia, William Jones alias Archie James Rhoads, pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with entering to steal and larceny, and on April 12, 1923, was sentenced in the aggregate to pay costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a term of not less than two and one-half years nor more than three years.

The applicant is twenty-nine years of age, an American-born citizen, colored and has a wife. He is a musician by occupation, but was not employed when the crime was committed. His residence was at Williamsport, Pennsylvania, where he was born and reared.

On the afternoon of October 21, 1920, the applicant, with one Herman Heath, entered the residence of Lewis Greineisen, 2324 Brown Street, Philadelphia, and took property valued at $950.00, all of which was later restored to the owner, with the exception of a bar pin lost during the applicant's flight. The applicant was almost immediately apprehended, but Heath escaped. When arraigned in Court, October, 1920, the applicant pleaded guilty and was sentenced to a term of three years in the county prison. After serving this sentence he was returned to the Eastern State Penitentiary as a parole violator upon a five to eight years sentence, for larceny and receiving stolen goods, imposed by the Lycoming County Court. Inasmuch as the sentence imposed has been served in full, if the applicant is now pardoned on the present charge, he will be eligible to reparole by the Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary.

The applicant's prison record has been excellent and the prison officials recommend clemency. A telegram to this effect from Colonel John C. Groome, Warden, has been filed with the Board.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, and the recommendation of the Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary and of the Warden of that institution, we have concluded that the applicant has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released, he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice,

Sir: At Nos. 298, 342, 343 and 344, February Sessions, 1922, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Philadelphia, Jay S. Bergman alias Jay A. Dupont, pleaded guilty to four bills of indictment charging him with refusing to pay lawful fare for hire of taxicab, robbery and false pretense, and February 21, 1922, was sentenced to pay costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a term of not less than seven years nor more than ten years.

The applicant is thirty-four years of age and an American citizen by birth. At the time of his conviction he was a theatrical performer and was engaged on the B. F. Keith Circuit. He is married, but estranged from his wife. He has one daughter, eight years of age. His home address was Johnstown, Pennsylvania.

The applicant, by the use of false checks and false pretense, obtained a considerable amount of money from various business men in Philadelphia.

The applicant has now served two years and nine months of his term of imprisonment. The warden of the Eastern State Penitentiary certifies to his excellent record in that institution.

Assistant District Attorney Fox appeared before the Board, and while not joining in the application for clemency, stated that he did not oppose the same.

Joseph H. Moss, the prosecutor in the case, filed with the Board a letter in which he states that he believes the applicant to be the victim of evil companions, and asks for pardon.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the term of imprisonment already served, the excellent prison record of the applicant, and because the prosecutor asks for clemency, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now liberated, he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Jay S. Bergman alias Jay A. Dupont.

Sir: At No. 333, June Sessions, 1921, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Philadelphia, William Drennan after a second trial, was convicted of involuntary manslaughter, and recommended to the mercy of the Court, and on June 30, 1922, was sentenced to pay costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Philadelphia County Prison for a period of nine months.

The applicant is forty-two years of age, an American citizen by birth, married, a policeman by occupation and resided in Philadelphia for practically his entire life.

On May 8, 1921, the applicant, who was a special police officer of the Adams Express Company and armed with a revolver, after an altercation, shot and killed Patrick Joyce, a Pennsylvania Railroad Officer, in the West Philadelphia Station. The lieutenant of police in command of the district in which the homicide occurred, has filed with the Board a letter in which he states that after investigation he believes that the applicant acted in defense of his life, he having been knocked down and kicked so badly by Joyce that it was necessary for him to undergo an operation in the Philadelphia Hospital within two weeks after the occurrence. He further certifies that he was an honest, trustworthy and fearless officer.

The applicant was never before convicted of crime. Having completed his term of imprisonment, he has been released for more than year and has conducted himself in an exemplary manner.

Assistant District Attorney Fox appeared before the Board and stated that he would not oppose the present application, and that the District Attorney's office made it a rule that after a prisoner's discharge and subsequent good behavior for one year, not to oppose clemency. J. Hampton Moore, Mayor of the City when the crime was committed, filed with the Board a letter in which he states that the applicant shot Joyce in the discharge of his duty, and in order to protect his own life, which was in jeopardy. He also states that the applicant is endeavoring to be reinstated on the police force, and in the event of pardon he will probably be successful. Mr. Moore recommends pardon.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this cases, the prior good record of the applicant, his good conduct since his release, the representations of the Police Department of Philadelphia, the District Attorney's office and former Mayor Moore, we have concluded that he should be relieved from the stigma of his conviction and be qualified to resume life with a clean slate, and believe that if now liberated he will prove himself a peaceable and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said William Drennan.

Sir: At No.———, April Sessions, 1921, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Chester, James LeRoy Mason alias LeRoy Mason pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with robbery, being armed with an offensive weapon and felonious assault, and on July 11, 1921, was sentenced in the aggregate to pay a fine of $1,000, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a term of not less than eight years nor more than seventeen years.

The applicant is twenty-nine years of age, an American citizen by birth and colored. His occupation is that of a chauffeur and mechanic, and at the time of his arrest he resided with his wife in Washington, D. C., where he was employed by John Trachtenburg.

Aaron Trachtenburg, a younger brother of his employer, with three companions, on February 15, 1921, motored from Washington to Philadelphia and returned toward Washington, the applicant acting as chauffeur. Having reached a point in Chester County, a car driven by James Doolittle passed. Acting under instructions from Trachtenburg, the applicant turned and followed the Doolittle car, finally blocking the way and compelling it to stop, after which the occupants of the Trachtenburg car took from Doolittle a large quantity of whiskey, which he was transporting, and which was subsequently taken to Washington, sold and the proceeds divided among the occupants of the car. McCurley and Freeman, two of the occupants of the car, have been pardoned by this Board and the other two, including the applicant, remain in prison.

The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of crime. He has now served three years and four months of his term of imprisonment.

Both the Trial District Attorney and the present District Attorney, who are conversant with the facts in this case, have filed letters with the Board in which they recommend pardon, alleging that the applicant was an employe and acted under the orders of his employer, and that he has been sufficiently punished.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the prior good record of the applicant, the term of imprisonment already served, and because of the recommendations of the present District Attorney and the Trial District Attorney, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released, he will prove himself a peaceable and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said James LeRoy Mason alias LeRoy Mason.

Sir: At Nos. 87, 88 and 89, January Sessions, 1923, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Dauphin, Arthur Thompson alias Ott Thompson was convicted of the unlawful sale and possession of drugs, and on January 12, 1923, was sentenced to pay a fine of $500, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a term of not less than two years nor more than two and one-half years.

The applicant is twenty-seven years of age, an American citizen by birth, unmarried, and at the time of his arrest was employed in a restaurant in the City of Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, where he resided with his uncle.

The applicant was arrested on the street, October 21, 1922, by a member of the Harrisburg police force for peddling drugs. When arrested no drugs were found on his person, but it was claimed that the applicant sold drugs from a certain house which had at one time been rented and occupied by him. Three persons testified that they had purchased narcotic drugs from the applicant.

The applicant was one of a number of persons who were tried and convicted for this offense during a crusade in Harrisburg against drug peddlers.

The applicant has now served one year and ten months of his term of imprisonment. He was never before convicted of crime. Several persons who were convicted of similar offenses have been pardoned by this Board.

The District Attorney has filed with the Board a letter in which he states that the applicant has almost completed his minimum term of imprisonment. He further states that he believes that the Trial Judge would not have imposed so long a term of imprisonment had he known that the applicant would not serve out his term in the penitentiary, but would be transferred to the Dauphin County Prison. The District Attorney adds that he has no objection to clemency in this case.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the prior good record of the applicant, the term of imprisonment already served, because of the fact that others convicted of similar offenses in the Dauphin County Court about the same time have been pardoned by this Board, and in further consideration of the representations of the District Attorney, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released, he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Arthur Thompson alias Ott Thompson.

Sir: At No. 22, December Sessions, 1922, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Centre, George Harold Newman alias Harold Newman was convicted of larceny, and on December 13, 1922, was sentenced to pay a fine of $1.00, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Western State Penitentiary for a term of not less than two years and ten months nor more than three years.

The applicant is twenty-seven years of age and a native-born citizen of the United States. He is a coal miner by occupation, and at the time of his conviction was employed in a mine at Osceola Mills, Pa. He had a wife and two children, but his wife secured a divorce. He also has an aged mother and two brothers.

The applicant was arrested for the larceny of an automobile robe and other accessories from an automobile belonging to Ellis Wighaman, valued at $22.50, which were alleged to have been taken on the night of October 10, 1922. All of the articles were returned to the owner, and he suffered no loss.

The applicant has now served one year and eleven months of his term of imprisonment. His prison record is excellent.

Both the Trial Judge and Trial District Attorney have filed letters with the Board in which they recommend clemency.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the term of imprisonment already served, the need which his aged mother has of support, and because of the recommendations of the Trial Judge and Trial District Attorney, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At No. 367, November Sessions, 1921, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Luzerne, Michael Kovensky pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with statutory rape, and on December 15, 1921, was sentenced to pay a fine of $1.00, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a term of not less than seven and one-half years nor more than fifteen years.

The applicant is forty-nine years of age. He is of Polish descent, but a naturalized American citizen. He is a widower with five dependent children, and at the time of his arrest was employed as fireman in a colliery owned by G. B. Markle Company, and resided at Highland, Luzerne County, Pennsylvania.

The applicant's wife died in November, 1920, and he allowed a woman and her husband to occupy part of the house in which he and his children resided, with the understanding that the woman assist in the care of the children. This woman was negligent, made intoxicating beverages on the premises and had drinking parties in her home, until he notified the woman and her husband to vacate, which caused hostile feeling toward him and brought about his prosecution on the present charge.

He was charged with ravishing his stepdaughter, Anna, in December, 1921, and subsequently, she being at the time thirteen or fourteen years of age. The applicant, because of his scanty knowledge of the English language, was advised by the constable to plead guilty and attach his signature to a statement, believing that this would effect his release. The applicant's stepdaughter, Anna states that the assaults occurred while he was intoxicated. She filed with the Board an affidavit in which she makes this averment and asks that he be pardoned. A daughter, May, who was one of the chief witnesses against him at the trial, filed an affidavit with the Board in which she states that the testimony she gave at the trial was false, and that she was coached to testify by the woman in the house who wanted to put the applicant out of the way.

The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of crime. He has now served two years and eleven months of his term of imprisonment. During his incarceration his children have been maintained at public expense in the home of the United Charities, Hazleton, Pa.

M. Ethel May, Secretary of this organization, who appeared before the Board in behalf of the applicant, has agreed to become sponsor for his future good behavior, if liberated.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the prior good record of the applicant, the term of imprisonment already served, because of the fact that the applicant's small children are a public charge on the community, and require his support and maintenance, and in further consideration of the fact that the Secretary of the Charitable Organization which is supporting his children, has agreed to become sponsor for his future good behavior, we have concluded that the applicant has been sufficiently punished, and that if now liberated, he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At No. 249, January Sessions, 1924, in the Municipal Court of the City of Philadelphia, William Kinder pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with operating an automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor, and on February 21, 1924, was sentenced to pay costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Philadelphia County Prison for a term of six months. One month later the sentence was reconsidered by the Court, and the defendant discharged on parole for the remainder of his term.

The present application is made, not to secure his discharge, but in order to clear his record and to enable him to be reinstated in the fire department.

The applicant is an American citizen, of English descent and thirty-four years of age. His occupation at the time of his arrest was that of hoseman in the fire department of the City of Philadelphia, in which service he had been engaged from May 1, 1918, to the time of his arrest. He resides in the City of Philadelphia with his wife and three small children.

The applicant, on December 20, 1922, was driving a motor fire engine in response to an alarm of fire, and while turning a street corner the fire engine collided with an automobile which was parked on Germantown Avenue near Coulter Street. He was immediately arrested and held for court on the charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated. In January, 1924, he was tried by the Civil Service Commission of the City on three charges, to wit: Intoxication on duty, neglect of duty and inefficiency. The Commission found him guilty of the first charge and sentenced him to a fine of fifteen days pay, but he was restored to duty. He was subsequently suspended by the Commission and afterwards the case was reopened and continued in order that he might make application for pardon.

The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of crime. His wife and children require support and assistance. He has been out of prison eight months and his behavior has been excellent.

Assistant District Attorney Fox appeared before the Board and did not oppose pardon, although he intimated that the applicant should wait a year before asking clemency.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the prior good record of the applicant, the need which his family has for support and maintenance, and in further consideration of the fact that a pardon, if granted, will enable him to clear the record and probably lead to reinstatement in the fire department of Philadelphia, where his record, with this one exception, has been excellent, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now pardoned, he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said William Kinder.

Sir: At No. 432, November Sessions, 1923, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Allegheny, George DeBasi, Thomas Ziggers and Patrick O'Malley were jointly convicted of obstructing election officers, and DeBasi and O'Malley were convicted of taking and removing records in custody of the person having lawful charge thereof at an election. All of the defendants were recommended by the jury to the extreme mercy of the court, and on July 3, 1924, DeBasi was sentenced to pay a fine of $200, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Allegheny County Jail for a period of two years; Ziggers was sentenced pay a fine of $150, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Allegheny County Jail for a period of one year; and O'Malley was sentenced to pay a fine of $250, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Allegheny County Jail for a term of two years.

All of the above named defendants were tried and convicted for unlawfully attacking the Election Board of the Ninth Election District, Second Ward, in the City of Pittsburgh, and unlawfully and violently taking and carrying away from the polling place of said district the ballot box. This offense occurred on September 18, 1923, during the primary election, at which there was a bitter factional struggle and partisan feeling ran high.

The applicants were each about twenty-nine years of age, native-born citizens of the United States, and had been employed as mill-workers in the City of Pittsburgh where they had resided all their respective lives, with the exception of the time served overseas in the World War.

The applicants went to the polling place on the day in question about 7:30 P. M., in order to ascertain how the election had gone, and particularly with reference to the status of applicant DeBasi, who was a candidate for constable in said ward. Upon their entering the polling place a fight started between some of the election officers and others, and during the fight the furniture in the polling place was overturned, some of the unvoted ballots strewn on the floor and the ballot box carried out into the street.

The applicants have now served four months of their respective terms of imprisonment. They were never before charged with or convicted of crime.

Major Charles C. McGovern, Chairman of the Board of Registration Commissioners of the City of Pittsburgh, has filed with the Board a letter in which he, from his personal knowledge, reviewed the case of these applicants. He states that applicant O'Malley consulted him the day before the primary election with regard to the political situation in that district, and invoked his assistance in an endeavor to secure a fair count of the vote, there being rumors abroad that his faction in control of the Election Board would count out the faction to which the applicant belonged. He further states that the applicants went to the polling place, shortly after the polls closed, to demand an open count of the ballots. When applicant O'Malley made his demand for an open count, the Election Board peremptorily refused the request. An argument ensued and applicant O'Malley told his friends to get the ballot box and take it to the police station, which they proceeded to do. They were then seized and rushed before a Judge, belonging to the opposing faction, who acted as a committing magistrate, and the applicants were held for trial and convicted as before stated.

Major McGovern further states that the arrest and trial of these applicants was plotted by the opposing faction, and that they were railroaded to prison in order to put them out of the way, and to discourage any further effort to reform political conditions in a section of Pittsburgh notorious for violation of election laws.

James J. Kirby, for many years a police magistrate in the City of Pittsburgh, who is a man of substance and integrity, and well acquainted with the applicants and their environment, has offered to become sponsor for the future good conduct of the applicants, if released.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the prior good record of the applicants, the term of imprisonment already served, and because of the representations of Major McGovern, Chairman of the Board of Registration Commissioners, and the fact that a prominent and reputable citizen of Pittsburgh has agreed to become sponsor for their future good behavior, we have concluded that they have been sufficiently punished, and if now released, they will prove themselves peaceable and law-abiding citizens.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said George DeBasi, Thomas Ziggers and Patrick O'Malley.

Sir: At Nos. 91 and 92 April Sessions, 1921, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Lehigh, Wilton Steward Williams pleaded guilty to indictments charging him with breaking and entering, larceny and receiving stolen goods, and on May 2, 1921, was sentenced to pay a fine of $100.00, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a term of not less than five years nor more than six years.

The applicant is twenty-two years of age, a native-born American citizen, unmarried, and at the time of his conviction was a silk weaver by occupation and employed at the Adelaide Silk Mill, Allentown, in which city he resided with his mother.

In January, 1921, the applicant met one Russell Matz, who was considerably older than he and had a criminal record. He was nineteen years of age at the time and was persuaded to accompany Matz and one Samuel DeLong to Schnecksville, Lehigh County, where they broke into and robbed the general store of Squire Fusselman. About $105.00 in cash was taken from the store. The applicant never received any portion of the same, although Matz and DeLong promised to meet him on the following day in order to make a division. The applicant's conscience troubled him and he first confessed the crime to his brother-in-law, who notified the police authorities. A formal confession followed whereby Matz and DeLong were apprehended, convicted and sentenced to longer terms of imprisonment.

The applicant has now served three years and six months of his term of imprisonment. His prison record has been excellent. Matz who was the master mind in the commission of the crime, and who has had a criminal record, was pardoned by this Board in June, 1924.

A number of letters advocating clemency have been filed with the Board. The Trial Judge, the Mayor of Allentown, and the Police Department of that city recommend pardon. Conrad R. Williams (a brother of the applicant) and Charles E. Searle, both prominent and reputable citizens of Allentown, have offered to become sponsors for the applicant's future good conduct.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the fact that the applicant was only nineteen years of age when the crime was committed, and was influenced thereto by men older than himself with respect to age and criminality, that his aged and widowed mother requires his support, in further consideration of the recommendation of the Mayor of the City, the Trial Judge and others, and of the offer of Conrad R. Williams and Charles E. Searle, both of Allentown, to become sponsors for his future good conduct, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released, he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

Harrisburg, Pa., November 19, 1924.

Sir: At No. 552, April Sessions, 1924, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace, in and for the County of Philadelphia, John Gabrylewicz was convicted of the unlawful possession of liquor, and on September 5, 1924, was sentenced to pay costs and to serve a term of four months in the Philadelphia County Prison.

The applicant is about fifty years of age, a native of Poland, but a citizen of the United States, and has resided in the City of Philadelphia for more than twenty-five years. He has a wife, and one son twenty years of age.

At the time of his conviction the applicant was engaged in the retail furniture business in said city, and was also engaged in building. Lieutenant McGregor, of the Philadelphia Police Department, in a general clean-up of his district, obtained a search warrant to search the premises of the applicant which were partly used for business and partly for residence. On March 1, 1924, at 8:05 P. M., he searched the premises and seized ten gallons and two quarts of alcohol, six quarts of whiskey and a demijohn of wine, nearly empty. The applicant in his defense testified that he used the alcohol on his furniture, that it gave a brighter, clearer and better finish than denatured alcohol, and that he kept and used the alcohol only for the purposes of his business and not for beverage purposes. He further testified that he had had the whiskey for a long period of time. Four witnesses testified that they had known the applicant, for a long period of time, that they, and each of them, had several times seen him use part of the alcohol, which was seized, on the furniture in his store.

The applicant was never before charged with or convicted of crime. His reputation in the community was excellent. He has now served two and one-half months of his term of imprisonment. His health has become seriously impaired as a result of his incarceration as shown by the letter from the attending physician on file. His business has been materially injured by the same cause. His family is unable to conduct the business and cannot afford to employ a competent person to operate the store, and also requires his support and maintenance.

While a representative of the District Attorney's office appeared before the Board his objection to clemency was perfunctory and formal in character.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the prior good record of the applicant, the term of imprisonment already served, the impaired physicial and financial condition of the applicant, and the need which his family has for support and maintenance, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released, he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said John Gabrylewicz.

Sir: At No. 273, May Sessions, 1920, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Philadelphia, John F. O'Handley alias John Hollis alias John Kelly was convicted of robbery, and on May 20, 1920, was sentenced to pay costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a term of not less than nine years nor more than ten years.

The applicant is thirty-nine years of age, a native-born citizen of the United States, a painter by occupation, unmarried, and resided with his parents in the City of Boston, Massachusetts.

On May 7, 1920, during the daylight hours, while out of employment, the applicant and one James Coffey, a stranger with whom he had been drinking, stopped a delivery wagon, the property of M. H. McCloskey, provision dealer, at 924 Spring Garden Street, Philadelphia, driven by Fred Setter. Placing Setter in fear by threats of bodily harm, the applicant and Coffey forced him to turn over to them the sum of $107.00. No violence was done Setter, and the amount taken from him was immediately recovered through the speedy capture of both offenders.

The applicant has served four years and six months of his term of imprisonment. His prior record is good, with the exception of the commission of a minor offense in Boston in 1919. Coffey, his accomplice, received a like sentence, and in January, 1924, was pardoned by this Board.

A representative of the District Attorney's office was present at the meeting of the Board and indicated a favorable disposition to clemency. M. H. McCloskey, whose delivery wagon was robbed, filed a letter with the Board in which he strongly urges pardon.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the term of imprisonment already served, the fact that the applicant's accomplice, who received a like sentence, was pardoned by this Board almost a year ago, and the fact that the prosecutor in the case recommends clemency, and the District Attorney's office is not unfavorable, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released, he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At No. 409, February Sessions, 1918, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Philadelphia, John Olson was convicted of entering with intent to steal, and on April 19, 1918, was sentenced to pay costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a term of not less than five years and six months nor more than six years.

The applicant is a native of Poland and thirty-two years of age. He has taken out his first papers for naturalization as an American citizen. He is a mechanic by occupation, and at the time of his arrest was employed at Hog Island, Philadelphia, as an iron work helper. He resided in that City. He is a widower and has a daughter six years of age, and a mother whom he supports.

On February 3, 1918, at 11:00 P. M., the applicant was beaten and arrested in an alley running eastward from Sixth Street, north of Arch, in the City of Philadelphia, in the rear of a building, wherein Israel Blank, trading as Excelsior Waste Company had a factory. The only incriminating testimony produced against him at the trial was by one police officer who testified that when arrested the applicant was in said alley, and falsely testified that the applicant admitted that he had entered the building, but the officer acknowledged that no goods were found in the applicant's possession. As a matter of fact, the applicant was walking north on Sixth Street when an officer, moving southward on said street, opened a fusilade of shots, and the applicant entered the alley in order to escape the shots when the officer brutally assaulted him, necessitating three days treatment in a hospital.

The applicant's trial was called hastily and he did not have the opportunity to properly consult with counsel or to secure witnesses in his behalf. He was the only witness in his own behalf. The jury had difficulty in arriving at a verdict, and while he was found guilty of entering, he was acquitted on the charges of larceny and receiving stolen goods.

The applicant having served his minimum sentence, to wit, five years and six months, was paroled. Since his release, one year and two months ago, he has been engaged in business in a small way in the City of Philadelphia, and is conducting himself as a decent and law-abiding citizen.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the term of imprisonment already served, the fact that since his release he has conducted himself as a decent, law-abiding citizen, and in consideration of the fact that his small child and mother require his support, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and should be relieved from the stigma of his conviction, and that if released he will deport himself as a good and law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At No. 125, March Sessions, 1919, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Philadelphia, William Allen alias Willie Allen was convicted of highway robbery, and on April 20, 1919, was sentenced to pay costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a term of not less than nine years and eleven months nor more than ten years.

The applicant is twenty-eight years of age, a native-born American citizen and by occupation a cook, employed by the Old Dominion Steamship Line operating boats between New York and Norfolk, Virginia. He is unmarried.

The applicant, and one Gilbert Taylor, were jointly charged by John Wright with having held him up at the point of a gun on the streets of Philadelphia, in March, 1919, and robbing him of a pocket book containing $65.00. Subsequently in June, 1924, Wright, who was then on parole from the penitentiary, in the presence of a member of the County Detective Force and applicant's attorney, acknowledged that no money was taken from him by the applicant and his companion Taylor, and that no money was lost, because during the hold-up he threw the money at random in the street and subsequently returned to the spot and found it lying there. He further stated that three men held him up, but was unable to identify the applicant as one of these men.

The applicant has now served five years and eight months of his term of imprisonment. He was never before charged with or convicted of crime. He was only twenty-three years of age when sentenced. He has already served more than his minimum term of imprisonment.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the real doubt as to the guilt of the applicant, his prior good record, the comparative youth of the applicant when the crime was committed, and the term of imprisonment already served, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released, he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At No. 736, December Term, 1920, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Philadelphia, George Connelly pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with burglary, entering in the night, without breaking, with intent to commit a felony, and receiving stolen goods, and on January 4, 1921, was sentenced to pay costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a term of not less than five years nor more than seven years.

The applicant is thirty-one years of age, a native-born American citizen, a painter by occupation and at the time of his arrest was employed and resided in the City of Philadelphia, with his wife and one child aged eight years.

On December 11, 1920, the applicant and one Ezra Hawkins, being intoxicated, entered the residence of one Weiner by breaking a glass in the front door. While they were ransacking the house it was surrounded by police officers who demanded that they come out. Hawkins escaped through a back window and was captured. The applicant tried to escape by jumping out of a rear window on the second story, but was caught in the yard. Hawkins was committed to the Huntingdon Reformatory, and on November 21, 1922, was discharged. On account of the overcrowded condition of the penitentiary, the applicant was subsequently transferred to the Northampton County Prison where he now is.

The applicant has served four years of his term of imprisonment. His prison record is excellent, and the Northampton County Prison authorities recommend clemency. He has served two years more than his accomplice.

A representative of the District Attorney's office appeared before the Board, but did not oppose clemency.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the term of imprisonment already served, the need which his family have of support and maintenance, and the recommendation of the prison authorities, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released, he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At No. 205, March Sessions, 1924, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Schuylkill, nthony Skumer pleaded guilty to an indictment charging im with burglary at night, and larceny, and on March 3, 924, was sentenced to pay a fine of $25.00, costs and to ndergo imprisonment in the Schuylkill County Prison for term of not less than two years nor more than four years.

The applicant is twenty-five years of age, a native-born merican citizen, a laborer by occupation, unmarried, and the time of his arrest resided in Shenandoah.

The applicant broke a lock on the window of the O'Haren ome in Shenandoah during the month of February, 1924, nd affected an entrance between eight and ten o'clock in e evening. No one was in the house when the entry was ade. In the morning various articles, valued at about 100.00, were found to be missing. The applicant was found rowling about the neighborhood some days later and ap- rehended. He confessed that he had taken the articles rom the O'Haren home and went with the officers to his ome where he had concealed most of the stolen goods, which ere recovered and returned, none having been disposed of the applicant.

The applicant served overseas during the World War, and as shellshocked and gassed while in the service, as the re- ult of which both his physical and mental condition have een seriously impaired. Upon his discharge from the serv- e he was confined in a Veterans' Hospital in Philadelphia, nd later in a Government Hospital in Perryville, Maryland, ntil August, 1923. His mental condition is such, that the edical officers of the United States Veterans' Bureau rated im as totally and permanently disabled, and he was granted mpensation at the rate of $100.00 per month. In October, 922, in the Court of Common Pleas of Schuylkill County, fter hearing, he was adjudged incompetent, by reason of ental deficiency, to care for himself and the Court ap- ointed a guardian. The Veterans' Bureau is interested the applicant, regards him as mentally irresponsible, and aims that he should be confined in a hospital for medical reatment and are willing to assume charge of him at the aint Elizabeth's Hospital, Washington, D. C.

The applicant has now served nine months of his term of mprisonment. He appears to be as mentally irresponsible s when he committed the crime, and requires medical treat- ent in a Government Hospital, which has been placed at is disposal.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the ental irresponsibility of the applicant, the fact that if re- ased he will receive the necessary care and attention which e requires in a Government Hospital, we have concluded at he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now re- ased, he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citi- en.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, nd in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now ranted to the said Anthony Skumer.

Sir: At No. 22, February Sessions, 1923, in the Court Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Northamp- n, Frank Putnik pleaded guilty to the charge of voluntary anslaughter, and on June 14, 1923, was sentenced to pay fine of $25.00, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the orthampton County Prison for a period of five years, to computed from February 9, 1923.

The applicant is 36 years of age, a native and citizen of ungary. He is a laborer by occupation, and at the time his arrest was employed as a teamster by the Alpha Portland Cement Company at Martins Creek, where he resided with his wife and one stepdaughter aged five years. The applicant and Steve Kovach were both teamsters in the employ of the above named company. There had been bad blood between them. On one occasion, at Kovach's house during a physical encounter, Kovach struck the applicant with a blunt instrument which caused an injury permanently impairing his hearing. On several occasions Kovach had come to the applicant's house during his absence and made insulting and indecent remarks to his wife. About a week before the crime was committed, Kovach purchased a revolver, and in the evening fired a number of shots from his back porch. The applicant, believing that the shots were intended for him, erected an iron screen or shield to protect himself and wife when they were on their porch or in their back yard, the two houses being separated by two other houses. The applicant was an industrious and sober workman, while Kovach was known as a dangerous man, was quarrelsome, violent and a drunkard. On the night of the crime the applicant, and one Solomon, went to get some coal, and on their way met Kovach returning with his son. The applicant struck Kovach on the head with a stick and knocked him down. Kovach returned to his home where he lapsed into unconsciousness. He was taken to the hospital and died that night, his skull having been fractured. Solomon and the applicant were both tried and convicted and received a like sentence.

The applicant has now served one year and ten months of his term of imprisonment. He was never before charged with or convicted of crime. His mental condition has become seriously affected by his confinement.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, and the events culminating in the tragedy, the prior good record of the applicant, and the term of imprisonment already served, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released, he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Frank Putnik.

Sir: At Nos. 19, 20, 21, 22 and 24, April Sessions, 1921, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Venango, Wayne Ross alias Benjamin Wayne Ross pleaded guilty to the charges of burglary, larceny and receiving stolen goods, and on April 28, 1921, was sentenced in the aggregate to pay a fine of $5.00, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Western State Penitentiary for a term of not less than seven years nor more than eight years and nine months.

The applicant is thirty-five years of age and a native-born American citizen. For several years prior to his arrest he worked as a fireman and brakeman on the Pennsylvania railroad, and at the time of his arrest was employed as a chauffeur in Oil City, Pennsylvania, in which city he resided with his wife and two children, aged two and four years respectively.

The applicant was jointly indicted with Steve Horn and Don Mook for robbing a freight car of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, and robbing various individuals. He required money to support his family, fell into bad company, and became implicated in these crimes. The only stolen goods found in his possession at the time of his arrest was flour, and condensed milk for his baby.

The applicant has now served three years and eight months of his term of imprisonment. He was never before charged with or convicted of crime. His prison record has been excellent. His family are in need of his support.

The private prosecutor in this case has filed a letter with the Board in which he states that the applicant's prior record had been excellent, and that his downfall was due to evil companions, that he is entitled to clemency because he confessed his crimes, told where the stolen goods could be found, and assisted the officers in their recovery. The Trial District Attorney has also filed a letter with the Board in which he strongly recommends pardon.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the term of imprisonment already served, the prior good record of the applicant, his excellent prison record, the need which his family have of support and assistance, and above all, because of the recommendation of the private prosecutor and Trial District Attorney, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released, he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At No.———, January Sessions, 1921, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in and for the County of Chester, H. Winfield Bourne pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with larceny, and on December 20, 1921, was sentenced to pay a fine of $500.00, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a term of not less than five years nor more than ten years.

The applicant is twenty-three years of age, a native-born American citizen, and at the time of his arrest was employed as a salesman by Atwell and Jones, who were engaged in selling novelties and specialties. He is unmarried and resided with his parents in Atlantic City, New Jersey.

On October 18, 1920, George Alden Bruce, hired a taxicab in Philadelphia to take himself, the applicant and Leona O'Toole, to Coatesville where they met Arnold Reick and Elizabeth Malloy. While the five were returning to Philadelphia, Bruce, who was riding on the front seat with the Chauffeur, flashed a gun and caused the chauffeur to abandon the car, although the latter was not injured or robbed. The applicant had no knowledge of Bruce's intention to steal the car, and in fear accompanied the party which, instead of returning to Philadelphia as had been planned, drove southward until finally at Dublin, Georgia, the car was placed in a garage, and they were all arrested and returned to Chester County for trial. Bruce, who was the ring-leader in the affair, was pardoned by this Board in October, 1923, and Reick was pardoned in April, 1924.

The applicant has now served three years of his term of imprisonment. He was never before charged with or convicted of crime. He was only nineteen years old when the automobile was stolen, and had no knowledge of Bruce's plan. When he was confronted with the choice of leaving the party upon the chauffeur's abandoning the car or to continue with the party, he chose the latter course. He has been a model prisoner and has become adept in the operation of a linotype machine. The prison authorities recommend clemency.

In consideration of the circumstances of this case, the youth of the applicant when the crime was committed, his prior good record, his excellent prison record and the term of imprisonment already served, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released, he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At Nos. 208, 209 and 210, June Sessions, 1923, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Dauphin, Robert Chenoweth waived the finding of true bills by the grand jury and pleaded guilty to charges of unlawful possession and sale of drugs, and on August 20, 1923, was sentenced to pay a fine of $1,000, costs, and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for a term of not less than two and one-half years nor more than five years.

The applicant is thirty-six years of age, a native-born citizen of the United States, an advertising agent by occupation, and at the time of his arrest was employed in the shipping room of the Central Iron and Steel Works, Harrisburg, in which city he resided with his wife.

The applicant for many years has been a drug addict. After his release from the Dauphin County Jail in 1922, having served a sentence of six months on a similar charge, he regained his health and secured a responsible position. While thus employed he contracted a severe cold which reduced his vitality to such an extent that his physician administered morphine in order to aid his recovery. He had not used or handled narcotic drugs since his discharge from prison and was endeavoring to effect a permanent cure. As a result of the administering of morphine by the physician, he relapsed into the drug habit, and finally on July 24, 1924, voluntarily surrendered himself to the police authorities. After serving a short time in the Eastern State Penitentiary he was, on account of the overcrowded condition in that institution, returned to the Dauphin County Jail, to complete his sentence, where he is now incarcerated.

He has now served one year and four months of his term of imprisonment. His health is excellent and he claims to be permanently cured of the drug habit.

The Trial District Attorney has filed with the Board a letter in which he states that he does not object to a pardon in this case for the reason, had the Court known that the applicant would have been imprisoned in the County Jail instead of the Penitentiary, he would not have imposed so long a sentence. The Trial Judge communicated with a member of this Board and stated that the sentence in this case was unusually severe and that he would be glad to see Executive clenency extended to the applicant.

A number of other persons who were sentenced by the Dauphin County Court for similar offenses, under like circumstances, have already been pardoned.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the time of imprisonment already served, the fact that other persons sentenced for similar offenses, under like circumstances, have been pardoned, and because of the recommendation of the Trial Judge and the statements of the Trial Judge and the statement of the Trial District Attorney, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

We, therefore, "after full hearing, upon due public notice, and in open sessions", recommend that a pardon be now granted to the said Robert Chenoweth.

Sir: At No. 110, June Sessions, 1917, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Cambria, Patrick Carrig waived the finding of a true bill by the grand jury and pleaded guilty to the charges of entering a bank and building with intent to commit a felony by use of explosives, and larceny, and on June 15, 1917, was sentenced to pay a fine of $500.00, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Western State Penitentiary for a term of not less than ten years nor more than twelve years.

The applicant is 39 years of age, a native-born citizen of the United States, a coal miner by occupation and at the time of his arrest was employed in and about the mines at Cresson, Pennsylvania, where he resided with his wife and five children, all under age.

On the evening of May 1, 1917, the applicant and a friend went to Lilly to witness a patriotic celebration. After their arrival in Lilly they went to a hotel and began drinking. While there, they met four strangers, with whom they drank, and the applicant became intoxicated. He remained with the four strangers, and about midnight one of the number, the leader, declared that they had planned to rob the First National Bank of Lilly, and outlined the procedure. Two of the men were to enter the bank, dynamite the vault, while three, including the applicant, were to remain outside on guard. Loaded shot guns were given to each of the guards. The robbery was carried out as planned. After the men came out of the bank with the money in sacks, the party separated and three of the number, including the applicant, reached Cresson without capture. Several days later the applicant was arrested. The leader of the enterprise escaped and has never been apprehended. All of the money in the applicant"s possession, when arrested, to wit, $204.00 was returned to the bank.

The applicant has now served seven and one-half years. His prison record is excellent, and the Trustees recommend clemency. He took an active part in the suppression of a serious riot and fire which occurred in the penitentiary, July 18, 1921.

The Trial District Attorney filed a letter with the Board in which he states that the applicant was a "victim of circumstances", and while not recommending clemency expresses no opposition thereto.

The cashier of the bank, which was robbed, filed a letter with the Board in which he states that the Directors of the bank, at a meeting, considered their attitude with respect to a pardon in this case and that their opinion was that the applicant had been sufficiently punished, and that they would not oppose pardon.

Judge McCann filed a letter in which he states that he has known the applicant for many years, and that his present trouble was due to the excessive use of intoxicants; that he is not a criminal, but weak and easily influenced. He declares that the applicant has been sufficiently punished and ought to be pardoned.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the term of imprisonment already served, the good prison record of the applicant and his activity in the suppression of a serious riot and fire in the penitentiary, because of the statements of the Trial District Attorney, Judge McCann, the directors of the bank, which was robbed, and the recommendation of the trustees, and in further consideration of the fact that five children, all under age, require the support and supervision of a father, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished, and that if now released, he will prove himself a peaceable and law-abiding citizen.

Sir: At Nos. 25 and 31, April Sessions, 1921, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Elk, Joe Zampogna pleaded guilty to two indictments charging him with receiving stolen goods, and on October 8, 1921, was sentenced in the aggregate to pay a fine of $10.00, costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Western State Penitentiary for a term of not less than five years nor more than six years. The applicant is about twenty-seven years of age, of Italian descent, but a naturalized citizen of the United States. At the time of his arrest he was foreman in the paper mill of the New York and Pennsylvania Paper Company, located at Johnsonburg, Pennsylvania. He bears an honorable discharge from the United States Army after serving overseas in the World War.

One Raymond Rank committed several robberies in the Borough of Ridgway. The applicant had no connection whatever with the robberies, but purchased the stolen goods from Rank, not knowing that they had been stolen. When he discovered the fact he neglected to communicate with the police authorities and apprise them of the robbery and of his possession of the stolen goods. He made complete restitution to the owners of the stolen goods, in one case paying the sum of $1,000, and in the other about $250.00.

He has now served three years and two months of his term of imprisonment. He was never before charged with or convicted of crime.

The Trial District Attorney, Associate Judge Beck, the two prosecutors, the Sheriff of the County, one of the County Commissioners, the Postmaster of Ridgway, and the General Superintendent of the Valley Railroad Company, all filed letters with the Board recommending clemency. The applicant's former employers have promised to give him a responsible position, if released.

In consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the term of imprisonment already served, the prior good record of the applicant, the strong recommendations of the Trial District Attorney, the Associate Judge and other men in responsible positions, because of the recommendation of the prosecutors, and the fact that the applicant's former employers will reinstate him in a responsible position, we have concluded that he has been sufficiently punished and that if now released, he will prove himself a useful and law-abiding citizen.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY:

I have the honor to present to the General Assembly the second Budget in the history of this Commonwealth. This Budget is based on estimated revenues from tax laws now in effect, and it balances. In spite of collections of revenue in the present biennium falling millions below estimates, the Budget affords a complete balance between income and outgo in the coming two years.

The Budget does not include receipts in the coming two years from the emergency gasoline or the emergency profits taxes, both of which expire by limitation with this fiscal biennium.

It gives the items of the inherited debt and the details which prove that four-fifths of it had already been paid on November 1, 1924, and that the rest will be paid or contracted for by June 1st next. It shows that the State is already able to pay its current debts as they fall due. We are back on a substantial pay-as-you-go basis.

In a word, the State of Pennsylvania is once more solvent, and the mess brought upon this Commonwealth by the muddled practices of politicians has been cleaned up. This is the direct result of the reorganization and fiscal control established under the Administrative Code.

We have been so fortunate in the allotment of the money available for the present biennium, and the fiscal control has been so effective, that deficiency appropriations have practically disappeared. They have been reduced to a total of less than $200,000, or one-sixth of one per cent. of the total appropriations.

During this fiscal biennium the State will spend from the General Fund as estimated by the spending agencies a total of $136,380,026.75. Of this amount $28,377,277.49 will be on account of the old current debt of June 1, 1923, and $108,002,749.26 will be from the appropriations made by the Legislature of 1923. The total estimated expenditures from all sources in this biennium will be $211,154,000.

It is worth noting that in the present Budget the estimates of current operating expenses for every Department responsible to the Governor under the General Fund except the new Department of Welfare are still below the appropriations for the same purpose made by the Legislature of 1921.

The important increases recommended go direct to indemnities for tubercular cattle, to welfare institutions, and to subsidies for common schools. The latter call for $20,000,000 more in the next two years than was appropriated for that purpose by the Legislature of 1921.

You will find in the Budget a statement of actual expenditures by this Commonwealth in the biennium before the present; a statement of actual and estimated expenditures in the present biennium, now more than three-fourths over; and a forecast of expenditures for the coming biennium, based on the allotment of revenues estimated to be produced by tax laws now in effect, not including the emergency taxes. The basis for comparison thus supplied covers six years or three fiscal bienniums.

You will also find comments after many of the items which contain information as to additional and future needs of the Commonwealth, and a ten year building program. This is a new feature in budgets, and I hope will be found of use.

The basis for the estimate of revenue adopted by the Administration, which estimate is different from that of the Auditor General, and the reasons for that difference, are given in detail.

THE INHERITED DEBT

In presenting the Budget to the Legislature two years ago, I estimated that the appropriation liability on June 1, 1923, would be $29,000,000. This current debt was made up: 1. Of deficiency appropriations needed to cover unauthorized expenditures for the two years ending June 1, 1923; 2. Of appropriations by the Legislature of 1921 or previous Legislatures still unpaid as of June 1, 1923. Now that all the figures are available, it appears that the appropriation liability thus estimated was actually not $29,000,000 but $30,573,746.35.

If we add to the total of all unpaid continuing appropriations on June 1, 1923, which was $25,250,066.87, $6,604,361.76 of deficiency appropriations paid after June 1st out of the income of this biennium we have a total actual current debt of $31,854,425.63 on June 1, 1923. Of this total, $1,280,679.28 is estimated to lapse leaving a net actual current debt as of June 1, 1923, of $30,573,746.35.

Of this amount, $28,377,277.49 either has been or will be paid before June 1, 1925, and $2,196,468.86 will be under contract for payment shortly after that date. Thus the total appropriation liability which this Administration inherited, first estimated at $29,000,000 but actually more than a million and a half larger, will all be paid or contracted for within this biennium, and this in spite of the deficiency in revenue collection.

In wiping out this old debt of $30,573,746.35 we have paid off obligations due and unpaid for as long as fifteen years. This paid debt includes $6,872.28 due since 1909, $18,797.35 due since 1911, $59,236.44 due since 1913, $46,615.12 due since 1915, $548,567.59 due since 1917, and $3,383,066.25 due since 1919.

I have said that we are paying off this inherited debt at the rate of $40,000 every working day. Divide the $28,377,277.49, actually paid or that will be paid before June 1st, by the 600 working days in the two years, and you have an actual payment on these old debts of $47,295.46 for every working day.

DEFICIENCY APPROPRIATIONS

The Legislature of 1921 passed deficiency bills totaling $7,071,188.77. The Legislature of 1923 passed deficiency bills totaling $5,812,547.14. The present Budget carries deficiencies to a total of but $177,163.19, or less than one-thirtieth of the deficiencies of two years ago. The total amount which was appropriated by the last Legislature, but is estimated to be unspent and to lapse as of June 1st, next, is $1,416,495,99. This is nearly eight times as much as all deficiencies in this Budget.

ESTIMATES OF REVENUE

In November, 1922, the Auditor General estimated the income in the General Fund for the present fiscal biennium at $112,000,000. In December, 1922, he estimated it at $115,000,000, including the anthracite tax. In May, 1923, he estimated it at $119,000,000, exclusive of the anthracite tax then in litigation. In June, 1923, he estimated it at $124,000,000, including the anthracite tax. In eight months the Auditor General increased his estimate of receipts in the General Fund from $112,000,000 to $124,000,000, or a disparity in estimates of $12,000,000 within eight months.

On November 26, 1924, four weeks after the last date set by law for the receipt of estimates, the Budget Officers received from the Auditor General his estimate of income for the present and for the succeeding fiscal bienniums. The Auditor General's estimates for receipts in the General Fund for the biennium 1925-27, exclusive of all gasoline and emergency profits tax, was $117,062,500. The same tax laws will produce on his own estimate in the present biennium $120,714,406. This is a net decrease for the coming two years of about $3,700,000.

In the face of our increasing prosperity this estimate of reduced revenue could not pass unquestioned. Moreover, for the last twenty years and more the receipts in the General Fund have uniformly increased from one biennium to the next. Accordingly, under the authority given me by law, I directed that an examination of these estimates be made. This inquiry was made by McGee & Co., Certified Public Accountants of Philadelphia.

The examination raised further questions concerning the Auditor General's estimates of revenue. For example, it showed that his estimates of receipts from interest on bank deposits of General Funds was $125,057.10 for the present fiscal biennium. But during the first eighteen months of this same biennium receipts from this source totaling $161,262.39 had already been collected. In other words, the actual collections of eighteen months, within four days from the end of which the Auditor General's estimate was made, were $36,205.29 greater than his estimate for the twenty-four months of which the eighteen months are a part.

Again the Auditor General estimated that the General Fund would receive from the tax on building and loan stock for the present twenty-four months $83,739.84. But there was actually collected in the first eighteen months of that period $86,190.64.

In the same way the Auditor General's estimate ($112,001.60 of what fines will bring in during the twenty-four months of this biennium is $38,412.75 less than was actually collected ($151,404.35), during the first eighteen months; while his estimate for receipts from fines in the twenty-four months of the coming biennium was $50,000 less than was actually collected in the first eighteen months of the present biennium.

Unfortunately the effect of inaccuracies such as these is strengthened, when the Auditor General estimates that the tax on insurance premiums, which he does not collect, will bring in about a million and a half less than the Department which does collect it says it will bring in.

Because the Auditor General denied to McGee & Co. the data he had used in making his estimates of receipts for the next biennium, they were forced to prepare their estimates on the basis of actual cash receipts for a period of years. Their report is printed in full in this Budget.

The result of this inquiry is to show beyond question that a safe and conservative estimate for all General Fund receipts (including the ordinary gasoline tax and certain deferred collections from the emergency taxes) in the next biennium will be $132,850,000, or $8,850,000 more than the $124,000,000 estimated from these sources by the Auditor General. This is less than three-fourths of the increase the Auditor General himself made in his own estimates within eight months two years ago. I have, therefore, adopted the sum of $132,850,000 as a reasonable and conservative estimate of the normal revenues to be expected in the General Fund during the next two years on the basis of present tax laws, assuming that the emergency taxes will expire.

The receipts from the ordinary gasoline tax during the next biennium are estimated at $4,812,500. Since the Budget recommends that all receipts from this tax be transferred to the Motor Fund, $4,812,00 must be subtracted from the amount of $132,850,000, estimated by McGee and Company as income available in the General Fund for the next biennium. This leaves $128,037,500 for General Fund uses. The Budget is made on this basis.

From this $128,000,000 we must still further deduct under-collections in this biennium of not quite $6,000,000 and continuing appropriations of about $2,000,000, leaving $120,000,000 (exactly $120,211,998.45) available for appropriations by the Legislature of 1925 for the next biennium. The sums recommended in the Budget total $120,211.464.

SPECIAL FUNDS

No suggestion is here made for change in the provisions of existing laws relating to such special funds as those for fish and game propagation and for banking inspection. These self-sustaining activities not only relieve the general taxpayer but also supply a sound reason for the fees and licenses which sustain each fund. The Budget accounts in as great detail for expenditures from these funds as it does for expenditures from the General Fund.

REVENUE COLLECTIONS

The problem of financing the State has been complicated by the failure of the Auditor General to collect by several millions the amount he estimated would be produced by the emergency profits tax. On June 11, 1923, the Auditor General wrote me that he estimated the receipts from the emergency profits tax at $8,000,000 for one year, or $16,-000,000 for the biennium. This estimate, which was also given to the Chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means, appeared to be excessive.

Accordingly I asked the Secretary of the Commonwealth for his estimate, which was based on the examination of Federal income tax returns. Upon this basis he reported probable receipts of not over $10,000,000. That estimate was approved by the Auditor General in his letter of June 29, 1923, as "logical, comprehensive, and conservative". I was therefore justified in counting upon receipts of that amount.

In place of receipts of $16,000,000 according to the Auditor General's own estimate, or of $10,000,000 according to the later estimate approved by him, his estimate of November 26, 1924, shows a total of but $3,030,460.52 to be collected in the present biennium from the emergency profits tax, and $2,125,000.00 in the next biennium. Had the Auditor General Collected the $10,000,000 of the estimate approved by him—to say nothing of the $16,000,000 of his own estimate—the Commonwealth would have completed the present two years with a cash balance of $3,600,000.

LAW ENFORCEMENT

An item of $500,000 for law enforcement is included in the estimate for the Department of Justice. The reasons for it will be described in a future message to the General Assembly.

EDUCATION

In the last biennium there was paid out of the General Fund for educational purposes $42,346,288, or 41 percent of the General Fund of that biennium. In the present two years the State will spend from the General Fund for educational purposes $57,683,475, or 46.9 percent of the General Fund of this biennium. The Budget recommends $65,640,-263, or 52.2 per cent of the General Fund for the next biennium. Including special funds and Federal aid, the amount recommended for the coming biennium is $67,582,-342, or six dollars for the education of our children where we spent one dollar twenty years ago. This is as it should be.

The normal school is the foundation of our public school system. Pennsylvania normal schools can supply only about half the new teachers needed each year to keep our schools going They must have help.

For this biennium the appropriation for maintenance was the same as that of 1921-23. The present Budget adds a total of two and a half million dollars to normal school appropriations. Of the amount one-half million is for increased maintenance due to increased attendance, one-half million for necessary repairs and for equipment, and one and one-half million dollars for new construction.

SCHOOL EMPLOYES RETIREMENT BOARD

This is a trust fund for the payment of pensions to teachers who have served the State for ten years or more and who are over 62 years of age. Half the cost is paid by the school teachers, one-quarter by the School Districts, and one-quarter by the State.

The total appropriation carried in the Budget for the School Employes Retirement Funds is $5,490,000. The amount recommended will, for the first time since the Funds were begun, meet in full the State's obligations to the teachers of Pennsylvania.

There is a special reason for appropriating the full amount recommended. The actuaries of the Funds have recommended that the percentage of the total pay rolls for past services to be paid into the Funds be reduced from 5.6% to 4% on the sole condition that the State hereafter shall make promptly all payments due. A bill to make this reduction possible will be presented. Its passage will save the State $1,025,000 in each biennium hereafter and will save the school districts an equal amount.

AGRICULTURE

The Budget carries a total of $2,933,563 for the coming biennum, or an increase of about $1,000,000, most of which goes to increase the amount available for paying indemnities on tubercular cattle. Pennsylvania ranks third among all the States in the value of her dairy products, sixth in the number of dairy cows, and only fourteenth in the number of cattle under supervision for the prevention and eradication of tuberculosis. If we allow this condition to continue we shall lose our market for dairy products to other States. New York, for example, is appropriating $4,000,000 in one year for this purpose. The longer this work is postponed the more it will cost.

HIGHWAYS

At present the State's share of the gasoline taxes goes into the General Fund. It should, in my judgment, go to the Highway Department. The receipts from motor license fees are increasing rapidly. They should, in my judgment, carry the interest and sinking fund payments on penses of maintaining the highways of the State. The highway bonds, since these are part of the legitimate ex-Budget, accordingly, recommends that all gasoline tax receipts shall, after June 1st next, be paid into the motor license fund, and that all expenses of maintaining highways, including interest and sinking fund payments on highway bonds, shall be met from that fund in the next biennium.

Including the proceeds from the two highway bond issues and the ordinary gasoline tax, the Highway Department will have from all sources to spend in the construction and maintenance of highways in this Commonwealth during the next biennium an estimated amount of $100,-066,025. Of this amount there will still be expended from the General Fund $2,406,961.

WELFARE

The Budget recommends a total increase in appropriations from the General Fund for welfare institutions of $4,500,000. This is the largest increase for any purpose except for schools. In the last biennium, $19,700,518 was spent from the General Fund for welfare purposes; $17,-794,638 is being spent in the present biennium; and $22,-269,100 is carried in the Budget for the next biennium. We are now spending from the State Treasury for welfare purposes three dollars for every dollar spent twenty years ago.

The Budget carries an increase of $280,000 for State-aided hospitals. I call special attention to the fact that instead of suffering from the reduction of appropriations necessarily made during the present biennium, these institutions are spending far more money and treating far more patients than ever before in the history of the State. To assert that they have decreased their service to the poor in these two years is a direct perversion of the facts.

The appropriations to these hospitals for this biennium were, for the first time, based on actual service rendered. They were made to individual institutions, some of which rendered service up to the full amount, and some did not. But there is no way for those which have a surplus to assist those which have not. As a result about $100,000 will remain unexpended. The Budget recommends a lump sum appropriation so that the whole amount intended for these institutions may actually be used by them.

The present Budget carries $4,275,000 for penal and correctional institutions, including $1,000,000 toward a new Eastern Penitentiary. It carries a total of $9,480,000 for State Hospitals and schools for mental defectives, an increase of not quite $2,000,000.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT

I desire to pay my grateful acknowledgment to the men and women, many thousands in number, who have contributed to the results here set forth, and especially to the executive officers in control who have cheerfully and unselfishly subordinated the immediate interests of their own particular work to the permanent advantage of the whole Commonwealth. In spite of reduced appropriations, they have rendered to the people of the State more varied and more useful service than was ever before given by their public servants in an equal time. Their record reflects high honor upon them.

PAY AS YOU GO

In conclusion it is no more than fair to say that the financial condition of the State is better than it has been for years. During the calendar year 1922 the bills on hand in the Treasury of this Commonwealth in excess of cash on hand, and due and unpaid for want of cash, averaged more than $13,000,000 at the end of each month. During the calendar year 1923 they averaged $6,100,000, or less than half. During the calendar year 1924 they averaged but $898,000, or about one-fifteenth of what they were when this Administration took office. The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has reached a place where it can pay its obligations substantially on the nail.

TABLE VII

GOVERNMENTAL COST PAYMENTS 1921-1927 BY MAIN FUNCTIONS

Appropriations are not identical with expenditures as the sums appropriated for a given purpose may not be spent in the biennial period for which appropriated. The following table presents the actual cost payments by main functions for the bienniums 1921-23 and 1923-25 and for 1925-27 as carried in this budget. In these governmental cost payments are included: (1) payments from appropriations by current legislatures for expenditures of that biennium: (2) payments from continuing appropriations in the biennium in which actually expended; (3) deficiency appropriations are included in the biennium in which the costs were incurred. These governmental cost payments are therefore the actual cost payments as reported by spending agencies in the biennium given regardless of the session of the legislature making the appropriation.

([1]) Total deficiency Appropriation $200.

The Governor's salary was increased from $10,000 to $18,000 per year to take effect at the beginning of this Administration. Governor Pinchot declined to accept the new salary until the State was on a better financial basis. He added that he might accept the larger salary in the latter part of his Administration in order that there might be no precedent embarrassing to a succeeding Governor. The appropriation has been restored to $36,000.

APPROPRIATION RECOMMENDED.

For the payment of the salary of the Governor, two years, the sum of thirty-six thousand dollars ($36,000,.

For the payment of the salaries, wages, or other compensation of the secretary to the Governor, and of such consultants, experts, accountants, investigators, inspectors, clerks, stenographers, messengers, and other employes, as may be required for the proper conduct of the work of the Governor's office and of the Executive Board, and the payment of the contingent traveling and incidental expenses including telegrams and telephone toll charges of the Governor, his secretary and other employes, and of the Executive Board, expenses incurred in the conduct of the Executive Mansion, the entertainment of official guests, the maintenance of an automobile, and the expenses not exceeding five hundred dollars ($500.00) incident to participation in the procedure of the Governor's Conference, two years, the sum of ninety thousand dollars ($90,000).

STATE AND FINANCE—Concluded

The work of this Department has doubled in the past biennium. The Department will collect during the biennium 1923-1925 about $3,328,000 for the General Fund, and estimates a collection of $3,500,000 for the General Fund during the next biennium.

The Legislature of 1923 placed upon the Department the new duty of registering names of first class corporations. As no one could then estimate the cost of this new work the receipts from this source were earmarked for that purpose. During the succeeding biennium these receipts will go into the General Fund.

The decrease of $2,160 in the sum recommended for the General Department is due to the transfer of the janitor to the Department of Property and Supplies.

The estimate as to the amount needed for advertising Constitutional Amendments is based on the total number of lines in the resolutions on this subject passed by both houses.

The cost of advertising the Constitutional Amendments from 1888 to 1924, inclusive were as follows:

COST OF CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT ADVERTISING FROM 1888 TO 1924, INCLUSIVE.

Pennsylvania has provided in three ways for State employes old in service; one is to provide pensions for them at full salaries by keeping them on the payrolls after their greatest usefulness is gone; the second is to retire such as may be singled out by the Governor under the Smith Act; the third is to provide impartially for the ultimate retirement of all who so elect, with half the cost of retirement borne by the employe and half by the State. This is the method of the new Retirement Law.

Under this Law a State employe sixty years of age or over with twenty-five years of service may retire at half pay, of which 50% is provided by the employe and 50% by the State. Half pay means half of the average salary during the last five years of service. The money the employes themselves invest in the Retirement Fund is returned to them with interest compounded at 4% if they leave State service before retirement.

For every new employe the State pays into a fund, to draw compound interest at 4%, money enough to provide one dollar for every dollar the employe will have paid into that fund at time of retirement. It is estimated that $10,000 will be needed for this purpose in the coming biennium.

For all of the employes with long terms of service, however, the State has not yet paid the necessary moneys into such a fund. The State must now provide in another fund a sufficient amount of money to underwrite, when compounded at 4%, the State's share in retiring these older employes. About 650 will be eligible for retirement in the next biennium and the amount of their retirement pay would equal the estimate of $740,000. But the retirement salaries paid in the next biennium may not exceed $200,000. If so, the balance of $540,000 will then be invested to provide for the future retirement of these employes.

Of this $740,000 at least $25,000 will be needed at once to meet retirement pay for employes who elected in 1924 and 1925 to retire under the Retirement Act. Although the Act provided no funds for such retirement in this biennium, it placed upon the Board the duty of accepting applications from eligible employes. Fifty-one employes have applied.

The item of $10,000 will have to be increased unless an amendment to the Act recommended by the Retirement Board is passed extending the period for membership in the system from six months to one year.

The amount recommended for salaries and incidental expenses is $5,500 less than the amount granted in 1923 despite the increasing number of employes electing to take advantage of the System.

APPROPRIATIONS RECOMMENDED.

For the payment of the necessary expenses of the State Employes' Retirement Board, including the salaries, wages or other compensation of such employes as may be necessary for the proper conduct of the work of the Board, the traveling and other expenses of members and employes of the Board, and the purchase of furniture, materials, equipment, stationery, and other necessary supplies, two years, the sum of forty-four thousand and five hundred dollars ($44,500).

For the payment into the State annuity reserve fund number two established by the Act of June twenty-seventh, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (Pamphlet Laws eight hundred fifty-eight), two years, the sum of seven hundred and forty thousand dollars ($740,000.

For the payment into the contingent reserve fund established by the Act of June twenty-seventh, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (Pamphlet Laws eight hundred fifty-eight), two years, the sum of ten thousand dollars ($10,000).

RETIRED STATE EMPLOYES—Concluded

This Act was passed to provide retirement and pay for disabled employes who have served the State for at least 20 years. Eighty-eight employes are now receiving half-pay under this Act, most of whom are over 65 years of age.

Retirements under this Act are made at the discretion of the Governor only. Of the 88 receiving half pay under this Act 16 were retired in 1923 and 1924, and 5 died during these years, making a net increase of 11 in this biennium. Because the 1923 appropriation provided only for the number on the list in March, 1923, it falls short by $17,282 of meeting all payments now due. A deficiency appropriation of this amount must be passed if all employees on the list are to receive the payments due them from March to June 1925.

If all those now on the list should live the amount needed for 1925-27 would be $147,338.88. But it is believed that the amount requested ($130,000) will meet all of the needs of the next biennium.

No further retirements can be made under this Act, and future appropriations will diminish and in time disappear.

APPROPRIATION RECOMMENDED.

For the payment of salaries of State employes who have retired in accordance with the provisions of the Act of Assembly approved June fourteen, Anno Domini one thouand nine hundred and fifteen (Pamphlet Laws nine hundred and seventy-three) and amended June seven, Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (Pamphlet Laws five hundred and fifty-nine, two years, the sum of one hundred and thirty thousand dollars ($130,000).

The Legislature has passed special acts providing pensions and gratuities for some thirteen (13) persons. Of these seven are widows and children of National Guard Soldiers who were killed while in the service of the State, four are National Guardsmen injured in State service, one is a Civil War Veteran who does not receive a federal pension, and another is the daughter of a Veteran who was killed in the Civil War.

The appropriation of $4,752 is needed to continue these pensions and gratuities.

APPROPRIATION RECOMMENDED.

For the payment of pensions and gratuities that have been granted by Act of Legislature or that may hereafter be granted according to law, two years, the sum of four thousand seven hundred and fifty-two dollars ($4,752).

The increase of $163,500 recommended for the Department Justice will enable the Attorney General to take over in full the legal work now being done in several different Departments. It involves no increase in the legal expenses of the Government. The work can be done in one office at much less expense than in many offices and with better results for the Commonwealth.

The surplus of $2,000 in the appropriation for the Pardon Board and the decrease of $2,000 in the amount recommended in the next biennium is due to the fact that the Secretary of the Commonwealth and the Attorney General have not collected the monies due for this ex officio service in this biennium and do not propose to do so in the next.

A new item of $500,000 is added for Law Enforcement. Respect for law and order is vital to the interests of the Commonwealth and there can be no such respect unless the Law of the Commonwealth is enforced. The best investment the State can make is in self respect.

The Board of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws is doing admirable work in cooperation with similar commissions in other states. An increase of $500 is recommended for their work.

APPROPRIATION RECOMMENDED.

For the payment of the salary of the Attorney General, two years, the sum of twenty-four thousand dollars ($24,000).

For the payment of the salaries, wages, or other compensation of such deputy attorneys general, special deputy attorneys general, law clerks, directors, superintendents, bureau or division chiefs, assistant directors, assistant superintendents, assistant chiefs, experts, scientists, engineers, surveyors, draftsmen, accountants, secretaries, auditors, inspectors, examiners, statisticans, marshals, clerks, stenographers, bookkeepers, messengers and other assistants and employes as may be necessary for the proper conduct of the work of the Department of Justice; for the payment of the salaries, wages or other compensation of such special deputy attorneys general, attorneys and law clerks as may be assigned by the Attorney General to other departments, boards or commissions, except the counsel and assistant counsel of the Public Service Commission of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; for the payment of the compensation of attorneys employed by the several departments, boards and commissions with the approval of the Attorney General, except attorneys employed by the Auditor General with the approval of the Attorney General for the collection of State taxes, whose compensation may lawfully be deducted from the amounts collected; for costs, witness fees, postage, express charges, telephone toll charges, telegrams, and other contingent expenses; for the purchase of law books for the law library of the Department of Justice and for any other expenses which may be necessary for the conduct of the work of the Department of Justice and the prosecution and defense of litigation to which the Commonwealth is a party or in which the Commonwealth is interested, two years, the sum of three hundred sixty-three thousand five hundred dollars ($363,500).

For the payment of salaries, wages or other compensation of such deputy attorneys general, investigators, law clerks and other assistants and employes and of such other expenses of every kind and description as may be necessary in investigating violations or alleged violations of the laws of this Commonwealth and in taking such steps and adopting such means as may be reasonably necessary to enforce the laws of this Commonwealth, two years, the sum of five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000).

For the payment of the salaries of the members of the Board of Pardons and for Postage, express charges, clerk hire, and other incidental expenses of the Board of Pardons, two years, the sum of two thousand eight hundred dollars ($2,800).

For the payment of expenses and incidentals incurred by the Board of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws, two years, the sum of Two thousand dollars ($2,000).

The amount of $388,000 approved for the Treasury Department in this biennium was based ond the expenditures of the State Treasurer in the biennium 1921-23 plus $50,000 for the collection of the emergency taxes. The State Treasurer has since taken over a new duty—that of issuing checks for the Department of Highways and reconciling the bank accounts for that Department. It is estimated that this work will require $11,500 in this biennium. A deficiency for this amount is recommended.

The budget estimate covers the actual expenditures of this biennium, including this defict, plus the amount ($3500) the Highway Department is now spending for writing Highway checks. The State Treasurer recommends that this additional function be taken over by the incoming State Treasurer.

The increase of $4,000 for the salary of the State Treasurer is a net increase of but $800 for the biennium, since extra salaries of $3,600 for ex offico service on three boards cease by law at the same time.

APPROPRIATION RECOMMENDED.

For the payment of the salary of the State Treasurer, two years, the sum of twenty-four thousand dollars ($24,000.00).

For the payment of the salary of the Cashier, two years, the sum of ten thousand dollars ($10,000.00).

For the payment of the salary of the Assistant Cashier, two years, the sum of seven thousand two hundred dollars ($7,200).

STATE TREASURY DEPARTMENT—Concluded

For the purchase of patent indices, records, law books and other books necessary for the proper conduct of the work of the Department, two years, the sum of seven hundred dollars ($700).

For the payment of postage, express, freight, contingent and incidental expenses, two years, the sum of thirty-five thousand dollars ($35,000).

The budget assumes that the principal, interest and sinking fund requirements for both the 1919 and the 1925 issues of road bonds, together with compensation for fiscal agent and loan and transfer agent, will be paid from the Motor Fund of the Highway Department. It also assumes that the receipts from the Gasoline Tax now available for General Fund purposes, estimated to yield $4,812,500. in the next biennium, will be deposited in the Motor Fund. Interest and principal sinking fund requirements will amount to $6,773,257, for the 1919 series, and $3,475,000 for the proposed 1925 series. The 1925-27 requirement for the 1919 series is $317,563. less because of redemption of $2,212,000 of road bonds maturing in the current biennium, for which interest has ceased. (See Highway Dept.)

The Agricultural Land Script Bond, in the amount of $500,000 matured February 1, 1922. Reinvestment was made in June 1924. The State is required by the deed of gift from the Federal government to guarantee a 5% yield, payable to Pennsylvania State College, and the $25,000 appropriated for this purpose fell short by $5,839 for which a deficiency appropriation is requested. Only $9,638 will be needed in the next biennium, as the reinvestment, made in municipal and government securities, will yield approximately 4.25%.

Section 5. For the payment of the interest on the funded debt of the Commonwealth which falls due on the first day of August, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-five, the first day of February, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-six, the first day of August, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-six, and the first day of February, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-seven, the sum of nine thousand six hundred and thirty-eight dollars ($9,638).

For the payment to the Philadelphia National Bank, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, the State's fiscal agent for the custody and safe-keeping of the books and records pertaining to loans of the Commonwealth, as per Act of April fourth, one thousand nine hundred and nineteen, two years, the sum of one thousand dollars ($1,000).

THE LIBRARY AND MUSEUM

The increase of $28,215 for the Library is to complete necessary binding and replacements and to meet the increased demands for library and museum service.

APPROPRIATION RECOMMENDED

For the payment of the salaries, wages and other compensation of such officers and employes of the department as may be necessary for the maintenance and operation of the State Library and Museum, for supplies and equipment, for traveling, contingent, incidental and other expenses, and for the purchase of books, maps, charts, manuscripts, records, exchanges, pamphlets, illustrations, lantern slides, periodicals, parliamentary papers, legal books and periodicals, subscriptions to newspapers, binding of books, pamphlets and periodicals and any other expenses including postage expressage, telegrams and telephone toll charges, necessary for the proper conduct of the work of the State Library and Museum, two years, the sum of two hundred thousand dollars ($200,000).

STATE NORMAL SCHOOLS

The normal schools are the foundation of the public school system and must be properly organized, equipped, and administered if the common schools are to progress. The appropriation recommended for Normal Schools ($6,000,000) is nearly two and a half million dollars beyond the amount appropriated in this biennium which was the same as that appropriated in the previous biennium (1921-1923).

Of this $6,000,000 approximately $4,000,000 will be needed for instruction, operation, and maintenance of present Normal School equipment; $500,000 for alterations, equipment, and repairs, and $1,500,000 for new buildings and construction.

The Department of Public Instruction estimates that at least $8,000,000 more will be needed as soon as available for buildings and new construction in order to enable the Normal Schools of the State to turn out with proper training the number of teachers the schools of the State will require.

For the support of State Normal Schools including instruction, operation, maintenance, expenses of boards of trustees, and the cost of such necessary additions, extensions, alterations, equipment, and repairs as may be authorized and approved by the Superintendent of Public Instruction, two years, the sum of four million five hundred thousand dollars ($4,500,000).

For buildings and construction of State Normal Schools as authorized and approved by the Superintendent of Public Instruction, two years, the sum of one million five hundred thousand dollars ($1,500,000).

CORRECTIVE LEGISLATION RECOMMENDED

AN ACT

Reappropriating to the Department of Public Instruction a part of the unused balance of an appropriation to said department for the liquidation of the indebtedness of the normal schools contained in the act approved the twenty-seventh day of May, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one, (Appropriation Acts, page 33) entitled "An act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the Executive, Judicial, and Legislative Departments of the Commonwealth, interest on the public debt, and the support of the public schools, for the two fiscal years beginning June first, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one; and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one" as amended.

WHEREAS by the act approved the twenty-seventh day of May, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (Appropriation Acts page thirty-three) entitled "An act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the Executive, Judicial, and Legislative Departments of the Commonwealth, interest on the public debt, and the support of the public schools, for the two fiscal years beginning June first, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one; and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one" as amended by the act approved the thirteenth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (Appropriation Acts, page thirty) entitled "An act to amend part of section two of the act, approved the twenty-seventh day of May, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (Appropriation Acts, page thirty-three) entitled 'An act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the Executive, Judicial, and Legislative Departments of the Commonwealth, interest on the public debt, and the support of the public schools, for the two fiscal years beginning June first, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one; and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one' " the sum of eight hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars ($825,000) was appropriated to the Department of Public Instruction for the payment and liquidation of the mortgage and note indebtedness of the several State Normal Schools of the Commonwealth and the accrued interest thereon due the noteholders, payment of which was agreed upon when the said normal schools were taken over by the Commonwealth; and

WHEREAS the East Stroudsburg State Normal School has a note indebtedness amounting to forty-seven thousand three hundred three dollars and sixty-five cents ($47,303.65) which was incurred while the said normal school was in process of being taken over by the Commonwealth, but after the date of the deed conveying the property of said school to the Commonwealth; and

WHEREAS it has been impossible to make payment of the said note indebtedness out of the aforesaid appropriation by reason of the circumstances above related; and

WHEREAS there is an unexpended balance of the said appropriation in the amount of seventy-three thousand three hundred and seventy-one dollars and thirty-eight cents ($73,371.38).

Section 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That the sum of forty-seven thousand three hundred three dollars and sixty-five cents ($47,303.65) out of the unexpended balance of the said appropriation of May twenty-seventh, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one is hereby reappropriated to the Department of Public Instruction for the purpose of paying the note indebtedness of the East Stroudsburg State Normal School incurred prior to January first, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one.

Section 2. The remainder of the unexpended balance of said appropriation of May twenty-seven, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one, to wit, twenty-six thousand sixty-seven dollars and seventy-three cents ($26,067.73) shall lapse into the General Fund of the State Treasury immediately upon the approval of this act.

THE SCHOOL EMPLOYES RETIREMENT SYSTEM

The total amounts recommended for the School Employees' Retirement System meet in full for the first time all payments due by the State, including $1,390,000 due in this biennium but not appropriated.

At present 57,000 Pennsylvania school teachers are members of the School Employees' Retirement System. Under this system half the cost of retirement allowances is borne by the teacher, one-fourth by the local school districts, and one-fourth by the State. The appropriation received for Administration is larger by $17,610 than the amount spent in this biennium, because of the increasing records to be kept.

The State's current payments for new members goes into the contingent fund. The State also pays into a reserve fund the amounts to underwrite the cost of retiring all teachers who are in service prior to the beginning of the System. As the Law now stands, the State is required to pay into this reserve fund 5.6% of the total payroll for past services each year, but a careful study of the soundness of existing reserves has been made by two actuaries and on the basis of their findings the Retirement Board recommends that this percentage be reduced to 4% per year, provided that the State makes full and prompt payment of all amounts when due. The adoption of this amendment will reduce the amounts due from the State and from the school districts of the State by $1,025,000 each for each biennium, or by a total of $2,050,000.

APPROPRIATION RECOMMENDED

For the payment of the salaries, wages and other compensation of the members, officers and employes of the State School Employes' Retirement Board; for equipment, supplies, contingent expenses, traveling expenses, incidental and other expenses including telegrams and telephone toll charges necessary for the proper conduct of the work of the State School Employes' Retirement Board, two years, the sum of ninety-seven thousand six hundred and ten dollars ($97,610).

For the payment into the contingent reserve fund of the Pennsylvania School Employes' Retirement Board, two years, the sum of one million three hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($1,350,000).

For the payment into the State annuity reserve fund number two of the Pennsylvania School Employes' Retirement Board, two years, the sum of four million one hundred and forty thousand dollars ($4,140,000).

PENNSYLVANIA STATE BOARD OF CENSORS

The increase of $24,400 for the Pennsylvania State Board of Censors is needed for repairs and replacement of projecting machinery and for additional field service because of the expansion and development of the moving picture industry.

APPROPRIATION RECOMMENDED

For the payment of salaries, wages and other compensation of the members, officers and employes of the Pennsylvania State Board of Censors, for equipment and supplies, contingent expenses, traveling expenses, incidental and other expenses including telegrams and telephone toll charges necessary for the proper conduct of the work of the Pennsylvania State Board of Censors, and for the necessary cost and expenses incurred in the prosecution of offenders or violators of the act creating the Pennsylvania State Board of Censors, its amendments and supplements, two years, the sum of one hundred thirty-four thousand four hundred dollars ($134,400).

PENNSYLVANIA HISTORICAL COMMISSION

The amount recommended for the Pennsylvania Historical Commission ($25,000) in this biennium is $17,500 more than in the previous biennium. This increase is recommended for an expansion in the number of historical monuments and markers erected throughout the State, and in the publishing and editing of historical documents.

APPROPRIATION RECOMMENDED

For the payment of the salaries, wages and other compensation of the members, officers, and employes of the Penn ylvania Historical Commission, and for supplies and equipment, contingent expenses, traveling expenses, incidental and other expenses including telegrams and telephone toll charges necessary for the proper conduct of the work of the said Commission, as authorized by the Superintendent of Public Instruction, two years, the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000).

PROFESSIONAL EXAMINING BOARDS

The Department of Public Instruction recommends that all fees from all licensing boards and examining boards be turned into the general Treasury and all those boards be financed by direct appropriation, with the understanding that the fees of each be so fixed so as to turn into the Treasury a sum sufficient to cover fully the needs of each Board but not more. To make this shift the appropriation of $72,600 would have to be increased to a total of $282,440. Such an increase in the appropriation from the General Fund would be compensated fully by the fees now going into Special funds.

APPROPRIATION RECOMMENDED

For the payment of the salaries, wages and other compensation of the members, officers, and employes of the professional examining boards within the Department of Public Instruction, for supplies and equipment, contingent expenses, traveling expenses, incidental and other expenses necessary for the proper conduct of the work of the said Examining Boards, and for the necessary costs and expenses incurred in the prosecution of offenders or violators of the acts creating any of the said Examining Boards their amendments and supplements, as authorized and approved by the Superintendent of Public Instruction, two years, the sum of two hundred eighty-two thousand four hundred and forty dollars ($282,440).

RECOMMENDATION

AN ACT

Requiring all professional examining boards within the Department of Public Instruction to pay into the general fund of the State Treasury all fees received by them and all unexpended balances of moneys accrued from fees heretofore received abolishing all special funds in the State Treasury for any such boards, and transferring to the general fund of the State Treasury any unexpended balances in such funds.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That as soon after the effective date of this Act as all liabilities theretofore incurred shall have been fully paid, all professional examining boards within the Department of Public Instruction shall pay into the State Treasury any unexpended balances of moneys accrued from fees, fines and other income heretofore received by such boards under the provisions of the several acts of Assembly authorizing the collection of such fees, fines and other income.

Section 2. From and after the effective date of this act, all such professional examining boards within the Department of Public Instruction shall pay into the general fund of the State Treasury all fees, fines and other income received by them under the provisions of the several acts of Assembly authorizing the collection of such fees, fines and other income. Such payments into the State Treasury shall be made on the last day of each and every month during which any such fees shall have been received by such boards.

Section 3. As soon after the effective date of this act, as all outstanding liabilities payable out of any special funds in the State Treasury for professional examining boards within the Department of Public Instruction shall have been paid, all such special funds shall be abolished, and all unexpended balances in such funds shall be transferred to the general fund of the State Treasury.

Section 4. This act shall become effective on the first day of June, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-five.

RECOMMENDATION

AN ACT

Authorizing the Department of Public Instruction annually to fix the fees to be charged for the several professional examining boards within the said Department and prescribing the basis upon which such fees shall be fixed.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That the Department of Public Instruction be and hereby is authorized and directed annually at least three months prior to the end of the current fiscal year to fix the fees to be charged by the several professional examining boards within said Department during the ensuing fiscal year.

Section 2. The basis upon which the Department of Public Instruction shall fix the fees to be charged by any professional examining board under the provisions of this act shall be the cost of administering and enforcing the act or acts of Assembly under such professional examining board conducts examinations and causes licenses or certificates including renewals thereof to be issued. The Department shall estimate the proper cost of administering and enforcing such act or acts of Assembly during the ensuing fiscal year, the probable number of persons to be examined and the probable number of licenses or certificates including renewals to be issued; and it shall fix the fees to be charged by such board at such amounts that the estimated total receipts therefrom during such fiscal year shall as nearly as possible equal the estimated cost of administering such act or acts of Assembly.

Section 3. This Act shall become effective for the fiscal year beginning June first, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-five notwithstanding the date of its approval may be less than three months prior to the end of the current fiscal year.

Section 4. All acts and parts of Acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed.

HOME FOR TRAINING IN SPEECH OF DEAF CHILDREN BEFORE THEY ARE OF SCHOOL AGE

The amount recommended for this biennium ($97,000) is an increase of $27,000. Of this sum $20,000 is needed to replace the present heating system, and $7,000 for needed repairs, replacements, and equipment, and to provide for increased attendance.

APPROPRIATION RECOMMENDED

For the support of the Home for Training in Speech of Deaf Children Before they are of School Age, including instruction, operation, and maintenance, and such necessary additions, extensions, alterations, equipment, and repairs as may be authorized and approved by the Superintendent of Public Instruction, and the expenses of the Board of Trustees of said school, two years, the sum of ninety-seven thousand dollars ($97,000).

PENNSYLVANIA STATE ORAL SCHOOL

The $117,000 recommended is $45,000 more than for 1923-1925 in order to provide for needed equipment, repairs, and replacements, and to provide for an increased enrollment.

APPROPRIATION RECOMMENDED

For the support of the Pennsylvania State Oral School for the Deaf, Scranton, including instruction, operation, and maintenance, and such necessary additions, extensions, alterations, equipment, and repairs as may be authorized and approved by the Superintendent of Public Instruction, and the expenses of the Board of Trustees of said School, and for buildings and construction for the Pennsylvania State Oral School for the Deaf, as authorized and approved by the Superintendent of Public Instruction, two years, the sum of one hundred seventeen thousand dollars ($117,000).

PENNSYLVANIA SOLDIERS' ORPHANS SCHOOL

The appropriation of $300,000 is an increase of $92,500 over the present biennium. Of this increase $75,000 is needed for a gymnasium. The additional increase of $17,500 is for additional repairs, replacements, and equipment, and to permit increased enrollment.

APPROPRIATION RECOMMENDED

For the support of the Pennsylvania Soldiers' Orphans' School at Scotland, including instruction, operation, and maintenance, and such necessary additions, extensions, alterations, equipment, and repairs, as may be authorized and approved by the Superintendent of Public Instruction, and the expenses of the Board of Trustees of said School, and for buildings and construction for the Pennsylvania Soldiers' Orphans' School, as authorized and approved by the Superintendent of Public Instruction, two years, the sum of three hundred thousand dollars ($300,000).

THADDEUS STEVENS INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL

An increase of $35,000 is recommended for this state owned school. Of this sum $20,000 is needed for repairs and replacements, and $15,000 for the operation of the institution. This school is run in cooperation with the Thaddeus Stevens Orphans' Home.

APPROPRIATION RECOMMENDED

For the support of the Thaddeus Stevens Industrial School including instruction, operation, and maintenance, and such necessary additions, extensions, alterations, equipment, and repairs, as may be authorized and approved by the Superintendent of Public Instruction, and the expenses of the Board of Trustees of said School, two years, the sum of eighty-five thousand dollars ($85,000).

PENNSYLVANIA INSTITUTION FOR THE DEAF
WESTERN PENNSYLVANIA SCHOOL FOR THE DEAF
PENNSYLVANIA INSTITUTION FOR INSTRUCTING THE BLIND
WESTERN PENNSYLVANIA SCHOOL FOR THE BLIND

The Department of Public Instruction recommends that instead of separate appropriations to these institutions as heretofore, the appropriations be made to the Superintendent of Public Instruction in order that he may compensate these institutions for services rendered to the State on a proper per capita basis.

Many deaf and blind children in the State are at present not receiving the training necessary for self-support and their own welfare. The law now provides that school districts and the State shall each pay half the total expense of maintaining such children in special institutions. This law has not been enforced. The Department of Public Instruction recommends that the present law be amended so that one-fourth of this expense shall be borne by the School Districts and three-fourths by the State. The increase of $215,000 on this basis will give institutional care and training for every deaf and blind child in the State.

APPROPRIATION RECOMMENDED

For providing special education and maintenance for Pennsylvania children in institutions or schools for the blind and for the deaf approved by the Superintendent of Public Instruction payments for such education and maintenance to be made upon a per capita basis, to be fixed by the Superintendent of Public Instruction and by him certified to the Auditor General and State Treasurer, payments from this appropriation to be made upon warrant of the Auditor General drawn upon the State Treasurer upon requisition of the several institutions approved by the Superintendent of Public Instruction, two years, the sum of nine hundred and eighty-six thousand dollars ($986,000).

COMMON SCHOOLS AND VOCATIONAL EDUCATION

The total of $45,940,000 recommended for common schools and vocational education is $4,433,974 more than the appropriation of 1923 and $20,669,000 more than the appropriation of 1921 for the same purposes.(1) Of this increase of $4,433,974, $3,106,754 is to meet the subsidies to common schools under the Edmond's Act and $1,327,220 is to meet requirements of acts making appropriations for County Superintendents and Assistant County Superintendents, vocational education, education of blind children, expenses of blind at institutions of higher learning, transportation, state scholarships, reimbursement to school districts, Cornplanter Indians, children placed by courts, taxes ond land for water conservation, and other minor statutory requirements. The Department of Public Instruction estimates that the combined need for these same purposes will approximate $70,000,000 by 1935.

Section 1413 of the School Code provides that one-half of the total expense for approved special education shall be paid by the State. Such education may be given in institutions not controlled by the school district such as the schools for the deaf and blind or the instruction may be given in special classes or by special teachers as a part of the local school system. That part of this section which relates to teacher reimbursement is difficult to administer and should properly now be attached to the Edmonds Act as a definite part of the salary schedules. Legislation to this effect will be submitted.

(') Exclusive of deficiencies passed by the Legislature of 1923.

APPROPRIATION RECOMMENDED

For reimbursing school districts upon the salaries of school teachers as required by law, and for closed schools as required by law, for the two fiscal years beginning the first Monday of July, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-five, the sum of forty-one million nine hundred and ten thousand dollars ($41,910,000).

Universities and Colleges

PENNSYLVANIA STATE COLLEGE UNIVERSITY OF PENNSYLVANIA UNIVERSITY OF PITTSBURGH
TEMPLE UNIVERSITY

Two years ago the State Council of Education made the following recommendations among others as to the policy of the State toward institutions of higher learning:

The first Constitution of the Commonwealth of 1776, expressly provided "that all useful learning shall be duly encouraged and promoted in one or more Universities," "conformable" to which constitutional mandate "the University of the State of Pennsylvania" (1779), later changed in name to "The University of Pennsylvania" (1791)—and "to fulfill" which "important constitutional injunction" the "Western University of Pennsylvania" (1819), now "the University of Pittsburgh," were duly chartered by the State; and have since been discharging their functions and duties, in accord with this constitutional mandate, and have received from time to time the aid of the State enabling them to do so. In the long lapse of years since their creation, these two venerable universities have attained their present proportions and preeminence in the realm of higher education; and of statewide usefulness to the people of the Commonwealth, in the various forms of public service which through their many departments, extension schools, and other ways and means they have been and are rendering to the State. Similarly the Pennsylvania State College (1855 and 1862) has a specific relationship to the State and has long been performing varied and valuable public service in many fields of educational endeavor, some of which are not covered by these two ancient universities. It seems to us, therefore, that the great work of these two existing universities, as well as the Pennsylvania State College, under a proper program of the State, should be encouraged and continued.

Doctor Russell H. Conwell, President of Temple University, appeared before the Committee and stated that the needs of the institution which he represents are temporary. He further stated that plans were being formulated which it was expected would relieve the institution from the necessity of calling for State aid after the expiration of four or five years. It is the judgment of the Committee that, in view of the type of work which this institution is performing and the very worthy and deserving people who are being served, the same appropriation should be made to this institution which was made by the Legislature of 1921, viz: $270,000.

In the budget of 1923 the maintenance for all four of these institutions was kept on the same basis as in 1921. Because of insufficient revenue no increase is included in the Budget for 1925-27 except an increase of $100,000 for agricultural extension work to State College. For this extension work the Federal Government gives one dollar for each dollar appropriated by the State. The $600,000 recommended will secure the maximum amount of money available from federal funds for this purpose.

A constitutional amendment providing an appropriation of $8,000,000 for buildings at State College will be before this session of the Legislature.

The decrease of $1,200 in salaries in the Department of Military Affairs is due to the transfer of Janitor Service from that Department to the Department of Property and Supplies.

A new appropriation is recommended of $21,400 for the purchase of additional land needed for the State Military Reservation at Mt. Gretna. This land adjoins the reservation. A decrease of $6,400 will meet the needs for other improvements for Mt. Gretna.

A Commission was provided by the Legislature of 1923 to investigate the condition of disabled world war veterans of Pennsylvania. At that time there was a prevaling public belief that the Veterans' Bureau at Washington was not so organized as to give promptly and completely the aid and service provided by law. Since that time the Veterans' Bureau has been entirely reorganized.

In lieu of continuing the Investigating Commission it is recommended that $13,000 be added to the World War Division of the Department of Military Affairs in order that needed specialists may be employed to investigate the claims of any disabled war veterans who are not in position to present their own claims. This work will be done in cooperation with organizations of veterans who are now through their committees doing substantially this work but are limited in funds.

The standards for the National Guard are set by the Federal Government and the Federal Government joins in financing approved units of the National Guard only when they are up to standard. The $950,000 recommended in an increase of $250,000 above that appropriaated in this biennium which will be necessary to meet in full the new standards set for the National Guard.

No changes are recommended in the amount necessary for the purchase of military stores or for contingent expenses or for emergency use in case of riot or insurrection.

Exclusive of Animal Industry and Special Items, the sum of $666,000 is recommended to carry on the general work of the Department of Agriculture. This sum is $103,387.92 less than was appropriated for the same purposes for the biennium of 1921-1923, and $26,000 more than was appropriated for the biennium 1923-1925.

This increase of $26,000 is needed to expand the work in poultry marketing, in grading and inspection of farm products, in assisting cooperative marketing organizations, in analysing seeds to protect the seed supply of the farmers, and to guard further against the introduction and spread of destructive plant diseases and insects.

SPECIAL ITEMS

For State aid to incorporated agricultural fair associations in accordance with act 412, an increase of $20,000, is necessary to meet the provisions of the law.

For carrying out an effective Japanese Beetle farm products quarantine, an increase of $120,000, is necessary, assuming that the Federal Government wlil appropriate a like or greater amount. The larger area necessarily quarantined each year, the greatly increasing number of beetles, and the additional number of products to be inspected increase the cost of carrying out an effective quarantine. If the spread of the beetle is not retarded, the value of the crops destroyed will be very much greater than the cost of the quarantine.

For control of the European Corn Borer, $15,000, is recommended. This is a new item. This destructive insect pest on both field corn and sweet corn is present only in Erie, Crawford and Warren Counties. The protection of the rest of the State calls for an effective quarantine. The work will be carried on in cooperation with the Federal Government which has provision in its budget for more than $15,000.

BUREAU OF ANIMAL INDUSTRY

The budget assumes that the Bureau of Animal Industry will continue to use the moneys received from the enforcement of the Dog Law.

The principal increase for this Bureau is for indemnities paid to all owners of tuberculous animals which must be slaughtered. All the indemnity money ($500,000) came from the Dog Fund during the present biennium. During the coming biennium it is estimated that $250,000 will be available from the Dog Fund for this purpose. In addition, an appropriation of $750,000 is recommended from the General Fund. With 200,000 animals awaiting test in the State at the present time, even this total sum of $1,000,000 will not enable the Department to meet the requests for testing during the coming two years. For this purpose $2,000,000 at least would be required.

The recent outbreak of European Fowl Plague has probably occasioned a loss of $100,000 to the State. Poultry is the second largest livestock industry in the State. A larger expenditure will be made from the Dog Fund for controlling this plague in the next biennium.

The present force of two men in meat hygiene work is inadequate for inspecting 2,400 slaughter houses and the thousands of butcher shops over the State, and this force will be increased.

TRANSFER OF MONEYS FROM THE DOG FUND TO THE GENERAL FUND OF THE DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE.

The Department requests the transfer of $100,854, or so much thereof as may be necessary, from the Dog Fund to the General Fund of the Department of Agriculture, the unexpended balance to remain in the Dog Fund. This transfer is to replace moneys advanced from the General Fund of the Department of Animal Industry due to a ruling of the Auditor General that certain employes of the Bureau of Animal Industry were engaged in "Administrative" work and could not be paid from the "Dog Fund". The Department requests that this transfer be made by March 1st, for by this time the money available in the General Fund for the work of the Department will be exhausted and all work, other than that supported by the Dog Fund, will have to stop.

WATER RESOURCES SERVICE AND WATER AND POWER RESOURCES BOARD

The amount and importance of the work of the Water Resources Service and the Water and Power Resources Board has been increased during this biennium by the administration of the Water Power Act of June 14, 1923.

There are approximately six thousand (6,000) dams in the State of which six hundred (600) are important structures. It is imperative that these structures, for which permits are issued by the Board be examined at frequent intervals to insure their being in safe condition. It is essential, also, that all new dams be supervised by the Board's representatives during the course of construction.

Three new projects demanding immediate attention are: studies of adequate capacities for spillways and dams; of the culm situation as it affects stream encroachment; and of the establishment of channel lines in cooperation with local authorities to prevent flood damage. These projects are vital in the intelligent and effective handling of flood control. For these reasons an increase of $31,000.00 is recommended in the appropriation of this work.

APPROPRIATION RECOMMENDED

For the payment of the compensation of the engineer appointed as a member of the Water and Power Resources Board, two years, the sum of six thousand dollars, ($6,000).

For the payment of salaries, wages or other compensation of such deputies, directors, superintendents, bureau or division chiefs, assistant directors, assistant superintendents, assistant chiefs, experts, scientists, engineers, surveyors, draftsmen, accountants, secretaries, auditors, inspectors, examiners, statisticians, marshals, clerks, stenographers, bookkeepers, messengers and other assistants and employes as may be required for the proper conduct of the work of the Department with respect to waters and of the Water and Power Resources Board, and for the payment of traveling, contingent and other necessary expenses, including telephone toll charges and the cost of telegrams of the officers and employes of the Department engaged in its work with respect to waters and of the members, officers and employes of the Water and Power Resources Board, for the purchase, maintenance and repair of automobiles necessary to the work of the Department with respect to Waters and of the said board for telephone rentals at field stations, for the payment of the cost of supplies and equipment, for all expenses incurred in making examinations and reports upon applications for water and water power company charters, mergers, consolidations, and new or additional sources of supply for water and water power companies, investigations and reports upon the status of water and water power company charters, investigations, inspections and reports in connection with the construction and maintenance of power projects built under limited power permits, and examinations, investigations and reports upon protests lodged with the department or the Water and Power Resources Board, for the cost of establishing, maintaining, and operating stream gauging and flood warning stations, for examinations and reports upon dams and other encroachments now existing or hereafter to be placed in or along any of the streams of the Commonwealth, for establishing channel lines and for performing any other duties imposed upon the Department with respect to waters or upon the Water and Power Resources Board, two years, the sum of one hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars ($125,000).

DELAWARE RIVER TREATY COMMISSION

The proposed Delaware River Treaty between Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New York provides for the creation of a permanent commission to be composed of appropriate State officers designated by the respective Governors.

The item of fifteen thousand dollars ($15,000) for this Commission is to cover the equipment, services, and facilities to enable it to properly and efficiently exercise the powers and perform the duties prescribed by the Treaty.

APPROPRIATION RECOMMENDED

For the payment of salaries, wages, and other compensation and expenses, for services and facilities necessary for the Department to exercise properly and efficinetly the powers and perform the duties defined in the Delaware River Treaty under the direction of the Tri-State Delaware River Commission, two years, the sum of fifteen thousand dollars ($15,000).

REIMBURSEMENT OF TAXES

three (Pamphlet Laws four hundred and eighty-seven), two years, the sum of five thousand, two hundred and seventy-four dollars ($5,274).

TOPOGRAPHIC AND GEOLOGICAL SURVEY

This is an increase of twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) over the appropriation to the Topographic and Geological Survey for the present biennium. This increase will be used:

For topographic mapping of the State in cooperation with the U. S. Geological Survey on the basis of equal expense to State and Federal Governments; to obtain reliable information regarding recently opened oil and gas fields; to study new methods of oil recovery; to study clay deposits; to study underground water resources.

APPROPRIATION RECOMMENDED

For the payment of salaries, wages or other compensation of such geologists, mineralogists, directors, superintendents, bureau or division chiefs, assistant directors, assistant superintendents, assistant chiefs, experts, scientists, engineers, surveyors, draftsmen, accountants, secretaries, auditors, inspectors, examiners, statisticians, marshals, clerks, stenographers, bookkeepers, messengers and other assistants and employes as may be required for the proper conduct of the work of the Department in connection with the Topographic and Geological Survey, and for the payment of traveling, contingent and other necessary expenses, including telephone toll charges and the cost of telegrams of the officers and employes of the Department engaged in the work of the Topographic and Geological Survey, for the purchase, maintenance and repair of automobiles necessary to the work of the Department in connection with said Survey, for the cost of supplies and equipment, and for any other expenses necessary to enable the Department to carry on the work of said Topographic and Geological Survey, two years, the sum of one hundred and thirty-five thousand dollars ($135,000).

VALLEY FORGE PARK COMMISSION

There is now owned by the Commonwealth within the Valley Forge Park approximately 1,450 acres. During the present biennium a half-million dollars has been paid for lands condemned by previous Commissions. There remain from these land condemnations obligations amounting to approximately eighty-thousand dollars ($80,000) to cover unpaid interest charges and title insurance. This will make a total of $1,086,242 spent to date by the State for the land and buildings in this park.

The appropriation item for the Commission includes the sum needed to meet these obligations and to maintain the park, including the improvement of all the roads within the Park. To put the roads of the Park in first class shape will require at least $120,000. The Park is visited annually by thousands of citizens of this and other States. During 1924 over 100,000 people visited Washington's Headquarters alone. The increasing tourist traffic requires new and larger expenditures for properly guarding the grounds and buildings.

APPROPRIATION RECOMMENDED

For the use of the Valley Forge Park Commission in the payment of salaries, wages and other compensation of such superintendents, guards, wardens and workmen as may be needed for the repair and construction of roads, removal or improvement of buildings, grading, seeding, mowing, planting and other work necessary in the care, preservation and maintenance of Valley Forge Park; for the expense of the members of the Commission its officers and employes, including office rent, freight, postage, telegrams, telephone charges and other incidental expenses, for the purchase of fertilizers, seeds, weed killers, flags, markers, trucks, mowers, fuel and other materials, equipment and supplies necessary in the development and improvement of the park; and for interest charges and title examinations, incident to the condemnation of park areas under the act of July eleventh, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three, P. L. seventy-six, two years, the sum of two hundred and fifty-thousand dollars ($250,000).

AN ACT

Authorizing the Valley Forge Park Commission to make use of the moneys now in its possession known as the "Wood Fund".

WHEREAS, there is now in the possession of the Valley Forge Park Commission a fund known as the "Wood Fund" approximately eight thousand dollars ($8,000) in amount, which fund has accrued from the proceeds of the sale of timber and other natural products grown on or taken from the Commonwealth's property at Valley Forge Park; and

WHEREAS, said Valley Forge Park Commission does not have authority to make use of the moneys in the said fund;

Section 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That the Valley Forge Park Commission be and hereby is authorized to expend the moneys in the said "Wood Fund" for the payment of the salaries, wages or other compensation of necessary employes, for the purchase of supplies or equipment, and for any other expenses necessary in connection with the proper maintenance of Valley Forge Park. Provided, however, that said Valley Forge Park Commission shall render an accounting to the Auditor General of this Commonwealth for the moneys in the said fund showing in detail the purposes for which they shall have been expended.

WASHINGTON CROSSING PARK COMMISSION

There have been purchased or condemned by the Washington Crossing Park Commission 322 acres for inclusion within the Park. These lands comprise the "Valley of Concentration", the "Place of Embarkation", the old Ferry House and Hotel, the Island in the Delaware River at the Crossing and the Continental Army's main Camp Ground at Neely's Mills and Bowman's Hill. The area acquired or under condemnation is all the land deemed necessary by the Commission for acquisition by the Commonweath for many years.

Of the appropriation recommended for the Commission, eighty-five thousand dollars ($85,000) is to complete the purchase of areas within the Park and thirty-five thousand dollars ($35,000) is for Park improvement and maintenance.

APPROPRIATION RECOMMENDED

For the use of the Washington Crossing Park Commission in the payment of salaries, wages or other compensation of necessary employes in maintaining and improving Washington Crossing Park, and the buildings thereon, for the purchase of materials, tools, and other supplies, for office rent and for the expenses of the members of the Commission and its employes including postage, freight, telephone rents and toll charges, telegrams and other incidental expenses, two years, the sum of thirty-five thousand dollars ($35,000).

For the use of the Washington Crossing Park Commission in acquiring additional lands and property in the manner provided by the Act approved the twenty-fifth day of July, one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (Pamphlet Laws, one thousand two hundred and nine), entitled "An act to authorize the acquisition, by purchase or condemnation, of lands for a park, and erection of a monument commemorative of Washington crossing the River Delaware, and for the appointment of a Commission to acquire said lands and erect such monument; and making an appropriation for the purpose of this act", two years, the sum of eighty-five thousand dollars ($85,000).

PENNSYLVANIA STATE PARK AND HARBOR COMMISSION OF ERIE

This state park (Presque Isle) comprises approximately 3,200 acres, situated on the shore of Lake Erie. The harbor of Erie is also within the Commission's jurisdiction. The development and improvement of the park is conducted cooperatively by the Commonwealth and the County and the City of Erie.

The $75,000. recommended is sufficient only for necessary salaries and urgently needed work in dock improvement, public recreational facilities, park maintenance and equipment. The road work done cooperatively during the present biennium has greatly increased the public use of the park.

The bathing beach alone, the best on the Great Lakes, is attracting growing numbers of tourists and visitors every year. The park is the centre of outdoor recreation in northwestern Pennsylvania.

APPROPRIATION RECOMMENDED

For the use of the Pennsylvania State Park and Harbor Commission of Erie for the payment of salaries, wages and other compensation of employes, office rents, planting trees, clearing trails, constructing roads, bath houses, camp sites, park gates and docks, the purchase of necessary supplies, materials and equipment and for the expense of the members of the Commission and its employes, including postage, freight, telegrams, telephone toll charges and for other incidental expenses, two years, the sum of seventy-five thousand dollars ($75,000).

LAKE ERIE AND OHIO RIVER CANAL BOARD

For the use of the Lake Erie and Ohio River Canal Board for the payment of expenses incurred in printing, distributing or in otherwise making available for public use reports, maps, documents and records issued by or in the possession of the Board; for the payment of expenses incurred in doing such things as the Board may deem expedient to secure the cooperation and aid of the government of the United States and other public authorities in the construction of the canal or waterway to be constructed by the Act of June twenty-seventh, one thousand nine hundred and thirteen (Pamphlet Laws six hundred and fifty-two) and for the payment of traveling and other expenses of the Board, its officers and employes and the payment of the salaries, wages, or other compensation of such engineers, draftsmen and other employes as may be necessary for the work of the Board, two years, the sum of five thousand dollars ($5,000).

FORT WASHINGTON PARK COMMISSION

The Fairmount Park Commission was authorized in 1915 and 1917 (Appro. Act 1917 213 A.) to condemn a strip of land from sixty to one hundred feet wide, running from the upper end of Wissahickon Park up to and including a park covering Fort Hill and Militia Hill. This is a pleasure boulevard. It passes no industrial towns or cities. It follows the Wissahickon from the end of the Wissahickon Park in Philadelphia County up to Fort Hill.

This Commission has now power to condemn the property not is excess of 1,100 acres without any appropriation made by the State and the State would then have to pay whatever condemnation values were found plus six per cent interest until the owners of the property were compensated.

The Commission by the above act was given $50,000 for purchase of land. It applied this as part purchase on tracts of land aggregating about one hundred and sixty-six acres and took a mortgage on the balance in excess of the sum appropriated. The sum recommended ($5,010) is necessary to pay the interest on this mortgage. It is estimated that the land when condemned will cost not less than a quarter of a million dollars.

In view of the other urgent needs of this Commonwealth it is recommended that this bill be repealed and that the act be re-enacted when the State is able financially to care first adequately for its school children and the inmates of its Welfare institutions.

APPROPRIATION RECOMMENDED

For the payment of interest on mortgages on property belonging to the Commonwealth within the boundaries of Fort Washington Park, two years, the sum of five thousand and ten dollars ($5,010).

(1)This represents a decrease in general department expenditure made necessary in order to meet additional costs of compensation for injured State employes.
(2)These funds not available for expenditure by Department of Labor and Industry during biennium 1923-25, but recommended for 1925-27 for boiler inspection work.

DEPARTMENT OF LABOR AND INDUSTRY—Continued

An increase of $200,000. is recommended for the general work of the Department of Labor and Industry for the next biennium. In addition the Harrisburg custodial service, amounting to about $18,000. in this biennium will be transferred to the Department of Property and Supplies during the next biennium. Furthermore the Department decreased its estimated expenditures about $39,000. this biennium to provide for additional compensation for injured State employes, which compensation is provided for in a separate item for the next biennium. This gives a net increase for the Department of $257,000. The total will still be $109,000. less than the amount expended for comparable items in 1921-1923.

This increase of $257,000. is needed for the following purposes:

1. An increase of $170,000. for the Bureau of Inspection beyond the $549,820. expended during this biennium to raise its value to the State as a safety organization, and for the creation of a section dealing particularly with women and children in industry.

2. An increase of $37,000. for the Employment Bureau beyond the $126,700. expended in this biennium to establish offices in six important centers not now covered by this service and to better the service in present centers.

3. An increase of $30,000. for the Bureau of Rehabilitation beyond the $124,750. expended during this biennium to aid injured workers. One-half of all such expenditures are refunded from the Federal appropriations, making the net increase from State funds $15,000.

4. An increase of $20,000. for the Workmen's Compensation Board beyond the $342,000. expended during this biennium to extend its service, particularly to claimants not able to afford their own medical testimony and legal services.

5. An increase of $15,000. for the Bureau of Industrial Standards beyond the $19,320. expended during this biennium in order that this Bureau may give more complete service to the industries and the State.

In addition to the above the Department requests that the receipts in the Boiler Inspection Fund be earmarked for boiler inspection work in order that the motive for payment of the fees may be preserved and in order that inspection of boilers throughout the State may be made to a degree reasonably necessary for the prevention of life and property.

The number of State employes receiving compensation for injuries necessarily increases with increasing personnel. It will take $150,000. in the next biennium to provide for the number now receiving compensation together with a reasonable allowance for increase.

The appropriation recommended for the Department of Mines totals $617,800, which is $49,300 more than in the present biennium. The appropriation asked for the salary and expenses of the Department office force, however, is $5,000 less than in this biennium.

An increase of $48,000 is provided for the salaries and expenses of the 55 Mine Inspectors authorized by law. This amount is exclusive of an estimated income of $17,000 from the Mine Examining Boards, earmarked for this purpose. The $10,000 recommended for the Mine Foremen Boards is an increase of $6,000 over the previous biennium and will be necessary if the full $17,000 income anticipated through their work is to be realized.

The Department has, through strict economy, kept a surplus of about $13,000 out of its appropriation for office work and asks that this amount be transferred for the payment of salaries and expenses of inspectors in this biennium. (See Agricultural Department for Transfer Act).

Sanitary Water Board			100,000	100,000

The appropriation recommended for the Health Department is $770,000 greater than for 1923. The increase is needed for the following purposes:

1. For maintaining the three tuberculosis sanatoria at full capacity (2,000 patients) at a per capita of $1.60 per day ($538,610). These sanatoria are now at this capacity. Their full capacity must be maintained because under the decision of the Supreme Court declaring the act providing for county sanitoria unconstitutional, many of the counties do not and will not soon have the facilities for caring for their indigent tubercular.

2. The School Code places upon the Department of Health the medical inspection of the pupils in the fourth class districts and the supervision of inspection in the third class districts. An increase of $161,390, will enable the Department to have that inspection done in these districts, and to inaugurate a follow-up system to secure the correction of defects.

3. The present contract under which the Department is purchasing antitoxin will expire June 1, 1925. Present prices are higher, the need is growing, and an increased allowance of $70,000. for this purpose will be necessary.

The Sanitary Water Board was created by the Legislature of 1923 to administer anti-stream pollution laws and to investigate the methods of preventing stream pollution. No specific appropriation was made to the Board so that any field or office work done by the Board has been done through the cooperation of the Departments whose Chiefs constitute the Board.

An appropriation of $100,000. is recommended for this Board in the next biennium.

The prevention of stream pollution is one of the most important problems before the State. It is closely related to the prevention of Industrial Waste as many industrial wastes undoubtedly contain recoverable by-products of value and when discharged into the streams of the State cause financial loss to the Industries as well as pollution to the streams. Many of the Industries of the State are ready to cooperate in raising funds to aid the Sanitary Water Board in the work it can do under the appropriation recommended for it. It is particularly important to enlarge the chemical laboratory work to be done for this Board in order to do the work essential to research on Industrial Wastes.

APPROPRIATION RECOMMENDED

For the payment of the salary of the Secretary of Health, two years, the sum of twenty thousand dollars ($20,000).

For the payment of the salaries, wages, or other compensation of such deputies, directors, superintendents, bureau or division chiefs, assistant directors, assistant superintendents, assistant chiefs, experts, scientists, engineers, surveyors, draftsmen, accountants, secretaries, auditors, inspectors, examiners, statisticians, marshals, clerks, stenographers, bookkeepers, messengers and other assistants and employes as may be required for the proper conduct of the work of the department, including county medical directors and rural health officers, of the traveling, incidental and contingent expenses of the Secretary of Health and his assistants, and the other employes of the Department, and of the Advisory Health Board, of the cost of diphtheria antitoxin and other biological products for free distribution, of collecting, compiling and publishing vital and morbidity statistics, of maintaining laboratories and experimental stations, of educational work, of improving and conserving child health, of maintaining genito-urinary dispensaries, of investigating and regulating housing conditions, of the department's work in dental health, of narcotic drug control, of supervising epidemics of diseases, for the purpose of maintaining the department's sanatoria and dispensaries for the free treatment of indigent persons affected with tuberculosis, including the purchase of food supplies and other necessities, additions, and the salaries and wages of employes; for the medical inspection of the public schools in accordance with the provisions of the school Code, and incidental expenses in connection therewith; for equipment and supplies; for the purchase, maintenance and repair of telegrams, telephone toll charges; and for the payment of all other necessary expenses of the Department in the performance of duties imposed upon it by the acts of Assembly, two years, the sum of four million seven hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($4,750,000).

For the payment of the salaries, wages, or other compensation of such engineers, chemists, stenographers, clerks, and other employes as may be required for the proper conduct of the Sanitary Water Board, of the traveling, incidental and contingent expenses of the Sanitary Water Board, its assistants and employes, of the equipment and maintenance of laboratories, field offices and drafting rooms for the work of the Sanitary Water Board, of the cost of studies and investigations toward determining reasonable and practicable ways and means for the disposal of industrial wastes to be conducted either by the Sanitary Water Board, its employes and assistants, or by the cooperation of the Sanitary Water Board pursuant to the provisions of duly executed agreements with persons, firms, corporations, municipalities or any groups thereof, for the purpose of abatement of stream pollutions, two years, the sum of one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000).
